The reason the new houses are being made with front stoops instead of wide verandas is because nobody is ever home nowadays to sit upon verandas.

Oldest Circus in U. S.

John Robinson's Circus and train of wild animal show, which will appear in Petoskey on the afternoon and evening of Friday, August 21st, is the oldest show in the United States and is now on its 100th tour of the continent. It is a three ring show with a performance and offers this year some entirely new features. One may gather some notion of the size of this big show from the fact that over seven hundred people and five hundred horses are engaged in it.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17

Betty Compson in the most delightful picture of her career, "The White Flower." Picture for the greater part in the Hawaiian Islands. It presents for the first time in a motion picture story Hawaiian scenes with which tourists alone are familiar. A fine picture. Also a Harold Lloyd one reel comedy, "Hey There."

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, AUGUST 18-19

Richard Bartholmess with Dorothy Gish in "The Bright Shawl," filmed in Cuba. The whole world wonders at the romance of the American boy and the dancer who set the Cuban nights aflame—at the living fire. The splendors unsurpassed and mirror here; at the drama, flung from the screen as with a dare. A wonderful picture. Also a Cameo comedy, "Dog Sense."

MONDAY and TUESDAY, AUGUST 20-21

"Lorna Doone." Classic loved and read by millions. Put on the screen by Maurice Tourneur with an all star cast, including Madge Bellamy, John Bowers and Frank Keenan. Truly a wonderful picture. Also a Cameo comedy, "Crash."

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, AUGUST 22-23

Thomas Meighan in a thrilling, dramatic story of a man's man, "The Ne'er Do Well." No need to tell the story. The whole world has read it. Rex Beach's greatest book, teeming with tense situations, flowing over with thrills, lavish with laughs, rich with romance and splendid heart-appeal—that's "The Ne'er Do Well," starring Thomas Meighan with Lila Lee for the reckless hero to make good.

MORE URGED TO EXHIBIT AT THE FAIR

Secretary Bird Issues Appeal For Support

Frank F. Bird, secretary of the Charlevoix County Fair Association, has issued the following appeal to the people of the county for support at the coming fair date at East Jordan—September 10th to 14th, inclusive:

Be an exhibitor at your county fair. Help us to make this a Fair long to be remembered!

Our County Fair should be attended by every person living in this community or the surrounding territory accessible to it. It is, in fact, YOUR FAIR, and the officers are running it for YOU. They want your assistance in making it a Fair that the whole community will be proud of. They not only want your attendance, but they want you to exhibit something. A Fair cannot be made a success without liberal and substantial encouragement from the public and exhibitors. While the management assures the people that it will spare neither time, labor, nor expense to make the exhibition large and a glorious success, it wants to be seconded by the liberal hand of the whole people in this part of the state, and is relying upon you, and your neighbors and friends, to boost the Fair in every way you can devise.

We, therefore, urge you to become both an exhibitor and an attendant at the Fair and trust that your relations to the work and your visits to the exhibitions will be both profitable and enjoyable.

Premium lists are available at all banks in the county, or write or phone the secretary, Frank F. Bird, Charlevoix, and he will send you one by return mail. See to it that you get your copy—then plan to exhibit something.

1923 Fair dates—September 10th to 14th inclusive.

GRAIN CROPS ARE GAINING

Final estimate was 37,842,000 bushels. The rainfall during the next four or five weeks will be the principal factor in establishing the actual yield.

Hay: Clover and timothy hay was a light crop except in a few eastern and northern counties where ample rainfall produced a good yield. Alfalfa yielded well in most sections although not quite up to the average. The total production of tame hay is estimated at 3,408,000 tons or a little over one million tons less than last year. Considerable hay was damaged by rains in eastern and northeastern counties.

Field Beans: The crop is exceedingly good in nearly all sections. There has been a little local damage by dry weather, and there are some complaints of disease and failure to set pods. This has lowered the average condition two points from last month, which was less than the average decline in July, hence the estimated production is slightly greater than that of July 1, being 6,825,000 bushels.

Sugar Beets: Fields present a varying condition, ranging from stands of 50 per cent or less to perfect stands. Moisture has been insufficient in some sections but on the whole the growth is satisfactory and the condition is 85 per cent, one per cent higher than last month.

Fruit: The estimate on the agricultural crop of apples is increased to 12,045,000 bushels as compared with a total production last year of 11,850,000 bushels. The present commercial outlook is for 2,008,000 barrels as against 1,699,000 barrels produced in 1922. The early crop is being harvested in the southwestern counties where it is much lighter than the winter varieties. The total crop is heavier as one travels northward through the state. The quality is the best in a number of years.

The peach crop is maintaining its earlier favorable prospect, the present indications pointing to a crop of 1,172,000 bushels as compared with a production of 1,440,000 bushels last year. The early varieties are being harvested and marketed.

The pear crop is one of the poorest of the fruit this year. The outlook for the state is only 45 per cent of a crop, or 356,000 bushels.

The KITCHEN CABINET

Few people, rich or poor, make the most of what they possess. In their anxiety to increase the amount of means for future enjoyment, they are apt to lose sight of their capability for the present.—Leigh Hunt.

FOR THE FAMILY MEAL

To avoid monotony and yet maintain a reasonable economy in the thrifty housewife's problem today.

Tamales.—Boil until tender a good fat fowl; strip the meat from the bones and chop fine. Chop one-half pound of raisins, one-half cupful of stoned olives, and one small red pepper, very fine. Mix all together and stir in two cupfuls of cornmeal which has been moistened with scalding water, season with salt, onion juice and a teaspoonful of sugar. Add more water and cook for fifteen minutes, then add six hard-cooked eggs, chopped. Lay the paste on green corn husks, wrap and tie and drop into boiling salted water and cook until tender.

Frozen Pudding.—Make a custard of a pint of milk, three egg yolks, a cupful of sugar and a pinch of salt; when cool add a half teaspoonful of almond extract, fold in the whites of the eggs beaten stiff and a cupful of cream, also whipped. Steam a quarter of a cupful of raisins, two tablespoonfuls of sliced citron and the same of candied cherries; cut fine in shreds with the scissors and add to the custard, then freeze as usual. When frozen, pack in a fancy mold.

Stuffed Cabbage.—Take a small loosely packed cabbage, drop into boiling water and cook until wilted. Remove and drain, open the leaves in the center and place seasoned meat between the leaves, out to the outside layer of leaves. Tie in a cheese cloth and cook until the cabbage is perfectly tender. Serve with a Hollandaise sauce.

Cheese Cakes.—Mix with one pound of well-seasoned cottage cheese, one-half cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of flour. Separate the yolks and whites of four eggs and add the beaten yolks to the cheese, add the stiffly beaten whites and sufficient milk to make the consistency of griddle cake batter. Spread on a sheet of well-greased paper laid in a dripping pan, cover the top with cinnamon, currants and bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven.

MORTGAGE SALE. Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage dated the 13th day of August, 1912, executed by Edwin H. Cook and Clara Cook, his wife, to John Nicholls, Harry Nicholls, Archibald Butters and Albert F. Bridge, co-partners, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 458, on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1912, and which mortgage under date of August 27th, 1915 was assigned to Carrie E. Knight of Banks township, Antrim County, Michigan, which said assignment was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said County of Charlevoix, in Liber 49 of Mortgages on page 578, on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1915:

And, whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of $774.45 of principal and interest, and the further sum of $25 stipulated for in said mortgage as an attorney's fee, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale and in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said County of Charlevoix, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage, to-wit: The west three-fourths (3-4) of the northwest quarter (1-4) of section twenty-four (24), town thirty-three (33), north, range nine (9) west, of which the following described parcel of land has been released from said mortgage, to-wit: The west half (W1-2) of the west half (W1-2) of the northwest quarter (NW1-4) of said section twenty-four (24), all in the township of Norway, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan.

Dated June 27th, 1923. Carrie E. Knight, Mortgagee. Rollie L. Lewis, attorney for mortgagee, Business Address: Charlevoix, Michigan.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

Decatour has the distinction of growing more wormwood than is produced in any other one place. Join the "Use More Wormwood" campaign.

Knowing the tradition as he does, it must be rather a source of worry to that 100 year old Michigan minister, whether his 75 year old son will turn out well.

A western Michigan base ball pitcher broke his arm when in the act of delivering the ball to the plate. By carefully sweeping up the pieces, we suppose, the people were prevented from getting cut on them.

"They used to have a slogan in Detroit that life was worth living," hisses the Lansing Capitol News. "Now they have amended the slogan and added the proviso that life is worth living if one can keep alive."

A reward of $25 has been offered for information leading to the arrest of a Grand Rapids burglar who has been stealing toilet water, and here again the smell should form sufficient evidence for the issuance of a search warrant.

The fact that only two of the 33 Marquette prisoners who made a run for liberty during the past year escaped without being recaptured or shot, would seem to make this another very good event for the boob to bet on.

Now that state-owned automobile ferry has been put into service between St. Ignace and Mackinaw City, the plan of moving the Lower Peninsula over against the Upper Peninsula has been temporarily abandoned in the latter region, it is said.

Three thousand, two hundred and twenty-four gallons of mash were taken by federal officers in a raid on two Grand Rapids apartments one day last week. The latest models for these snug little apartments all have built-in-closets where the families can be kept.

When two automobile drivers crashed together at Flint, with considerable injury to the cars, each of the drivers claimed that the fault was entirely his own. It is hoped, however, that they can be induced to compromise, and not take the matter into the courts.

Evidence discloses that thieves who got into a shoe store at Hart one night took their time, sat down, and tried on several pairs of shoes until they found some that would fit. And why not? If you want shoes that don't fit you can always get them in the regular way, with the assistance of a busy clerk.

All persons arrested in Cass county for violation of the prohibition laws hereafter will be turned over to federal officers for prosecution for the purpose of cutting down the expenses of the county. The violators are evidently to blame for this, since they didn't violate enough to make possible cheap quantity production.

H. L. Noon, vice-president of the Michigan State Farm Bureau advises the systematic abandonment of farms to reduce production, and the removal of the farmers to the cities where they can get high wages. Farmers who have large farms, very large farms, should also try to sell them before they come, so they can buy a city lot.

POULTRY NOTES

Match chicks early. They make the good winter layers.

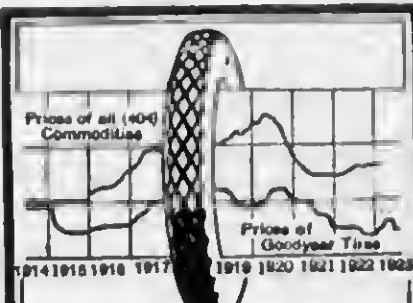

Baby chicks should be encouraged to eat as much bulk as possible.

One of the best animal foods, both to induce egg production and promote growth, is cut fresh home.

Cold, damp land is no place for poultry; that which dries soonest after a rain is the best land on which to raise fowls.

Wheat bran is especially valuable for feathering out the baby chicks, and, properly used, it will grow feathers faster than anything else. It is advisable to keep it in the dry form before the chicks all the time.

When a man makes a mistake he can lay it upon his bad judgment, but you never heard of a woman laying her mistakes upon her bad intuition.

It's always a good time to buy Goodyear Tires, for, as this chart shows, Goodyears are priced extremely low, year in and year out. But now is the best time, because Goodyears are selling today 30% below 1914 prices, and their quality now is better than ever before.

AT THE MOVIES

A Spanish dancer; an American boy; death in a woman's smile—and as sudden; the intrigue of aristocrats in dark Havana against the red menace of Spain; the sinister language of Cuba's tropic nights; of it all, Richard Barthelmess has made a pure and flaming romance in that vivid First National picture, "The Bright Shawl," coming to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

Never before has Barthelmess been seen in anything like it and Dorothy Gish, as La Clavel, the dancer, has the greatest emotional characterization of her career. Story, action, photography and the direction by John S. Robertson are the final word in truly great motion picture production.

"The Bright Shawl," which gives indications of setting new popularity records in hundreds of theatres throughout the land, will conclude its local engagement on Sunday. The production is presented by Inspiration Pictures, Inc.

The Paramount picture, "The Ne'er Do-Well," which will be the feature at the Palace Theatre for two days beginning Wednesday next, brings Thomas Meighan and Lila Lee on the screen together again. This is a story of a ne'er-do-well's regeneration.

Jack Holt, Paramount star, will be seen at the Majestic theatre in his latest starring vehicle, "Nobody's Money." This is said to be a genuine comedy in which Mr. Holt is seen as a book agent who becomes involved in startling situations as a result of his friendship for a crook. Wynola Hawley heads a strong supporting cast.

BARBERRY PEST IS NOW DOOMED

THIRTY MEN IN ERADICATION SQUAD

Rescoe Smith, of Charlevoix, is Member of Government's "Moppers-Up"

Rescoe Smith, of Charlevoix, is a member of the squad working on barberry eradication in Michigan for the bureau of plant industry, United States department of Agriculture, in cooperation with the Michigan Agricultural College. The squad numbers more than thirty men and is in charge of Walter F. Reddy, director of the work in this state.

The campaign was opened in St. Clair, Lapeer, Genesee, and Shiawassee counties, and will reach a number of other sections during the summer. The work is carried on so intensively by the teams of six or eight men working in each county that the thousands of barberry plants in each county are practically exterminated at the end of the drive.

Twenty counties in the state have been covered in previous years in the eradication work, but the campaign this summer is being conducted on a larger scale than that of any other season since the barberry drive was opened in 1918.

"We have found," says Mr. Reddy, "that the barberry is so thoroughly distributed in every county that no grain field is far enough removed to avoid rust contamination under favorable conditions. For this reason we are making the campaign as complete as possible and are employing only trained graduates or upper classmen of the Michigan Agricultural College, for the field work. All towns and cities of the state were cleared of barberry before we started on the rural districts, in order to be sure of complete eradication."

TAX COMMISSION FIXES FIGURES

BUREAU OF FISHERIES EXPERTS

Seven Miles of Nets Set in Pine Lake Yield Less Than 70 lbs.
Of Big Ones

The Courier is in receipt of the following letter from John Van Oosten and Walter Koeltz, scientific investigators of the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries, who were in the city some two weeks ago in the interests of the Bureau, conducting a zoological survey of Pine Lake:

August 18, 1923
"Editor, Charlevoix Courier:—It may be of interest to you and to the citizens of Charlevoix to know that we, representing the conservation department of the State of Michigan have recently completed a preliminary survey of your Pine Lake. During the short time at our disposal we attempted to obtain some idea as to the relative abundance of the various kind of fish in your lake as well as notes on the depth of the water and the nature of the habitats in which the different species most commonly occurred. The specimens that were captured were usually preserved so that a detailed study could later be made of the contents of their stomachs, their age and their rates of growth. In short the aim of the survey was to obtain as much information about the lake as possible with a view of future improvements.

Our complete report can be obtained later from the conservation department at Lansing. For the present it may interest your citizens to know that Saturday afternoon, August 11, we set with the aid of commercial fishermen, about seven miles of gill nets at various places in Pine Lake. The size of the meshes of these nets ranged from 1 1/2 to 4 1/2 inches. The nets were set at depths which varied from 42 to 96 feet. One gang of nets was set off Horse Point near Horton Bay, the second gang was set off the mouth of the South Arm near Ironton, while the third gang was set in Oyster Bay opposite Two Mile Point.

Pine Lake on account of its large expanse of deep water ought to be extremely favorable to the deep water fish such as trout and the whitefish. And, as the gill netting for these species has long been discontinued in Pine Lake and as our nets were set on grounds locally reputed for its trout and whitefish we confidently expected to obtain a rather large percentage of the larger fish in the lake. Your citizens will undoubtedly be curious to know our results with this particular test.

We lifted the nets Sunday morning. From the entire seven miles was obtained 48 lbs. of marketable mackinaw or lake trout, 17 in number and 15 lbs. of marketable whitefish, 7 in number, besides a half a dozen steelhead or rainbow trout and a few herring. The results were rather astonishing to us and we wished to make them known to you at this time as we know that they will be a revelation to you and others interested in your lake."

The results of the survey are a distinct surprise to local sportsmen, as they were to the U. S. bureau's investigators. Although the nets set by Messrs. Koeltz and Van Oosten were nowhere near the bass grounds,

ANGLER FRIGHTENS WORM FROM EARTH WITH VIBRATIONS

After reading how earth disturbances cause all living things to scurry to the surface of the ground, Albert Narenz, local barber, of Fond du Lac, Wisconsin, discovered a new way to gather bait for his fishing trips.

Albert is an ardent knight of the rod and reel, and perhaps uses more bait than any other man in that city. One day he read of earth tremors in South America. The correspondent gave a graphic description of how rats, snakes and other creatures rapidly made for the top of the earth.

Early the next morning, he went out into the garden, drove a stout piece of board into the ground a few feet and then drew a rough board rapidly over the end. The process caused a rasping sound, producing a vibration in the ground. The disturbance, he says, caused the angle worms to hurry to the surface, and now he gets his bait without a spade. Try it boys.

still, the wonderful catches of bass made this summer on Pine Lake and the steady improvement of the steelhead fishing, as the fall season approaches, would lead one to suppose that the trout and whitefish would be present in large numbers. That they are not gives rise to the question, if, owing to some local or temporary condition, the larger fish were not elsewhere in the lake at the time the nets were set.

The absence of perch would not be surprising, if the nets had been set in Round Lake, instead of Pine, as it is well-known that certain parties have made a regular practice of netting them on the q. t. for some time. Possibly, if we could get better protection from the game wardens down at this end of the lake, the next fish survey might tell a different story.

LOCAL MAN WED AT FLINT LAST FRIDAY

Fred A. Swartout and Mrs. Clara Morton Married

Fred A. Swartout, of Charlevoix and Mrs. Clara A. Morton, of Flint, were quietly married in the latter city, at the Methodist parsonage, on Friday evening, August 17th, Rev. Ralph Pierce officiating. The ring ceremony was used.

The newly-weds left immediately on a touring trip to Detroit, Howell, Ann Arbor and other points in the southern part of the state.

NOVEL PLAN

Offers Her Guests Autumn Attractions—Has Many Bookings For Fall Months

At Wequetonsing, on the north shore of Little Traverse Bay, a woman is attempting something unique in caring for the summer visitors, or rather the autumn visitors, for Mrs. Susan Louisa Thomas is operating Maple Grove Inn as a "Housed Camp" until the snow season drives the last of the tourists hurrying back to their city homes.

There is none of the "It can't be done" spirit about this venturesome hotel proprietor. She is going about the new thing with considerable determination, and has all plans worked out in clever fashion. Here, she says, is the first place to open in spring—June 1—and the last to close in autumn—when cold, snowy weather comes. She already has a large booking of middlewesterners, mainly couples without children or those who will send their children on home for school, while father and mother remain for the most beautiful time of the year and the wonderful autumn fishing.

Fishing, hunting, hiking, nutting parties, corn roasts, candy pulls, marshmallow roasts indoors and outdoors, drives through the leaf-covered woods, are some of the attractions she is providing for her guests.

Mrs. Thomas hopes to have the autumn season become as regular and as profitable as the summer season is, and to see the idea spread throughout northern Michigan until the hotels will be as filled with guests in autumn as they are in summer. She sees no reason why the beautiful fall weather should not be as attractive as is the summer time.

This is an idea, filled with tremendous possibilities for the northern resort region. As an entering wedge for the winter resort development of our wonderful, natural advantages it can't be beat. Let's try it here.

STATE AND COUNTY WILL ASK FOR BIDS

Trunk Line 57 and Wildwood Harbor Road Graveling

On August 30th next, at the court house in Charlevoix, the State Highway Department will let the contract for about three and one-half miles of graveling on trunk line No. 57, between Boyne City and Walloon Lake.

On the same date, the county of Charlevoix will accept bids for about a third of a mile of graveling on the Wildwood Harbor road, which connects with trunk line No. 57.

Saturday, August, the 25th, the ladies of the Pilgrim Circle of the Congregational Church will hold a food and fancy goods sale at H. R. Fowler's store, 113 Bridge Street. Sale opens at 10:00 a. m.—Adv. 3411

HEAVY ACCIDENT TOLL LAST WEEK

THREE BAD SMASH-UPS AND PEDESTRIAN INJURED

Godbold's Corcor, the Scene of Two Mishaps—Two Moo Aro In Hospital Now

The past few days have been marked by a series of bad automobile accidents and several minor collisions, not important enough to warrant mention. None of the more serious of these catastrophes has as yet, fortunately, resulted fatally to any of the participants, although two men are now in the hospital, recovering from more or less severe injuries.

Friday evening, a Lincoln touring car, driven by C. E. Valier, Jr., a youth of seventeen, whose home is in St. Louis, Mo., turned turtle, near Godbold's corners, on the Petoskey road. Dennis Nelson, aged sixteen, also of St. Louis, Mo., companion of young Valier, was pinned beneath the car and is now in the Charlevoix hospital, suffering from "painful bruises about the head, back and chest. Valier escaped without injury, despite the fact that the big car turned completely over onto its top. According to Valier's statement, he was approaching the corners from the north, on his way home from Petoskey, at a speed of about thirty-five miles per hour. Bushes hide the cross-road intersection at this point, and it was not until almost upon the spot that the driver of the big Lincoln noticed the light of a car cutting across his path from the right. He jammed the wheel hard over to make a quick turn to the left, but loose gravel at this point caused his car to skid and finally roll into the ditch.

Miss Kurlick, a nurse who was in a passing car, said she tugged and pulled on the doors of the wrecked auto, but was unable to open them. In some way, the horn button of the Lincoln had jammed in the wreck and the insistent screech of the horn attracted nearby residents to the scene, who helped the nurse extricate the boys from under the machine. She took Nelson to the Charlevoix hospital, where Dr. Armstrong attended him.

Shortly after this accident occurred and not more than 500 yards away from the spot where the Lincoln turned turtle, a car bearing an Indiana license collided with one carrying a Canadian license. While the machines were badly demolished, none of the occupants were injured.

Saturday night, during the rush to the south side to see the oil fire, David Alexander was struck by one of the speeding cars, on the Stover road, near his home and when picked up it was found that his collar bone and three ribs were fractured. He is now at home, resting as comfortably as could be expected.

At Carpenter's corners, about 2 miles north of Bay Shore, Sunday afternoon, Connell Gatloff, of this city, driving a Ford touring car and accompanied by John Crossa, of Charlevoix, and James and Joe Floyd, of Beaver Island, on their way from Charlevoix to attend the Petoskey-Charlevoix baseball game, was crowded off the road by a passing car into a pile of crushed stone, placed beside the road for repair purposes. Upon striking the stone, the Ford swung across the highway to the left and was struck by a large car, which had been following immediately behind Gatloff.

Gatloff had his right ear nearly torn off and received a bad scalp wound and severe bruises. His condition is still critical, according to reports from the Petoskey hospital, to which he was rushed immediately after the accident. Crossa and the Bruises received minor cuts and bruises, which were dressed at the Charlevoix hospital on their return to this city. The Ford was badly demolished.

MRS. WILKINSON HAS PASSED ON

DIES AT SON'S HOME HERE AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Was Ardent Church Worker and Actively Identified with Every Good Cause

Charlevoix and vicinity mourns today the death of one of its oldest and most respected pioneer women, in the death of Mrs. Byron P. Wilkinson, which occurred last Monday evening, August 20th, at the home of her son, Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson, 409 Dixon Avenue, following a long illness of more than a year, during the past three months of which she had been confined to her bed.

Sarah Marshall was born in Painesville, Ohio, February 20, 1850. Her early life was spent in the place of her birth, where she was married to Byron P. Wilkinson, March 12, 1873. One year later, Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson removed to Banks township, Antrim county. Here, they were pioneers.

In the summer of 1904, they took up their residence at Charlevoix, where they have since lived. Six children were born to them—one dying in infancy. There are left to remember her good life, her husband, Byron P. Wilkinson, her four sons; Dr. Allan M., of Douglas, Ariz.; Dr. Frank H., of this city; James B., of Detroit; and Charles E., of Lansing, and one daughter, Mrs. Roxana Morrow, of Bellaire. There are also many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Wilkinson has been a member of the church since she was fifteen years of age and since closely identified with every good work. She united with the local Methodist church, in January, 1907, during the pastorate of Rev. R. A. Wright. She had an extensive service in the Women's Temperance Union and this organization and her church had a large place in her heart. She was a kind and loving wife, a wonderful mother and a real friend to all who knew her.

The going out of this splendid wife, mother and friend will be a real loss to all, but, for her can be truly said, "For me to live in Christ and to die is gain."

The funeral services will be held next Saturday morning, at ten o'clock, at the home of Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson, 409 Dixon Avenue.

HOME PEOPLE IN BIG AUTO CARAVAN

Will Shapton and Wife Touring the South

Mr. and Mrs. William Shapton, whose farm home is on Route 1, out of this city, are members of the band of 500 middle-western tourists who spent last week in the tent city at the Fair grounds in Hagerstown, Md., on their way to Washington, D. C.

The tourists, who hail from Michigan, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, started out with one hundred and ten cars, but about ten of these turned back before crossing the mountains. The caravan is accompanied by three Michigan state policemen, two Pennsylvania policemen and one Maryland motor-cycle officer. No accident have occurred on the road, so far. There are many grandpas and grandmas in the party and a plentiful proportion of kids and young folks.

CHANGE IN RESORT SPECIAL SCHEDULE

Will Run in Two Sections Friday and Sunday

In order to improve their tourist service, the Pere Marquette R. R. Co. is now operating their resort special in two sections between Grand Rapids, Petoskey and Bay View, every week end.

This service will be northbound every Friday evening from Grand Rapids and southbound every Sunday evening from Bay View, Petoskey and Charlevoix.

The Chicago section (northbound) will reach Charlevoix at 6:55 o'clock, Saturday morning and the Detroit section, forty minutes later, at 7:35 a. m. This schedule will be in force for the balance of the season. The southbound Chicago section will leave Charlevoix at 7:16 p. m. each Sunday evening and the Detroit section at 7:58 p. m., with through sleepers for all important points.

HOSPITAL BOARD ELECTS OFFICERS

PLANS FOR NEW ANNEX ARE PERFECTED

Building Starts At Once—Receipts From All Sources Nearly Two Thousand

At a meeting of the hospital board, held in this city, last Wednesday, August 15th, as an adjourned session of the August 1st meeting, the following officers were elected to serve during the coming year:

President—M. A. Levinson.
Vice President—P. D. Campbell.
Secretary—Clarence Bridge.
Treasurer—A. J. Usher.

The resignation from the board of S. M. Rose was accepted and Fred E. Cartier was appointed to serve the unexpired term.

A statement of the financial condition of the hospital will be given to the public in the form of reports, which will appear on or about the first of each month in the columns of the local newspapers.

Plans for the erection of an addition to the hospital buildings were consummated at a special meeting of the board, held last Tuesday evening and the construction of the new annex will be commenced within a short time. The contemplated changes will make possible the removal of the kitchen, dining room and electric bath equipment from the main building to the annex, thus insuring greater quiet for the patients and more room.

So far, counting the result of Tag Day, the membership drive and individual donations, a total of about $2,000.00 is now in the hands of the board. Several benefit affairs are arranged to take place within the next six days. Thursday evening, there will be a concert by the Detroit String Quartette, at the Beach Casino; Friday evening, a dance at the Inn Casino and, on Monday evening next, the Chapfleur's Ball at the Lakeide pavilion, with music by Winegar's Moonlight Orchestra, from the Belvedere Hotel.

WILL GIVE A CONCERT AT THE BEACH CASINO

Detroit String Quartette to Play for Hospital

An artist concert for the benefit of the Charlevoix Hospital will be given at the Beach Hotel casino on Thursday evening, August 23rd, at 8:30 o'clock.

This concert will be given by the Detroit String Quartette, assisted by William G. King, violinist and Philip Abbas, cellist. Of this quartet, Osalp Gabriowitz says, "It is on a par with the finest chamber music organizations now before the public."

Although the quartet is of recent formation, they have already won honorable mention from the critics and, beyond a doubt, have a great future before them.

EXPLODING TANKS RATTLE WINDOWS

SIX THOUSAND DOLLARS LOST
IN OIL FIRE

Brown & Wallace Storage Station
Burned Saturday Night—Owners Will Replace

Saturday evening last, at about eight-fifteen o'clock, the fire alarm sounded for one of the most disastrous conflagrations that this city has seen in years.

The driver of a gasoline truck, belonging to Brown & Wallace, was filling his truck at the company's storage station, near the old sugar factory on the Pere Marquette tracks, when he discovered the top of his truck tank afire. He barely managed to escape the rapidly spreading flames, which completely destroyed the truck and spread to the two big storage tanks, which exploded with a concussion that shook windows within a radius of a half-mile and brought startled residents of the town to their doors and windows.

The fire department responded promptly, as usual, and in their wake came hundreds of speeding cars, strung out along the roads leading south of town like a procession of huge fireflies. By the time the fire apparatus reached the scene, the flames and a vast, spreading mushroom of black smoke hung over the doomed station and all that the firemen could do was to keep the two loaded tank cars of the Sinclair Company, that stood on the tracks directly in front of the storage tanks and subjected to the full heat of the blaze, wet down as much as possible. So well did they do their work that the piles of stacked lumber, flanking the burning tanks, were barely singed. After the hose lines were connected and a stream playing on the flames, the firemen, with the help of bystanders, moved the heavy tank cars along the track to the north and out of the reach of the fire.

The coal shed, owned by Harry Widdfield, which stood just to the south of the oil station, caught fire early in the evening and soon burned to the ground. Fortunately, it was empty and the loss was confined to the building, itself. The sheds of Heise & Yettaw, on the north side of the station, were kept wet down and remained unharmed, probably due to the fortunate fact that a strong west wind was blowing, driving the flames and smoke lakeward.

Crowds of people lined the bluff above the tracks and many ventured onto the flats, close to the scene as the fierce heat of the blazing oil permitted. The resort special, northbound, was forced to halt for an hour, until the flames had somewhat subsided, and the passengers, piling out of the cars, joined the spectators from the town.

The tanks that were destroyed were of 12,000 and 10,000 gallon capacity, respectively and the wrecked truck held 300 gallons in her tank. The owners estimate that 3,000 gallons of kerosene and from 10,000 to 11,000 gallons of gasoline were consumed in the disaster, and, figuring in the cost of equipment, electric pump, fittings and tank truck, as well as the hindrance to business at this time of year, place their loss at $6,000.00. No insurance was held on the station.

The driver of the burned truck can advance no theory as to the cause of the fire. He used an electric flashlight in working about the tanks and claims that his engine was not running at the time the tank valves were open. It, therefore, remains a mystery.

William Wallace, of the oil firm, left Tuesday morning for Chicago, where he will purchase two new storage tanks and other necessary equipment, which will be shipped at once, so that there will be no interruption of the company's business here. They certainly have the sympathy of all who watched so much of their summer's hard work vanish into smoke.

PASTURE IS PIG ESSENTIAL

Rape, Alfalfa and Clover Are Bone and Muscle Building Feeds and Cheapen Gains.

Pasture is of course vital to the best development of pigs. Rape, alfalfa or clover should be available to the spring pigs, as these forages contain much bone and muscle-building feed, and they help to cheapen gains.

A note is something that is made so it can be renewed.

AT THE MOVIES

Allan Dwan, famous as the producer of "Roba Hood," has done remarkable work in his first Paramount picture, "The Glimpse of the Moon," adapted from Edith Wharton's novel, which will be the feature at the Palace Theatre, next Saturday and Sunday. With Bebe Daniels, Nita Naldi, Ruby de Remer, David Powell, Maurice Costello and Charles Gerrard in the cast and an exceedingly costly investiture, this picture is one of the most effective and elaborate screen society dramas thus far presented to the public.

Director Dwan has produced "The Glimpse of the Moon" with the same lavish hand that fashioned "Robin Hood" for Douglas Fairbanks.

The Truth About Gasoline Prices

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has announced an immediate reduction in the price of gasoline of 6.6c per gallon applicable throughout the entire territory in which it does business.

It asserts that the retail prices thus made are below the cost of production and distribution.

The Governor of the State of South Dakota, buying distress gasoline below cost of production, and charging against the State no adequate cost of distribution, is selling gasoline to the public in the State of South Dakota at 16c per gallon.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana), operating on its established policy that the customers who purchase its goods should never be compelled to pay a higher price than that fixed and maintained by any competitor, quality and service being duly considered, has met this price.

Other State Executives and Officers of municipalities, with entire propriety, have suggested that any prices made in South Dakota be made applicable in their States. Competitors in other states and communities over the territory, also buying distress gasoline below cost of production, have also cut the prices hitherto established and maintained, in substantial amounts.

In establishing the above price, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is not endeavoring to injure any of its competitors in any way.

It deprecates the stand taken by some of its competitors that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is endeavoring, by reason of meeting these cuts in price and these demands for lower prices, to put its competitors out of business.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) does not wish to put any competitor out of business because it feels that competitors are necessary to the successful conduct of its business. It will welcome a change of attitude on the part of all parties concerned resulting in a reasonable price for gasoline which will enable not only it but all of its competitors to enjoy a reasonable profit.

It recognizes that the majority of its competitors are fine business men, entitled to the fairest treatment both by the public and by this Company.

The present situation is an exact parallel to one where the butcher, the grocer, the druggist, the dry goods and shoe merchants and every other retailer would be forced to sell at less than the wares cost.

How long would it last? What would a condition like this do to all of us—if it persisted and spread?

We want no monopoly—seek none. We want your trade—but only on the basis of quality and service—not as the result of impossible prices.

We want competition—you want us to have it. It makes the scales of business balance.

These are not idle words. They mean just what they say.

The Paramount studio was taxed to its capacity for this production. More than three-quarters of a million dollars worth of properties, consisting of costly jewelry, expensive hangings, rare oil paintings, and antique furnishings were used to give the picture the rich flavor called for in Mrs. Wharton's novel. In the settings of wealth and splendor, made for this picture at heavy expense, director Dwan has woven a dramatic story of the love of Susy Branch and Nick Laaslag and the troubles they encounter in trying to keep pace with their millionaire friends. Mr. Dwan has transferred to the screen the picture of sophisticated society who gets more "action" in twenty-four exciting hours than he ever dreamed of, was never funnier, Marguerite de la Motte as his spirited young fiancée, and Raymond Hatton as "Hoppy," bent on the invention of a "noiseless explosive," head a strong supporting cast. COUNTY FAIR OUTLOOK GOOD

INTEREST SHOWN EXCEEDS PREVIOUS YEARS

Lots of Exhibits, Fine Attractions Promised For September
10th to 14th

This year's Fair will be a hummer. Such is the report from the officers of our county Fair, who are intensely interested and working as they never worked before to make the coming Fair a record breaking event.

They realize that much praise is due the people of this county who have always worked in conjunction with the fair directors and in a great measure insured their past successes. The same cooperative efforts will this year give us a Fair unsurpassed among the county fairs of the state.

They aim to get up an exhibition that will not be a plain repetition of the efforts of former years, but plan to have a live, progressive Fair, abounding in fresh and novel sights, and features that will be interesting because new and strange to the eyes of those who witness them. They hope to be able to make this the most marked and memorable of any Fair ever held by the society, or held in this section of the country. It will be their endeavor to have the grounds, halls, and exhibits exceed in extent, novelty, cleanliness, freshness and splendor, those of any former years, and the occasion more conspicuous and gratifying.

Reports from all parts of this county and nearby counties show the greatest interest in the Fair, and it is expected that this season's exhibits will fill all departments to overflowing.

Free acts of an unusually high class, air plane flights, music, ball games, horse racing, a 3-abreast merry-go-round, a new Ferris wheel, five high class shows and many other new special attractions have been secured to delight the crowds and furnish ample amusement, education and relaxation for all.

Remember the dates—September 10th to 14th.

Dance at Ironton Grange Hall, Friday evening, August 24th. Good music, good order. Everybody welcome.—Adv. 34-11.

A veteran living on a farm east of Uby is the father of 36 children, ranging from a son of 60 years to a babe in arms. It is so fine, he thinks, to have a large family of children who can play and grow up together.

A one-legged beggar confessed that he took in $30 in a single day's work on the streets of Calumet, so try to imagine what he might do if he had two or three legs.

The main question about that 60-year-old fellow who was injured by falling over the rope of a circus tent in the dark, whether he did it before crawling under the tent or after he crawled out.

The two men who were struck by a passenger train at Battle Creek while holding an argument on the right-of-way evidently need, among other things, side-track minds.

A large picture of the Mayflower has been painted on the sign in front of the Mayflower Congregational Church at Lansing, and a cordial welcome is extended to all Lansing sailors.

In a curious double wedding at Reed City, a father and son took to themselves a mother and daughter, respectively as wives. The proper form to be used by the younger couple on such an occasion is, "Bless you, my parents!"

The prisoners who are working at the construction of state roads have informed officials that they enjoy it. For the present, then, the officials think, it may not be necessary to take them on a fishing trip.

TESTING FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Reports Show That Eradication Work Can Be Carried on Without Destroying Industry.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

That testing cattle for tuberculosis and the cleaning up of infected herds are having a permanent effect in reducing the extent of the disease is shown conclusively by figures recently collected by the United States Department of Agriculture from inspectors in charge of the eradication work in various parts of the country. The inspectors were asked to supply figures on the results of three or more tests on badly diseased herds, those that had not less than 10 per cent of reactors on the first test. The first test on more than 58,000 cattle in these bad herds showed that 20 per cent had tuberculosis. Another test six months later on the same herds, from which the reactors had been removed, showed only 0.9 per cent of the disease. By another six months the percentage had gone down to 2.8. A fourth test on more than 25,000 of these cattle showed only 1.8 per cent of tuberculosis.

The reports from which these figures were taken show that under normal conditions herds very badly diseased may be established as relatively free in a short time. They also show that eradication work can be carried on without destroying the cattle industry as is sometimes thought. Erratic results were obtained on a very few of the 1832 herds tested, the list of this class containing less than 100. Out of the 126,968 herds under observation December 1, 1921, there were only a very few that had not shown satisfactory improvement as a result of testing.

WHY LAWS ARE NOT ENFORCED

There are a certain number of Sunday blue laws on the statute books of every state. We have them in Wisconsin and they have them in surrounding states. Over at Ludington Michigan, they have had a sudden inspiration to virtue and spirituality and threatened to enforce laws which would prevent persons from engaging in sports or pastimes on the Sabbath.

We refer to this not because there is any particular significance in the reform wave that has taken hold of Ludington. It will last only a short while. These revivals are spasmodic and seldom amount to much. The significance is in the relation these laws bear to the universal disrespect of law in America.

Let us cite a glaring example in the state of Wisconsin. At the session preceding the last one the legislature enacted a bill to do away with excessively strong lights on automobiles. It was known as the anti-glare law. Notice was given that it would be rigorously enforced and owners were given a brief period in which to comply with its provisions.

It was designed to promote safety and comfort in driving.

For a few months the law was enforced, and then it was forgotten. Today nobody pays the slightest attention to it. It is the same with the authorities. If cars come equipped with anti-glare lights, well and good, if not, it is the same. We venture the assertion that there are easily 1,000 automobiles in Brown county whose light violate this law. People obey or not as they are disposed. They have no respect for law. They like to put it over on the authorities if they can by violating law. Many law transgressions are treated as acts are an insult to the government which protects them and to which good jokes. People forget that such they owe allegiance.

The disrespect for law will not, however, be cured by appeals to conscience and loyalty. It will be cured only when our legislators quit grinding out silly laws on impulse or in compliance with propaganda and lobbying by fanatics and organizations that desire to impose their social and moral views on humanity. The anti-glare law is a good law, but we would be better off without it; better off without all laws that we do not respect and obey.—Green Bay Press-Gazette.

THOUSANDS SPENT TO PREVENT A BLOCKADE

Pennsylvania Road Widening Cuts Near Elmira

The Pennsylvania Railroad Co. is spending thousands of dollars this summer between Big Rapids and Elmira in an effort to foil the elements and prevent another serious transportation tieup such as northern Michigan experienced last winter due to snow blockades.

Large gangs of men with plows, scrapers and teams are cutting away the cuts at various points along the right of way which filled up with snow last winter faster than the railroad's snowplows could remove it.

Almost a mile of cuts is being leveled at Elmira and enough gravel has been removed to improve all the streets in the village. At other points the banks have been removed, leveling the tracks slightly above the roadbed. Railroad officials hope to overcome much of the drifting by removing vantage points for King Winter to fill with snow every time a gentle east or west wind is kicked up from Dec. 1 to the middle of March.

STATE POLICE MAKE A "KILLING" IN EAST J.

Pick Up Forty-five with No Operator's License

Three of the State police were in East Jordan, Tuesday, and arrested forty-five persons for operating motor vehicles without an operator's license. The majority of offenders were found to be not only without their licenses on their person at the time of arrest but without any license in their possession. A good many persons were also gathered in by the state officers for not having obtained license plates for cars recently purchased.

The secretary of state holds that the owner of a new car, purchased and operated before September 1st, in each year, must pay full license fee for the year, unless he refrains from operating his car until after the above date. It has come to the observation of the state department that many dealers are assuring owners of new cars, purchased during August, that they will be allowed to operate them until September 1st without obtaining a license. This is not the case, and anyone operating a car between now and September 1st, without first displaying their license plates, will be subject to arrest and probable fine.

In the matter of operators' license, the state keeps a pretty close check on how the number of licenses issued compares with the number of cars owned in any given locality and the comparison in this case probably showed a sizeable discrepancy. Hence, the advent of the mounted coppers.

PRICE REDUCTION BY WILLYS-OVERLAND

Cut in Willys-Overland Line Surprises Motor Industry

John N. Willys, president of the Willys-Overland Company, of Toledo, Ohio, recently caused a furore in automobile circles by his announcement of immediate price reductions and great improvements in the 1923 Willys-Overland lines.

This action embracing a drop on the Willys-Knight touring car and roadster models from $1235 to $1175, P. O. B. factory, and on the Willys-Knight Coupe-Sednn from $1595 to $1550, came as a distinct surprise to the automobile and motoring public in view of the advance in price made by not a few manufacturers in announcing their 1924 models.

The new values in Willys-Knight and Overland cars are the direct result of the wonderful sales and production records made by the Willys-Overland Company this year, eclipsing any previous period in its history, which determined the officials of the company to share with the public the appreciable saving in costs made possible by an enormous increase in business.

Mr. Willys added that in every detail all the advantages of the Willys-

ELMIRA BITES THE DUST IN FAST GAME

Charlevoix City Team Wins By Score of 20 to 1

Elmira baseball team played the Charlevoix city team on the home grounds last Sunday and went down to their first defeat of the season, by a score of 20 to 1.

Charlevoix scored in every inning, their runs for each inning, in order, being respectively, two, five, one, two, three, two and five. Elmira's only run was scored in the sixth, and this was on a combination of a wild ball, a walk and two sacrifices.

No individual star playing characterized Sunday's game. Cunningham achieved fourteen strike-outs and creditable work was done by Soper, Pumphrey, McConerty and "Willie." Babcock, behind the plate, held up his end in excellent manner. The outfield were on their toes throughout the progress of the game, as is evidenced by the fact that not a single hit by Elmira reached the ground. McCafferty drove the ball clean through the right-field fence, untouched, for a home run in the sixth. Charley Dagwell, former star pitcher for the high school team, played right field for the city team.

We play Ellsworth here tomorrow and Bellaire, Sunday, at the latter's grounds. Charlevoix defeated Ellsworth there, earlier in the season by a score of 4 to 3 in ten innings, and should do even better this time. According to the Elmira manager, we have the best little team they have ever played against and should have a walk-over in the Bellaire game, they having been recently beaten by Elmira.

Paramount presents Bebe Daniels and Nita Naldi in "Glimpses of the Moon." An Allan Dwan production, who directed "Robin Hood." A rarely beautiful and impressive screen classic with an all star cast. Added attraction: Larry Semon in a two reel comedy, "School Days."

MONDAY, AUGUST 27

Wm. Fox presents his super special production, "Nero," staged in Rome, Italy, by J. Gordon Edwards. The world's most spectacular and most sensational photodrama. Thrills and joys of ancient Rome in all its glory in eleven reels. Second day showing, Tuesday, August 28th, at the Majestic Theatre.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 28

Wm. Fox presents a special production in eight reels, "The Face on the Bar Room Floor," with Henry B. Walthall, Ruth Clifford, Alma Bennett and Walter Emerson. This picture offers virtually every known element of appeal, thrills, mystery, beauty, adventure and human interest. Do not let the title of this picture mislead you. A modern melodrama and 100 per cent entertainment.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, AUGUST 29-30

First National presents the yell of the year—one smashing success—"Penrod and Sam," screened just as Booth Tarkington wrote 'em. Sequel to "Penrod." Aimed at grown-ups even more than at the kids. Adult stars and kid stars—laughs all through, wonderful pathos too. Added attraction: Hal Roach Rascals in a Gang comedy, "The Cobbler."

MAJESTIC THEATRE

TUESDAY, AUGUST 28

The super special production, "Nero," in eleven reels.

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, AUGUST 25-26

Thos. H. Ince presents Douglas MacLean in his latest picture, "A Man of Action." A bombshell of joy. Here's a comedy-romance that will keep you on the edge of your seat with excitement and make your sides ache with laughter. Action, thrills, mystery—the fastest comedy since "The Hottentot." And a Buster Keaton two reel comedy "The Playhouse." It's a riot.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Vacation days are soon to close. Before long the summer will be past and we will hear the ringing school bell again. Thus the seasons come and go and the years roll on. These reflections call us to remember our spiritual obligations for Jesus Christ is the same yesterday, today and forever.

At 10:00 o'clock this Sunday we will assemble for class meeting.

At 10:30 Dr. Selby F. Vance, of Pittsburg, Penn., will preach for us. Dr. Vance is a theological professor. His splendid sermon of last year will not be forgotten. We will pray. We have been especially favored with the messages of prominent men this summer. We have had good audiences too and are thankful to all for the success of our summer's work. Come to church this Sunday and you will be glad you came.

The Sunday school at 12 o'clock will study Barnabas. This good man had a missionary spirit. He believed in answering the call of the Master, "Go ye into all the world."

This Sunday again the evening service will begin at 8 o'clock. There will be song service, orchestra, special music, orchestra, Epworth League lesson and an address. This may be the closing service for many of our visiting young people. Let us make it a real service of consecration.

Prayer meeting this Thursday at 7:30 p. m. We have three or four unoccupied seats in the prayer room. We will welcome those who will use them.

Service at Barnard this Sunday at 2 p. m. At this meeting we will "open the doors" of the church and receive new members. Any persons who having given themselves to Christ desire to unite with the church we will be delighted to receive them.

The Barnard church will serve a chicken pie supper at their church Wednesday the 29th from 6 o'clock to 8:30 p. m. Many cars went from here out there last year on a similar occasion. We had a great feed. This year the supper will be second to none. The church is slightly to your left six miles out south on M-11. Real chickens in a real pie and real hostesses serving. This rural church invites your cooperation and solicits your patronage.

For all church matters this Sunday closes the conference year. Holy Methodists help the financial secretaries by being up with all your obligations.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage dated the 13th day of August, 1912, executed by Edwin H. Cook and Clara Cook, his wife, to John Nicholls, Harry Nicholls, Archibald Butters and Albert F. Bridge, co-partners, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 458, on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1912, and which mortgage under date of August 27th, 1915 was assigned to Carrie E. Knight of Banks township, Antrim County, Michigan, which said assignment was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said County of Charlevoix, in Liber 49 of Mortgages on page 573, on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1915.

And, whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of $774.45 of principal and interest, and the further sum of $25 stipulated for in said mortgage as an attorney's fee, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now, therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale and in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said County of Charlevoix, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The west three-fourths (3/4) of the northwest quarter (1-4) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, range nine (9) west, of which the following described parcel of land has been released from said mortgage, to-wit: The west half (W1-2) of the west half (W1-2) of the northwest quarter (NW1-4) of said section twenty-four (24) all in the township of Norwood, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan.

Dated June 27th, 1923.
Carrie E. Knight, Mortgagee.

SCHOOL STARTS SEPTEMBER 4TH

LARGE ENROLLMENT OF PUPILS EXPECTED

Ernest Erickson of Saugatuck Will Head Teaching Staff—Look Toward Successful Year

School will start here on Tuesday, September 4th, and a larger enrollment of pupils is expected this year than in any year previous.

The corps of teachers has been completed and with the exception of a little work to be finished on one of the class rooms, every thing is in readiness.

The teaching staff this year will be headed by Ernest Erickson, of Saugatuck, Mich., whose services were secured through the teachers' association of that district. Mr. Erickson is a young man with five years experience as superintendent and comes with the highest recommendations as to moral character and teaching ability.

Miss Carrol Monk, of Suttons Bay, will be with us as principal again this year and will, without a doubt, give the same unqualified satisfaction as last year.

Miss Emily Johnstone will have charge of the sixth, seventh and eighth grades. Cornelia Elzinga will guide the destinies of the fourth, fifth and a part of the third grades, while Pearl Johnstone will look after the first, second and a part of the third grades.

These last three named teachers are, while new to the teaching game, this being their first year, well known here, the Misses Johnstone having received their high school education in the Ellsworth schools, while Miss Elzinga's education from the kindergarten to the end of the twelfth was secured here. All passed their high school work with high marks, received excellent standings at their summer training at Mt. Pleasant normal and passed an exceptionally hard test at the recent teachers' examination, and appear to be both educationally and morally fitted for their work.

Given the support by parents and school board which they deserve and should have, this teaching staff should carry the school work for the coming year to one of the most successful finishes in the history of the school.

Important Announcement

On August 15th, prices on all types of Exide Automobile Batteries were reduced.

The same high quality that motorists have always associated with Exide Batteries, will be carefully maintained. All of the materials entering into the construction will, as always, be of the best grade obtainable and the workmanship unsurpassed.

Only the adoption of certain new policies based on present day requirements of car owners, has made this reduction possible.

Compare the following new and old prices. You will understand, then, why the Exide Battery with its long life, dependability and low maintenance cost is the most economical battery you can buy.

PETOSKEY TAKES BASEBALL GAME

WON FROM LOCALS AT PETOSKEY
KEY SUNDAY 9 TO 7

Petoskey Bunch Hite to Advantage.
Good Fielding by Both Teams.
Petoskey in Second Place.

By defeating Charlevoix Sunday afternoon at the fair grounds field, Petoskey city team of the Northern Michigan Amateur Baseball league, retained its second place position in the league standing of games won and lost. Petoskey led all the way in Sunday's game, scoring five runs in the opening inning. Their batters bunched hits nicely through out the game.

Both Thomas for Petoskey and Dagwell for Charlevoix were hard hit, but the Petoskey man's teammates appeared to place their hits to better advantage. Johnson, Petoskey second baseman, had a finger hurt early in the game, and S. King replaced him. Johnson played well during the time he was in the lineup.

Pugsley, Petoskey shortstop, and Coby, playing in the field, made unusually good stops of hard hit balls. Pugsley leaped into the air and knocked down what appeared to be a sure two-bagger, while Coby by some desperate sprinting, cut off a drive ticketed for a home run.

Both teams played well in the field, taking many hard drives.

Thomas allowed ten hits and issued five bases on balls. The home players had five stolen bases.

Dagwell allowed 12 hits, struck out nine players, issued four bases on balls, and allowed three stolen bases.

Pugsley was Petoskey's heavy hitter, getting three and a base on balls in four times at bat. Rigley and Shields were the heavy hitters for Charlevoix, each man getting two hits.

There was a crowd of about 450 fans present.

JACKIE AMICK SAVES A DROWNING INFANT

Grand-son of Mrs. Morrison, A Youthful Hero

John Douglas Amick, aged nine, a grand-son of Mrs. C. S. Morrison, of Boyne City (formerly, Mrs. Agnes Jarvis, of Charlevoix) more familiarly known here, perhaps, as "Jackie," figures as the hero in a recent, gallant rescue at New Baltimore, N. Y., where the young man is spending the summer with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Amick.

Carrie Ann Carter, two years old, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Carter, of Carmi, Ill., resorting at New Baltimore, fell off the dock in front of the Bayview Hotel at New Baltimore. Jackie, who only last week found himself able to discard his water-wings, jumped in, clothes and all and brought her to shore. The best thing about it is that Jackie's folks had to find out about the rescue from a third party. All the little chap said was that Carrie fell in the water—never a word about his part in it. He did admit, though, later, after his deed was discovered, that he cherished an ambition to be a real life-guard when he grew up. He's a regular guy now.

ROBBERIES AT LEVERING AND HARBOR SPGS.

Post Office and Milling Company Looted

The cash till in the Levering post office was robbed of about $30.00, some time during Tuesday night, August 14th. The robbery was not discovered until the following morning.

The thieves, who, it is thought, were amateurs, gained entrance to the office by removing a rear door. A quantity of cigars and tobacco, from the store in which the post office is located, were also taken.

Some time during the first part of the week, expert safe-blowers got in to the office of the Hankey Milling Company, at Harbor Springs, dragged the safe into the warehouse and covered it with bags of grain to deaden the noise of the explosion and blow the door off. They found only thirty cents in the cash drawer of the safe to reward their efforts and left it there—contentiously, we presume. There is no clue.

Strange, but a snappy salesman doesn't dare to be.

POULTRY

FIXED EGG-LAYING RATIONS

Poultry Keeper Should Determine an Feeds Best Suited to Conditions and Prices.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

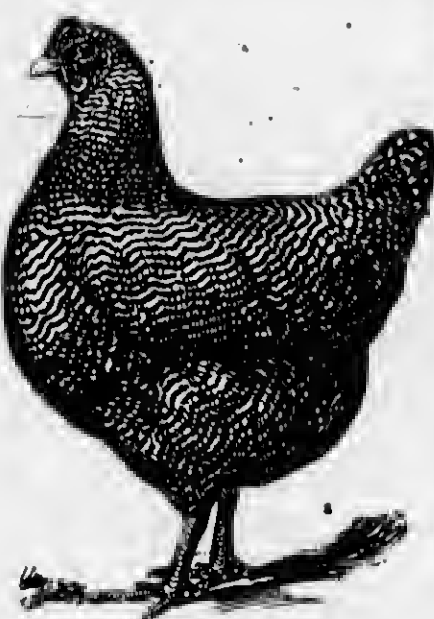

All the following rations have been used with good results at the experimental farm at Beltsville, Md., conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, but the poultryman should choose the ration best adapted to local conditions and prices. Feeds not included here may be added or substituted on the basis of their comparative analysis, provided the meat scrap or animal-protein feeds are not replaced by cottonseed meal or other high vegetable-protein feeds. All changes in the feed should be made gradually, as sudden changes may decrease egg production materially.

Ration No. 1, Mash.—16 lbs. cornmeal, 0 1/2 lbs. meat scrap, 1 lb. bran, 1 lb. middlings. Scratch mixture: 1 lb. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats.

Ration No. 2, Mash.—2 lbs. cornmeal or barley meal, 1 lb. bran, 1 lb. middlings, 1 lb. meat or fish scrap. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. oats, 1 lb. wheat or barley.

Ration No. 3, Mash.—3 lbs. cornmeal, 1 lb. meat scrap. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. oats.

Ration No. 4, Mash.—9 lbs. cornmeal, 5 lbs. middlings, 4 lbs. bran, 2 lbs. cottonseed meal or gluten meal, 2 lbs. meat scrap, 2 per cent bone meal. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats, 1 lb. barley.

Young Plymouth Rock.

Ration No. 5, Mash.—1 lb. cornmeal, 1 lb. bran, 1/2 lb. meat scrap, 1 lb. middlings, 1 lb. ground oats. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats, 1 lb. barley.

Ration No. 6, Mash.—3 lbs. cornmeal, 1 lb. bran, 1 lb. middlings, 1/2 lb. meat scrap. Scratch mixture: 2 lbs. cracked corn, 1 lb. wheat, 1 lb. oats. Feed with table scraps or cooked vegetables.

Ration No. 5 is adapted especially for yearlings or old hens of breeds inclined to get too fat, such as the Plymouth Rock, Orpington and Wyandotte. As cornmeal, fed with meat scrap, is very fattening, these two feeds are cut down in the rations.

With ration No. 6 feed all table scraps available, or vegetables at the rate of 5 pounds daily to 30 hens.

Five per cent bone meal may be used in any of these mashers, and the quantity of meat scrap reduced accordingly, or 2 per cent of bone meal may be added without changing the mashers.

FEEDS FOR BREEDING GEES

Equal Parts of Bran, Middlings and Ground Oats Mixed With Milk is Excellent.

A good mash for breeding geese consists of equal parts of bran, middlings and ground oats mixed with milk. This can be given in the morning. Corn should be fed at night. Breeding geese may become too fat on a diet limited to corn. Their digestive system is better adapted to mash than to whole grain. If geese become too fat it injures the hatchability of the eggs. A mash consisting of equal parts by weight of cornmeal, ground oats and bran is also recommended for geese.

POULTRY NOTES

Provide roosts and droppings boards in the henhouse.

Some method must be found of keeping the chicks comfortable.

Don't feed chicks until they're from forty-eight to seventy-two hours old.

The best care to give a sitting hen is to leave her alone—she knows her business better than most men know it.

It is a hard thing to do, but see the hatchet freely on ailing fowls. Be sure that the ailment is not a fault of the caretaker.

Bran is an excellent summer feed for mature fowls, because it is neither fattening nor heating to the fowls. There is little danger of feeding too much of it.

HORRIBLE MURDER AT BOYNE FALLS

HONEST POLISH FARMER VIC-TIM OF FIEND

Drink-Crazed Lumberjack Tries to Destroy Entire Family—Kills Himself Later

"A shocking and gruesome murder was committed in a farm home near Boyne Falls, last Wednesday morning at about six o'clock, when Stanley Zeniewicz, a farmer living two miles south of that village was shot through the head and instantly killed. The slayer also fired several shots at the mother and children, but they escaped injury.

The father and mother had been to the barn to do the morning milking and returned to the house. As Mr. Zeniewicz was going towards the separator in the kitchen, which is located at the back of the house, with a pail of milk, the shot which ended his life was fired through the window. The murderer then fired several shots at the other members of the family. A boy, twelve years of age, ran quickly and hid behind the stove, which is full of bullet holes and the wall beyond is perforated in several places.

After committing his terrible deed, the assassin ran around the house and fired through the bedroom window at some smaller children, who were still in bed. The little ones sprang from the bed and crawled underneath and several holes in the wall show where the bullets landed that were intended for their small bodies."

So runs the account of one of the county's worst crimes in years, as it appeared in the Boyne Citizen on the day of the murder. All day, Wednesday, three cars, filled with officers of the law and deputized citizens scoured the roads until about one o'clock Thursday morning. In the party were Sheriff Charles Novak, under-sheriff, Henry Cook, deputy, Henry Fyke, of Boyne Falls, chief of police, David Vaughan, of Boyne City, and prosecuting attorney, A. L. Fitch. The men were furnished with high-powered rifles and revolvers and orders were given to take no chances but to shoot to kill.

Mrs. Zeniewicz clearly saw the man when he shot her husband and recognized him as Jim Morris, or "Russian Jim," a lumberjack, well

SHOULD JAIL THE DRUNKEN DRIVERS

Editor Courier:—It is high time that decent people organize for self-protection against the drunken fools who attempt to drive autos when intoxicated.

I have been back "home" here in Charlevoix now for two weeks and during that short period there have been several accidents, all due to drunken drivers at the wheel.

I have not heard of any one of them being sent to jail, or having their driving license revoked. A drunken driver is a potential murderer. No man who takes a single drink of liquor should ever get behind a steering wheel while that drink is in his system. Any man who takes a drink of the present-day "hooch" takes his own life in his hands. If it kills him well and good. But when he gets behind the wheel of an auto he is the most dangerous person one can meet.

I am not much in favor of the "Ku Klux Klan" nor its methods—but if the officers whose duty it is to protect the public against these drunken fools do not do their duty and give them the heaviest possible jail sentences, and revoke their licenses, I am ready to join with other men who feel as I do, and use a whip, a rope or most anything else that will put the fear of death into these drunken fools, as they are now putting the same fear into all sober people who drive the roads.

If you Charlevoix people want to retain the splendid reputation of the town I have always loved, and that so many other people who have made this their summer home for years love—you will have to get after this menace and see to it that it is abated. And the first step is to see your peace-officers, your sheriffs and your justices and judges, and let them know that you will no longer tolerate leniency toward drunken drivers, but they rich or poor.

Your for a safe city,

known in the lumber camps of this vicinity, who had often stopped at the Zeniewicz home, off and on, for days at a time. The two older boys also recognized their father's assailant.

The cause of the quarrel that led to this dastardly-crime is supposed to be a sum of money which Morris declared he had given Zeniewicz to keep for him while he was on a drunken debauch. When he asked for the money again ($350.00) Zeniewicz denied that he had ever had it. The lumberjack became infuriated and threatened to kill the whole family, but left without trying to carry out his threats. He returned again, in a few days, however, renewing his threats to make away with the whole family unless his demand was complied with. Prior to the affair of the money, the father had been on the best of terms with the murderer and had even had their pictures taken together in a group. Morris's likeness in this group picture has been reproduced and is being sent broadcast throughout the region, by the authorities, in an effort to secure his apprehension.

Jim Morris, or "Russian Jim," as he is sometimes known, is about 55 years of age, five feet and eleven inches tall and weighs about two (Continued on page three.)

PERE MARQUETTE DEPOT IS ROBBED

THIEVES MAKE THOUSAND DOL-LAR HAUL

Wheel Safe Up Track on Push Car and Blow It to Pieces—
No Clue As Yet

Tongues are buzzing and many theories are being hatched to account for the get-away of the bold robbers who entered the Pere Marquette main depot here, sometime last Monday morning, between one o'clock and daybreak and abstracted the office safe and its contents—nearly $1,000.00.

That the job was the result of a well-laid plan on the part of someone who had familiarized himself with the lay-out of the station office and the practice of the agent in leaving cash received during Saturday evening and Sunday in the office safe overnight, is accepted by all who have expressed any opinion about the affair, at all. The night picked out by the yeggs for the execution of their deed was also favorable to their concealment, the sky being overcast with heavy clouds along towards midnight.

The robbers entered the station through a window in the ladies waiting room, located just at the north end of the office. They jimmied this window and used a chisel on the office door. When ticket clerk, Bussey, came down to his work at seven o'clock, Monday morning, he found the door open and the safe gone. Later, the safe was located about a half mile north of the station, lying open alongside the track, just as the robbers had left it after blowing off the door and removing the contents. To get it away to a safe distance, where the noise of the explosion would not attract attention, they made use of a push car which happened to be standing near the station.

The sheriff is working on the case, with the aid of the Pere Marquette's special police captain, Steckles, of Grand Rapids, but so far no clue has been found. It is thought that the robbers had an automobile somewhere on the road, just above the tracks, and got out of town in a hurry after securing the contents of the safe. Some persons claim to have noticed certain suspicious characters hanging about town for the past week and these men have been linked up with the crime in popular opinion. However, nothing definite has developed.

This is the largest job of the kind that has been pulled off in Charlevoix for several years. With the present inadequate police protection, it is remarkable that more attempts like it have not been staged up to this time.

FORD ROADSTER RAMS TWO CARS

HAPPENED AS USUAL ON THE PETOSKEY ROAD

Mrs. McRoberts Breaks Leg and Rib —Others of Party are Cut and Bruised

Another case in which careful driving proved no protection against the reckless actions of "the other fellow" occurred last Sunday evening, at about half past nine, just north of Greensky Hill, on the Petoskey road.

Donald McDonald, salesman for the Steindler Paper Company, of Muskegon, bound north to his home in Cheboygan and driving a Ford roadster, crashed into a Dort touring car, driven by Ernest Smith, of this city, tearing off two of the wheels of the Dort and caroming into a Ford touring car, driven by Lester Smith, completely demolishing it and badly smashing up his own car.

Mrs. W. E. McRoberts, who was in the car driven by Lester Smith, suffered a broken leg and rib; Mrs. Emeline Hackett, of Jackson, a sister of Mrs. Lester Smith, was badly cut and bruised about the face and head and Lester Smith, his wife and Stephen O'Neill, received minor cuts and bruises. Ernest Smith, his mother, Mrs. Joe Smith, and two others who were in the Dort, escaped injury. Both cars were headed for Charlevoix.

The occupants of the Ford touring car, all of whom needed surgical attention, were picked up by a resorter from the Belvedere, who was going north, and brought back to the Charlevoix hospital, where their injuries were dressed and all, save Mrs. McRoberts, who is still at the hospital slowly recovering from the shock, returned to their homes.

McDonald, in whose possession, after the accident, the authorities found a quart of moonshine, was alleged to have been "under the influence" at the time his car ran amuck and previous to that time for several hours, as well. One of his rear wheels was minus a tire, which he had endeavored to have a local garage man replace, earlier in the day, notwithstanding the fact that his rim was broken. He was taken to the county jail and his case was heard Wednesday morning before Justice Stites. Bail was fixed in the sum of $500.00 and the case adjourned until September 11th at 9:00 o'clock. It is understood that suit has been started against McDonald and the Steindler Paper Company by four of the accident victims in the sum of $80,000.00. Rollie L. Lewis has been retained by McDonald, as his attorney.

Two peculiar features of the accident call for comment. The women in the party left their hats in the wrecked cars, when they left the scene of the accident for the hospital and these were gone when one of the party returned to the wreck shortly afterwards, as was also a pair of valuable earrings, lost by Mrs. Hackett. The radiator of the Ford touring car and two tires were also missing.

The unhurt occupants of the damaged cars fairly had to beg the drivers of passing cars to take the injured victims to the hospital, and several went on, utterly deaf to their pleas, although the serious nature of the victim's injuries were plainly apparent from their cut and bleeding condition. It was also not known but what Mrs. McRoberts and Mrs. Hackett might be in a dying condition.

When such callousness is displayed, it is small wonder that so many drivers are showing disrespect for the laws and carelessness of the lives of others.

PRIME ATTRAC- TIONS AT FAIR

LIPPA AMUSEMENT CO. WILL FURNISH MIDWAY

Well Known in Charlevoix, These Famous Entertainers Need
No Introductions

From all indications Secretary Bird, of the Charlevoix County Fair, has made a wise selection in securing the Lippa Amusement Company, which will furnish the midway for the 1923 fair. Letters of recommendation from a large number of social and fraternal societies, under whose auspices the Lippa Amusement Company has shown throughout Michigan this summer, as well as many favorable comments from both press and public officials, give ample assurance that this year's Fair will offer much that is modern, novel and out of the ordinary in the way of amusement and entertainment.

Of course, there will be the big merry-go-round, without which no Fair is complete, and the fascinating ride carried by the Lippa organization is said to be the most handsome and lavishly constructed on the road. Then, too, there is a brand new monster Eli Ferris wheel, which whirls its passengers skyward with both thrills and safety. For those who enjoy music, singing, dancing and clean, clever comedy, there will be the big musical comedy and vaudeville revue presented in a handsome theatre under canvas by a well selected cast of lady and gentlemen artists.

One of the most novel features carried by the Lippa Amusement Company is Bush Bluey, the African pigmy. This dark-skinned gentleman from the jungles has nothing in common with the so-called "wild man," so often exhibited, but is a well educated and extremely intelligent representative of a strange, savage tribe, whose home is located in the wilds of Africa. He explains and lectures upon the peculiar customs of his native people. He gives an exhibition of the torture dance as performed by his uncivilized brothers and with bare feet plunges fearlessly into piles of broken glass and with astonishing unconcern dances gaily as he chants his weird religious refrain.

Doss, "the man who grows," is another attraction which will grace this year's midway. Standing six feet, two inches in his stooping feet, this human telescope performs the seemingly impossible physical feat of growing to the height of eight feet before your very eyes. There is a big circus side-show, filled from sidewalk to sidewalk with a strange and curious collection of entertainment. Madam Blanch, the famous French mind reader, is with the Lippa Amusement Company this season and a genuine, old-fashioned English Punch and Judy show, direct from the music halls of London. Trained monkeys and dogs, monster reptiles and a host of other features all will add to the pleasure of the Fair guests.

Courteous attendants and an assemblage of ladies and gentlemen comprise the Lippa Amusement Company and no questionable games or attractions are carried or tolerated.

ELMER SEYMOUR

DEAD AT AGE 37

End Came As Result of a Recent Operation

Elmer Seymour, formerly of Charlevoix, died in St. Mary's Hospital, Grand Rapids, on Sunday, August 19th, following an operation.

Mr. Seymour left here in December of last year for Flint, where he worked in the Buick factory until May 1st, when he became ill, moved to Grand Rapids for treatment and resided in that city until his death.

The remains were brought to Charlevoix for burial, Tuesday morning, August 21st, and the funeral services were held at nine a. m., the following day, from St. Mary's church, interment being made in the Catholic cemetery.

Mr. Seymour was born in Atwood and was thirty-seven years old at the time of his death. He leaves a wife and three children; Opal, aged ten years, Kenneth, four, and Donald, two, besides his father, Joe Seymour, and two brothers, Will and Raymond and four sisters, Mrs. Emma Hebert, Mrs. Inez Bacot, Mrs. Minnie Waffle and Mrs. Lillian Yettaw.

HERB TAGGART, NOW A "PROF," IS WED

Will Make Their Home in Lawrence, Kansas

Professor Herbert Taggart, assistant professor of Economics at the University of Kansas, and Miss Jessie McCall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dennison McCall, of Yale, Michigan, were married in Yale, at the home of the bride, on Thursday, August 23rd.

Rev. Charles E. Taggart, of Reed City, former Congregational pastor at Charlevoix, performed the ceremony, assisted by the bride's father, who was formerly an active minister. Among the former local people present at the wedding were Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Taggart, parents of the groom, Lester Taggart, of Mishawaka, Ind., his brother and Perry Mason and wife, of Ann Arbor.

The couple left soon after the wedding for an auto trip to northern Wisconsin, where they will remain for a few weeks. They will make their home in Lawrence, Kansas, which is the seat of the university.

Professor Taggart is well and favorably known in this city and he and his bride have the best wishes of the Courier and its many friends here for a long, prosperous and happy future.

BENEFITS NET CLOSE TO $500

HOSPITAL RECEIVES SUBSTAN-TIAL AID

Good Showing Made in Spite of Unfavorable Weather Conditions

The Charlevoix Hospital has been recently very graciously remembered in a practical way by benefit affairs which have netted this institution a very handsome sum. Notably among these efforts to aid the hospital board and staff in carrying on the good work during the coming year might be mentioned the Chauffeurs' Ball, the Bench Hotel concert, the Inn dance and the Colored Chauffeurs' Ball, the last named under the supervision of William E. Wilkins ("Bill, the Hatter") and his associates.

The amount turned over to the hospital treasurer by the various committees in charge of the above mentioned entertainments, after all expenses incurred had been paid, are as follows:

Reach Hotel Concert .. 130.00
Chauffeurs' Ball $191.84
The Inn Dance 120.00
Colored Chauffeurs' Ball 50.00

A gratifying total of $491.84. The results would have been even better had the weather been favorable.

The hospital management went to express their sincere thanks to the good people who came to the front so handsomely in their behalf. The contemplated improvements which are shortly to be commenced are of a very important and necessary character and it should be a source of pride and satisfaction to every citizen of Charlevoix and that wide outlying district that the local hospital serves that the money to carry on its work is forthcoming.

The need for a hospital in Charlevoix has been brought home to us very forcibly in the past few weeks by the alarmingly frequent automobile accidents which have marked the closing period of the resort season with a bar aniator. Sunday night's deplorable accident occurred at a point only four miles from town. Had there been no hospital here, the suffering victims would have had to face a fourteen mile ride to reach the nearest place where they could hope to receive proper surgical attention. It can easily be supposed that their injuries might have been such that the added strain of such a trip would have balanced the scales against their chances of recovery.

TO BE BIGGEST AND BEST EVER

BUMPER SCHOOL YEAR AHEAD OF US

So Prophecies Sapt. Charles Hamilton in His First Official Statement

Superintendent of schools, Chas. F. Hamilton, recently returned from Ann Arbor, where he has been pursuing a course of study this summer, has issued his first official announcement for the coming school year, reading as follows:

"School starts September 10th. Prospects for the largest school, in point of attendance, in the history of the schools are in evidence and, with the noted enthusiasm, the coming year should be a banner year.

Superintendent Hamilton urges that all who have not classified to date to do so at the earliest possible time. The superintendent will be in his office each day until the beginning of the term and students are urged to come and purchase the necessary books before the opening of school, thus saving time after school opens.

Parents who wish to talk over questions of mutual interest are invited to call at the school, and, throughout the year, parents are invited to visit the school and see, at first hand, the work of their children.

The home and school cannot cooperate too closely. It is the aim of the school authorities to do their part to foster and perpetuate this spirit of good will. Parents are urged to respond likewise.

If anyone knows of a boy or girl not planning on attending school, kindly send the name to the superintendent, who will gladly visit that person and his or her family.

The faculty for the coming year has been chosen with unusual care. The public will find them willing, at all times, to serve in whatever capacity, in school and out, that may make for community betterment.

The school buildings are now undergoing needed repairs, such as plastering, painting, cleaning, etc., that will put them in shape for occupancy when school opens.

Coach Altenberg has sent word to his football squad to report for practice, evenings, dating August 28th, and, from the appearance of "his huskies," the Charlevoix team will give a splendid account of itself. Several new players will be in the lineup, as well as the veterans of others years. The public is invited to the games. The boys need support. They are going to give their best. Back them up.

Principal Austin is expected soon and he will handle the line, while Mr. Altenberg will manipulate the backfield. The two men will work together and thus, the coaching staff will be strengthened.

During the coming year, class teams will be organized in the various sports and it is believed that the school morale can be raised to a high plane.

Again, students, remember to call and complete your classification and—everybody—help advertise the Charlevoix school. It is a fully accredited institution, ranking well with the public schools of the state. It is your school—your boys and girls attend—support it.

Charles Hamilton."

MRS. FORD HANDS A MOUTHFUL TO FAIR CAMPERS

Mrs. Henry Ford publicly rebuked a number of women and girls wearing overalls and short stockings—the costume of the city resorters in the Upper Peninsula—when they besieged her at Michigamme, a resort town near Marquette, recently with requests for her autograph.

The Ford-Edison-Firestone party had just arrived from Iron Mountain and had pitched their tents when the feminine resorters surrounded the party and requested autographs.

"You ladies and girls are showing very poor taste and worse judgment in coming into town garbed as you are without skirts or dresses," Mrs. Ford said. "I do not want to sign my name for you and prefer not to look at you. I resent your idea of dress."

TO PROTECT THE NATION'S SIGHT

CONSERVATION COUNCIL PLANS EXTENSIVE SURVEY

Will Determine Relation of Worker's Poor Eyesight to Industrial Waste

A nationwide survey of eyesight conditions in American education and industry has been undertaken by the Eye Sight Conservation Council of America, it is announced at the national headquarters of the Council in New York.

As to industry, the aim of the survey, according to Guy A. Henry, general director of the Council, is to disclose the relation between defective vision and the efficiency of the nation's millions of workers. As to education, it is proposed to ascertain what steps have been taken by the schools to measure the extent of poor eye sight and to make effective preventive provision.

The Eye Sight Conservation Council's survey, marking the start of the research program recently adopted by the board of directors, has set out to reveal the effect of incorrect vision upon production. It has prepared a questionnaire designed to show increase in individual performance, decrease in accidents, increase in production and decrease in spoilage. The extent of color blindness, the number of blind in one eye, the number totally blinded, hours lost due to eye accidents, equivalent wages for lost time, use of goggles, cost of eye protection service, and total number of eye injuries are other objectives.

This questionnaire has been sent out to the industrial and commercial establishments located in the principal cities of Michigan, including Sault Ste. Marie, Benton Harbor, Calumet, Ishpeming, Jackson, Midland, Three Rivers, Saginaw and Pontiac.

The Council will also endeavor to show "to what extent is any effort being made to place in suitable jobs those workers who have been permanently or temporarily disabled because of eye injuries," and whether any attempt is being made to carry out the National safety code for the protection of the head and eyes of industrial workers as prepared by the U. S. Bureau of Standards.

In the school survey, the Council is trying to reveal what provisions are being made to eliminate glare from unshaded light sources, windows, polished surfaces, blackboards, etc. One of the most important questions to which the Council seeks to provide satisfactory answer is the relation of defective vision to retardation.

The Council's school survey extends to practically the entire Union. A questionnaire has been prepared and sent to schools and colleges in numerous Michigan cities, including East Lansing, Kalamazoo, Marquette, Mt. Pleasant, Ypsilanti, Allegan, Benton Harbor, Blissfield, Cadillac, Caro, Dowagiac, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Chesaning, Charlotte, Ewart, East Tawas and Frankfort.

Also, Gladwin, Hastings, Ionia, Kalkaska, Lake City, Lapeer, West Branch, Ludington, Ontonagon, St. Johns, Mancelona, Marshall, Mason, Onaway, Standish, Stanton and Traverse City.

Previous investigation, it is stated, has revealed alarming conditions of vision which must be remedied if national physical deterioration is to be avoided. The Hoover committee on elimination of waste in industry of the Federated American Engineering Societies found that industrial waste was due in considerable measure to faulty vision. It is estimated that 25,000,000 gainfully employed Americans are thus afflicted. The Eye Sight Conservation Council is conducting a national movement for the conservation of vision in the schools.

Statistics covering many years show that nine out of every ten persons over twenty-one usually have imperfect sight. Above forty it is almost impossible to find a man or woman with perfect sight. It was learned by the examination of several thousand school children in one of our large cities that sixty-six per cent of them had defective vision.

hundred pounds. His face is pockmarked, he has a left front gold tooth and dark hair, streaked with gray. His chin shows a deep dimple, or cleft. The middle finger of his left hand is off at the second joint. He was wearing gray trousers, a blue coat, blue shirt and a blue serge cap. He has been around the various camps for the past twenty-five years and has always borne the reputation of being a bad character, quarrelsome and ugly when drunk. His bosom companion for years was a fellow known as "Russian Mike," either a cousin or brother. "Russian Mike" is serving time, at present, in Marquette prison. Morris has a family in the old country and there is a rumour that he has a son, living in Erie, Penna., and some think that he will try to reach him.

He attempted to pawn his watch and clothes in Gaylord, Tuesday afternoon, before he purchased the revolver with which he committed his gruesome act. The bullets that were taken from the walls of the farm house show that the gun used was a .38 calibre revolver, using Smith & Wesson center-fire shells.

The state police from Gaylord visited the scene of the tragedy, Wednesday, and made an investigation. All of the sheriffs of the surrounding counties have been notified and cards posted, announcing the $100 reward which is being offered by the county for information leading to the capture of Jim Morris. The search parties will cover the territory as far as the straits of Mackinac.

The remains of Mr. Zeniewicz, after inspection by the coroner, Wednesday, were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery, in Boyne Falls, Friday. Besides the widow, he leaves seven children, the oldest, a boy of twelve years and the youngest, tiny baby of three months. The father and mother were honest, hard-working people, doing their best to make a living on their little farm.

Latest advices state that Morris has paid the penalty for his crime. His body was found Monday forenoon by Fred and Roy Hubbard, owners of the Hubbard Bee farm, adjoining the Zeniewicz place, in a badly mutilated condition, the abdomen having been frightfully torn by what was evidently an explosion of dynamite. The clothes were fairly torn from the body, his cap lying several yards away from the grassy hollow in a clump of trees, where the shattered remains were found by the two brothers, when they went out to look after their bees.

Two theories are advanced to account for this strange ending of an awful crime, seemingly a swift retribution. One is that Morris was carrying the dynamite and caps, planning to return to the Zeniewicz house that night and blow it up and the survivors of the family with it, and in some way stumbled and fell, exploding the caps. The other is that, being an experienced lumberjack and familiar with the use of dynamite, he took this way to commit suicide. The only flaw in this latter version is the fact that his loaded revolver was found lying near the body—offering a much easier and less trying method of ending his life.

Officers planned to bury the body in the potter's field of the Boyne Falls cemetery Monday afternoon.

SEASONABLE DISHES.

It is wise to plan early for the pickles, relishes, catsups and such things, for if they are grown in your own garden they must be planned for before the seeds are put in. So many gardens even in the city produce more than is needed for the home table and the thrifty housewife will see nothing wasted. If the food cannot be put up for winter for various reasons there are always neighbors and friends who will gladly accept a bunch of beets or a fresh cucumber.

Cucumber Pickles for immediate use.—Wash and wipe the cucumbers and place in a two-gallon jar. Add one gallon of strong vinegar, one cupful of salt, one tablespoonful of powdered alum and a small bag of mixed spices. Add the cucumbers as gathered and after one day they will be ready to use. Some who like mustard will add a cupful of mustard to the vinegar.

Sweet Pickled Onions.—Use the small onions, cover with brine strong enough to float an egg. At the end of twenty-four hours remove the brine and cover the onions with sweetened vinegar, using two pounds of sugar to two quarts of vinegar. Add mustard seed, celery seed and other spices to suit the taste. Green tomatoes and cauliflower may be added, making a mixed pickle. These need not be sealed. A stone crock with a cover will suffice.

Beet Relish.—The beets are cooked until tender, then chopped. Add to one quart of chopped beets one quart of chopped cabbage, one cupful of grated horseradish, one cupful of sugar, one-half teaspoonful of cayenne pepper and cover with cold vinegar. Salt should be added to taste.

Oil Pickles.—Slice small cucumbers in rather thin slices, add one-third of the amount of sliced onions of the same size. Cover with salted water and let stand over night. Drain and add seasonings desired, such as celery seed, mustard and pepper. Cover with one cupful of olive oil to a pint of vinegar. Let stand ten days, when they are ready to serve.

Cattle Poisoner at Work
The cattle poisoner is at work again in Resort township, Emmet county, and Henry Schapler has lost a valuable horse and cow. The animals had eaten poisoned bran, according to neighbors who aided in the examination of the stomachs of the animals. Investigation showed that the bran, poisoned with Paris green, had been placed in the pasture of the Schapler farm. Last year six cows and two head of young stock were poisoned in the same way.

MANY GRADUATES TO ENTER AT COLLEGES

Seventy Per Cent of This Year's Class Going

According to the number of this year's graduates of the Charlevoix high school who have already signified their intention of entering the University of Michigan and other colleges this fall, as well as those who are expected to turn in their credits, Supt. Hamilton estimates that fully seventy per cent of the 1923 seniors will attend higher institutions of learning. Among them are the following, with the choice each has made, respectively:

Edith Struthers, University of Michigan; Margie Swinton, University of Michigan; Kathryn Gaskin, Northwestern University; John Nordrum, Olivet College; Raymond Faulkner, Olivet College; Richard Saltonstall, Olivet College; Marguerite Brown, Alma College; Thelma Crandall, Hillsdale College; Catherine MacDonald, Michigan State Normal, Ypsilanti; Edward Shanahan, U. S. Naval Academy.

Of the above, John Nordrum and Catherine MacDonald are graduates of the class of '22. Edward Shanahan has already entered at Annapolis.

SELF-FEEDERS ARE POPULAR

Devices Eliminate Great Portion of Labor Involved and Insure Uniform Results.

Self-feeders for hogs have come into great popularity among farmers and feeders largely because they eliminate a great portion of the labor involved in feeding and insure more uniform results and gains from the hogs.

Hogs in the wild state were self-fed animals, living upon such feeds as would satisfy their appetites, and under domestication they seem to thrive best when fed by the same principle. The marked success of the self-feeding principle of hog raising is largely due to the fact that they may eat an abundance of those feeds which will nourish them to the best advantage.

The self-feeder should be designed primarily to keep an available supply of grain constantly before the hogs, and at the same time protect the contents against waste due to wind and rain. A self-feeder consists of a hopper to hold the feed and a trough below it into which the grain flows as the hogs eat it. Complete plans for the Iowa self-feeder can be obtained from the extension department, Iowa State college, Ames, Iowa.

GREEN FEED FOR HEN FLOCK

Providing It Is Relished by Fowls There Probably Is Little Difference in Kind Fed.

Every poultry keeper has a favorite green feed for his flock. Usually it is one that can be supplied with least expense and effort. Providing it is relished by the fowls, there probably is little difference in what kind of green feed is supplied. United States department of agriculture specialists say. Cabbages, turnips and beets are all suitable for this purpose. The larger roots and the cabbages may be suspended by a wire or they may be placed on the floor, in which case it is well to split the turnips or beets lengthwise with a large knife. Potatoes may also be fed and should be cooked. The maagel is excellent for feeding raw.

Clover, cut up and soaked in boiling water, is good when fed with mash, as is clover meal and ground alfalfa. Sprouted oats or other sprouted grains may also be fed and make excellent green feeds, but require considerable labor. As a general thing the flock should have, once a day, about all the green feed it will eat.

RANGE FOR GROWING CHICKS

Quantities of Green Feed, Bugs, Worms and Other Things Obtained in Place of Grain.

Nothing is better for growing chicks than a liberal supply of sour milk. If it can be obtained, it always should be kept before them in an open dish or pan where they can eat and drink it freely. Where sour milk is fed, the amount of beef scrap in the dry mash may be reduced one-half.

Plenty of fresh, clean water is absolutely necessary for all growing chicks. In hot weather, it should be given twice daily and put into four-tains or dishes and placed in the shade so as to keep as cool as possible. Clean the water dish thoroughly each day before filling.

An abundance of free range with plenty of shade is necessary if chicks are to grow rapidly and develop into vigorous fowls, says the United States department of agriculture. Growing chicks that have free range obtain quantities of green feed, bugs, worms and other things, therefore requiring less grain, and they are also less liable to sickness or disease. Give your chicks free range whenever possible.

VERMIN ON MATURE POULTRY

Careful Poultrymen Will Soon Acquire Habit of Looking for Injurious Insects.

On mature fowls, the lice, or their eggs, can be found between or on the feathers of the fluff, the soft feathers about the thighs and rear part of the body, on the underside of the long wing feathers, on top of the head or among the feathers on the side of the thighs. The careful poultryman gets the habit of looking continually for lice.

ENEMIES OF LITTLE CHICKS

Prevention Is Best Procedure Against Hawks, Crows, Weasels, Cats and Other Pests.

Hawks, crows, rats, foxes, skunks, weasels, cats, and dogs are the most dreaded enemies of the growing chicken and every spring thousands of chicks are destroyed by them. Poultrymen who have given thought and attention to the question of reducing the loss due to these pests say the best method of procedure is generally prevention.

NO BEST BREED OR VARIETY

Best Plan Is to Select Stock Preferred and Breed Up to High Standard of Quality.

There is no best breed or best variety of fowls. One person will succeed best with a certain breed and his neighbor will prefer a different breed. The best plan is to select the breed or variety that is preferred and, by proper mating, breed it up to a high standard of quality and production.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Mrs. Clyde Smith of Central Lake, had her tonsils removed Sunday, by Dr. A. M. Wilkinson.

Walter Tebeau, of near East Jordan, returned to his home, Sunday, after spending the past three weeks in the hospital, recovering from a gun-shot wound, accidentally received.

Lawrence Boogher, of St. Louis, Mo., a guest of R. B. Clark, of the Belvedere resort, is in the hospital for medical treatment this week.

Mrs. William Solomon, of Chicago, north side resorter, returns to her cottage on Dixon Avenue today, having recovered from the injuries incident to an accident that occurred about a week ago, when a car run into the pony cart that she was driving, near the bridge.

Mrs. W. E. McRoberts, of west Lincoln Avenue, a victim of Sunday evening's accident, is resting somewhat easier from the effects of the shock and a broken rib and leg.

Dennie Nelson returns tomorrow to his summer home at the Woods cottage on the Belvedere resort. He is the young St. Louis resorter who was hurt in an accident which occurred August 17th, at Godbold's corners.

Mrs. Mary Lewis, of East Jordan, had an operation performed last Friday, and is improving rapidly and will be going home next Friday, a week from the date of her operation.

Wanted—A Man

By MARTHA M. WILLIAMS

© 1922, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

"I don't know. If I did I wouldn't tell," Sarah answered pugnaciously. Miss Dean, who had just asked, "How rich is old Captain Johnson?" blushed out a long "O-h-h," followed by a frosty smile and "Pardon, I didn't dream you were interested there."

"I am not—the way you are," Sarah said, coloring hotly. "I do like the old gentleman; he's nice even when he's tiresome. If he were not I should make him welcome for my mother's sake. He knew her as a girl, and tells me so much about her nobody else can tell."

"I see; an hereditary romance," Miss Dean commented, smiling from the teeth out, only she was furious. Sarah, tall and twenty, vigorous, muscular, with clear, deep-seated eyes and unafraid even of Mrs. Grundy, was likely to prove a lion in her path.

Or, rather, the path of the beautiful scheme she had mapped out before coming to Windmead. Its cornerstone was gossip vaguely heard of a man there, old, lone, fabulously rich and so accessible. All that saved him from coming to want was the fact that he could not spend aught but the income from his big estate. Further, he could not divert nor parcel out the income through settlements—gifts had to be made of cash after the money had accrued. Thus astute and faithful trustees had so far saved him the orgies of generosity he might have been seduced into, but he gave enough and so freely as to make him worth attention.

Miss Dean was of those workers in the vineyard of progress who feel worthy the highest possible wages—"all the traffic will bear." A keen nose for opportunity had led her at the welfare convention held a fortnight back to cultivate unknown provincial delegates, especially those who appeared shy and lost. Thus she had won the heart of Mrs. Linton, Sarah's devout sister-in-law, and been asked to visit Windmead for at least a month. Miss Dean had accepted for some indeterminate future time. When she learned next day that the Lintons were friendly neighbors of old Captain Johnson, she began making her plans for an easy and profitable summer.

Sarah owned Windmead, but gave herself no airs of proprietorship. Brother Jim was her pal and treasurer because she loved him so dearly who tried to feel more than a tepid fondness for Molly, his wife. It was an effort, but she did not let the fact appear. It was only to the old captain she ever spoke truth, saying: "If it weren't for her bluest of plety Molly is so tight the first big wind would blow her clean away."

Thereat the captain had chuckled, merely pretending to frown. But next day he had said irreverently: "What a pity, Sarahkin, you can't divide brains with Mrs. Molly. If you could I should not have so much trouble in thinking up a match for you. The country boys are pretty-much clock-poles, the town fellows sissies. I've a great mind to advertise, 'Wanted—A real man.'"

"Do, please!" Sarah had entreated. "Find him and I'll agree to take him sight unseen, provided he measures up to your pattern. Otherwise nothing's done."

"What a shame I have no grandson, else I could cut out fifty years or so," the captain had answered, sighing. "I'll never insult you by saying 'Will you be an old man's darling?' You are not for sale. If your mother couldn't overlook the thirty years' difference, you might be my daughter, but I didn't try to change her mind; she loved another man, and I knew it."

"I'll adopt you illegally as my grandpop," Sarah had answered, masking a sigh with a laugh. Memory of all this made her flush a lovely scarlet at the Dean insinuation. She hated herself for blushing until she caught an exultant gleam in the Dean eyes.

It roused her protective instinct. She said lightly: "Oh, no romance at all; just the basis for a nice business arrangement. I adopted him as a grandfather some time back. We will have the papers drawn pretty soon. That won't be like the other way round. If he adopted me I might inherit a tidy bit for his fortune. In default of blood heirs it goes to colleges and things. He won't have a chance of ever coming into Windmead. I shall make a new will as soon as we settle things. Besides, you know, real estate never goes back."

"I wonder what standing a wife would have?" Miss Dean said positively. "About the same as a snowball at the equator," Sarah said recklessly. "But why speculate idly? I won't marry the captain, and he surely won't marry anybody else."

"About that we shall see," Miss Dean said, but inaudibly to her inner consciousness. On the surface she swam away wrapped in silent meditation.

Then tricky Fate took to raw double-dealing all round. She laid the captain by the heels with lumbago and sent Sarah to serve as maid of honor at a wedding a hundred miles away.

Sarah meant faithfully to write every day at least to her old dear. She hated writing, but did really keep faith the first day. After that she was so held and hindered anything but postals was impossible. Long distance was small help. Captain could not get to the phone; besides, getting connection was a work of so much time and bother it seemed not worth while. Thus Fate unfairly cleared the way for Miss Dean, a gifted letter writer as ever put words on paper. She went daily with Molly to ask after the captain, but could by no means be persuaded to set foot in his house. Instead she sent in letters—her very best brand. Fairly written, full of sympathy, but not maudlin, touched lightly with humor and breathing throughout subtly her desire to help in making the world and the race better. This not at first—not until the captain, who found diversion in answering courteously her sendings, himself lavished light upon her plan. After that the deluge. She was far too ndroit for outright solicitation, but her suggestions were double-shotted and went home straight. The captain sent for his trustees. In their absence came a bright young fellow, Truman by name and nature. By the time he had read the third Dean letter he sensed what impended and went over to the opposition.

The opposition was, he it known, Sarah Linton. Truman meant to marry her as soon as he got a firm foothold. Windmead, he knew, must be left out of the calculation. Brother Jim would never make a living elsewhere and Sarah could not possibly turn him out. But he kept all that in the back of his mind, while the captain, kind soul, unfolded his great scheme. It was to compound his income for the five years he might still reasonably expect to live and give all but the barest pittance to "the noblest of philanthropies—that which teaches humanity to live its best."

Such arrangements took time, said Truman. The captain agreed. He also agreed to say nothing to anybody until further developments. As a result Truman invited himself to the far-off wedding. Luckily, he had been at college with the bridegroom. And he must have carried water of persuasion along, for when he came back a week later he brought a wife, whom he called, saucily, Sally of the Valley. Straight to Captain Johnson he took her, bursting in upon the convalescent with, "Cap'n, here's the answer: She'll teach humanity to live its best. In proof, she is adopting you legally. We're going to live with you if you let us, and save you from the pious Philistines."

The captain chuckled. "Just in time," he said. "Miss Dean proposed this morning for the good of the cause. Now she can't marry me without the consent of my mother."

MARKET REPORTS AID TRADE

Government Helps Farmer by Giving Out Information Regarding Supplies and Prices.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

In a strict sense there can be no such thing as a "fair-trade" when either party has the advantage of vastly superior information. Up to the time the bureau of markets and crop estimates of the United States Department of Agriculture was established most transactions in the marketing of farm products were, in this sense, unfair. This was due to the fact that the buying side almost invariably had vastly better information regarding supplies, both available and prospective, future production, prices current throughout the country, and probable movements of the products.

Placing the farmer on the same footing with the buyer, so far as information is concerned, so that the element of chance applies equally to both, is the aim of the Department of Agriculture. For this, it gathers every available scrap of information relating to supplies, current quotations, and other fundamental conditions influencing markets, arranges the information in readable form, and makes it readily available to everyone having use of it.

Before the department took up this work, the farmer was not wholly without market reports. Newspapers, trade journals, telegraph companies, and many other organizations, as well as individuals, distributed in the rural districts reports that purported to be market information. Unfortunately for the farmer, however, many of these reports originated with buyers of farm produce, or from sources controlled or dominated by such interests. Under these circumstances it was but natural that they redounded to the advantage of the buyer and almost invariably worked to the financial handicap of the farmer and producer.

The department's reports are now being made use of by practically all classes of people—farmers, commission merchants, boards of trade, brokers, chambers of commerce, retail dealers, and consumers. Most persons who have cause to touch with the work of the department realize that it neither buys nor sells any commodity and has no interest to serve except that of accuracy. The whole purpose of its work is to hold a mirror before the markets of the country and to hold it at such an angle that all the people may see what is taking place at the moment.

KEEP HORSES IN CONDITION

Farmer Makes a Mistake in Not Using Animals Off and On During the Winter.

It is a shame to take a good horse from pasture and put him into the collar before a plow, mow, reaper, or other heavy draft implements without his having been hardened to it first. In the main this is the reason for so many sore necks, added of course to the poor-fitting collars. Horses that are to do the heavy work should be used off and on all winter so as to keep their shoulders in shape and the skin toughened. At any rate they should be used before a wagon, manure spreader, or at some light work for some time before hard work starts. Be sure the collar fits. No collar and is needed if the collar fits. Especially is this true with collars.

FEED PUMPKINS TO THE HOGS

Excellent Addition to Their Rations, and Really Cost Little to Produce.

Pumpkins can be grown at a small cost and form a valuable addition to the ration of hogs. They may be grown in the corn fields, especially where there is a poor stand.

The value does not lie entirely in their nutritive composition, but is due largely to the beneficial effects on the digestive tract, as they tend to regulate the bowels. It is asserted that the seeds are valuable as a vermifuge.

DODGE BROTHERS ANNOUNCE IMPORTANT IMPROVEMENTS

Dodge Brothers have not simply brought out a complete new line of motor cars. They have done something infinitely wiser and better than that.

They have brought new beauty, new riding ease and new mechanical perfection to the product on which their reputation as builders has been founded.

They have built a better and a more desirable line of motor cars—yet basically and fundamentally the identity of their product remains the same.

The same sturdy engine is under the hood; the same dependable chassis, improved in numberless details, underlies the body.

But the rear springs—now underslung—have been materially lengthened. The wheelbase, too, is longer, and the combined result is a notable improvement in riding qualities.

Bodies of all types have been designed to give improved appearance, and greater comfort. Lower, longer, with deeper seats and more leg room, the lines of these new cars are low-slung and graceful—the interiors are comfortable and roomy.

New head lamps and fenders, especially designed by Dodge Brothers to conform with the general lines of the car—a long straight hood and cowl effect—longer and wider running boards—unusually wide doors—combination stop signal and tail lamp—and instruments attractively grouped on raised panel—are a few of the numerous body innovations common to all types.

Combining these features with important mechanical improvements too numerous and technical to enumerate here, it is not extravagant to predict a reception for these cars unprecedented in automotive annals.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Geer, of Cadillac, motored up recently on business, and, while here, spent a couple of days with Mr. Geer's brothers, Reuben and Elisha, of this city.

Charles Sandrock, wife and children, of Cleveland, Ohio, arrived Sunday by auto for a week's visit at the home of his mother, Mrs. Ben Nowland, and sister, Mrs. Matt Saunders.

Mrs. George Oldham and daughter, Helen, who have been spending several weeks in this city, visiting their sister and aunt, Mrs. Martin Block, have returned to their home at Hibbing, Minn.

Capt. E. C. Pugh and wife returned to their home in Ludington, Wednesday, after spending the summer in the city, where Capt. Pugh acted as swimming instructor at the Belvedere.

Alexander McCauley, who has been working for Benjamin Brown this summer, has resigned his position here and returned to his home in St. James. He is planning to attend school this winter.

Frank A. Hull arrived Sunday from Detroit, to visit his wife, who has been spending the past two weeks here, visiting with friends. They return home tonight.

Russell Blakeslee, mathematics teacher at the Charlevoix High school, is here, visiting at the James Goskin home, until the opening of the school year.

Mrs. Van Atto, of Northville, Mich., who has been the guest of her sister, Mrs. George Tomerassen, for the past week, left for her home Tuesday.

John T. Scofield and family, of Flint, who have been staying at the Bartlett House since the first of August, left this morning for their home.

Rev. and Mrs. H. R. E. Quant, accompanied by their daughter, Mabel, motored to Boy View, Sunday, to hear Professor Sweet, of DePauw University, Indiana, lecture on "Knowing the Unknowable."

Ray Faulkner expects to open a lunch room in the Powers building on September 20th. He will occupy that portion of the building now held by the Misses Harrington and Wilson.

William, Chandler and Helen Knight, who have been spending the past two weeks at the home of their aunt, Mrs. Arthur Bergeon, on Clinton Street, left Tuesday for their home in Ionia.

Mr. and Mrs. Don C. Gaffney, of Lansing, are here this week, visiting at the home of Mrs. Gaffney's parent, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Wewer. They return Thursday by automobile.

Chet See left Sunday morning for Detroit, where he will attend the international speed boat races. It is rumored that one of the contestants in these races has a boat that will make one hundred miles per hour.

Among familiar faces seen on our streets this past week are those of Supr. Charles Immlon, Cleveland Roe, Mr. Altenberg and Miss Doris Vincent, who are awaiting the opening of the fall semester, September 10th.

Mrs. Robert B. Kimber, who has been spending the past three weeks visiting at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Archibald Butters, on State street, returned to her home in Fort Wayne, Indiana, Tuesday evening.

Miss Amy Gill, who has been spending the summer with her people, at Chattanooga, Tenn., is now visiting her aunt, Mrs. R. F. Sloan, pending the opening of the Loeb Farm school, where she is to teach this winter.

Alice and Galo Chew, who have been attending the Western State Normal, at Kalamazoo, returned to their home in Hayes township, Saturday, after spending three weeks visiting friends and relatives in southern Michigan and northern Indiana.

Miss Ione Catton, who has been spending the summer at Camp Winalda, near Central Lake, leaves next Thursday night for Boston, Mass., where she will attend school this winter. Miss Catton is well known here, having taught in Charlevoix in past years.

Does the Public Know Real Shoe Values

The fact that we sold around $1,500.00 worth of shoes last Saturday, should show you that the public does know real shoe values when they see them.

The Mayer Shoe Store, operated by John Slezak, is going to close for the winter, and we are not just picking out dead stock as they do on the ordinary clearing sale, but we have put a price on every pair of shoes in our store at an average of 57 cents on the dollar.

Think of it! Men's Florsheim Shoes and Oxfords going at $6.95—and they are going—so you will have to make it snappy to get in on them.

100 pairs of boy's leather shoes were sold at $1.25 last Saturday, and we have replenished them again for next Saturday. Don't fail to get in on this.

Extra Special for next Saturday at 8:30 p.m.—Women's and Girl's brown and black walking and dress oxfords, going at.....

These are only samples of the regular sale prices on all our shoes. If you don't see what you want on the tables and racks, please ask us about them, as we could not possibly put all our shoes out.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

This Sunday begins our September work, and with it school, conference and a new year. This Sunday is our Annual day. At the regular 10:30 morning hour we will administer the Holy Sacrament. This is for everyone, visitors and residents, all denominations are welcome. If your church home is not represented we welcome you. At this service annual reports will be given from the treasurers of budget, centenary, L. A. S., L. L. & S. Club, trustees and the missionary society. Your new envelopes are in your hands. Begin to use them this Sunday. The new conference year commences with September 2. Start the year promptly and keep it up for fifty-two Sundays.

The Sunday school demands your attention. There is no greater field for Christian usefulness. Children, young people and older folks can all engage in this work. There is a splendid place for the men also. Study your lesson this week and come prepared to talk about one of the greatest men of biblical history, Paul.

Evening service in combination with Epworth League again. The leader will give exposition of the league lesson. There will be song service with orchestra and special music. Also Miss Edwards, a member of our African Methodist church Chicago an evangelist of great capability will preach. This lady has been in our city for the past month. We will be glad to hear her.

Prayer Meeting this Thursday at 7:30 p. m. We had a good attendance last week even though it rained hard.

Service at Barnard this Sunday at 2:00 p. m. Rev. Floyd Frook will preach. Last Sunday we received nine into the church as a result of the recent Norwood revival. There is a tie that binds our hearts in Christian love.

Service at Greensky Hill at 2:30 p. m. Sunday school at 1:30. The sacrament of the Lord's supper will be administered. This is the last time the pastor will be out there before conference.

MORTGAGE SALE
Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage dated the 13th day of August, 1912, executed by Edwin H. Cook and Clara Cook, his wife, to John Nicholas, Harry Nicholas, Archibald Butters and Albert F. Bridge, co-partners, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 468, on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1912, and which mortgage under date of August 27th, 1915 was assigned to Carrie E. Knight of Banks township, Antrim County, Michigan, which said assignment was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said County of Charlevoix, in Liber 49 of Mortgages on page 573, on the 5th day of September, A. D. 1915:

And, whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of $774.45 of principal and interest, and the further sum of $25 stipulated for in said mortgage as an attorney's fee, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, where by the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale and in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said County of Charlevoix, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The west three-fourths (3-4) of the northwest quarter (1-4) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, range nine (9) west, of which the following described parcel of land has been released from said mortgage, to-wit: The west half (W1-2) of the west half (NW1-2) of the northwest quarter (NW1-4) of said section twenty-four (24), all in the township of Norwood, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan.

Dated June 27th, 1923.

Important Announcement

On August 15th, prices on all types of Exide Automobile Batteries were reduced.

The same high quality that motorists have always associated with Exide Batteries, will be carefully maintained. All of the materials entering into the construction will, as always, be of the best grade obtainable and the workmanship unsurpassed.

Only the adoption of certain new policies based on present day requirements of car owners, has made this reduction possible.

Compare the following new and old prices. You will understand, then, why the Exide Battery with its long life, dependability and low maintenance cost is the most economical battery you can buy.

Mr. and Mrs. Rodger Speyers and daughter, Harriet, of Ellsworth, took supper with Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles, Sunday.

Mrs. Millie Shaw leaves for her home in Detroit, Monday morning, after visiting relatives and friends the past two weeks.

Mrs. Geo. Coates, of Grand Rapids, came Saturday, to help care for her mother, Mrs. John TerWee, who has been ill for some time.

Mrs. Mary Tillotson and sons, Edward and Will, and Mr. and Mrs. Roger Speyer and daughter, Harriet, of Ellsworth, called Sunday at the John TerWee home.

Mrs. Sparrow and son, Leo, daughter, Margaret, and little grandson, Bobby, of Des Moines, Iowa, visited for a few days last week with Mrs. Mary Clark, Mrs. Sparrow's sister. She left Friday morning for Ozark, to visit her brother, John Dell and family. They made the trip by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. Gene Miles, of Grayling; Mrs. Chris Peterson and daughters, Doris and Maxine, of Cadillac; Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Burnette, of Boyne City; Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Strong; and Mr. and Mrs. Xelle Miles and children, Donald and Madelon, of East Jordan; and Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Holben were Sunday dinner guests at the A. Miles home.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A Romeo physician sewed on his own finger while on a fishing expedition at Au Sable. Learn to be a handy man around the camp.

More than half a million golf balls will be used in the state this summer according to a recent estimate. And the number that will be abused—O my!

A man 80 years old residing in Benton Harbor, believes he will live forever. He may succeed, but the general belief is that he will have to do it in the next few years.

One can only hope that the fellow at Otsego who was kept all night in a tree by a Durham bull, had the materials, through the long, lonesome hours, for rolling his own.

However, we say be sure that when the price of gas goes up again it will go high enough to make up for all that the producers would have suffered if there had been a heavy loss.

A former Ann Arbor man who had twice been reported dead walked in on his friends and relatives there last week. It seems they had been too optimistic, as he had really been living in California.

An old gentlemen up-state used to take great pride in the fact that he never missed a meal in more than 90 years, and probably the original "groaning board" was the one that groaned when it saw him coming.

A resident of Lapeer who owns two expensive motor cars has been arrested and fined on a charge of using one set of licenses for both of them. He should consider himself lucky that he wasn't rich enough to own three or four cars, or he couldn't have afforded any license at all.

A couple of tourists who shot an Airdale dog as it stood beside the road at Trout Lake were compelled to pay $50 for it. Tourists in the U. P. must learn to do like the natives, and always mistake a dog for a timber-wolf before they shoot it.

Nope. That Mundy farmer who forced his wife to live in the bins of an empty granary didn't have a grain of respect for her, either.

Grand Rapids police, called to arrest three men "drinking out of a bottle," found them drinking ginger ale, but even so, they were allowed to escape.

A strange kind of worm is on exhibition in the window of the Durand paper and is attracting considerable attention. That delinquent subscriber again, probably.

City Manager Shields, of Manistee, has warned drivers of coal trucks and other heavy vehicles that they must stop driving over the curbs and breaking them. If they can't get on the sidewalk without that, they'll simply have to stay off.

Something will have to be done to prevent young people from undertaking these gruelling contests, like that of the lad "walking" from Detroit to Potoskey, who once had to sit fully 10 minutes by the roadside before a passing motorist picked him up.

A carpenter working on the new university buildings at Ann Arbor was fined $30 for punching a student on the chin. And he'll be sorry, too, if the student should sometime grow up and become a professor, and make half as much as he does.

Three day's search has failed to find a farmer who is thought to be hiding in a tract of woodland in Sanilac county. He need not be afraid, the searchers say. If he will return, that laborer has promised not to hire to him for $5 or more a day.

ECONOMICAL BEEF IN SOUTH

Mixture of Silage, Dry Velvet Beans and Cottonseed Meal is Most Satisfactory.

The United States Department of Agriculture has conducted a steer-fattening experiment in Mississippi which shows that velvet beans are well adapted for use in making beef. Feed-lag mixtures of silage, dry velvet beans and cotton seed were compared with combinations of silage and dry velvet beans. The mixture of silage and soaked velvet beans resulted in the most economical and profitable production of beef, while the mixture of silage, dry velvet beans and cottonseed meal proved more satisfactory than the combination of silage and dry velvet beans.

WATCH FOR MOLDY SILAGE

All Stuff Found Moldy Should Be Placed Where Live Stock Can Not Reach It.

In opening the silo it is a good plan to watch out for mold which might be there. These molds are very poisonous to horses and often cause the death of cattle as well.

Be sure that the decayed silage is all scraped off the top and put where the livestock cannot get to it.

It is poor economy to try and feed the top silage and take a chance on losing valuable stock.

A fool trusts to luck; a wise man to pluck.

FARM LIVE STOCK

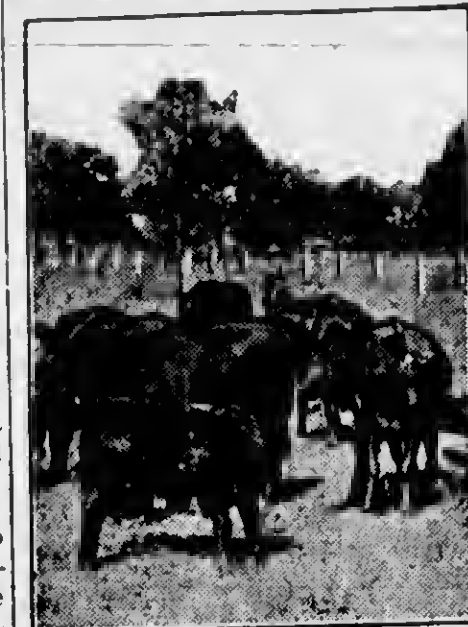

FEED FOR FATTENING CATTLE

Data Gathered by Department of Agriculture of Much Value to Producers of Beef.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Data gathered by the United States Department of Agriculture regarding the daily gain and the amount of feed and pasture consumed by 34,034 steers fattened on corn-belt farms during the last two winters, are of value to beef producers as an indication of how much feed is required on the average corn-belt farm to produce 100 pounds of gain.

The average weight of all the cattle at the start of the feeding period was 786 pounds, while the final weight was Pasture is Essential to the Profitable Production of Beef.

1,070 pounds, the gain amounting to 284 pounds in a period of 174 days. The average quantity of feed consumed for 100 pounds of gain was 680 pounds of grain, 62 pounds of commercial concentrates, 301 pounds of dry roughage such as hay and corn fodder, 663 pounds of silage, and the equivalent of 20 days of pasturage.

In addition to these co-operative feeding trials with cattlemen in Indiana, Illinois, Iowa, Nebraska, and Missouri, the United States Department of Agriculture is conducting investigations in southwestern Wisconsin to determine the costs and amounts of feed required to fatten cattle on grass, with and without a supplement, and of the feed required to maintain a breeding herd of beef cattle for one year, and to raise calves from weaning time to yearlings.

STATE TAX ON FARM LAND CUT

BURDEN SHIFTED TO INDUSTRIAL CENTERS

Ten Northern Counties Enjoy Reductions in Board's Sweeping Slash

Members of the state board of equalization, after hearings extending over several days, have fixed the equalized value of Michigan for 1923 at $6,540,000,000. This is an increase of $1,540,000,000 over the past years and falls almost entirely upon the industrial centers of the state.

The total reduction made from the tax commission's recommendation is $5,065,000. The reductions are entirely in agricultural counties.

Wayne county was raised to $2,666,500,000, an increase of nearly $600,000,000 over the equalized value of a year ago.

Ten northern counties were given reductions. As the result of the big increase in valuation, the state tax will be considerably reduced. George Lord chairman of the tax commission states that it will be about $2.32, as compared with $3 last year.

State Tax Total Less

The amount of state tax to be collected this year will be about $16,000,000. This is a considerable reduction in the amount that Michigan taxpayers must pay to the state.

Last year the state tax was over $17,300,000.

The reduction in the levy on the rural districts and the raise to the industrial centers is all the more noteworthy because of the tremendous effort which was made by Detroit representatives to show that city levies should be reduced or at least kept down to present levels. The decision of the board is a splendid tribute to the supervisors and others who so ably represented the rural districts.

MARKETING EXPERT WILL RETURN TO US

Walton Petet Agrees to Make Speaking Tour

"He hits the nail square on the head," said hundreds of potato growers when they heard Walton Petet's talk on cooperative marketing at Cadillac recently. Mr. Petet was an agricultural leader in Texas before he became director of cooperative marketing for the American Farm Bureau Federation. In Texas he has credit for organizing eight commodity marketing organizations similar to the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange.

On September 7th, at 2:00 o'clock Mr. Petet will meet with Charlevoix county farmers and business men at East Jordan. His evening meeting will be at Gaylord. On Saturday, September 8, at 2:00 o'clock Mr. Petet will talk at Levering, in Emmet county.

Farmers and business men are invited and urged to attend these meetings.

WILL DEDICATE PINE LAKE PARK

Charlevoix County Cities and Rural Sections Join in Big Event

A joint barbecue and picnic will be held near Ironton, Thursday, August 30, in connection with the dedication of Whiting Park, a large wooded tract of land with a half mile frontage on Pine Lake. The property was recently donated to the county by Mr. Whiting with the understanding that the county will spend $1,000 yearly in improvements.

Chambers of commerce, granges, farmers' clubs, farm bureaus, American Legions, Rotary clubs and fraternal organizations will co-operate in the dedicatory services. M. J. Noon, a director in the Michigan Milk Producers' association, and vice president of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, will speak in behalf of the farmers, while O. L. Smith, of Lansing, will represent the business men on this program.

Oxen Are Donated

Two oxen have been donated for the barbecue, one a gift of W. H. White, of Boyne City, and the other from W. P. Porter, of East Jordan. More than 4,000 farmers and citizens are expected to attend the services. A ball game between Boyne City and East Jordan for a purse of $200 has been arranged.

A band of 50 pieces, made up of musicians from Boyne City, Charlevoix and East Jordan, under the leadership of C. S. Morrison, will furnish music for the occasion.

The property taken over for the park consists of 198 acres, partly covered by virgin timber. There are two openings, one of 10 acres, which will be used as an athletic field, and the other of 20 acres, which has been set aside as parking space for automobiles. The park is in the center of Charlevoix county.

CITY TEAM SUFFERS ITS FIRST DEFEAT

Beat Ellsworth, But Lost Game to Bellaire

The city team tasted both victory and defeat last week, their set-back being the first they have suffered this season.

Thursday, on the north side grounds, Ellsworth was defeated by a score of six to five. The locals scored three runs in the fifth inning, one in the seventh and two in the ninth. Ellsworth scored two in the fourth inning, two in the fifth and one in the eighth. Cunningham got twelve strike-outs, Peebles, the Ellsworth pitcher, nine. It was a very good game, closely contested.

Despite the prophecies of the Ellsworth manager, which we mentioned last week, Charlevoix failed to "put it all over" Bellaire in Sunday's game at that place, the score being twelve to five in favor of the Antrim county players. Charlevoix scored two runs in the first inning and then were shut out until the sixth, when they copped off three more. Bellaire "rang the bell" once in the fifth inning, twice in the sixth, four times in the seventh and five times in the eighth. Cunningham and Hill, both pitchers being relieved during the game; Reilly, by Richards in the

COLONIAL CLUB GUTTED BY FIRE

ITS SEASON BROUGHT TO UN-TIMELY CLOSE

Most of Damage Done by Water—Fittings and Furniture Was Saved—A Mean Fire

The summer season of the Colonial Club, of this city, was brought to an untimely close last Saturday morning, when the wall caught fire, just back of the kitchen range, the flames rapidly working their way up between the partitions to the roof. The alarm sounded at twenty minutes past eleven and at half past, a fair proportion of the town's population was assembled to view the proceedings. The work of fighting the flames was delayed a trifle on account of the necessity of removing one of the French cooks from a third story bedroom window. This gentleman had gone to his room at the time the fire was discovered to gather up his belongings and found his escape cut off by smoke. It was thought for a while that he would jump, but he kept his nerve and managed to tie a rope that was thrown to him around one of the bathroom fixtures and, by the aid of this and a long ladder, he finally made his way safely to the ground.

Holes were chopped in the kitchen roof and the sides of the building on the second and third floors and through these openings streams of water and chemicals were turned on to the blaze. The fire was a mean one to handle, on account of its being confined to partitions and between floor and ceiling spaces.

In the meantime, employees of the Club were engaged in carrying out the furniture, fixtures and hangings, assisted by a number of volunteers from the ranks of the spectators. Most of the stuff was carried into the dining room annex of the club, next door, and some of it to the Meech cottage, corner of Dixon and Prospect.

Most of the damage, as is usual in this kind of a fire, was done by water. At one-thirty p. m., the firemen were still working on isolated spots between the flooring and in the upstairs walls where the flames still stubbornly threatened to break out afresh. On the second and first floors, water streamed from the ceilings like a spring rain and the carpets and cotton filled pads that are laid underneath were as the sodden surface of a marsh, oozing water under one's feet.

Much credit is due the fire department for the masterly way in which they handled a difficult situation.

FIVE REASONS WHY BOYS AND GIRLS LOSE FIRST JOB

Lack of a sense of responsibility, unwillingness to work hard, lack of thoroughness, false notions about salary and promotion, and lack of principle are the five chief reasons why 90 percent of the boys and girls of the United States lose their first jobs, according to a report made to the Chicago Association of Commerce by A. D. White, statistician of Swift & Company.

Mr. White's report noted that 90 percent of the boys and girls lose their first positions. The report also shows that in nine cases out of every ten, the loss of the position can be traced to one of the five reasons noted.

His report continues: "Lack of a sense of responsibility is shown by neglect of work, failure to put the most important things first, and the expression of a general 'I should worry' attitude.

"Unwillingness to work hard, is shown by being late to work, stretching the lunch hour, and stealing a few minutes at the end of the day, watching the clock, and wasting time by social conversation and telephone calls during business hours.

"Lack of thoroughness, is indicated most frequently by unwillingness to begin at the bottom and to go through the drudgery of mastering each step before going ahead.

"The real secret of promotion lies in constantly doing more than you are paid to do. Keep yourself underpaid. As soon as you are overpaid you are bound to go backward.

"Lack of principle is shown by concealment of mistakes, untruthfulness and constant making of excuses."

There was a great deal of roof and siding to cover and as most of it was burning simultaneously it meant some tall scrambling on the part of the fire lads to keep all parts of it in check.

The building was completely redecorated this spring and now, almost all this work will have to be done over. It will probably be some little time before the club will be open again to patrons. We understand that the loss was fully covered by insurance, although its extent cannot, at this time, be fully estimated.

BEWARE OF THE AUTO THIEVES

Officials Warn All Motorists to Make Cars Safe

Motorists are warned by county officials that the time marking the open season for stealing cars has been the last part of August and the first part of September. Several automobiles were stolen locally during a corresponding period the past few years, and county officials request that all drivers leave their parked cars locked.

BIG DEMAND FOR NORTHERN SEED

POTATO RAISERS WILL BUY IN IN THIS REGION

Ford Charlevoix Grower Seed Yields Much Heavier Than Home Grown Varieties

That northern Michigan—Emmet, Charlevoix, Osego, Cheboygan counties—is to soon become the chief source of supply for seed potatoes for Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and some other states which cannot supply their own seed, was the prediction made here recently, following the visit of the second annual Michigan potato tour.

With the touring Michigan potato specialists were buyers of seed potatoes from three states, railroad officials and farmers from southern sections, who declared that thus far they had found no seed potato which could successfully compete with the Chief Petoskey grown in the northern counties. This variety of potato, of good quality produced in the north, is scab resisting, and yields an average of a hundred bushels per acre more than seed grown in those states. Potatoes grown from northern Michigan seed takes well on the market, and growers have found from experiments that it pays to plant the seed grown in the northern region.

Interest in potato growing is on the increase in northern Michigan, where scientific methods are being studied in an effort to produce more and better potatoes to the acre. Interest in the potato tour was more than 100 per cent better than interest last year.

It is freely predicted that certified seed potato stock which successfully passes the rigid inspection this fall will find ready sale during the coming winter and spring. Many new names are expected to be added to the list of certified seed potato growers this year in the northern Michigan region.

Mrs. J. J. Howe and Party Tour in the North

Mrs. J. J. Howe, of Norwood township, has just returned from a very interesting automobile tour of 1,538 miles—from Charlevoix to Chicago, through Wisconsin, Minnesota, and the upper peninsula and across the straits, back to Charlevoix. She was accompanied by her two daughters and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Reimann, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Smith and Mr. Smith's mother.

The party were four weeks on the trip and found very good roads all the way, except about thirty-eight miles the other side of the straits.

AGED PIONEER WOMAN IS DEAD

MRS. TIMOTHY SMITH PASSED AWAY THURSDAY

Lived On The Beavers in King Strang's Time—Had a Long and Eventful Life

Mrs. Timothy Smith, widow of the late well-known sailor and merchant, died last Thursday evening, August 30th, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Withers, 214 Clinton St., following a long period of illness. She had been failing for several months past and for two weeks preceding her death was confined to her bed.

Ellen Mary Johnson was born February 22, 1842, at Otisville, Genesee county, Michigan. On January 14, 1856, she was married at Middle Village, in Emmet county, where the couple first made their home. Later, they lived for a time on Beaver and Hog Islands, during the days that Mrs. Elizabeth Whitney Williams has immortalized in her book, "A Child of the Sea," when King Strang and his gang of Mormon pirates held full sway over the lives and fortunes of the islanders. Fifty-two years ago, Mr. and Mrs. Smith and their children moved to Charlevoix county, where they located on a farm, just south of the cemetery, which had to be cleared by these pioneer folk before they could start farming. Following this period, Mr. Smith conducted one of the first general stores in this region, later taking to marine pursuits, in which he showed no mean ability, both as a builder of craft and a master of vessels. He was best known to the present generation of Charlevoixians as captain of the tug, James Martin.

Since the death of her husband, which occurred in 1915, Mrs. Smith has resided with her son, Oscar, and daughter, Mrs. John Withers, of this city. She was the mother of twelve children, four of whom are now living: Oscar J. Smith and Mrs. John Withers, of Charlevoix; Mrs. Effie Stevens Davis, of Grand Rapids; and Mrs. Minnie Wilson, of Boyne City. She also leaves ten grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Mrs. Smith was a member of the local Baptist church and, at one time, an Eastern Star. She was a woman of kindly, Christian character, generous and warm-hearted, always helpful and considerate to those about her. Surely a heroic figure, exemplifying the best type of American womanhood, a life of service and devotion to simple duty in the face of hardships of which was of this generation know little, leaving in the persons of her children and grandchildren, memorials more durable and more fairly won than shafts of marble or granite erected to commemorate the insignificant and bloodstained victories of some conquering Napoleon.

The funeral was held Saturday, at two p. m., from the home of Mrs. John Withers, on Clinton street, Rev. Hoskins, of the Baptist church, officiating. The remains were taken to Brookside for interment.

NOT A BAD EGG IN THIRTY THOU

Local Poultry Dealer Rolls Up a Record

A remarkable record has been made by a local poultry and egg dealer during the past season, which, on account of its remarkable features, calls for special mention.

Miss F. A. Franklin, manager of the Chicago Club, reports that out of a total of thirty thousand eggs furnished the club this summer by "Chic-Chic" Farm, owned and operated by A. T. Jeffrey, of this city, not a bad egg has been discovered. This farm has also sold to the Chicago Club several thousand pounds of turkeys, ducks and chickens, with never a complaint in any instance.

This is another infant "carrying on" right under our noses for several years, while a lot of us have been bawling the fact that Charlevoix has no industries and was going to the "demition bow-wow" on that account. All it takes, gentlemen, is a little thrift, brains and hard work.

VALLEY TO HAVE NEW CLUB-CAFE

GROUND NOW BROKEN FOR FINE BUILDING

H. L. Oldham to Operate High-Class Restaurant and Roof
Garden Here

The Valley has at last come into its own! No longer will its residents have to knuckle down to the haughty north siders and the fastidious Belvedereans, turning their faces to the north and east like the Turk at prayer. For the Valley is to have a restaurant and club just about four or five jumps ahead of anything of its kind in this region—that is to say, it is to be the last—positively the last word in A-1, up-to-the-minute cuisine and service. And it ought to, for the project is going to cost in the neighborhood of twenty-five thousand dollars.

The building is to be located on the Oldham property, on Park Avenue, facing the channel and is designed to serve the hitherto neglected district, lying to the west of Bridge Street, stimulate the growth of a high-class resort colony and improve property values. Credit is due for the conception of the enterprise to Harry L. Oldham, who is to be owner and operator of this restaurant de luxe. Behind him in this venture are many prominent resort families of the Valley district and out-of-town friends who have promised their support and patronage and who, Mr. Oldham says, have urged him for some time past to start something of this kind.

The main building will be fifty by sixty-two feet, its length extending north and south and topping the eminence just back of the present Oldham residence and extending to the edge of the channel. As the bank drops away sharply to the channel's edge, the main floor will overhang the ground about twelve feet, built out on steel girders and supports. At this space on the ground level, at the verge of the channel edge, private dining rooms will be located, with French windows opening onto a porch overlooking the water. These rooms will be about twelve feet in depth and behind them the bank will be excavated and buttressed with concrete to permit of a concrete driveway, in the form of a horseshoe, with its ends on Park Avenue, circling the foot of the bank, the entrances to the private dining rooms opening onto this driveway.

Both ends of the big main dining hall and dance floor on the upper ground level will terminate in spacious verandas, with French windows opening thereon. A stage will occupy the south end of the main room, for orchestral and theatrical purposes and a seven foot fireplace will lend an air of coziness and solid comfort to this fine room. The main entrance to the building will open onto a lobby at the south end of the dining room. Kitchen, scullery and pantries will be located on the west side of the main building. F. M. Glassford has the contract for construction.

The roof of the main dining room, for its entire length, will be devoted to an open-air restaurant, where patrons may sit at tables, listen to soft music and enjoy the beauty and witchery of the summer evenings. A New York chef, with a real reputation, will be imported and the service will be strictly high-grade, in every respect. Efforts will be made to enable the club's patrons to enjoy music and entertainment features of a high order.

Mr. Oldham and his friends feel that there has long been a great need of an institution of this kind in this particular district of the city and are confident that it will meet with the instant approval and hearty support of our summer people. Ground has already been broken for the buildings and work will be pushed with all possible speed so as to have the club ready for its guests, with all decorations and appointments completed by the opening of the 1924 resort season.

P. M.'S BIG HOTEL IS TO SPRUCE UP

Inn Guests Will Enjoy Many Improvements

Extensive improvements, in the buildings and grounds of the Inn are to be commenced as soon as the season closes, manager Frank McDonald has announced. Among the principal of the new features is an electric elevator that will enable guests to go to and from their rooms to the bathing beach without having to pass through the hallways and the rotunda. A new garage will be built and the beach on Pine Lake will be cleared of stones, a pavilion erected and a new dock constructed. Huge umbrellas of various bright hues will be placed along the beach, similar to the practice in vogue at Atlantic City and other watering places.

Next year, the hotel will be open to guests on the 1st day of June and the season will be extended until late in September, thus enabling its patrons to enjoy two of the finest months in the year at Charlevoix and permitting the continuance of sports for which local weather conditions remain favorable long after the present closing date.

HITS THE WEED GROWERS A BIT

ISAAC MILLS DEPLORES FARMER'S NEGLECT

He Might Well Have Included City Folks, As Well, in His Timely Criticism

Isaac Mills, a well-known farmer of this region, has sent us a communication relative to weeds, and we opine that he has "said a mouthful." We will let our readers judge for themselves:

"Dear Sir:—I wonder what our visitors think of us farmers. In going along the roads I am ashamed of the appearance of most of the farms, and I wonder if some of the owners are not ashamed too. Have you noticed the weeds? If you have been on the roads at all, I know you have. Wild carrots, milk weeds, rag-weeds, thistles, till one is tired of the sight. We are so busy building good roads, I wonder if it is so our visitors may hurry by and not see the filthy condition of the farms and road-sides? Every year our papers are full of notices to cut and destroy the weeds, and signed by some weed or road commissioner, and no one pays any attention to them, for they know that those same commissioners do not keep their own premises clean.

Our good brother, Hampton, gives us a calling for not punishing those drunken drivers. I'll give you a remedy; revoke their license, and put them out on the roads to work, or cutting weeds on the farms; collect their wages and give it to their families, and there will soon be less drunken drivers or less weeds. I have always tried to keep my farm clean, and I could name others who have done the same, but it's a discouraging job when we know that in the fall we are due to get a fresh supply with every wind that blows.

Mr. Mills might have added that similar conditions prevail in the city to Charlevoix, itself. In spite of the repeated warnings of the state health department and local physicians, relative to the intimate connection between weeds and hay fever, and the further very vital relation between hay fever and our resort season, too many back yards and fields in this city are about in the same shape as the farms that our correspondent has in mind. More and more cases of this late summer malady are reported in Charlevoix each year and it is only a question of time when one of our chief assets—our reputation as a haven of refuge for the hay fever patient—will be utterly destroyed. This, we cannot afford to let happen. And that, too, is saying nothing about the appearance of the town and its impression on the visitor.

BAD ROADS AND WORSE DRIVERS

THOUGHTS OF AN OBSERVER OF BOTH

A Week-end Jaunt Northward Furishes Food for Thought and Criticism

An automobile trip to the Soo over Sunday and Labor Day has furnished the writer with material for a casual comparison of roads and traffic regulation enforcement, as between Charlevoix county and the counties of Emmet, Mackinac and Chippewa, through which he passed.

Emmet and Charlevoix, as regards the condition of roads, may be taken together, although, over this particular route, the burden of neglect lies principally with Emmet. The entire stretch, after leaving Petoskey, was made over "washboard" roads of gravel, sadly in need of repair and taking heavy toll in wear and tear on the running gear and tires and the bodily discomforts of the passenger.

After bumping the bumps all the way to Mackinac City, the writer was hardly prepared to find the roads from St. Ignace, north, in excellent condition and was still more surprised to learn that this pleasant state of affairs continued for over eighty per cent of the distance. Upon inquiring the reason for this unexpected discovery, he was told that the road gang had been over this road with the scraper, immediately following Saturday's heavy rainfall and that this was the usual practice in the north country. "Cloverland" people, he was told, are proud of their roads and keenly mindful of their benefit from the tourist traffic. They do not believe in allowing one of their best assets to deteriorate, finally to carry in its downfall several of its companion dependencies. Evidently, the sharp climate experienced by our northern neighbors has not numbed their wits.

Neither did the observer find any disputed areas, or "debatable ground," such as we maintain between Bay Shore and the Emmet county line. We must learn their formula for destroying fossil growths on county legislative bodies.

On the return trip, an opportunity was afforded to study the comparative value of traffic regulation vs. no regulation at all. Out of forty or more cars, passed between the Petoskey and Charlevoix, only two ignored the regulations, sanctioned by law and courtesy, with regard to the dimming of lights and road hogging. West of Petoskey, the road was wide open. Cars fit up like battleships held an undeviating course down the middle of the road, skimming merrily by with a half inch to spare between fenders, or zig-zagging across one's path in a terrifying manner, indicating an untutored and untamed driver, careless of restrictions. Small wonder that "the Petoskey road" has a state-wide reputation for accidents. And thus it will ever be until properly patrolled, as is its northern continuation.

And these distressing exhibitions of lawlessness are not confined to the Petoskey road, by any means. They prevail throughout this county and complaints are voiced daily by decent drivers who suffer from them but are helpless. For Pete's sake, let's patrol the roads in this county, even if we have to call in the state-police to make a clean sweep of every offending driver and then let public opinion stand behind the officials and see that they get the limit. Let this drive or "round-up" continue until Charlevoix gets rid of her unsavory reputation for man-killing drivers. Swift, sure, uncompromising justice is the only cure.

We pay cash when we buy and sell for cash, only, after Sept. 10. Save cash by trading with us. Brady & Shapton.—Adv. 36-t1.

HONESTY, INDUSTRY AND THRIFT

A well-known cartoonist has pictured a city boy sitting disconsolately on the curb reading the statement in a paper that both President Harding and President Coolidge started life as farmer boys. No chance for the city boy, is his conclusion.

Such a conclusion would be fallacious. Undoubtedly, the experience they gained in early life on the farm did much to pave the way for the ascent of Harding and Coolidge and other men to the Presidency, and yet that experience alone would not have given them a material advantage. It was not their surroundings and their opportunities that caused their advancement, but the use they made of opportunities. They were not lazy; they did not waste time; they did not waste money. They did not look upon physical labor as demeaning. They did not shirk responsibility.

Neither Harding nor Coolidge was born to poverty. Their parents were in average circumstances and probably both of them could have gotten along fairly well without much personal effort. But they cheerfully performed the home tasks that were given them to do and when they became old enough they went out hunting jobs for themselves. They never ceased the desire for useful occupation. On the day before he became President, Coolidge pitched hay in the field—not because of necessity nor as a means of publicity but because he was seeking out-door recreation and pitching hay was the most convenient and useful opportunity of accomplishing that end. But for his sudden accession to the Presidency, the public would never have known what Coolidge was doing the day before.

The lesson of the records of Harding and Coolidge, like the lesson to be learned from the lives of other successful men, is plain: Honesty, industry and thrift will lead to all the success for which the individual is qualified by natural talents.

NEW EXCHANGE FORMALLY OPENS 15TH

Wednesday, Sept. 19th, is Visiting Day

H. J. Johnston, manager of the Michigan State Telephone Company's office at Petoskey, while in the city, Tuesday, stated that it was planned by the company to cut over onto the new exchange in the Levinson building on Saturday, September 15th.

Although this is usually done at night, when the work of the exchange is at its lowest ebb, in the present instance it will take place in the daytime and a little function will be made of it, Mayor Bergeon being asked to pull the switch that will cut off the old exchange and throw on the new. Mr. Johnston says that about thirty seconds will be consumed by this performance and subscribers, unless they are present to witness the formal opening of the new exchange, will not be conscious of the change. The inside and outside installing gangs have been working on the last preliminary details for the past week and everything, it is hoped, will be in readiness for the switch-over on the date set. Several officials of the company will be here to attend the ceremony.

On the following Wednesday, Sept. 19th, the exchange, which will then be in operation, will be open to visitors and it is hoped that subscribers and others who are, of course, potential subscribers, and, at any rate, actual users of the service, will be on hand to have the workings of the exchange explained to them, some of the officials of the company remaining for that purpose.

Why He Called It "Portland" Cement

In 1824, an English mason wanted to produce a better cement than any then in use. To do this he burned finely ground clay and limestone together at a high heat. The hard balls [called clinker] that resulted were ground to a fine powder. When a mixture of this dull gray powder with water had hardened, it was the color of a popular building stone quarried on the Isle of Portland off the coast of England. So this mason, Joseph Aspdin, called his discovery "portland" cement.

That was less than one hundred years ago.

Portland cement was not made in the United States until fifty years ago. The average annual production for the ten years following was only 36,000 sacks. Last year the country used over 470,000,000 sacks of portland cement. Capacity to manufacture was nearly 600,000,000 sacks.

Cement cannot be made everywhere because raw materials of the necessary chemical composition are not found in sufficient quantities in every part of the country. But it is now manufactured in 27 states by 120 plants. There is at least one of these plants within shipping distance of any community in this country.

To provide a cement supply that would always be ample to meet demand has meant a good deal in costly experience to those who have invested in the cement industry. There have been large capital investments with low returns.

In the last twenty-five years, 328 cement plants have been built or have gone through some stage of construction or financing. 162 were completed and placed in operation.

Only 120 of these plants have survived the financial, operating and marketing risks of that period. Their capacity is nearly 30 per cent greater than the record year's demand.

These are a few important facts about an industry that is still young. Advertisements to follow will give you more of these facts, and will tell something of the important place cement occupies in the welfare of every individual.

EXPLAIN CUT IN CITY TAXESSAME OLD CAMOUFLAGE IS SPRUNG AGAINMethod Illustrated by Which People Are Constantly Misled
About Matter

Those who imagine that the diminished state rate of taxation per thousand really means diminished state expense should read the following.

All appropriations made by the 1923 legislature for this year, and continuing appropriations, which carried a tax clause directing that the money be raised by general property tax, total somewhat more than $17,512,000, but all appropriations over the $16,000,000 mark will be paid from other surplus funds in the state treasury. These surplus funds come from the new corporations tax, the increase in the motor vehicle license tax which will be over $2,000,000 more this year than last, and from other new and increased state fees derived from numerous sources.

Hence the fact that the direct state tax is less for this year than for 1922 does not in any sense mean that state expenditures for the year will be decreased. It simply means that the additional funds for state expenses over and above the direct tax will be paid from increased and new indirect kinds of state tax, with every indication that during this year the total amount of money to be expended by the state government will be as large, and probably larger, than in past years.

By reason of the decrease in the direct state tax, and also mostly because of the enormous increase in the equalized valuation of the state, the average state tax rate will also be reduced from $3.08 for 1922 to $2.32. But as the valuation of all property has been increased for the entire state by $1,540,000,000 for this year, the average taxpayer will pay on an increased valuation so that his actual state tax to be paid will be only a little less than for 1922.

The 1923 direct state tax will be practically all for the operation and maintenance of the state institutions, while the state departments, boards, and commissions will be supported from the other sources of special taxes and fees levied and collected by the state. The direct tax items which will be eliminated in order to reduce the state tax to $16,000,000 include the continuing appropriation of $1,500,000 for highway interest and sinking fund, $12,784 for vocational work, and a few other small items which are determined as to the amounts required annually by the auditor general.

Unpaid soldiers' bonus claims total about $750,000 but these will be paid from the surplus fund in the state treasury.

The boy or girl will need a new Trunk, Suit Case or Traveling Bag when they leave for school this fall. We have just what they need at prices that will please you. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 36-tt.

COMMUNICATION

"Editor Courier:—No matter what condition all the other roads in Charlevoix county may be in, I contend that all the money except for ordinary and temporary repairing of roads to make them passable, should be spent on a good concrete road around Pine Lake. What we should do is to build up and add to the assets of our county, and not to add any more to our million dollar mortgage that the gravel and soft stuff have on our county. The concrete road will be an asset, while all others are virtually the same as a mortgage.

The Northern Michigan Mail Carriers' Association, at their meeting September 3, 1923, in Petoskey, appealed to all the other 44,000 members in the United States, that they too should advocate and work for good concrete roads in their own districts. A wise thing for them to do.

At a meeting of the Northern Michigan Rural Letter Carriers' Association, held at the Elks Temple, Petoskey, Michigan, September 3, 1923, the following resolution was unanimously adopted:

Resolved:—That, having seen the benefits of the great work that our brother member of the Rural Mail Carriers' Association and veteran advocate of good concrete roads, "Uncle" George H. VanPelt, has accomplished by his indefatigable work in advocating the building of good concrete roads, which have been of especial benefit to rural mail carriers, we respectfully urge that all rural mail carriers of the United States be requested to lend a helping hand in this great national work in the building and urging to build good concrete roads, because, if made according to government specifications (which all should be), they become safer for the traveling public as well as the carriers."

"Uncle" George H. VanPelt.

No telephone, no free delivery, no credit—we do business on a cash basis after Sept. 10. Brady & Shapton.—Adv. 36-tt.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage dated the 13th day of August, 1912, executed by Edwin H. Cook and Clara Cook, his wife, to John Nicholls, Harry Nicholls, Archibald Butters and Albert E. Bridge, co-partners, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 458, on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1912, and which mortgage under date of August 27th, 1915 was assigned to Carrie E. Knight of Banks township, Antrim County, Michigan, which said assignment was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said County of Charlevoix, in Liber 49 of Mortgages on page 573, on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1915:

And, whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of $774.45 of principal and interest, and the further sum of $25 stipulated for in said mortgage as an attorney's fee, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, where-by the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale and in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said County of Charlevoix, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The west three-fourths (3-4) of the northwest quarter (1-4) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, range nine (9) west, of which the following described parcel of land has been released from said mortgage, to-wit: The west half (W1-2) of the west half (W1-2) of the northwest quarter (NW1-4) of said section twenty-four (24), all in the township of Norwood, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan.

Dated June 27th, 1923.

"We Serve Michigan"

Geographical isolation makes the Railroads of Michigan a transportation system like that of no other state. Most of our traffic either originates or ends in Michigan.

Bridge the Great Lakes with car-ferries and tunnel under the mighty connecting rivers, though we may, such accomplishments merely better our service to you; we are Michigan Railroads more than trans-continental traffic lines. Our train schedules are for Michigan, not for New York and San Francisco.

To a degree greater than any other state, Michigan's welfare, and the welfare of her Railroads, are therefore one and inseparable. You cannot fall back on trans-continental lines for emergency help; we must always rely on you for our chief support.

We can prosper only together.

Because of this mutual dependence, the twenty-four Railroads operating in Michigan have formed this Association with the purpose of strengthening the relations of the Railroads with the People of the State, by providing you with a clearing house for the exchange of ideas, relative to the transportation problems so vital to the prosperity of our Peninsular State.

We invite your suggestions toward bringing about a better understanding and closer cooperation between the Public and the Railroads. Communicate with this Association.

MRS. GEORGE BACOT, LONG ILL, IS DEAD

Deceased Came Here From Wisconsin 40 Years Ago

Mrs. George Bacot, well-known resident of Charlevoix for many years, died Saturday, September 1st, at her home in this city, at the age of fifty-nine, following an illness of some four years, during the last six months of which she had been bed-ridden.

Lillian Cram was born in Muscadine, Wisconsin, and came to this region about forty years ago. Five years after her arrival in Michigan she was married to George Bacot and the couple made their home for some time at Horton Bay, later moving to Charlevoix.

The deceased leaves, besides her husband, four children: Ransom Bacot, of Flint, and Clayton and Ralph Bacot and Mrs. Hazel Nelson, all of Charlevoix. A sister, Mrs. Alta Halo, and a brother, Morris Cram, live in Bellingham, Washington. A sister, who prior to her marriage, was Miss Eve Cram, is a resident of New Mexico. Another brother is R. O. Cram, of this city.

The funeral was held Tuesday morning, September 4th, at nine o'clock, from St. Mary's church, with interment in the Catholic cemetery.

If troubled with headache or in need of glasses, consult J. Leahy, the Optometrist, at the local Charlevoix, Monday, September 10th. Fitting glasses for children a specialty.—Adv. 36-11.

AT THE MOVIES

"Romance Land," a Fox production, featuring Tom Mix, is a little masterpiece of its kind, and by far one of the best things that this inimitable and talented artist has done so far.

"Romance Land" has all the charm of "Ivoryhoe" and the tale of King Arthur, combined with the thrill and excitement of a modern Western photoplay. The director, has blended not only the spirit of two continents, but the spirit of two ages.

To these elements of excellent entertainment is added splendid photography that pleases the artistic sense. At the Majestic Theatre next Saturday and Sunday.

George Melford's latest Paramount production, "You Can't Fool Your Wife," is due for showing at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday. This is said to be a highly entertaining domestic drama of high life in which Leatrice Joy, Lewis Stone, Nita Naldi and Pauline Garon play the featured roles. The supporting company is of the finest grade.

The Paramount picture, "Bella Donna," with Pola Negri as the star, is due at the Palace Theatre next Monday, for a run of two days. The genius of Pola Negri is at its height in this production, her first stellar appearance since arriving in this country from Europe. She is a Pola Negri you have never seen before.

OLD RESIDENT OF MARION IS DEAD

Mrs. Albert Black Was Invalid For Years

Residents of Marion township were saddened to learn of the death of an old friend and neighbor, which occurred at the Traverse City Hospital, Sunday, August 26th last, following an illness of long duration.

Mrs. Black, who has been an invalid with stomach trouble for many years, was taken worse than usual last fall and brought to the Charlevoix hospital where her condition seemed somewhat to improve until this summer when she began to fail rapidly and was removed to Traverse City, where she died.

Cora Wetzel was born in Michigan, October 1, 1875, and has been almost a life-long resident of this region. Since her marriage, which took place in Charlevoix, she and her husband have lived continuously on the farm in Marion.

Besides her husband, Mrs. Black leaves five children: Byron, Vida, Dora, Forrest and Marguerite. A sister, Mrs. Fred Ainsault, of Cheboygan, and a brother, Thomas Wetzel, of East Jordan, also survive her.

The funeral was held from the home of the deceased, Wednesday, Aug. 29th, Rev. Theil, of the Church of God, at Petoskey, officiating. The remains were laid to rest at Brookside.

WILL ENFORCE NEW BUS LAW

With the machinery for enforcing the new state motor bus law now working, the Michigan public utilities commission has decided to impose penalties on bus operators who have not conformed to the law.

Instructions to arrest operators who have not obtained operating permits or have cases pending before the commission, were mailed out to the county sheriffs and police officers. The instructions were accompanied by a list of the operators who have complied with the law. All others are to be arrested.

It is not known how many are operating illegally. When the act was passed it was estimated that there were about 1,000 bus lines in the state. So far only about 150 have applied for permits. The commission believes that all but about 150 of the remainder have quit business.

The act has been in force for about two months, but no attempt has been made until now to inflict penalties. The commission was required to organize the work end to conduct hearings in the case of each individual line.

FLIVVERBOOB SCORES YET ANOTHER VICTIM

Just another fool accident, caused by reckless driving and no adequate road patrol.

Ed Smith and wife, accompanied by their mother, Mrs. J. T. Oldham, were taking a little Sunday afternoon spin out East Jordan way last week in their Ford touring car and about two miles beyond the Loeh Farms met one of Charlevoix county's justly famed flivverboobas reeling over the road at breakneck speed, with helpless women and children in his rear seat and perfectly unpoliced road ahead of him, dotted with prospective victims.

Hogging the road, as is the inevitable custom of this degenerate species of motorist, he sideswiped the Smith car, tearing off their left front tire, both left hubs, the left fender and the runningboard. This fortunately, was the extent of the damage. He then careened across the road and landed in the ditch, the good Lord, who graciously looks after incompetents of all kinds, saving his precious neck for a further career of destruction.

EMMET COUNTY SHERIFF SHOT.

WILL S. PURPLE KILLED BY FARMER

Attempt to Serve Papers on Wequetonsing Man Is Fatal, To Officer

The attachment of an automobile to satisfy a circuit court judgment was the excuse for the brutal murder of Sheriff Will S. Purple, of Emmet county, near Wequetonsing, last Wednesday afternoon.

Accompanied by Edward Pailthorpe, son of a Petoskey attorney, Sheriff Purple visited the farm home of Joe Grosskopf, near the Wequetonsing golf links, and, in attempting to serve his papers on Grosskopf, received his death wound at the hands of the latter. Several days previous, the sheriff had made his first attempt to attach the car of the Wequetonsing farmer and at that time Grosskopf is said to have shown the officer a bill of sale of the property, held by his wife. Mr. Purple is said to have remarked that the writing on the bill of sale did not appear to have been written any great length of time, although it was dated several months previous. On the Wednesday trip, he had planned to seize the car to satisfy the judgment, leaving the ownership of the property to be decided later.

Mr. Pailthorpe, who accompanied the sheriff and tells the story, says that on their arrival at the home of Grosskopf the latter threatened the sheriff in case he attempted to remove the car and finally ran into the house, returning with a single barreled shotgun. Pailthorpe, fearing mischief, tried to get the sheriff under cover and himself dodged around the side of the house. He almost immediately heard a shot and saw the sheriff fall. Although mortally wounded, the officer managed to draw his automatic and open fire on Grosskopf, all of his six shots taking effect. The enraged farmer, however, managed to load his gun a second time and his shot struck the prostrate sheriff in the back of the head, killing him instantly. Grosskopf then turned his gun on Pailthorpe, who was by this time running towards Wequetonsing for assistance, but missed him.

After reaching the golf clubhouse at Wequetonsing and having telephoned Harbor Springs and Petoskey authorities, Pailthorpe returned to the scene of the shooting, accompanied by some of the golfers who happened to be around the building and to whom he had explained the situation. They found the sheriff dead and Grosskopf still conscious, but badly wounded. The murderer's first shot had taken the sheriff in the abdomen, just below the ribs—a fatal wound in itself. Bullets from the dead man's automatic had pierced Grosskopf's body in six places, two in the chest, two in the right shoulder, one in the back of the neck and one in the left hand. He was taken to the Petoskey Hospital, the body of Mr. Purple being removed to Harbor Springs.

FIND HEN SITTING ON FOUR KITTENS

The Mancelona News is responsible for the following remarkable story:

"F. M. Parmelle and his crew of men while laying steel north of town, were driven by a shower to take shelter in a nearby barn, on the Schroeder place.

"Now, there is nothing strange or unusual about a bunch of railroad men entering a barn under the aforesaid circumstances. Nor is there anything unusual about said men prying into the domestic affairs of an old hen tranquilly setting in a bushel basket. If they had been a little more discreet, a very interesting discovery would not have been made.

"In spite of biddy's protests she was lifted from her nest. But, instead of the customary collection of eggs they, probably, were expecting to find, there were four small kittens, just as happy and contented as kittens can be. Of course biddy was immediately restored to her maternal duties which she assumed with an air of importance so characteristic of the mother hen.

"All of the men made due apologies for their rudeness and bade adieu to the happy family."

where the inquest was held on Wednesday evening.

Will S. Purple has been sheriff of Emmet county for two full terms and part of another. He was one of the best liked officers the county ever had. For the last twenty-one years, he had resided at Brutus and at Petoskey. At Brutus, the sheriff and his wife operated the general store and hotel, which was unusually popular with people of the region and the summer tourists. Mr. Purple was born at Lowell, Mich., in January, 1859. He was a member of the Petoskey Elk and Masonic lodges and attended the First Presbyterian church in that city. D. H. Hinkley, undersheriff, will be acting sheriff, temporarily.

The second terrible crime of violence in the past few weeks. What are we coming to? Is capital punishment the solution, or are we approaching an era of vigilante rule?

Prosecuting Attorney, Wade B. Smith, of Emmet county, has issued a warrant for Joe Grosskopf, charging him with first degree murder. The latter, according to latest reports, is hovering between life and death. He will be taken before a justice for examination just as soon as physicians state that his condition will permit his removal from the hospital.

I have a first class horseshoer, able to do all kinds of iron work and do it at right prices. H. O. Johnston, 108 Mason St.—Adv. 37-12.

HOSPITAL STILL HOLDS ITS OWN

AUGUST REPORT SHOWS GRATIFYING CONDITION

Large Number of Accident Cases Handled—Plans for Annex
Now Completed

The superintendent's report and financial statement for the Charlevoix Hospital, during the month of August bears witness to the fact that the institution is still performing, in a highly satisfactory manner, its important function in our community. The alarming number of accident cases should be noted in passing; also, the fact that out of a total of 19 surgical and medical cases only two fatalities occurred. We have every reason to believe that without the good care and systematic attention afforded by the hospital, the percentage of failure would have been much greater.

The financial statement shows the hospital to be in excellent shape. Plans are now practically perfected for the construction of the new annex and, if changes are made, it will be to enlarge and improve the program, in view of anticipated bequests and donations that will give the hospital board a freer hand in bettering the facilities of the institution.

Buyers Nichols Dairy Herd

Andrew Neiger & Sons, owners and operators of the Highland Dairy farm, in the southwest part of Petoskey, have just purchased the Guernsey dairy herd from the Harry Nichols estate of this city, and have had the entire lot transferred to the Highland Dairy farm. This herd has been considered one of the best dairy herds in northern Michigan, producing a large quantity of splendid, rich milk.

SAYS TOURISTS ARE EXPENSIVE

UPPER PENINSULAR REPRESENTATIVE VOICES OPINION

Member of Legislature Says They Wear Out More Roads Than Amount of Money Spent

The following article taken from the Soo News covers the tourist business from a different angle than usually presented, and also urges the passing of a state gas tax. The article follows:

"Proposals for making the ferry at the Straits of Mackinac free to all users at any time in the near future will be fought in the Michigan legislature by Rep. Henry A. Osborn, that gentleman told the News Friday.

"The ferry should be self-supporting, and I shall insist that it shall be by statute if necessary," Mr. Osborn said. "We know that a good share of those using the ferry are tourists from out of our state. They pay no taxes for the maintenance of our roads—since the governor killed the gasoline tax measure—and it certainly is too much to ask Michigan farmers and others to dig into their pockets for the upkeep of the ferry.

"Besides, no tourist, or any other person who uses the ferry, is not willing to pay a share in the fund that is necessary to keep it going," he said.

"Asked if he thought tourists to the upper peninsula were not of great benefit and did not spend large amounts of money while they were sightseeing, and therefore should be encouraged to come, Mr. Osborn declared that the money they spend does not equal the money that it takes to maintain the roads which their automobiles destroy.

"Mr. Osborn was one of the prime-movers, with Senator Bohn of Newberry, of the ferry service by the state at Mackinac. He made it clear that he is just as enthusiastic that this branch of the state highway system be continued and enlarged, as he was that it be started. But he wants it to pay for itself.

"A gasoline tax measure undoubtedly will be pressed at the next session of the legislature, according to the local representative. He said that the need for a tax on those who actually use the roads in accordance with the amount that they use them, is increasingly evident in Michigan. That the legislators from the rural districts of the state will go to the next session solidly behind a gas tax measure and with a determination to force the governor to accept it, was his prediction.

"Thirty-six states now have a gasoline tax, ranging from one to three cents a gallon, Mr. Osborn pointed out. Michigan tourists can hardly go outside their home state without contributing through the gasoline tax, to the upkeep of the roads over which they travel.

GLENN BEARD HURT IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Car Turos Turtle On Slippery Road

Glenn Beard, of this city, is now in the Petoskey Hospital, slowly recovering from the painful injuries he received when the Ford car he was driving, accompanied by his helper, Joe Walsh, turned turtle on the macadam road between the Portland cement plant and Petoskey, last Friday evening.

The night was a bad one for accidents, with heavy rain and slippery pavement. Mr. Beard went to turn out for another car and got too far off the road on to what he thought was solid ground. This was not the case, however, and the skidding car rolled over, throwing its occupants out and pinning Mr. Beard underneath it. Passing motorists extricated him from the wreckage and he was taken to the Petoskey Hospital, where it was found that, outside of a badly wrenched back and painful bruises, he was not seriously hurt. Mr. Walsh was not hurt at all. The top of the car was completely demolished and the lower light of glass in the windshield broken.

PETOSKEY HAS THIRD BAD FIRE

CITY HARD HIT IN SPACE OF A YEAR

It's the Leisner Block, This Time—
A $75,000.00 Loss. Occurred Saturday

Petoskey has just emerged from the third bad fire of the year. This time it was the Leisner block, on Mitchell Street.

The flames were discovered at about twelve-thirty p. m., Saturday, in the basement of the Tanner-Wheat store, and before the fire department could reach the scene, smoke was rolling out of the first floor windows of this shop and the Stoughton 5 and 10 cent store.

The basement, where the fire is thought to have started, was used for storage also by the Petoskey Housefurnishing company. Considerable damage was caused by smoke, as reported by the Housefurnishing company the Sifert & Germond Cigar store and O. C. St. John. All the stocks and buildings involved were covered by insurance, with the exception of the stock of the Stoughton store, which has only partial insurance.

One of the firemen was overcome by smoke but was quickly revived and not thought to be seriously injured.

The Tanner-Wheat and the Stoughton stores were completely gutted. This loss, together with the smoke damage to the stocks of the other stores in the block, is estimated at $75,000.00.

Once again, with the approach of sharp weather, it might be well to voice the oft-repeated warning about seeing that your chimney is cleaned out and that your stovepipes are properly put together, before starting the first fire of the season. Inspect your chimney, where it passes through the flooring and the roof and make sure that there are no loose or missing bricks to let sparks out. Invest in a good, portable fire extinguisher and keep it always handy for the emergency. It may pay for itself several hundred times over some day.

If you have any uncertainty about the safety of your electric light wires, have them inspected by a competent electrician and ascertain whether or not there are any poorly insulated surfaces, loose connections or other fault in the installation, liable to cause fire to start in the partitions or between floors—by the way, one of the hardest kind of fires to fight.

Call in your local fire chief and consult him. He is (or should be) an expert in his line and his advice may save you considerable expense and trouble. Better to have him call now, than later on, dragging a length of spouting hose or wielding an axe.

WERE WED SATURDAY AT PETOSKEY

Miss Cross Becomes Bride of Clare Webster

Friends of Miss Mildred Cross and Clare Webster were surprised to learn that they had stolen a march on them and were quietly married last Saturday evening, at the Presbyterian parsonage in Petoskey, Rev. Albert officiating, in the presence of Miss Helen Webster, sister of the groom, and Richard Paddock. The wedding had been set for some time this fall, but the exact date was not known.

Sunday, Mr. and Mrs. Webster left Harbor Springs on the Manitou for a short wedding trip to Chicago. They are expected back on Thursday and will shortly be at home to their many friends here at 510 Petoskey Avenue.

Both of the young people are well and favorably known in this city and the Courier joins their other well-wishers in hoping that their married life may be a long and happy one.

Child's Cry Saves Family
A child's cry for a drink of water probably saved the lives of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Socolovitch, of Riggsville, Cheboygan county, Sunday night. The mother went into another room for the water and discovered that part of the house in flames. She had just time to waken the other members and tumble them through a window to safety before the roof and walls fell in.

LEFT HANDSOME BEQUEST TO HOSPITAL

Windsor Aldrich's Will Provides $5,000.00

Petition has been filed with the probate court here for the admission to probate of the will of Windsor F. Aldrich, late Chicago broker and summer resident of the Belvedere resort.

In this will, Mr. Aldrich established his domiciliary residence at Charlevoix and named Robert Bridge of this city as his executor. Among the cash bequests in the will, totaling several thousands of dollars, one in favor of the Charlevoix Hospital for $5,000.00, is of especial local interest. A quantity of very valuable personal belongings, including two fine cars, is also disposed of by the will.

Mr. Aldrich was engaged in a brokerage and insurance business in Chicago, with offices in the Rookery building. He owned a fine piece of property on Belvedere Avenue, fronting Round Lake and has spent his summers here for the past thirty-five years. Both he and his father, who died several years ago, were well-known to Charlevoix people and took an active part in the social life of the Belvedere colony, as well as in its development. Mr. Aldrich was a victim of heart trouble and it was in an attack of the disease that he passed away, on August 28th last, at his Chicago residence.

DISTINGUISHED ALUMNI ATTEND

TWO PROFESSORS AND CORPORATION PRESIDENT

U. of M. Graduates Listen to Addresses by Successful Sons of Michigan

Finding themselves so fortunate as to have three distinguished alumni in the vicinity at one time, the local University of Michigan Alumni Club gave a dinner at Hallett's inn, last Saturday night. On this occasion, undergraduate students at the University were invited to attend.

The guests present were Earl Babst, '92 arts, '94 law; Earle Dow, '91 arts; A. C. McLoughlin, '83 arts and Walter Pritz, '12 arts. Mr. Babst has so well employed the training received at his Alma Mater that he is now president of the American Sugar Refining Company. Professor Dow has remained at the University as professor of History. Professor McLoughlin ('Andy Mac' to his friends) is professor of History at the University of Chicago and the story used in the high schools of the country used in the high schools of the entire country.

After an excellent dinner, the guests gave short talks which were both entertaining and highly instructive and lively discussions ensued. By a unanimous vote of the club, the visitors (all regular summer residents of Charlevoix) were elected honorary members of the club.

The members present were, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, '92 pharmacy, '94 medicine; Lisle Shannhan, '99 law; Dr. Frank H. Wilkinson, '92 dentistry; Dr. W. W. Mitchell, '15 dentistry; Robert Bridge, '16 arts; John Marson, '19 engineering; Kaye Butters, '22 arts; Russell Blakeslee, '22 arts and George Beeman, '23 arts. The undergraduates present were, Vern Miller, '24 dentistry; Bruce Armstrong, '28 medicine and Charles Hamilton, superintendent of schools, who has been taking special courses at the U. of M. this summer.

CHARLEVOIX BOY MARRIED IN DETROIT

Announcement of Nuptial Event Delayed to Local Friends

The friends in Charlevoix and vicinity of Archie L. Brown, oldest son of Frank D. Brown, of Norwood road, Charlevoix, will be interested to know that his marriage to Mrs. Ada Livingston, of Memphis, Tenn., took place in Detroit, June 17th, Rev. Homer C. Warren being the officiating clergyman. They will reside in Detroit where Mr. Brown is employed in the electrical department of Ford Motor Co.

Donor of County Park Regrets He Could Not Come East To Witness Event

F. D. Thompson, secretary of the Boyne City chamber of commerce, is in receipt of the following letter from Perry Whiting, donor of the new Whiting County Park, on the shores of Pine Lake, and who is now living in Los Angeles, California:

"Los Angeles, Aug. 31, 1923.
Mr. F. D. Thompson, Sec.,
Boyne City Chamber of Commerce,
Boyne City, Michigan.

Dear Sir:—On arriving home yesterday, August 30th, from a three weeks' trip of twenty-seven hundred miles by automobile in northern California, I opened your letter of August 8th written on the very day that I left the city on the above mentioned trip. I am very sorry indeed that I did not receive your communication before I left in which case I would surely have been with you on the day of your picnic. I appreciate most sincerely your invitation and none of you can regret it more than I do that I was not there. However, in the future when you have your annual picnics, whenever it is possible, it would be a pleasure for me to come and celebrate with you.

I hope you received my telegram on the day of the picnic as I wired the moment I had read your letter. I hope you all had a wonderful time and that the park may be the means of bringing your different associations in Charlevoix county closer together, thereby uniting you in more brotherly love, for that is what makes it a pleasure to live in this world and by close association we find out that the men and women we have heard particular reports of are not so bad after all when we get acquainted with them.

Again hoping that you had a wonderful good time and that you and your children's children will have many a happy hour on the old Whiting Homestead, I remain

Yours with very best wishes,
Perry Whiting."

ASKS FOR WORK FOR HIS PUPILS

Supt. Hamilton Appeals to Townspeople

Superintendent Charles Hamilton, of the Charlevoix public schools, wishes to ask the cooperation of the people and especially the business men of the city in helping to make possible the attendance of out-of-town students here this winter.

These boys and girls need work, in many instances, and are willing to take their board and room as compensation. The superintendent believes that such students should be given preference by those employing help during the fall and winter months and would like to have both the prospective student and the employer communicate with him in regard to the matter.

SOMEONE IS TRYING TO SPOOF US

While the threshing machine was plying busily at the home of Blank near Boyne Falls the other day, Johnnie — a lad of ten years was helping in real grown up fashion by cutting banda on bundles of grain. His knife slipped and gashed the hand of Mr. Blankety Dash who was so infuriated that he seized the boy and shoved him into the gaping jaws of the machine, where the body was torn and mangled before the alarm could be given and separator stopped.

The boy's father, infuriated and almost crazed by the brutal act, seized a pitchfork and pierced the body of the murderer of his boy, through the stomach, killing him before the horror-stricken onlookers could interfere. The man was placed under arrest and taken to Charlevoix, where he is held in custody.

Such is the story which is being circulated about the county, but there is no truth in it. We do not know how the rumor started but it's only a lie.

FATTENING POULTRY FOR THE MARKET

Great Variety of Feeds Can Be Used in Preparing Fowls—Broilers Grow Rapidly.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The most desirable types of rations and the most profitable feeding periods for the different classes of poultry fattened in picking plants are discussed in Department Bulletin 1052, Rations for Feeding Poultry in the Picking House. Just issued by the bureau of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture. Since the fleshing of poultry has become a large industry in the United States, information of the kind contained in this bulletin should be of a great deal of value.

The results obtained in the experiments reported in this bulletin show that a great variety of feeds can be used in fattening broilers, springers, roasters and hens, a fortunate situation since it permits the feeder to adapt his ration to market conditions by taking advantage of special prices of certain feeds and also to use feeds available locally. A growing bird, such as a broiler or springer, requires a different ration than a mature hen, which changes most of her feed into fat. A simple ration of corn meal and buttermilk is about as good as any for hens. Broilers fed rations containing protein concentrates, such as peanut meal, coconut oil, soy-bean meal, or meat scrap made appreciably better gains than those fed on corn meal and buttermilk. They grow rapidly and need tissue-forming feeds. Sprigs also respond readily to rations containing protein concentrates.

Throughout the 14-day feeding period broilers continued to gain well, which shows that this is not too long a feeding period. Springs grew very rapidly during the first 11 days, but not so rapidly, though profitably, during the remaining three days. Roasters gained well during the first two four-day periods, but not so well the last six days. It was found that the practice of feeding hens only six to eight days is well founded. The dressing and chilling shrinkage of hens, however, was much less than in the case of broilers, springers and roasters. Adv of the ordinary cereal grains supply the necessary carbohydrates and fats. More care is needed in selecting feeds for protein, salts and vitamins. The proteins of the cereal grains are present in too small amounts and are of too poor quality to produce the best results in broilers and springers unless other protein concentrates are added. Milk and cereals make one of the most profitable rations, as milk supplies mineral substances, vitamins and very valuable proteins. The results given in the bulletin show that peanut meal protein, as well as soy-bean meal protein, is especially valuable. The proteins of buttermilk are especially valuable, and if used in sufficiently large amounts produce very desirable results. Other protein concentrates are meat and fish scraps, cottonseed meal, coconut meal and sesame-seed meal.

Corn, wheat, oats and other grains lack such mineral substances as calcium, sodium and chlorine which growing animals require. In the rations where buttermilk or skim milk is used, these ingredients are fairly well supplied. Milk also supplies vitamins. At present the milk available for poultry-fleshing purposes is largely buttermilk, fresh, condensed or powdered.

Those interested in the fleshing of poultry may get this bulletin by addressing the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Announcing the 1924 Oakland 6

It's Brand New—and True Blue

This True Blue Oakland was deliberately planned to be the most perfectly balanced, the most accurately engineered and the finest built light-six in the world.

Two years have been devoted to its design, manufacture and test. Two years—plus the wealth of Oakland experience gained through many other years of exclusive light-six manufacture and the limitless resources of General Motors.

From axle to axle—It's new! It embodies features of mechanical superiority—of beauty and comfort and performance—heretofore unheard of in cars of its price! Every single part—from the new engine to the new bodies—was designed and built to fit and function in perfect harmony with every other part.

And because it has been so carefully designed, so soundly built and so thoroughly tested—Oakland places upon it, without hesitation, the same written 15,000 mile engine performance guarantee and the same Mileage-Basis gauge of value that have proved the quality and the value and the excellence of Oakland cars for years!

Four-Wheel Brakes—New Engine—New Bodies! Special Showing All Week—You Are Invited!

Come in and see this True Blue Oakland—built to be the finest light-six!

Study its exclusive features and you will marvel at the value built into this car at its new low price.

Test its four-wheel brakes—an outstanding safety achievement on a car of Oakland's price! Note how simple they are; learn why they require so much less attention than conventional two-wheel brakes.

Inspect the brand new engine—smoother, quieter and more powerful than even its highly successful predecessor, the Six-44.

See the new blue bodies built by Fisher. The top is permanent with new side curtains comparing in snug-ness and utility to the doors of a closed car. Controls are centralized on the steering wheel. Disc steel wheels are standard at no added cost.

See this new Oakland at our special showing this week! Don't miss the first public exhibition of this True Blue car—the latest and finest achievement of the Oakland Division of General Motors.

AT THE MOVIES

The scenes of "Scars of Jealousy," Thomas H. Ince's great modern drama which comes to the Palace Theatre next Monday and Tuesday, are laid in the mountains of northern Alabama. The photoplay depicts the lives of the little-known "Cajans" or mountaineer descendants of the Acadians of Nova Scotia, who were exiled by the British a century ago and took final refuge in the mountains of northern Alabama.

These Acadians were driven from France by Louis XV and this phase of their lives is told by Mr. Ince in what is undoubtedly the most magnificent prologue ever given a motion picture. In this prologue more than a thousand actors and actresses appear in the introductory scenes.

One of the most thrilling dramas ever shown on the screen is "The Woman With Four Faces," featuring Betty Compson and Richard Dix, which will be the attraction at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday. It is a Herbert Brenon Paramount production.

To bring to book a ring of dope traffickers, men of wealth and powerful, the district attorney resigns his job and gains the aid of a clever girl crook to open a safe which contains a paper incriminating these nefarious operators.

She tells him there is but one man who can do the trick, and he is in prison. An escape is effected by means of an aeroplane, but the crook, believing the district attorney is trying to win the girl's love, refuses to aid him. Then they go after the paper by different tactics. It is the center of a mad struggle for its possession, and a series of climaxes are piled on top of one another ere the attorney secures the document and sends the guilty ones to prison. In the end, the girl, reformed, wins the love of the district attorney.

Betty Compson as the girl, Richard Dix as the district attorney and a cast of favorites in the other parts, make this a super-excellent mystery drama. The supporting company is quite capable.

The Charlevoix Courier has accepted a Newspaper Association Membership in the National Highway Association (Washington, D. C.), with which are affiliated two hundred and two road associations and organizations. It stands, not for any particular road, but for Good Roads Everywhere, through the establishment of National Highways.

The "Map Device" at the head of this column expresses our interest in roads, your interest in roads. It is the symbol of an Association which for twelve years has worked faithfully and hard for the dissemination of road information, which has published thousands of maps, and millions of pamphlets, in the interest of good roads, and which believes that the future civilization of this great country will go forward as fast and no faster than we develop our systems of transportation.

The motor and motor truck have come to stay. The farmer of twenty years ago on an isolated mud-wallow, misnamed a road, who to-day lives near a hard surface road and drives his car to town and back in an hour where formerly he required a day, knows what roads and cars mean to him. Good roads mean prosperity; they mean progress; they mean education; they mean a full life, worth living; they mean the greatest amount of good purchases for the least amount of haulage; they mean greater profits from farm produce because they cost less to haul over good roads.

Good roads everywhere mean prosperity and happiness everywhere.

That is why we have become a Newspaper Association Member of the Association which will eventually produce Good Roads Everywhere!

HARBOR MAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Did Not See or Hear Train Approaching at Station

Alexander Gilbert, aged about 60 years, was struck by a train and almost instantly killed at 7:10 o'clock Tuesday morning at the crossing just east of the Harbor Springs depot.

Driving a truck with an enclosed drivers' cab, Mr. Gilbert had left the Melching oil station and expected to drive to the dock and meet the steamer Manitowish which was then approaching the dock. Evidently not noticing the approaching train, and unable to hear the warning shouts of people nearby, the man drove directly onto the track, the train striking the front part of the truck.

He was thrown out of the side of the cab and dragged under the wheels of the train and was found under the tender when the train was brought to a stop. It was then necessary to hack the train in order to release the body, which was found to be badly mutilated.

Spectators report that the engine bell was ringing, but believe that Gilbert was unable to hear the bell because of the noise of his engine.

ARE HIKING BACK TO MASSACHUSETTS

Two Belvedere Waitresses Take the High Road Home

Two young ladies, who have been waiting tables at the Belvedere Hotel this summer, being of a thrifty turn of mind and athletically inclined, have essayed to return to their homes in Massachusetts, on foot, thereby saving a substantial part of the traveling allowance given them by the hotel and accumulating, incidentally, health and a fund of probably interesting experience.

Miss Grace Fairclough, of Spencer, Mass., and her chum, Miss Ina

Landers, who hails from Boston, that abiding place of beans and culture, started on their long journey last Thursday morning, leaving the hotel at about eleven o'clock, attired in knickerbockers, gray flannel shirts, wool sweaters and hiking shoes, with their knapsacks slung across their shoulders. In case anyone should attempt to "get funny" with them along the way, a trusty "gat" was added to their equipment.

Their route, as planned, lies through Grand Rapids to Detroit, Toledo and Cleveland; thence across New York State to the Massachusetts line. They expect to reach their destination somewhere between the first and fifteenth of October. The girls have been here since the 20th of June, this being their first season in Charlevoix. Both are good swimmers and skilled in various sports. We are also told that their rating in pulchritude is A-1.

MCDONALD RELEASED ON THOUSAND BAIL

Hearing Adjudged to September 25th Next

Donald McDonald, salesman for the Steindler Paper Company, of Muskegon, who ran into two cars with his Ford roadster on the Petoskey road, Sunday, August 26th, and injured a number of people, was brought before Justice Stites in the local police court, Tuesday morning, for a hearing adjourned from August 29th.

He stood mute and was released on $1,000.00 bail, $500.00 of which he assumed, the other $500.00 being held by the Southern Surety Company. His hearing was again adjourned by Judge Stites to September 25th, at nine a. m., in order to permit the attorney for the defendant and the prosecutor to prepare their evidence and also to await the outcome of the injuries received by Mrs. W. E. McRoberts, one of the victims who was most seriously hurt.

The charge against McDonald is that of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated. This offense carries with it a minor penalty, but if any of his victims should die—as a result of their injuries, it is probable that the charge would be changed to manslaughter, which is an offense punishable by a long term of years imprisonment.

As far as can be ascertained, none of the injured parties has taken any definite steps to collect damages, despite rumors to that effect. These actions, which are civil suits, would be taken up separately at a later date.

HOSPITAL NOTES

Captain Timothy Roddy, master of the steamer, Bruce, was admitted to the hospital in a critical condition, last Saturday. The exact nature of his illness has not yet been determined.

Emory Dustin, of Ellsworth, who submitted to an operation last Monday, is much improved. His condition, when admitted, was quite serious.

Mrs. W. E. McRoberts, who was seriously injured in the automobile accident of August 26th, is now much improved. It will be some time yet, however, before she is able to return to her home.

Miss Eva Graham, of Beaver Island, who has been teaching at Ellsworth, contracted an infection in a wound received in a recent automobile accident and is at the hospital this week for treatment. She is slowly improving.

DAIRY POINTSIMPORTANCE OF ICING MILK

Product Delivered at Night Often in Greater Need of Ice Than During Day Time.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Some milk distributors who would not think of sending out loads of milk during the day without icing do not ice the milk delivered by their wagons to the consumer's doorstep at night, giving as their reason that night delivery is more rapid. The United States Department of Agriculture, in a recent statement, calls attention to the fact that milk delivered to the consumer's home at night often is in greater need of icing than that which is delivered during the day.

The important consideration, says the department, is the time elapsing between taking the milk from the plant until it is placed in the consumer's refrigerator. The fact that the dealer delivers it quickly does not mean that it will reach the refrigerator quickly. Bottles delivered at the door usually are not taken in until after the sun has been up for some time.

During the summer months it is very important that milk on delivery wagons be well iced. When milk is liable not to be taken in at once, it should arrive at the doorstep at a temperature of 50 degrees F. or lower. If the ordinary open-bottom cases are used and stacked not more than two high, it is necessary to ice only the top row, as the cold air will pass down to the others. Ordinances, says the department, may well prohibit the delivery of milk at a temperature higher than 50 degrees F.

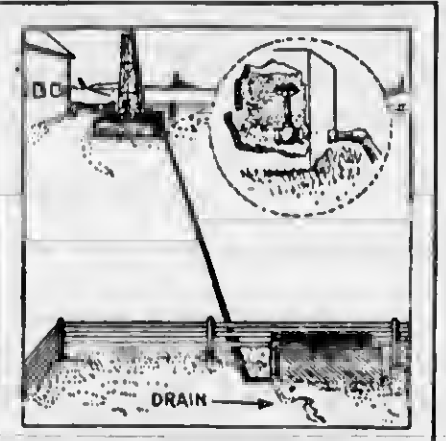

Consumers may help by placing a properly insulated container on the doorstep, in which the milkman may put the bottles of milk.

SIMPLE WATER SYSTEM PLAN

Time and Work Saved by Constructing Drinking Tank in Pasture to Supply Cattle.

In order to save time and work I figured out a plan whereby I was able to eliminate the necessity of bringing the cattle from the pasture field into the barnyard where the water-supply tank was located each time they needed a drink.

I bored a 1 1/4-inch hole near the bottom of the large tank, putting a nipple through it; then I connected the nipple on the outside of the tank with a coupling to a pipe which ran a distance of 200 feet to the pasture field where I had placed a small drinking tank, the water running into the small tank through a goose neck on the end of the pipe, beside the large tank I placed a globe valve so when shut off there was no chance for the water to freeze if the supply tank were kept full. The goose neck was laid over flat by pivoting at the lower elbow, thus draining the entire pipe. A 3/4-inch pipe would have been just as satisfactory for this system but as I had the 1 1/4-inch size on hand I used it.

Of course, this system naturally requires an incline in the distance between the two tanks.—D. G. Healy, in Power Farming.

KEEPING RECORD OF LAYERS

By Means of Contest It Is Hoped to Gain Facts for Selection of Better Stock.

The first one-year egg-laying contest in Indiana began March 1 in Clay county, the United States Department of Agriculture has been advised. One hundred hens of several of the Mediterranean, American and English breeds from several farms in the county have been assembled at one farm. Before establishing the hens in their new home a record was made of all their characteristics. As the contest progresses the records of the hens as layers will be compared monthly with their physical characteristics. It is hoped by this means to obtain facts for the selection of more profitable stock.

LIGHT-EDGED ROADS FRIABLE

Some Sections of Bates Experimental Road Break Under Traffic of Light Trucks.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Some of the lighter sections of the Bates experimental road failed under the traffic of light trucks driven along the edge of the surfaces on the first day of the test. The road, which was especially constructed for the experiments now being conducted by the state highway department of Illinois in co-operation with the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture, is two miles long and consists of numerous sections of different types of construction.

On March 30, the day the road was opened for the tests, 12 trucks with bodies removed to make a load of 2,500 pounds on each rear wheel were started on trips, which will continue with increasing loads until the suitability of each type is determined. The trucks were driven so that the outside wheels were on the edge of the paving, and almost immediately some of the sections began to fail. This was expected, as the sections were of light design and intended to demonstrate the utility of such construction.

The road will be subjected to a number of tests under the destructive pounding of the trucks, and it is expected that much valuable information will be gained for use in future road construction. In addition to specialists assigned to investigate soil conditions, temperature effects, and other factors, five engineers are constantly observing the effect as the trucks continue their daily grind. The experiments will continue until all the sections have been thoroughly tested.

BOOM IN MATERIAL TESTING

Increase in Facilities Has Grown Rapidly in Past Few Years in Different States.

The great boom in highway building which has come since the federal aid act of 1916 has led to an increase in the facilities for testing highway materials. The bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture keeps in touch with all laboratories which test material for federal-aid roads and reports that the number has grown from a scattered few in 1911 to at least one in every state with two exceptions. They are distributed as follows: State highway laboratories 27, university laboratories 21, and commercial laboratories 21, a total of 69.

Conditions have become such that it is practically a necessity for each state to have means of quick testing in order not to delay work. In passing on materials the laboratories are governed by the idea that roads must be constructed with materials close at hand wherever possible and give assurance for the use of such material where it is suitable.

TEMPORARY SHEEP PASTURES

Results of Experiment Made by Department of Agriculture on 30-Acre Field in Maryland.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

On a 30-acre field in Maryland, used by the United States Department of Agriculture to test the carrying capacity of temporary pastures for sheep, sufficient pasturage was produced to furnish an average of 505 days' grazing on each acre for a mature ewe. This is equivalent to about two sheep an acre for a season of 250 days, or two and one-half sheep for a 200-day period.

This pasturage is much more than could be obtained from perennial grass grown on land of the character and value of that used in the experiment, the department sheep specialists say, but not more than can be obtained from the best blue-grass pastures. Good land used for such a succession of temporary pastures should produce from 50 to 100 per cent more pasturage than was obtained in this instance.

Lambs on Pasture in Maryland.

To such a system as the one under trial there is not much choice of crops to be used in different months. It is chiefly necessary to make sure of having one crop ready when the preceding one is finished. All the crops used in 1919, the third year of the experiment, stimulated a good flow of milk in the ewes, produced good growth in the lambs, and, after weaning, put the ewes in good condition for fall breeding.

The ewes and lambs were all purebred Southdowns. Some of the ewes falsing lambs received a half-pound of grain each daily until May 10, and 22 head of ewes in a fall-breeding experiment received a light feed of grain during September and October. All the lambs were kept for breeding purposes and were fed some grain throughout the summer. In calculating how far the feed actually produced would go for grown sheep it was considered that a lamb ate one-fourth as much as a sheep until July 1, and after that one-half as much. "A total of 520 hours' work for a man and a team was required for plowing and seeding the 60 acres used in 1919.

Under the conditions of this experiment full-sown wheat and spring seedlings of oats and peas sown together at the rate of 1½ bushels per acre have been most satisfactory for grazing in spring and early summer. Soy beans are ready for grazing about the middle of July and furnish most of the feed until October. In November fall-sown wheat and rye have been used most, though late seedlings of corn and velvet beans were used in 1919 for the first time on 1½ acres that had received an extra top dressing of manure.

The number of days of grazing from one acre of each crop in 1919 was as follows, calculated on its pasture value for one mature ewe:

Days.	Days.
Rape 392	Cowpeas 21
Soy beans 315	Alfalfa 38
Oats and peas.. 319	Barley 27
Wheat 306	Rye 18

NOTE—Remington Game Loads are loaded exclusively in "Nitro Club" Wetproof Shells. Wetproof means just what it says.

Why Dealers Here in Town are selling so many Remington Game Loads

IT doesn't take sportsmen long to get the ins and outs of anything new that's offered them.

When Remington announced the Remington Game Loads last year, not all the men who wanted to try them could do so. Because it was their first year and there weren't enough to go 'round.

But those who did shoot them told the others, and this season there is a demand for Remington Game Loads that has never been approached in the history of the loaded shell business.

Whether you are already a Game Load enthusiast or have yet to shoot your first box—you will be interested in the facts about powder we uncovered in our Bridgeport tests on loaded shells. These are given in the panel at the right.

To the practical minds of the Remington organization, these discoveries indicated that there was just one thing to be done—

Fix a safe working standard of velocity, pattern and penetration for each kind of small game.

Make this standard absolute. And load just the right amount of powder to give it—whether it takes an eighth dram more or an eighth dram less.

That is the theory and practice of game loads.

Uniform shooting results—instead of a hard and fast loading formula. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Naturally, you won't find the weight of powder indicated on Remington Game Load boxes—because the weight is not fixed.

You do not find the name of the powder because Remington takes full responsibility for the shell complete—including the powder.

Go to your dealer's. Get one box of Remington Game Loads and shoot them. We'll leave the rest up to your judgment.

A—A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same velocity, pattern or penetration.

B—Powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and make. One batch, for instance, gives a velocity of 925 feet per second. Another may fall as low as 840 feet per second.

C—This is nobody's fault. Powder comes that way.

GOOD YEAR

BRIDGES ON IMPROVED ROADS

Few Structures Less Than 18 Feet Are Now Being Constructed, Say Engineers.

Few highway bridges with a width of roadway less than 18 feet are now being constructed on improved roads, according to engineers of the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. In the past some 12 feet and a good many of 16-foot width have been constructed in an effort to economize, but it has proved shortsighted economy. Only one line of traffic can pass over a 12-foot roadway, and 16 feet of width will not accommodate two lines in safety. Many of the states, such as Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Ohio and Massachusetts, have found it advisable in replacing old bridges on important roads to make them wide enough to accommodate three and four lines of traffic.

Material for Good Roads.

Federal aid roads, either completed or under construction in the United States at the end of the present fiscal year, will require approximately 50,000,000 tons of stone and gravel for the making of 25,000 miles of highway.

Farmer Begins to Compete.

With smooth, hard roads from farm to town, and a big substantial 10-mile-an-hour truck to haul grain or hogs in, the farmer will begin to compete with all and water transportation.

FOWLS IN WINTER QUARTERS

Pullets Should Be Moved Before They Begin to Lay—Carefully Prevent All Drafts.

Move pullets into winter quarters before they begin to lay, the United States Department of Agriculture advises. All should be in winter quarters before cold weather. See that the henhouse is disinfected and that it is tight on three sides and that there is no chance for a draft to strike the hens while on their roosts.

AUTUMN TROUBLES IN FLOCK

Roup is One of Most Common Diseases and Is Most Often Contracted by Weak Fowls.

One of the most common diseases of the farm poultry flock during the autumn is roup. This disease is frequently found in damp, poorly ventilated houses and is most often contracted by birds that are poorly developed and of low vitality. Fowls of this type frequently get roup and are the means of spreading it throughout the flock. Obviously, prevention should consist of eliminating the weaklings from the flock and providing a house that will be dry and free from drafts, but well ventilated, says the United States Department of Agriculture.

An additional precaution against this disease is the following: Add as much potassium permanganate as will remain on the surface of a dime to each gallon of drinking water and keep before the fowls. This acts as an antiseptic and will help to keep the birds in good condition. An attempt to cure the individual of roup is not advisable, for, although in the majority of cases, there may be an apparent cure, the danger of reinfection is great, and frequently such birds cause the disease to spread throughout the flock. The safest policy is immediately to remove such birds from the flock and kill them as soon as they show the first symptoms, recognized by a watery discharge from the nostrils or eyes.

KEEP DUCKS AND GEESSE BUSY

Feed Enough to Keep Them in Condition and Leave Them Eager for Something More.

After the birds are mated, preferably not later than December 1, keep them active. Their ration should be bulky, using about one-fifth of green stuff. They should not be fed all they can eat, but enough to keep them in condition and leave them eager for food.

They do better on cracked corn than on a ration of cornmeal only. If ducks and geese are wintered in good condition, and mated early, there should be no difficulty in getting fertile eggs. Too early eggs are not desirable. Ducks especially lay very early in the morning, and the very early eggs are apt to freeze.

SECURE STOCK FOR BREEDING

Fowls Should Be Accustomed to New Quarters Before Season Opens in Spring.

Unless it has already been done, stock needed for breeding this season should be bought immediately because the supply is rapidly growing less and also for the reason that the birds should be changed and accustomed to their new quarters before actual breeding begins.

An Official Statement by the Governor of South Dakota

On August 29, Governor McMaster, of South Dakota, issued the following statement:—

"At a meeting with Colonel Stewart, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana and other Standard Oil Officials, held in Pierre this morning, Mr. Stewart expressed unqualifiedly the willingness of Standard Oil to comply with the wishes of the consumers of the State of South Dakota in so far as those wishes could be expressed and interpreted by the governor of this state. These Standard officials, although they contend that the present prices do not properly reflect the costs of production, refining and distribution, plus a reasonable profit, were willing, at my request, to do one of two things—raise the price of gasoline immediately in the State of South Dakota where it would represent a six and six-tenths cent reduction over former prices, or maintain, for the time being, sixteen cent gasoline in the State of South Dakota, using Mitchell as a base.

"After due consideration, the Standard Oil officials were asked by the governor to maintain the present price of 16 cents for the time being. I wish to accept full responsibility for this situation and state that Standard Oil, by deed and act, is working in fullest co-operation with the governor of this state and therefore can in no respect be blamed for 16 cents gasoline from this date.

"I realize that the independents who have viciously assailed and attacked me will raise bitter complaint against this condition. However, after due consideration and investigation, I wish to say that if the former gasoline prices of this state were excessive, the independents of this state were just as responsible for that condition and were just as guilty of taking excess profits as was Standard Oil.

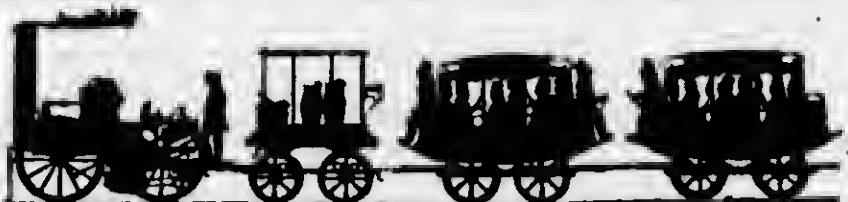

"At no time during the period which former gasoline prices prevailed did any independent of this state raise one objection or bring one complaint to this office in an effort to bring about any reduction in price but they were perfectly willing to profit to the fullest extent.

"I realize that all sorts of charges will be made against me because of this action, but in view of the fact that gasoline can be purchased at various refineries today for approximately seven cents a gallon, it will not work injury to the public cause if the Independents are forced for the time being to do business on a small margin of profit. There is no particular reason why the State Government should guarantee to the Independent Oil Dealers of this state, at least for the time being, fixed profits, especially in view of the fact that they were perfectly willing and were a party to take excessive profits from the people."

This clearly defines the position which the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has maintained throughout this controversy.

EVOLUTION OF STEAM ENGINE SHOWN BY MODELS ON "SERVICE-PROGRESS SPECIAL"

From an old silhouette of the De Witt-Clinton taken in 1831. This was the first train to operate in New York State and, mounted on flat cars, is exhibited on the Service-Progress Special tour of Michigan.

The "Service-Progress Special," of the New York Central Lines, which is a transportation museum with the DeWitt-Clinton Train of 1831, Engine "999," the Warther Working Engine Models, several cars of railroad exhibits and moving pictures started on its trip through Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois from Cleveland June 18th. Thousands have visited the train in New York, Pennsylvania and Ohio. In Michigan sixty-eight stops will be made commencing at Monroe August 15th.

By the end of October the "Service-Progress Special" will have toured 12,000 miles of the New York Central Lines System.

The train is being operated upon requests made to President A. H. Smith, of the New York Central Lines, by Master S. J. Lowell, of the National Grange and President O. E. Bradfute, of the American Farm Bureau Federation, that authentic facts on transportation be placed before the agricultural population of the United States.

President Smith, in pursuance of his long established practice of discussing questions of railroad policy openly and frankly with the public, acquiesced and at once ordered the Agricultural Department of the New York Central Lines to organize the "Service-Progress Special."

One feature to make the "Special" the greatest railroad exhibition train ever operated is five reels of moving pictures illustrating the interdependence of the railroads and the farmers. These pictures are from scenarios written by Charles Frederick Carter, author of "When Railroads Were New." They show the handling of farm products and will be thrown on a large screen at night stops.

Locomotive engineers and railroad officials who have seen the Warther Working Engine Models, which are hand-made of wood, ivory and bone and which form an important part of the motive power exhibit, have pronounced these models to be the greatest miniature engines ever made.

These models are the product of 20 years' work on the part of Ernest Warther, of Dover, Ohio, who is now with the train to explain his work, and are on public exhibition for the first time. One coach is all devoted to exhibits showing the relation of agriculture and railroading.

Not the least interesting of the exhibits is one special car devoted to the increased cost of Federal, State and local government in this country. This exhibit is called "Mrs. Jarley's Tax Works" in which the growth of taxation is portrayed by many models.

A New York magazine suggests that Henry Ford apply $50,000,000 of his fortune to tiding farmers over the present crisis. To show its good faith, and set an example, we understand that the magazine will head the subscription with a 50 cent (in round figures) contribution of its own.

According to a new dance hall regulation at Kalamazoo, the girls must not look into their partner's eyes, but must gaze away "into space." With a sufficiently penetrating eye, this may often be accomplished by looking right through the partner's forehead, the authorities have intimated.

A Springfield farmer says an automobile without lights drove up to his place, and the occupants told him they had struck one of his hogs, but didn't say what they were going to do about the matter. Well, if the motorists have been well brought up, the next time they strike the hog they should say, "Excuse me."

NEW PALACE THEATRE

Thursday and Friday, September 13-14

Richard Barthelmess in "The Bond Boy," a classic in the "Tol'able David" class. A First National production. Also a Cameo comedy, "Hurry Up."

Saturday and Sunday, September 15-16

A high grade Paramount picture "The Woman With Four Faces," featuring Betty Compson and Richard Dix. A notorious crook—so clever she made fools of the police—so beautiful that when finally caught, the jury didn't have the heart to convict her—so charming that even the district attorney fell in love with her. That's Betty Compson in this high-class, high-powered melodrama. Also a Buster Keaton two reel comedy—one of his latest—"The Blacksmith."

Monday and Tuesday, September 17-18

A Thomas H. Ince special production, "Scars of Jealousy." A smashing big spectacle-drama. Three famous stars put classic Ince punch in story of Alabama hills. Frank Keenan, Lloyd Hughes and Marguerite De La Motte. "Scars of Jealousy" is a red-hot thriller jammed with action. Also a Bull Montana two reel comedy, "Snowed Under."

Wednesday and Thursday, September 19-20

The drama of wondering men and women, "The Dangerous Age." A John M. Stahl production and the biggest, boldest thing Stahl has ever made. With an all-star cast including Lewis Stone and Ruth Clifford. What is the Dangerous Age? Jazz Age? Marriage? Divorce Age? We all reach it. How? And When? Also a Ham Hamilton two reel comedy, "The Vagrant."

Majestic Theatre has been closed for the season.

George Block, phone 64-14.—Adv. 36-14 pd.

WANTED—Second hand baby carriage. Call 196.—Adv. 37-1f.

HELP WANTED

WANTED—Men or women to take orders for genuine guaranteed hostelry for men, women, and children. Eliminates darning. Salary $75 a week full time, $1.50 an hour spare time. Cotton, heathers, silks. International Stocking Mills, Norristown, Pa.—Adv. 37-110 pd.

WANTED—Girls and women, experience not necessary, steady employment and good wages to beginners with advancement. Board and room procured at Company's Dormitory at $4.00 per week. Apply at once for steady position. Western Knitting Mills, Inc., Rochester, Mich.—Adv. 36-12.

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

A former Lansing man writes home that he is returning from Australia with a party made up of 100 kangaroos, two lions, one tiger, one leopard, one mandrill, 10 Tasmanian devils, 12 wombats, seven kagus, and 100 cockatons. Since he met them, he says, he has hardly known what it was to be lonely.

So it goes on. Another up-state youth who was toying with a revolver and didn't know it was loaded, now doesn't know anything.

If it is true, as alleged, that some of the cantaloupes on the market have been artificially treated to make them ripe, what was done to the great majority of them to make them so green?

That Bay City man who was arrested for speeding while on his way to serve as best man at a wedding probably feels that he should have a right not only to kiss the bride, but to kick the groom.

When a passenger in a Saginaw taxicab complained of the toothache, the driver took a pair of pliers from his tool box and pulled the tooth. Or it has been suggested, maybe it only felt that way, when he pulled his leg.

President Burton, of the U. of M., who has sailed on a six week's trip to Europe, is rumored to have gone to study educational problems, to investigate social and political conditions, to make preparations for accepting an ambassadorship, and to take a rest. When interviewed concerning the matter, an official believed to be in Mr. Burton's confidence said, in a semi-official statement, "Yes, and no."

The Michigan man who was taken ill while talking to his doctor should have known beforehand that it is unwise to sit in a draught.

A brown leather traveling bag belonging to some woman has been found on a detour road south of Cadillac. Any one traveling the detour and finding the woman should return her to the bag at the office of the chief of police.

The Muskegon Heights man who lost the end of a thumb in a manufacturing plant and, a few days later, while demonstrating to a friend how it was done, lost the end of the other, wishes to announce that future spectators will have to be satisfied with the end of a fore, middle, third or little finger.

STANDARDIZE BRIDGE DESIGN

No Sound Reason for Amount of Variation in Specifications That Now Exist in Building

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)
Greater standardization of practice in the design and construction of highway bridges is urged by the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. It is believed that there is no sound reason for the amount of variation in specifications that now exists and that it results in greater cost of bridges. State officials take the same view as the bureau and a committee composed of bridge engineers has been appointed by the American Association of State Highway Officials to consider the matter. A "Manual of Practice" is being prepared, which will represent the best thought on the subject and which it is believed will be accepted by all the state highway departments. Not only will the adoption of such a manual lead to the building of bridges of good design, but it will also make possible a saving in money, as bridge companies will not be called upon to meet so much variation in design.

Old Nursery Rhymes.
Some of the commonest nursery rhymes, which are taught to each child, are of great antiquity as many of the most celebrated poems and novels of English letters.

"Sing a Song of Sixpence" was composed during the sixteenth century. "Three Children Sliding on the Ice" dates from 1539. "London Bridge is Falling Down" is apparently almost as old as the city itself. "Pussy Cat, Pussy Cat, Where Have You Been?" was written during the reign of Queen Elizabeth. "Lucy Locket Lost Her Pocket" came into being when Charles II reigned.

MORTGAGE SALE
Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage dated the 13th day of August, 1912, executed by Edwin H. Cook and Clara Cook, his wife, to John Nicholls, Harry Nicholls, Archibald Buttara and Albert F. Bridge, co-partners, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 458, on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1912, and which mortgage under date of August 27th, 1915 was assigned to Carria E. Knight, of Banks township, Antrim County, Michigan, which said assignment was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said County of Charlevoix, in Liber 49 of Mortgages on page 573, on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1915:

And, whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of $774.45 of principal and interest, and the further sum of $25 stipulated for in said mortgage as an attorney's fee, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, where by the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale and in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said County of Charlevoix, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The west three-fourths (3/4) of the northwest quarter (1/4) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, range nine (9) west, of which the following described parcel of land has been released from said mortgage, to-wit: The west half (W1/2) of the west half (W1/2) of the northwest quarter (NW1/4) of said section twenty-four (24), all in the township of Norwood, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan.

Dated June 27th, 1923.

Trio Of Nationally Known Men Analyze Evils Of Coal Industry; Stress Need For Stable Labor

COL. GUY D. GOFF

COL. HENRY L. STIMSON

DR. CHARLES W. ELLIOT

Dr. Charles W. Elliot, president emeritus of Harvard; Colonel Henry L. Stimson, former Secretary of War, and Colonel Guy D. Goff, former Assistant Attorney General of the United States, are among the men to whom the National Coal Association, in an aggressive movement to stabilize the bituminous coal industry and increase its value to the public, has applied for advice.

Dr. Elliot in a comprehensive letter addressed to the organization's annual convention at Atlantic City, stressed the importance of arbitration of disputes by non-partisan agencies, a tenet to which operators claim they have long held. Dr. Elliot advocated the incorporation of all unions that relate to the coal industry.

"In the public interest," he wrote, "it is inexpedient that these secret societies, which collect large sums of money from their members, and use all their resources to support strikes, however violent, should continue to be exempt from the usual legal processes to prevent violations of contract and enforce payment of damages."

Colonel Stimson stressed the need of constructive leadership and unified front in self organization and self discipline in the public's interest.

Colonel Goff emphasized the importance of basic considerations in the coal labor problem to the whole problem of American social and economic development. An attempt, he declared, to change the form of American trade unions into industrial unions as an opening wedge toward compelling the majority in America, or a militant and doctrine of communism.

Investigations conducted by the Bituminous Operators' Special Committee, appointed to cooperate with the United States Coal Commission, have found that labor is one of the principal factors of the cost of coal at the mine, amounting to 68.7 per cent of the total. The constant interruption of the coal supply by nation-wide strikes, made possible by a growing monopolistic power on the part of the United Mine Workers of America, is given as the chief deterrent to a regular supply of coal at satisfactory prices.

Present: Hon. Servetus A. Correll, Probate Judge.

It is ordered, that the 29th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten a. m., at said probate office is hereby appointed for hearing said petition.

Ellsworth Section

W. S. Richardson, of Charlevoix, was in town on business one day last week.

Mrs. Larry Meade and little daughter, of St. Paul, Minnesota, are guests of Mrs. Meade's sister, Mrs. A. L. Ely.

Misa Blanche Ross left on Sunday for Detroit, where she expects to work this winter.

Miss Marion McGarrison, of Central Lake, was the week end guest of Miss Cornelia Elzinga.

Jake Wasmann, of Henryetta, Oklahoma, arrived on Saturday, for a few weeks visit with relatives here.

Richard Dennis, Jr., and wife, of Detroit, were visiting relatives and friends here and at East Jordan during the past few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Warring, of Kewadin, were Sunday visitors at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Wieland.

E. R. Harris, B. J. Beuker, L. O. Isaman, Chas. Edson and S. P. Baar drove to Pellston last week to attend initiatory work at the Masonic lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lison and son, Clarence, of Detroit, and Mr. and Mrs. Alonzo Brooks and little daughter of Ionia, spent the past week with Mr. Lison's sister, Mrs. Robt. White.

Marvin, the fifteen year old son of J. H. Elzinga, had the misfortune to break both bones of his right arm just above the wrist while cranking a car. The fracture was cared for by Dr. Beuker.

Township highway commissioner, J. J. Smith has completed the new gravel road south from the Reformed church towards Central Lake and will now take up repair and construction work in other parts of the township.

Burton Mellenkamp is in charge of the newly organized North Antrim cow testing association and is getting the work well under way and his report of the test and results will be published each month in these columns. Mr. Mellenkamp was in charge of the Antrim Co. association during the past year, so he is not by any means new to the game.

Funeral services in charge of Rev. L. W. Sturk, were held at the Holiness church, on Tuesday afternoon for Mrs. Hiram Walker, who died early Monday morning, the remains being taken to Boss cemetery for burial. Deceased, who was past seventy-two years of age, had been in poor health for several months. She had been a resident of this vicinity for the past thirty years and leaves besides her husband, five sons and two daughters.

Burglars entered the Schoolcraft drug store at Central Lake and collected the cash register as well as a quantity of jewelry, fountain pens, etc., and county officers are hot on their trail today (Tuesday) with good prospects of making arrests within the next few hours. The cash register, rifled of its contents, was found near the Central Lake

ORGANIZE FOR MUTUAL BENEFIT

NEW COW TESTING ASSOCIATION IN ELLSWORTH

Will Be Known as North Antrim Cow-testing Assn. and Began Its Work August 9th.

The North Antrim Cow-testing Association began its new year August 9th. It includes members from last year's West Antrim Assn., as well as several from the Mackinaw Trail Assn., and covers Ellsworth, Central Lake and two members from Bellaire.

The good results obtained last year from the West Antrim Assn. has been the foundation of reorganizing the cow-testing work of the entire county. A year ago we had only one association, now we have three associations; one takes in Kewadin, Elk Rapids and Williamsburg, another Mancelona and surrounding districts and a third the territory around this section.

This is ample proof that the cow-testing work has come to stay; that the farmers of this county are realizing today more than ever that the basis of profitable farming is based first of all on a herd of cows, and that if we must have cows, we want profitable cows, and the only way to get them is to study them individually, feed and care for them properly, and keep cost of production records.

The following is the membership of the North Antrim Association:

Ellsworth—George Rubingh, Henry Black, Garret VanderArk, Peter Wieland, Vice Pres.; George Drenth, Mrs. Tillotson, J. W. Drenth, Herman Heeres, Hans DeYoung, D. H. Brat, John Koster, John Dockter, Henry Vanderstik, W. P. Smith, John Tornga, Nick Tornga, John Jansen, Peter Hennepe, Louis Osterbaan.

Central Lake—Ernest Loehme, Pres.; Tony Shooks, Treas.; Robert Watson, Earl Burns, Russell Burns, S. B. Anway, Chas. Snyder.

Bellaire—H. A. Thomas, F. H. Hematreet.

Four cows produced over 40 lbs. of butterfat for the month of August. Ernest Loehme had the highest cow, a pure-bred Jersey, producing 70.4 lbs. of fat. Geo. Drenth, Peter Wieland and Ernest Loehme follow next in line. Ernest Loehme also had the highest herd average—his six cows produced an average of 42.5 lbs. of fat per cow for the month.

Burton Mellenkamp, tester in charge.

MILES DISTRICT

Mr. and Mrs. A. Miles spent Sunday in East Jordan, at the home of their son, Xelle and wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stenke and Mrs. Herman Lindenaw and Mrs. Fineout, of Boyne City, spent one day last week with Mrs. Lindenaw's sister, Mrs. Fred Baneroff.

Mrs. Anna Fischer and two sons, Herman and Nick, of Muskegon, and Mr. Sitzema, of Ellsworth, called at the A. Miles home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Stenke and children, of Boyne City, moved on the farm with his brother, Will Stenke, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baneroff spent Sunday visiting in Phelps, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bert Elliot.

John TerWee and son, Dick, motorized to Charlevoix to see Mrs. TerWee, who was taken to the hospital last Thursday.

Mrs. George Coates returned to her home in Grand Rapids, Saturday, after spending two weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John TerWee.

ROCK ELM

Mrs. Nelson visited Mrs. Jensen Friday afternoon.

Miss Jessie Metz, of Charlevoix, has returned home to help care for her father.

Levi Metz has been quite ill for the past week. Dr. Beuker is attending him.

Melvin Teboe was called to Detroit last week, by the serious illness of his wife.

COLLECT BOOT-LEGGERS TAXES

MUST PAY TAX BESIDES FINES OR IMPRISONMENT

Fifteen Hundred in Michigan to Be Hit Up for License and Dealers Fee

More than 1,500 Volstead act violators, convicted and punished in the federal court for eastern Michigan since the law went into effect, are now facing retroactive additional penalties which may prove far more drastic than their fines, it became known recently.

Based on a recent decision of the supreme court, upholding a disputed clause of the Volstead act providing for the collection of license fees and taxes on alcoholic liquors, the machinery of the government was set in motion to collect these charges from all persons against whom judgments have been rendered.

Upon orders of D. H. Blair, commissioner of internal revenue, Fred L. Woodworth, collector for eastern Michigan, will undertake the collection at once, together with penalty payments of $25 each to which the bootleggers are subject, because they failed to pay the license fees and taxes prior to their conviction. Failure to make settlement peacefully, immediately, will lead to civil suits, on behalf of the government, it is declared.

The manufacturer's license fee is $1,000 and the liquor dealer's license fee is $500. Taxes to which spirituous liquors are subject, and which the internal revenue department will interpret to apply to all liquors in possession of the offender when arrested are $4 a gallon on wine, $6.40 a gallon on distilled spirits and $6 a barrel on beer.

Because its constitutionality was under fire, enforcement of Section 35, of the Volstead act, has been held in obedience by the internal revenue department, but with the supreme court's favorable ruling it has been decided to give it full force and seek retroactive collections. The test case, which went before the court came from Philadelphia.

Conviction, as the court's ruling is being applied, establishes the fact that the offender was engaged in the liquor business and therefore subject to license fees and taxes.

Collector Woodworth will summon all persons convicted since the law became effective, to his office to make payment. Harry M. Deyo, legal advisor to Prohibition Director James R. Davis, will act as prosecutor in these hearings.

which they travel. Tourists coming into Michigan may do as much damage to the highways as their cars exact, and there is no way to pay for repairs except that the Michigan taxpayers go down into their purses, he argues.

Arkansas, Florida, North Carolina, Oregon, South Carolina and Virginia have three-cent gasoline taxes. Utah's tax is 2 1/2 cents. Most of the other states have a tax of two cents, although eleven have a one-cent tax.

"With so much road to be built in Michigan and an eternal upkeep to be provided for, Mr. Osborn does not think Governor Groesbeck's contention that a gasoline tax would raise too much money, holds water."

NORTHWESTERN BANKERS MEET

Wolverine Hotel Place of Banquet Next Friday

Group No. Two, of the Michigan Bankers' Association, will meet at the Wolverine Hotel, in Boyne City, on Friday of this week.

This group includes all bankers in the counties of Emmet, Charlevoix, Antrim, Leelanau, Benzie, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Manistee, Wexford and Missaukee. In all, one hundred and fifty guests are expected to be present. Many reservations have already been received.

The bank directors of this city are urged to attend, with their wives, and do all in their power to make the meeting a success.

An excellent program for the meeting has been prepared. A. L. LaFrenier, secretary of the group, will be present and there will be an address by Charles A. Nyman, of the First National Bank of Detroit, who has a valuable message for the bank people of northwestern Michigan.

The banquet will take place, promptly, at six-thirty p. m., with program following, the remainder of the evening to be given over to the dance.

The last meeting of the northwestern Michigan bankers was held aboard the steamer, Missouri, on an excursion around Grand Traverse Bay, June 10th.

Gloves, mittens, socks, sweaters, pants—our line of winter goods are on our shelves. Buy now. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 37-tf.

SNEEZE WEED KILLS SHEEP

Plant Seems Impracticable of Eradication and Stockmen Are Warned to Avoid It.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

A plant poisonous to sheep on the ranges, and for which no practical method has been discovered either for eradication or for cure of the resulting disease, is described in a recent bulletin of the United States Department of Agriculture. The weed is most troublesome in Utah, Colorado, Arizona and New Mexico and in the eastern half of southern California, as well as in scattered areas in eastern and western Nevada, southeastern Oregon, southwestern Idaho and northwestern Wyoming.

It was first reported to the department in 1903 that a mysterious disease, characterized by vomiting, wasting away, and death, was attacking sheep in Utah. The disease was at first attributed to Zygodon (death cania), but several years later department botanists observed that sneeze weed was usually found in ranges occupied by the affected sheep. Subsequent experiments covering five years fastened responsibility upon the sneeze weed. No effective remedy has been found, and sheep which do not die retain symptoms as long as two or three years.

The weed is a strong perennial, growing to a height of one to three feet, with one or several stems. The plant, when young, is often hairy or woolly, particularly the stems. There may be one or several flower heads, which are two to three inches broad with many flowers of an orange color. The seeds are numerous and hairy. The plant occurs at elevations of 5,200 to 12,000 feet. Its best habitat is on sunny slopes of the southern spruce belt in moist and well-drained soil. From the color of the flowers it is sometimes called "yellow weed," and some stockmen call it snuffweed, but in Utah it is most commonly known as sneeze weed.

The weed seems impracticable of eradication. Digging out costs about $40 an acre and cutting with a scythe only stimulates growth. Department scientists, therefore, see the only relief in acquainting stockmen with the appearance and character of the plant and warning them to keep their sheep away from infested areas.

CO-OPERATIVE BULL SOCIETY

Saunders County, Nebraska, Winner of Offer by Breeder of Purebred Cattle.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The bull offered by a breeder of purebred cattle near Lincoln to the first co-operative bull association to be organized in Nebraska was won by Saunders county, where an association has been formed, through the efforts of the county agent and a state dairy extension specialist, assisted by a field man of the United States Department of Agriculture.

As in other associations of this character, the members will be arranged in several groups or blocks, those in each block having about the same total number of cows and all using the same bull. This association has five blocks to start with, and as many more are planned. The separate blocks do not own the bulls, but the animals are joint property of the association, and every two years they are shifted from one block to another.

It is planned to have a novel feature in this association. The blocks will be arranged in two or more circuits, each circuit made up of three or more blocks, and paying for the bulls is used and owning them; the biennial exchange of bulls will also be confined to the circuit; but there will be one set of officers and board of directors for the whole association, the secretary-treasurer keeping record of the receipts and obligations of each circuit. The circuit system seems to combine the advantages of small associations and a large association all in one.

When the Saunders County Bull ashe given the prize bull. The association will have to pay for its other bulls, but it can well afford to do so, for this method of co-operation has been found highly profitable in many other parts of the country. Its advantages are: (1) Providing high-class bulls at low expense, and thus proving the character of the dairy herds; (2) Keeping proved bulls in service for many years; and (3) making financial interest and public sentiment combine to sweep a community entirely clean of inferior sires.

The United States Department of Agriculture has given a good deal of effort to the introduction of co-operative bull associations, and stands ready to supply information thereon to anyone desiring it.

ABNORMAL TASTES IN MILK

There Are Several Factors That Impart Peculiar Flavor Besides Grazing Crops.

There are a number of plants which when eaten by the dairy cow, will transmit an unusual taste to her milk. Some of them are fed to her injudiciously by the dairymen, and others are eaten by the animal while grazing. Plants known to possess such properties are beet and turnip tops when fed in large quantities; excessive feeding of chopped roots; garlic, rape, lupines, orchids, kale, rutabagas, chicory, sorrel and pasture on areas which have been inundated.

There are many other factors sometimes responsible for a peculiar taste in milk, such as improper sterilization of utensils, spoiled foods, brewers' grains, potato tops, fish meal, rape cake, flaxseed meal, poor straw, and, occasionally, medicinal agents administered to the animal.

CARING FOR SPRING CALVES

Necessary That Youngsters Be Kept Thrifty and Free From Disease and Sickness.

The good dairy calves born this spring are needed, as milk cows two years from now, so the dairymen should do his part by giving these animals a chance to live and develop. Spring calves are usually harder to raise than fall calves, and since the dairymen has less time usually during this busy season to care for the calves, it is very necessary that the attention given be that most needed to keep them thrifty and free from disease and sickness.

Salt Improves Appetite. Salt improves the calf's appetite, so keep a box with clean salt in a sheltered place where the calf may eat of it freely.

Keep Youngsters Separated. Never allow the calves or yearlings to run with the herd.

Satisfactory Cow Ration. It is quite difficult to make a really satisfactory ration for dairy cows without using either clover or alfalfa hay.

CAN A GRAY SQUIREL REL FLY? WELL!

We'll Swear That They Can Sometimes

This isn't a sleepy-time story, but its all about Mr. Gray Squirrel and his daring, death-defying leap for safety.

Early Saturday morning, Mr. Squirrel, believing that a trip to the higher altitudes would be of benefit to his health and not finding a convenient tree in his immediate vicinity, journeyed to the tip end of a tall telephone pole on Van Post Place, in front of Sorensen & Gimbel's winter laundry building.

There he sat, perched some thirty-five feet above the ground, until discovered by a member of the telephone gang, working on the new exchange. A general strike was called by the gang and one of their number started up the pole to apprehend the trespasser on telephone property. He was about half way up the pole when Mr. Squirrel saw him coming and decided that he might just as well move and save the rent. Thought and action were simultaneous and the next thing the eager watchers saw was a large, gray squirrel, spread out like a flying gull floating in a graceful arc to the middle of Doc Mitchell's backyard, where he landed with a thump that could be heard for a block. Before anyone could reach the spot, however, the gentleman with the bushy tail had departed at high speed for parts unknown. With mingled feelings of admiration and regret, the telephone workers returned to the job, deciding that the next time they went squirrel hunting in the open a landing net would be part of their equipment.

Mayor Bergeon Pulls the Cord That Cuts in New Switchboards at Three-Thirty, Saturday

The formal opening of the new exchange of the Michigan State Telephone Company in this city was affected last Saturday afternoon, at three thirty o'clock, when Mayor Bergeon pulled the cord that broke the first of the connections with the old exchange and hooked up the new.

The operators, who have been receiving special training in the use of the new board, were all in their places and the change-over was accomplished in the space of less than thirty seconds from the time the signal to "cut" was given. Although several calls were then on the wire, we doubt if even a single subscriber was aware of the exact time of the change.

The new system was put into commission in the presence of the following telephone officials: H. W. Benedict, general traffic superintendent; E. M. Stannard, general traffic engineer and C. S. Carlisle, general equipment engineer, of Detroit; Frank Sullivan, division plant superintendent; R. L. Jackson, division traffic superintendent; G. P. Reese, division traffic engineer; S. Lane, division equipment superintendent and W. H. McGraw, division construction foreman, all of Saginaw office; F. D. Nelson, district plant chief and C. J. Mintline, district traffic chief, of Cadillac; H. J. Johnston, manager of the northern Michigan district, comprising the northern tier of eleven counties in the lower peninsula, who has had general supervision of the work on the new exchange since it started, was on hand to see that everything went off smoothly.

Mayor Bergeon made the first local call over the new system and was answered by O. A. Solomon, Charlevoix combination man, from his office in the old building. The first subscriber to make a toll call over the new system was the Booth Fisheries Company, of this city.

Wednesday (today) is visiting day and it has been the desire of the management that as many subscribers as could find it convenient would take advantage of the opportunity to get better acquainted with the equipment and personnel that is going to be instrumental in giving them better telephone service throughout Charlevoix and its environs.

The chief differences that will be noted by users of telephones under the new system are the "self-starting" feature, or elimination of the bell crank (it being only necessary now to lift the receiver in order to get central) and the necessity of putting the call through the central office between parties on a two or more party line, instead of ringing a specified number of times, as formerly. It is hoped that subscribers will be as lenient and patient as possible for a while with any delays or inaccuracies that may occur due to the operator's comparative unfamiliarity with the new system, or possible slight defects in installation, as the job of installing the new exchange has been a colossal one and it is impossible that everything should proceed with absolute smoothness at first. Some slight "hitches" are almost inevitable.

Officials of the company and their able subordinates are to be highly congratulated on the speed and thoroughness with which this big job has been put through. Their efforts have given Charlevoix an exchange second to none in the county and capable of expansion to meet the city's needs for years to come.

In speaking of possible future needs in telephone service, it might be noted that the new exchange has a nine position switchboard. Only eight of these are in use, thus leaving space for an extra operator to take care of possible expansion, and periods of unusual demand upon the service. In addition to the above, there are ninety lines of wire additional to those now in use, connected, but held in reserve to take care of future subscribers.

The present personnel of the exchange is as follows:

O. A. Solomon, combination man (in charge); Earl Goss, repair man; Marva Cooper, cashier; Dora Adams, chief operator; Christine Kowalski, supervisor; Ila Adams, Winnie Ives, Druilla Richardson, Rose Zeiler, and Nettie La Valley, toll operators; Sadie Curtis, Margaret Poole, Wahneta Herrington, Irene Halverson, Lenora Gallagher and Reta Hebert, local operators; and Hilda Cooper, night operator.

Big Candy Pull

The home of Walter Yemmans was the scene of great festivity last Friday evening, the occasion being the annual candy pull, "feed" and general jollification party which has for several years past been a red letter day on the calendars of the family's friends. About twenty-five people were present and all reported that the affair was quite up to standard, if not just a jump or two ahead of previous gatherings. This week, the Yemman's move into their new home at 401 Petoskey Avenue.

COUNTY BOASTS NEW FOX RANCH

Fifteen Pair of Silver Blacks Form Beginnings of Sears Enterprise

Although the project had its inception some two years ago, when Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Sears purchased the old Frszler farm on Pine Lake, just north of Eveline Orchard, with the idea of turning it into a fox ranch, the Sears Silver Black Fox Ranch is the newest of Charlevoix's industries, as respects its introduction to the public.

The new enterprise, with Mr. and Mrs. Sears as sole owners and operators, is now an established fact and was opened last Sunday, for the first time, to visitors. Its object, as may be gathered from the name, is the propagation of thoroughbred foxes of the famous silver black variety for breeding purposes and the fur trade.

Silver fox farming in an industry especially adapted to the northern states, but depends mainly for its success upon the selection of good foundation stock. Every fox must be pure-bred, as inferior foxes produce inferior pelts. A silver fox skin is the only fur that cannot be successfully imitated and it has but one competitor in the markets of the world—the crown Russian sable. Individual pelts, at one time, sold as high as $2,700.00 and a pair of A-1 breeding foxes brought the enormous price of $34,000.00. In a recent year, the approximate turnover of the fur industry was estimated at more than $350,000,000. Exports of furs and manufactured garments exceeded $30,000,000, and we imported into this country $84,000,000 of raw furs and manufactured garments. This estimate was made by officials of the U. S. Biological Survey.

So much for the possibilities of the industry. At the Sears farm, thirty prize foxes form the nucleus of the future herd. These foxes are all registered under the advanced registration system of the American Fox Breeders' Association. Foxes must be of pure strain and pedigreed in order to be registered at all, but the requirements of the advanced system are even stricter. Under this plan, a fox must not only show pure thoroughbred strain for four generations back, but in measurements, proportions, quality of pelt and physical conditions must conform to certain fixed standards of the association and must be passed on by one of its representatives before the animal will be admitted to the advanced grade.

The buildings and equipment of the Sears ranch are as up-to-date and correct in construction as it is possible to make them. Besides the ice house, where the food is kept fit for these valuable animals, and the feed house, with its steam cooker for preparing certain articles of their diet, there are fifteen pens, or runs, each 25 feet square, surrounded with a high fence, built of 16 gauge galvanized fox wire, the sides of the pen sloping inward to prevent the animals from climbing them. In each of these pens stands a double compartment kennel, double boarded, with paper between and shingled on the outside, each containing a pair of foxes—male and female. Each kennel measures about 3 feet by 3 feet by 6 feet and is built according to the latest approved plan of construction.

The foxes are fed twice a day. Their diet consists of cereal (cooked for eight hours), bread and milk, vegetables and meat. Some of the meat is fed raw and some of it is cooked. Everything these little roving producers eat and their living quarters must be scrupulously clean, as otherwise disease and distemper might destroy thousands of dollars overnight.

Sixty people or more visited the ranch last Sunday, and, although the construction work on the buildings and pens has been going on all summer, visitors were surprised to note the progress made. Mr. Sears assures us that the present capacity of the plant will be doubled in the spring. While some of the animals will be pelted for the market, the main function of the Sears ranch is to produce super-fine pairs for breeding purposes.

EXTEND TIME TO FISH STEELHEAD

SOLONS HAVE TIRED BUSINESS MAN IN MIND

Now Lawful to Catch With Hook and Line Up To December
First This Year

In order to accommodate the tired business man of the region, who, engrossed in the task of serving the resort trade, hasn't as yet had a square opportunity to chase the elusive steelhead, the kindly legislature, with one finger always on the pulse of the people's wishes (albeit it is often on their purses!) has amended the law relating to this species of fish.

This law, known as Section 3 of Act 236, Public Acts of Michigan for 1916, and entitled, "An Act to Protect Fish in Inland Waters of This State and to Regulate the Manner of Taking, Transportation, Size and Sale of Fish when taken from said water," has been amended by Act 64, Public Acts of 1923, which provides that it shall be lawful to catch, with hook and line, steelhead and rainbow trout, up to December 1st, in the following named lakes: White Lake, in Muskegon county; Pentwater Lake, in Oceana county; Pere Marquette Lake, in Mason county; Manistee, Arcadia and Ononama lakes, in Manistee county and Pine Lake, in Charlevoix county. This act was approved April 20, 1923.

The duck season is now open and County Clerk Charles H. Emery says he has already issued several licenses to hunt. The season is from September 16th to December 31st, inclusive and covers ducks and coots, geese and brant, jack-snipe, yellow leg rail and golden and black-breasted plover.

The partridge season in the lower peninsula opens October 15th and extends to and including the 20th day of November. In the upper peninsula, the season closes on November 9th. The reason for the shorter U. P. season is to prevent the deer hunters, who start their operations on November 10th, from making inroads on the wild-fowl, while looking for four footed game. This protection covers ruffed grouse, as well as partridges.

The deer season extends from November 10th to and including November 30th.

Cotton tail rabbits may be hunted from October 15th to January 31st, and snow-shoe rabbits, commonly called jack-rabbits, from October 15th to February 15th.

BROKEN STEERING GEAR DITCHES CAR

Forrest Fowler and Family Narrowly Escape Injury

While returning from the fair, Thursday afternoon, Forrest Fowler, bookkeeper for the Loeb Farms, driving a Maxwell touring car in which, besides himself, were his wife and baby and his wife's mother and sister, Mrs. H. K. Allen and daughter, Jessie, suffered one of the most trying experiences that can befall a motorist.

A few miles this side of East Jordan, where the road is flanked by a deep gully, the steering arm broke and the front wheels spread, breaking out the spokes. Fortunately, the car was travelling at low speed and when Mr. Fowler, feeling the steering wheel turn uselessly in his hands, applied the brakes, it toppled slowly over the bank and came to rest on its side, throwing all of its occupants from the car and clear of the wreckage, with the exception of Miss Jessie, who was pinned under the top in some way and was later rescued, unhurt but badly frightened.

None of the party was hurt, barring a few bruises, and all considered themselves extremely lucky. The car, however, was in much worse shape—both front wheels being completely demolished.

SUNDAY NIGHT TRAIN NOW IN ONE SECTION

Pere Marquette Goes Back to Former Running Plan

For several weeks past, the Pere Marquette railroad has been operating its Sunday night resort special sleeper train out of Charlevoix in two sections. Experience has shown, however, that this plan does not make for smooth and satisfactory handling of the passenger traffic, the second sections being usually an hour late at the end of the run, thereby causing the passengers to miss their connections for points farther on.

Last Sunday, the change was made back to one section, as previously, and on next Sunday evening, September 23rd, which will be the last date on which the special train will be run this season, the leaving time at Charlevoix will be 7:16 p. m. This train will reach Detroit at 6:45 a. m., Monday, and Chicago at 8:05 a. m. It will carry through sleepers to Chicago, St. Louis, Detroit, Toledo, Cincinnati and Louisville and coaches to Chicago, Detroit and Grand Rapids.

OUR COWS WIN HIGH RATING

LOEB FARMS COWS ON HOL-STEIN FRIESIAN HONOR ROLL

Four Pedigreed Animals Hit High Water Mark for Milk and Butterfat Production

Charlevoix county cows, owned by the Loeb Farms near Charlevoix, have earned ranking on the national honor roll of the American Holstein Friesian Association—for the past year, according to information given out this week by the dairy division of the Michigan Agricultural College.

Queen Pontiac Grace earned eighth place for milk production and nineteenth place for butterfat production in her class, with 1,082 records from all over the country competing. At the age of eight years and one month, she turned in a record of 29,366 pounds of milk and 911 pounds of butterfat in 365 days.

Pietertje Sweet Friend Aaggie took sixteenth place for milk production and nineteenth place for fat production in the Junior four year old class in the 305 day division. Her mark was 15,782 pounds of milk and 543 pounds of fat in 305 days.

Charlevoix Oberland Ormsby placed twenty-first as a junior two year old in the 365 day division with a record of 20,216 pounds of milk. This was a state record at the time that it was made.

Kohrain Eleanor Pontiac Korn-dyke is another cow from the Loeb Farms that "made" the honor roll. She is listed in forty-first place for butterfat production with more than 1,000 records entered. At the age of seven years and seven months she turned in a record of 914 pounds of fat for a 365 day period.

All records included in the honor roll are handled under the general supervision of M. H. Gardner of Wisconsin, Superintendent of Advanced Registry for the United States. The Michigan statistics were compiled by E. B. Hint, of the Michigan Agricultural College dairy division, which handles the record work for the state.

FITCH IS ELECTED GRAND OUTER GUARD

Local Attorney Honored by Grand Lodge of Michigan

Arthur L. Fitch, local attorney and popular K. of P., was elected Grand Outer Guard of the Michigan Grand Pythian Lodge, at their recent convention held at Mt. Clemens, having been unanimously recommended for the position by members of the Charlevoix lodge, and bearing their full credentials.

In selecting a place for the 1924 convention delegates to assemble, Charlevoix received seventy-seven votes out of one hundred fifty-two and thus becomes the next meeting place of the Michigan grand lodge. Where the convention will be entertained, during their visit to this city next September, has not yet been determined.

FIXED LEAK IN CABLE QUICKLY

BREAK IN LINE BUT NOT IN THE SERVICE

Repair of North Side Telephone Artery a Ticklish Job—Over 600 Wires Spliced

Everybody who has watched the progress of the work knows that the installation of the new telephone exchange has been a man's-sized job but there are some phases of the task that seldom get into the limelight and these are, as a rule, far the most difficult.

When the new north-side cable, carrying the long distance lines to Petoskey, Mackinac City and the north, as well as the local lines for that district, was "cut in" to the new switchboard, Saturday, it was discovered that somewhere on the line there was a "short" or leak. By means of a delicate electrical instrument, which serves as a detector, measuring the amount of resistance on a given line of wire up to the point of a break or short and thereby measuring its distance in feet from the position of the instrument, it was ascertained that the trouble was in that part of the cable lying on the channel bottom and that its exact location was near the north shore of the channel.

A cable man with his helper and two assistants were sent to the spot, on Monday afternoon with a row-boat and tools. The cable was picked up off the bottom, fastened to the boat and the fun began. In order to understand the magnitude of this job, it is necessary to know something about the sub-marine cable, as it is called. In this particular cable there are 606 separate wires. Each of these wires is wrapped in paper (of different colors for purpose of identification) then the entire bundle is again wrapped with paper. Outside of this is a lead armor or tubing. Then comes a covering of tarred marlin and this in turn is wrapped tight with No. 8 iron wire. Then comes another covering of tarred marlin and over all a creosoted tape is wrapped.

The cable men discovered that in some way the successive layers of wrappings had been punctured, admitting water to the wires and thereby "shorting" the line. They were compelled to cut the cable and wires clean in two at this point, tie the cut strands of the wires in bundles and pour boiling paraffin over them to boil out or evaporate the water. Then, each wire had to be spliced together again, care being taken to get the right ends together and all the wrappings replaced, after which the spliced point was covered with a lead sleeve, melted on to the cable. The operation was finished by Tuesday night.

This is just a sample of what a telephone construction outfit is up against, all in a day's work and liable to crop up at any time. Fortunately, the old north-side cables were still in position and connected so that there was no interruption in the service to that district.

Manager Johnston says that, although the new exchange is now in operation and subscribers may rest assured of good service from now on, there is yet a good deal of work to be done and it will probably be several weeks before the construction and repair gang can rest from their labors.

CUSS THE WEATHER WHEN SPUDS BURN

The next time your wife burns the potatoes, don't blame her but the weather. Yes, that is the real cause. You have heard the saying: "It is going to rain, if your food burns." The reason is simple and scientific and not superstition.

It takes water longer to come to the boiling point and evaporate when it is under pressure. When rainy or stormy weather is coming, the air is light. For this reason, water begins boiling sooner, passes away in steam more rapidly, thus catching the busy house wife unawares and giving hubbly something besides his corns to complain about.

Iowa Testing Law Aids

Fight on Tuberculosis

One of the most encouraging factors in the fight against cattle tuberculosis, according to those in charge of the eradication work for the United States Department of Agriculture, is the activity of state legislatures in passing laws to facilitate the widespread testing of cattle in specified areas, a branch of the work which in the last few years has become of greater importance than the testing of individual herds at random. A state law which contains many points of excellence is that passed last spring by the Iowa legislature.

Briefly, this Iowa law provides that on petition of 51 per cent of the owners of breeding cattle in a county, the live-stock sanitary authority of the state must proceed to eradicate tuberculosis from the county as provided in the law. Or the same result may be accomplished in another way: Upon petition of 15 per cent of the voters a proposition to eradicate the disease must be submitted at the next general election to levy a 3-mill tax upon all property to help supply funds for the purpose, these funds, together with those from the state and federal governments, to be used largely for paying for animals slaughtered. When 75 per cent of the owners of breeding cattle petition for county testing, all of the herds in the county must be tested and a fine and jail sentence are provided as penalty for those who refuse to submit their animals to the test.

In case the county 3-mill levy and the state and federal funds are insufficient to pay indemnities, the law provides for a tax of 25 cents a head on all cattle and 5 cents a head on all hogs in the county.

University Farm Tests

Rations for Baby Beef

About two hundred Minnesota cattle raisers at University farm recently had an opportunity to see six lots of pure bred Shorthorn steer calves, ten calves to each lot, which had been fed different rations for 217 days. They were also given the records in gains made by the various lots of calves. Farmers everywhere will be interested in the results of the experiments. The rations fed were as follows:

Lot 1—Shelled corn, 60 per cent; whole oats, 30 per cent; linseed oil meal, 10 per cent; corn silage and clover hay.

Lot 2—Ground shelled corn, 60 per cent; ground oats, 30 per cent; linseed oil meal, 10 per cent; corn silage and clover hay.

Lot 3—Limited grain ration for the first half of the feeding period, corn silage and clover hay.

Lot 4—Ground ear corn, 90 per cent; linseed oil meal, 10 per cent; corn silage and clover hay.

Lot 5—Ground shelled corn, 60 2/3 per cent; ground oats, 33 1/3 per cent; corn silage and clover hay. (No protein supplement.)

Lot 6—Ground shelled corn, 60 2/3 per cent; ground oats, 33 1/3 per cent; clover hay. (No silage and no protein supplement.)

Crediting at $0.50 per hundred the gains on hogs which were kept in the lots with cattle, the profits shown by the feeding experiment were: Lot 1, $18.92 per head; lot 2, $15.97; lot 3, $5.90; lot 4, $18.30; lot 5, $12.61; lot 6, $13.10.

DAIRY POINTS

Essentials for Caring for Milk in Hot Season

During the winter months it is comparatively easy to handle milk so it will keep sweet. In the summer months comes the real test. You cannot handle milk and cream successfully during the summer without having some means of cooling it quickly and keeping it at a low temperature. The use of a tank is the most satisfactory means which can be employed. The pump should be kept going so that fresh water direct from the well is flowing through this cooling tank. On many farms where such a tank is used all the water going to the various stock tanks is first pumped into the cooling tank, the overflow water going to the stock. Keeping milk sweet is almost entirely a matter of cleanliness and temperature regulation.

You cannot call yourself a successful dairyman until you have learned how to produce clean milk. Milk is a human food and should be treated as such. Dirty milk always sours more quickly than clean milk and quite often has other bad flavors. These bad flavors and the souring are caused by bacteria, which are tiny organisms too small to be seen with the naked eye. They are everywhere present and every particle of dirt has upon it large numbers of these tiny organisms. Most of the bacteria which get into the milk come from dirt on the cow, which falls in the pail while you are milking. These organisms also get into the milk from the utensils, such as cans, pails, strainers, coolers and separators which have not been properly cleaned and sterilized before using.

The bacteria reach their greatest activity and multiply most rapidly when the temperature of the milk is high. They increase very slowly at lower temperatures and for this reason milk should be cooled as quickly as possible and kept at least as low in temperature as water fresh from the well. Milk would never sour if it were possible to keep all the bacteria out of it, but some of these organisms get in in spite of our efforts to keep them out, and the only thing we can do is to keep them from increasing rapidly in numbers.

Briefly, then, the essentials in caring for milk in the summer are to milk in as cleanly a manner as possible, wiping the flank and udder of the cow with a moist cloth before milking, or even washing if these parts are very dirty, careful cleansing and scalding of utensils, protecting the milk from flies and dirt after it has been drawn and finally cooling it as quickly as possible and holding it at a low temperature. It may be possible to get along without a milk house or milk room but the best results in keeping milk or cream in the proper condition will come from having a room planned for the purpose of handling it in the best manner possible and the cooling tank is perhaps one of the most essential features of the milk room.

Causes and Control of White Scours in Calves

White scours is sometimes a source of severe loss in very young calves. While usually considered as an acute contagious disease of calves, it frequently occurs as a chronic condition which may be fatal to the calf but which retards its growth and development markedly.

Veterinarians at Cornell university regard an acid condition of the droppings of the calf as an important symptom of this disease. The acidity results from bacteria which are usually introduced through the milk fed to the calf. The acid prevents the digestion of the casein of the milk, thus producing the whitish appearance of the droppings, which is characteristic of the disease. The navel of the newborn calf is also a frequent source of infection.

At Cornell the preventative measures taken for this disease include bathing the navel with an antiseptic and applying a drying powder to close up the opening as soon as possible. The amount and temperature of the milk fed the calf is carefully regulated and great care used to feed under the most sanitary conditions.

Control methods employ the use of barley water, made by adding boiling hot water to finely ground barley and allowing it to stand until nearly cool. In severe cases the milk is replaced altogether by barley water for a temporary period. Usually, however, equal parts of barley water may be used with whole milk. The principal use of the barley water is to soothe the inflamed membranes of the intestine.

The acidity is corrected by using a solution of one ounce of bicarbonate of soda and two drams of aromatics in a pint of water. This is given once daily and has proved very effective. It can be given to the calf by means of a funnel and rubber tube.

Sweet Clover Makes Hay of Excellent Quality

First year sweet clover makes practically as good hay as alfalfa. It should not be mowed until rather late in the season, however, or the stand might be injured. Second year sweet clover is more rank in growth and makes a coarser hay, but if cut at the proper time a very good quality of hay can be obtained. It should be cut before it starts to bloom and preferably on a cloudy day or in the late afternoon.

RED SQUIRRELS ARE A MENACE

"Rats of Tree Tops" Are Condemned
by Naturalists—War Declared in Many Places

It is hard to believe that the handsome, agile, graceful red squirrel, which adds such a picturesque note to our lawns and parks is an inveterate destroyer of the eggs and young of useful birds and spends much of his time searching out nests among the trees. Such however are his habits and naturalists and sportsmen class him as one of the most vicious of all game destroying animals. In many places war has been declared on him by sportsmen who are particularly interested in ridding their neighborhood of "vermin," as the birds and animals are called which prey on useful species. A great mass of evidence has been collected against the red squirrel showing that his depredations are such as to make it necessary to keep down his number if insectivorous birds are to be allowed to flourish and help out in their useful work.

Enemy of Birds

The late John Burroughs wrote of the red squirrel: "Nearly all the birds look upon it as their enemy and attack and annoy it when it appears near their breeding haunts. Thus I have seen the pewee, the cuckoo, the robin and the wood thrush pursuing it with angry voice and gestures. If you wish the birds to breed and thrive in your orchards and groves, kill every red squirrel that infests the place."

Dr. B. H. Warren of West Chester, Pennsylvania, formerly State Ornithologist of Pennsylvania and a naturalist of repute, stated that some years ago when Thomas J. Edge was Secretary of Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture, he received complaints from a dozen or more farmers in different sections of Pennsylvania about red or pine squirrels destroying young chickens. Several also wrote Secretary Edge that this squirrel killed the young of domestic pigeons.

More than 100 farmers and sportsmen in Pennsylvania in 1897 and 1898 wrote to the Pennsylvania Game Department, complaining of this squirrel destroying eggs or the young of many kinds of wild birds, game and other kinds.

Kill Gray Squirrels

Prof. N. F. Davis, teacher of biology at Bucknell College, Lewisburg, Pa., had so much trouble with red squirrels killing nesting birds and eating their eggs about the lawn of the college campus where lots of large shade trees flourish, that he shot some twenty of the nimble little red-coated murderers to end their depredations. One day six of the squirrels attacked and pursued a large gray squirrel and before Prof. Davis could save it, the vicious creatures cornered their victim and literally cut it to pieces.

Further damaging testimony is given by James Carnes, of Clearfield, Pennsylvania, who states that the red squirrel is one of the worst pests as he destroys so many eggs of the ruffed grouse, known generally in this region as pheasants.

The depredations of these squirrels seem to be of the most general kind and to include nearly all kinds of birds. Mr. B. F. Shaffer, Nittany, Center county, Pa., states that he saw a red squirrel eating a young robin and also that they kill different kinds of wild birds and suck their eggs and also sometimes catch young poultry.

The presence of the red squirrel is by common consent among many naturalists, dangerous to useful birds for the protection of which there is such an insistent demand at this time.

Eat Bird Eggs

Dr. C. Hart Merriam, who for many years was chief of the Biological Survey, Washington, D. C., and who ranks as one of the foremost authorities in the United States on birds and mammals, writes: "The propensity to suck the eggs and destroy the young of our smaller birds is the worst trait of the red squirrel and is in itself sufficient reason for its extermination, at least about the habitations of man. I have myself known him to rob the nests of the red-eyed vireo, chipping sparrow, robin, Wilson's thrush and ruffed grouse, and doubt not that thousands of eggs are annually sacrificed in the Adirondack region alone, to gratify his appetite. Therefore, where abundant, as he always is during the springs that follow nut years, his influence in checking the increase of our insectivorous birds can hardly be over estimated. Dr. A. K. Fisher informs me that on three occasions he has known these squirrels to destroy young robins. I have long been aware that this animal was an occasional depredator of the poultry yard, and find in a journal written twelve years ago, a note to the effect that a case had come to my knowledge where one was caught in the act of killing both chickens and ducks.

According to all accounts the red squirrel, like other predatory animals, is extremely aggressive and does not fear to attack his prey. For example, some years ago, Dr. Howard Mellor, of Scenelltown, near West Chester, Pa., found that red squirrels were destroying the birds by robbing nesting places and feeding boxes. He states that the little animals would ascend the trees which are scattered about the lawn and steal the eggs. The eggs were lifted out of the nest and dropped to the grass covered ground and then the sly robbers descend and devour them. Among the species thus attacked were robins and cat birds.

Will Kill Small Chickens

The late Arthur Chapman, former Game Commissioner of Pennsylvania, wrote: "Reliable farmers and poultrymen tell me red squirrels sometimes but rarely will attack and kill little chickens, and they have been known to catch, kill and devour small ruffed grouse."

Mr. August Koch, a noted naturalist, of Williamsport, Pa., who died several years ago, wrote as follows: "Red squirrels, decidedly smaller in size than gray squirrels, are much quicker. The red species is bold, impudent, and aggressive. He is fearless and loquacious, and does not hesitate to go out and battle to death with the gray."

"Red squirrels, two or more together, often attack the gray and they generally kill or seriously maim the gray opponent."

"The reds sometimes go to the homes of the grays, attack and drive off the old grays and then drag their helpless little ones out of the nest, tear them to bits and eat, with great gusto, the quivering and bloody remains."

Red squirrels destroy many green apples and pears by cutting the fruit to eat the seeds.

Late in July 1919, Dr. B. H. Warren found under an isolated apple tree near West Chester, nearly five bushels of apples ranging from the size of a small marble to a peeled black walnut scattered on the ground under the trees.

An English walnut tree in the yard of Robert S. Sharpless of that place had all the green nuts cut off by red squirrels before they were ripe, and another year the reds came to the tree and in a brief time stole practically all the ripe nuts and there was a very fine crop.

"Rats of Tree Tops"

The late Mahlon Hutchinson, of Devon, Pa., styled red squirrels, "Rats of the Tree Tops," which climb about with agility stealing the eggs and nestlings of birds and then about the time nuts were ready to gather from some unusually fine English walnut trees on his premises, these four footed marauders would take most of the crop.

In some states the red squirrel has been protected by law but the mass of evidence proves him to be a destroyer of the worst kind of game and useful birds and also injurious to the other interests of farmers.

Most sportsmen add him to the list of their enemies and he has been put on the black list of the New York Conservation Commission.

AT THE MOVIES

Thrills in The Tiger's Claw

How many thrills can be packed into a single five or six reel photograph without destroying the plot value? In The Tiger's Claw, a Paramount picture starring Jack Holt, which comes to the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday the question has been satisfactorily answered. There are twelve distinct and unusual climaxes in the picture, each building up greater and more heart-grIPPING than the one preceding.

Among some of these thrills are a man-to-beast battle between Mr. Holt and a full grown Bengal tiger; the dynamiting of a water dam; the strange ceremony of the Thugees (members of a Hindoo religious clan) before killing their victim; the washing away of Mr. Holt in a gigantic flood; Mr. Holt's wild horseback ride and leap over a canyon where the bridge is down; the death of Chamell and six other exciting situations just as powerful as those named.

Mr. Holt is surrounded by a capable cast in this picture. Eva Novak plays the feminine lead, this being her second picture opposite Mr. Holt. Aileen Pringle plays the remaining feminine leading role. Bert Ram Grassby, George Field and Karl Stockdale are the well known players in the cast.

Crook in "Skin Deep" Wins Respect of Soldiers

Facing "Bud" Doyle, as he sat in the place of honor on a long platform were hundreds of disabled soldiers, veterans of the World War. In the crowd were "buddies" who had fought by Bud's side in the trenches, and gone over the top at the zero hour.

A hand seemed to catch at his throat and the ex-convict who had "atoned" at the risk of his life for past misdeeds choked suddenly as the faces before him blurred.

There was a ringing cheer as the doctor acclaimed the convict with the "new face" the hero of the hour for invaluable services to the cause of the disabled veterans.

You will want to cheer him, too, when you see Thomas Ince's "Skin Deep" at the Palace Theatre, next Tuesday and Wednesday.

Another good reason for a gas tax is the story sent out by the press bureau of the Detroit Automobile Club. The club says:

"There are perhaps 300 designated free camp sites in Michigan. The club lists about 20 of these sites as available for use in directing tourists. For next season we hope to be able to recommend about 100 approved camp sites. The camping tourist is worth cultivating. Michigan can improve her position as a tourist state by taking better care of him."

This is all very good but why shouldn't this tremendously growing traffic pay for the good roads they use? A gas tax wouldn't keep away one tenth of one per cent. This bugaboo that a gas tax would wreck our tourist trade is a fine piece of bunk. In the expense account of the average tourist this item would be smallest in the day's expenditures. Might as well claim a gas tax would cut down our trade in souvenir post cards.

UNPROFITABLE RAILROADS AND CONSOLIDATION

The steam railroads occupy much the same relation to the territory they traverse that a city street railway system does to the city through the streets of which its cars operate. Relationship differs in degree rather than in character.

When a street car company asks for a franchise for the construction of lines and the operation of carcity authorities exact specific agreements as to the length and location of the line to be operated. Consulting only its own selfish interests a street car company would wish to build lines and operate cars only in that portion of the city that would be most remunerative. City authorities, fulfilling their duty of protecting and promoting the welfare of the entire community, require that the lines shall be extended into suburban districts even where patronage is not sufficient to make it self-supporting. Probably every street car company in every city operates some miles of track the travel on which is not sufficient to pay even the interest on the investment. On other portions of its system where there is a short haul and a large amount of travel the profits may be largely in excess of the actual cost of the service, giving, on the whole a profit on the operation of the entire length of street railway service. The highly profitable portion of the system is made to carry the unprofitable portion.

It is believed by many that much the same principle ought to prevail in the establishment and operation of steam railways. In fact, that principle does prevail although not to the extent that some students of the railroad problem believe desirable. Probably every great railroad has some mileage that is unprofitable. There are some railroad systems quite extensive in area that have been operated without profit for many years. Advocates of a plan of compulsory consolidation have argued that since transportation is not entirely a local matter but traffic originating in remote sections extends to the congested centers, and traffic originating in congested center frequently finds its other terminal in remote regions, the traffic system should be so consolidated as to make the most profitable portion bear the losses of the unprofitable, both portions being necessary in order to make a complete system of transportation. Of course, such a plan as this meets the opposition of owners of the most profitable portion of our rail transportation property.

In the transportation act, under the terms of which the railroads were turned back to their private owners after having been under government operation, Congress made a very intelligent, probably the most practical, plan under which the more profitable service would be compelled to contribute to the losses of the unprofitable. It was provided in that act that half of all the net earnings above a reasonable profit should go into a fund, to be made available for the use of the unprofitable roads. The transportation act also contained a clause which provided for permissive consolidation of railroads, the idea being that railroad systems that naturally have a community of interest should consolidate. There has been some movement in this direction but not as much as was anticipated. There is under consideration by members of Congress who have made a study of transportation problems a proposed law for compulsory consolidation. Whether it can be worked out satisfactorily in detail remains to be seen.

MISS HARSHA BECAME A BRIDE TODAY NOON

Weds. Dr. Marion D. Slaughter, Of Detroit

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Horace S. Harsha, on State Street, was the scene of a very charming wedding today, at high noon, their daughter, Miss Katherine, becoming the bride of Dr. Marion D. Slaughter, of Detroit.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clarence W. Long, of the Congregational church, amid beautiful decorations of gladioli, baby's breath, floss and roses. Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by Mrs. Margaret Patterson, who also played the accompaniment for a solo by Mrs. Constance Gaskin, "Love You."

The bride couple were attended by Vance Slaughter, brother of the groom and Miss Irene Auld, the ceremony being performed in the presence of the immediate family and about thirty of their most intimate friends. The bride wore a beautiful costume of white brocade silk, trimmed with silver cloth, without veil or train, and carried a bouquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid, Miss Auld, wore orchid georgette, trimmed with silver lace and carried a bouquet of pink roses.

After a delightful collation, the happy couple left for a short honeymoon trip to Chicago, after which they will go to Detroit, where Dr. Slaughter has an excellent dental practice. They will make their home at 438 Seldon Avenue. The Courier joins their many friends in wishing them all possible success and happiness.

SIGHT DESTROYED BY A SLINGSHOT

Little Mildred May McArthur In Serious Condition

A telegram was received this morning, by Mrs. D. J. Eckinger, stating that her little granddaughter, Mildred May McArthur, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McArthur, of Flint, was the victim of a serious accident.

While playing with some other children, recently, she was struck in the eye by a stone from a slingshot with which one of her boy companions was practicing and is now in a Flint hospital in a very low condition. The sight of the eye is destroyed and hemorrhages have set in. A peculiar feature of the accident is that the sight of one of her eyes has been impeded since infancy by a slight growth and it is this eye that was injured.

Those of our readers who became acquainted with the little girl during her stay here this summer will sorrow deeply, with the distressed parents, as she is of a very sweet and lovable disposition and makes friends of all whom she meets. The progress of her condition will be watched here with much anxiety.

JOHNSON FAMILY IS REUNITED ONCE MORE

This Year's Meeting Was At Will's, On Route Two

The fourth annual reunion and basket picnic of the Northern Michigan Johnson family was held at the farm home of Mr. and Mrs. William F. Johnson, on September 12, 1923.

At noon, the tables were spread for thirty-eight people, seventeen of whom were from the southern part of the state. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Worth and daughter and Mrs. Allie Johnson, from Fairgrove, Michigan; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Aymer, from Ann Arbor, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. James Arnold, Mr. and Mrs. Berry McLaughlin and son, Ernest, from Caro, Mich.; Miss Mary Kintner, from Saginaw and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Smith, from West Branch, Mich.

The 1924 reunion will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lamphear, in this city. William F. Johnson, who lives on Route 2, Charlevoix, is secretary of the family organization.

Who remembers when men wrote personal letters in their own handwriting instead of dictating them to a stenographer?

ADDITIONAL LOCALS

The Belvedere and Beach Hotels closed last Sunday night, reporting a good season for 1923, and prospects even better for next year.

Joe Steinberg and wife, of Ionia, former residents of this city, are visiting Mrs. Steinberg's mother, Mrs. Hattie McNeill, on the north side, this week.

About thirty of the friends and neighbors of Robert Bonthron formed a surprise party, Tuesday evening, at the Bonthron home, it being the occasion of Mr. Bonthron's birthday.

Mrs. F. E. Cartier, son, Stanley, and daughter, Betty Jean, accompanied by Mrs. Cartier's sister, Mrs. Lester Baker, of Detroit, drove through to Detroit and Ann Arbor, Monday morning.

Frederick W. Moline, of Chicago, Ill., who has been a summer resident here for the past twenty years, has purchased the Martha Wilson farm on R. F. D. 3 and will take possession on October 1st.

We understand that Miss Alice Schweitzer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dave Schweitzer, of this city, was married at Long Beach, California, on the 10th of this month. No further particulars have as yet come to hand.

Miss Lillis Flanders, accompanied by Mrs. Isaacson and three children and the Misses Kfebe, motored to the Soo, Saturday, and returned by the way of St. Ignace, Sunday, crossing over to Mackinac Island, en route home.

The Belvedere paving is progressing merrily. One half of the road, way, for almost the entire distance between Alice Street and the junction of Belvedere Avenue and Bridge Street is now laid and will presently be ready for traffic.

Mrs. Corter, of Petoskey, was a recent visitor at the home of R. S. Shapton and wife, on Route 1. She will be remembered as a one time resident of Charlevoix, her husband being a former manager of the Western Union office here.

Mr. and Mrs. Harzia Fisher and two daughters and Mrs. Bertha Durbin and sons, Russell and Dale, whose home is in Crystal, Montcalm county, Michigan, spent from Thursday until Monday at the home of Mrs. E. D. Schaefer, on West Hurbit Avenue.

Rev. and Mrs. C. W. Long and Mrs. Walter Rodger, Mrs. Hattie Bennett and Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall, of Charlevoix, accompanied by Mrs. George McMullin, Mrs. Nancy Munson and Mrs. Matt Saunders, of Ironton, attended the Cheboygan Association of Congregational churches at Gaylord, on Monday and Tuesday of this week.

No Difference Between Lard and Bacon Types

Little difference between lard and bacon types of swine was noted in a test recently conducted at the Manitoba Agricultural college in Canada in which Poland Chinas and Yorkshires were compared as to gains and production costs. Pigs of each breed were fed a ration of equal parts of barley, oats and sorgho for a period of 140 days. Corn was substituted for barley during part of the test.

The Poland Chinas made 100 pounds of gain on 415 pounds of feed and the Yorkshires made 100 pounds on 420 pounds of feed. On the Canadian market, which pays a premium for choice bacon hogs, the Yorkshires sold for $9.90 per hundred pounds and the Poland Chinas brought $9.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Trucking and hauling about of feeds is not required by a silo.

Scrubs can multiply just as fast as pure breeds, but they never get the right answer.

It is a good plan to place oil in a hog collar so that the animals may grease themselves.

The first few weeks after weaning is a critical time in a pig's life. Proper care and management will mean profit.

The age at which to wean depends upon the size and vigor of the pigs, and the feeds and their amounts available.

Hogs have their ups and downs like everything else. Don't be discouraged because hogs happen to be low. They will come back as sure as fate—and possibly sooner than you think.

Beautiful Paradise Fish. The paradise fish of China, with its brilliant colorings of crimson and blue, is a rainbow of color when in the sunlight.

NOTED EAGLE FOUND DYING BY FRIENDS

Robert Graham, Secretary of Order, Passes

Word has just reached us of the death of Robert Graham, state secretary of the Fraternal Order of Eagles.

Mr. Graham is a bachelor and accustomed to making frequent trips about the state on lodge business. He was taken ill about a week previous to his death and during all of that period lay in his rooms, in Grand Rapids, unattended. When found by his friends, who had not sooner become alarmed, because of their knowledge of his habit of traveling about, his temperature was 104 and his condition past remedy. He died last Wednesday and was laid to rest Saturday, at Grand Rapids. W. P. Vought, of Boyne City, state president of the Eagles, represented the county organization at the funeral.

Miss Wilma Stevenson leaves this week for Lansing, where she will attend the M. A. C. She has been working this summer in the State Savings Bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Harvey, of Grand Rapids, and Mrs. William Simpson and son, Sermor, of Alden, Mich., visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bearss, on Route 4, Sunday, September 9th.

Mrs. H. H. Belding and daughter of Muskegon, has been visiting for the past two weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Correll. Mr. Belding drove up Saturday, returning Tuesday.

J. L. Friedman and family, who have occupied the Iddings cottage at 300 Park Avenue for the past eight or nine summers, have rented the Graves cottage on Clinton Street, for the summer of 1924.

Mrs. Ava Smith arrived Sunday from Charleston, Washington, to spend an indefinite period here with her sons, Ava and Perry and her niece, Mrs. Robert Bonthron. This is Mrs. Smith's first visit to Charlevoix in fourteen years.

Mrs. George Papineau and little son, Charles, left Tuesday night for their home in Detroit, after having spent the past six weeks in Charlevoix at the home of Mrs. Papineau's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Carey, on South Bridge Street.

In addition to those mentioned last week as having attended from here the annual convention of the Baptist church at Traverse City, September 6th and 7th, we note the names of Rev. Hoskins, Mrs. James O'Brien and Messrs. William Kibbe and Glenn Benriss.

Miss Esther Cole has resigned her position as assistant in the office of Dr. W. W. Mitchell and left, Saturday, for Petoskey, where she will visit for a while before going back to the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor, where she is taking a special course this winter.

Mrs. Rosa-Nettleton has resigned her position as deputy county clerk and left today for Detroit, where she will spend the winter months with her sons, Douglas and Arthur. Mrs. George Tomerassen will take Mrs. Nettleton's place in the county clerk's office.

C. S. Dodge, wife and son, former residents of this city, who have been living in Grand Rapids for the past two and a half years, have returned to Charlevoix for an indefinite period and are now visiting at the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Miller, on Upright Avenue.

Luther McCann left Tuesday morning for Jackson, in his Ford touring car, where he will pick up Bill McCarthy, formerly of this city, and the two will strike out across the continent to Los Angeles, taking it easy along the way and seeing the sights. How many of our readers would like to follow suit? Whoa! Easy now, don't all speak at once.

Mr. and Mrs. George Dickson and son, Donald, of Owosso, Mich., accompanied by Mrs. Dickson's mother, Mrs. Don Moore, of Fullerton, Calif., drove up from Owosso Saturday to spend Sunday at the home of their aunt, Mrs. A. E. Edwards, of May Street. Mrs. Moore will remain here for a couple of weeks, as the guest of her sister, Mrs. Edwards, before returning to California for the winter.

Miss Lola Hinshaw, of Traverse City, formerly employed by the Leelanau County Savings Bank, of Sutton's Bay, is the new bookkeeper and stenographer at the State Savings Bank, taking the place of Miss Sylvia Rothenberger, who left Saturday, for her home in Boyne City, where she will spend a short time with her folks before going to Ypsilanti, where she will attend the State Normal college this winter.

THOUGH always highest in quality, Goodyear Tires are never high priced, as this chart shows. See how Goodyear Tire prices for years have kept under the average price level for all commodities. Today, the best tires Goodyear ever built sell for 37% less than in 1920; 30% less than in 1914. This is a good time to buy Goodyears.

GOOD YEAR

COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

Council Chambers, Sept. 17, 1923. The Common Council for the City of Charlevoix met on the above date with Mayor Bergeon, presiding. Ald. present: Eckinger, Hallett, Livingston, Partridge.

Minutes of meeting held on September 10th were read and approved. Ald. Hallett offered the following resolution and moved its adoption, seconded by Ald. Partridge:

Resolved by the Common Council of the City of Charlevoix that it be and hereby is declared necessary for the City of Charlevoix to raise by loan the sum of Six Thousand Two Hundred Dollars for the purpose of defraying that part of the cost to be borne by the general public for the construction of a pavement in that part of Belvedere Avenue lying between Bridge and Alice Streets in said city.

Resolved further that for such purpose the City of Charlevoix borrow the said sum of Six Thousand Two Hundred Dollars and as evidence of such loan the bonds of said city be issued in anticipation of the collection of the several appropriations herein provided to meet the principal and interest of said bonds as they severally mature. That said bonds be coupon bonds to bear date September 20th, 1923, drawing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, in denominations and maturing as follows:

- One bond in the sum of $1200 maturing September 20th, 1924.
- One bond in the sum of $1000 maturing September 20th, 1925.
- One bond in the sum of $1000 maturing September 20th, 1926.
- One bond in the sum of $1000 maturing September 20th, 1927.

Two bonds in the sum of $500 each maturing September 20th, 1923.
Two bonds in the sum of $500 each maturing September 20th, 1924.

Resolved further, that said bonds be issued in substantially the following form:

No.
UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
STATE OF MICHIGAN
CITY OF CHARLEVOIX.
Belvedere Avenue Paving Bond
General.

Total Issue, $6200.
Know all men by these presents, that the City of Charlevoix in the County of Charlevoix, State of Michigan, a municipal corporation, acknowledges itself to owe and for value received, hereby promises to pay to the bearer hereof the sum of . . . Dollars, lawful money of the United States of America, on the Twentieth day of September, 192 . . . together with interest on said sum from the date hereof until paid at the rate of six per cent per annum payable on the 20th day of September of each year upon the presentation and surrender of the interest coupons hereto attached as they severally mature. Both principal and interest of this bond are payable at the office of the Treasurer of said city, and for the prompt payment of this bond, both principal and interest, the full faith and credit of said City of Charlevoix are hereby irrevocably pledged.

This bond is one of a series of eight bonds of like tenor and effect, except as to amount and maturity, aggregating the total sum of Six Thousand Two Hundred Dollars issued in pursuance of a resolution of the Common Council of said city adopted the 17th day of September, 1923, for the purpose of defraying a part of the cost of construction of a pavement in that part of Belvedere Avenue lying between Bridge and Alice Streets in said city in anticipation of the collection of the several sums of money appropriated to the general street fund of said city for the years of 1924 to 1929 inclusive.

It is hereby certified and recited that all acts, conditions and things required by law and the charter of said city to be done and performed precedent to the issuance of this bond, have been duly and regularly done and performed as provided by law, and that the total indebtedness of said city of Charlevoix, including the series of bonds of which this bond is a part, does not exceed any constitutional or statutory limitation.

In Testimony whereof, the City of Charlevoix has caused this bond and the interest coupons attached to be signed by its Mayor and City Clerk, and its corporate seal affixed, this 20th day of September, A. D. 1923.
Chas. H. Lamphear, City Clerk.

INTEREST COUPON
No.
On the 20th day of September, 192 . . . the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, will pay to bearer the sum of . . . dollars, at the office of its Treasurer, being the annual interest then due on its Belvedere Ave. Paving Bond—General, No.
Dated, September 20, 1923. Mayor.

City Clerk.
Resolved further, that the Mayor and City Clerk be and hereby are authorized to execute said bonds and the several interest coupons thereon, and to affix the corporate seal of the City of Charlevoix thereto. That the City Clerk be and hereby is authorized to negotiate for the sale of, and sell and deliver said bonds to the purchasers thereof on the best terms available not less than par, and upon such sale and delivery to turn the proceeds into the Treasury of said city.

Resolved further, that there be and hereby is appropriated to the general street fund of said city the amount of money necessary to meet the payments of principal and interest of said bonds as they severally mature, to be levied each year and credited to the said fund until said bonds are retired.

Adopted at a regular meeting of the Common Council held in the Council Rooms in said city, on the 17th day of September, 1923, by aye and nay vote as follows:

Ayes—Ald. Eckinger, Hallett, Livingston, Partridge.
Nays—None.

A. Bergeon, Mayor.
Chas. H. Lamphear, City Clerk.
Enter Ald. Marshall.
On motion of Ald. Livingston, the council adjourned.
Chas. H. Lamphear, Clerk.

ROAD DESIGNATED BY NUMBER

New Method Officially Adopted by New England States to Replace Color System.

The new method of designating highways by numbers, officially adopted by the New England states to replace the color band system, is remarkable for its simplicity. When fully carried out it will provide a complete and comprehensive plan possible of extension throughout the country. The numbers have already been assigned to most of the main trunk routes by the highway commissioners.

Road Mileage of Country.
Road mileage in the United States per square mile area is 739. England has 2.57 miles of road per square mile area, and France 1.75.

The settlement of the labor problem, declared a speaker at Kalamazoo, awaits a new kind of man. Aside from that, and the fact that all the men are awaiting a new kind of labor, the prospects are excellent.

Search is being made for a Grand Rapids man, 107 years old, who ran away and has been absent for two days. Knowing his tendency to run away, it is hoped that in the future his parents will keep a closer watch on him.

Senator Ferris declares that the public schools should be kept open the year round. Many of the pupils apparently agree with him, feeling that during the regular nine months, especially, they should be kept open, with the doors clearly marked "This way out."

A minister at Lansing has been discharged by the board of trustees, but refused to stop preaching. Perhaps he feels that his efficiency will be greatly improved, since he will get no pay as usual, and will not have to spend so much time collecting it.

The Illinois fisherman who was lost for 13 days in the woods of the upper peninsula evidently had not mastered the elements of woodcraft. Experts say that in any woods of the upper peninsula, if you simply go to sleep, you will probably roll out in 10 days at the most.

"After summer squashes have become full grown," writes a Birmingham gardener, "can they be fed to humans, and if not, what should be done with them?" Well, we know a farmer once who kept them, and always put one in the silage when he wanted to insult a cow.

While a business man and his cook were repairing a pump at a summer cottage on Gull Lake, some of the business man's teeth were knocked out, the cook's foot was crushed by a maul, and a window of the cottage was broken. This shows that all it takes to repair a pump is a business man, a cook, a doctor and a carpenter.

MORTGAGE SALE

Default having been made in the conditions of a certain real estate mortgage dated the 13th day of August, 1912, executed by Edwin H. Cook and Clara Cook, his wife, to John Nicholls, Harry Nicholls, Archibald Butters and Albert F. Bridge, co-partners, which said mortgage was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan, in Liber 48 of Mortgages, on page 458, on the 15th day of August, A. D. 1912, and which mortgage under date of August 27th, 1915 was assigned to Carrie E. Knight of Banks township, Antrim County, Michigan, which said assignment was recorded in the office of the register of deeds of said County of Charlevoix, in Liber 49 of Mortgages, on page 573, on the 6th day of September, A. D. 1915:

And, whereas the amount claimed to be due on said mortgage at the date of this notice is the sum of $774.45 of principal and interest, and the further sum of $25 stipulated for in said mortgage as an attorney's fee, and no suit or proceeding having been instituted at law to recover the money secured by said mortgage or any part thereof, whereby the power of sale contained in said mortgage has become operative.

Now therefore, notice is hereby given that by virtue of the said power of sale and in pursuance of the Statute in such case made and provided, the said mortgage will be foreclosed by a sale of the premises therein described at public auction, to the highest bidder at the front door of the court house in the City of Charlevoix, in said County of Charlevoix, (that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held) on the 20th day of September, A. D. 1923, at ten o'clock in the forenoon of that day which said premises are described in said mortgage as follows, to-wit: The west three-fourths (3-4) of the northwest quarter (1-4) of section twenty-four (24) town thirty-three (33) north, range nine (9) west, of which the following described parcel of land has been released from said mortgage, to-wit: The west half (W1-2) of the west half (W1-2) of the northwest quarter (NW1-4) of said section twenty-four (24), all in the township of Norwood, County of Charlevoix, and State of Michigan.

Dated June 27th, 1923.

CROPS SHOW SLIGHT DECLINE

EFFECT OF DROUGHT IS PLAINLY EVIDENT

Rains at Close of Month Has Been of Benefit to Late Potatoes and Sugar Beets

Practically all crops declined in condition during the month of August, according to the September report issued by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture and Verne H. Church, Agricultural Statistician for Michigan. Dry weather continued through the greater part of the month, and cultivated crops that had held up well in previous months showed the effects of drought to a marked extent in many sections. Rains near the close of the month and during the early days of September will benefit late potatoes, sugar beets, pastures and other late maturing crops.

Corn: Cool weather has delayed maturity although dry weather has dried up many fields. In the best sections, the stalks are well eared and well filled, but in many counties the ears will be short and considerable areas show a decided lack of ears. The present estimate indicates a crop of 60,190,000, a decline of over 2,000,000 bushels since August 1, and a slightly smaller crop than produced in 1922. For the United States, the estimated production is 3,075,786,000 as compared with 2,890,712,000 bushels last year.

Spring Wheat: The crop has become a relatively unimportant one in Michigan, the estimated production being only 125,000 bushels this year.

Oats: The straw was short in western and northern counties but proportionately well filled. Harvesting is completed, but in some northern and eastern counties rains discolored the straw and grain. Based on the final condition report, the production will be 48,508,000 bushels or about 1,000,000 bushels less than last year. The United States has an estimated crop of 1,311,687,000 bushels as against 1,215,486,000 last year.

Barley: The condition at time of harvest was reported as 80 per cent, representing a crop of 3,466,000 bushels. In 1922, the state produced 3,500,000 bushels. The United States' crop is placed at 199,337,000 bushels in comparison with 186,110,000 last year.

Buckwheat: Present prospects indicate a crop of 860,000 bushels, or 8,000 bushels less than was produced in 1922. The country as a whole is expected to produce approximately 13,505,000 bushels as against 15,050,000 last year.

Potatoes: The outlook is improving since the recent rains, a crop of 30,013,000 bushels being forecasted from the present condition of 78 per cent. Last year's crop totaled 37,842,000, the acreage having been larger and the weather conditions more favorable than during the current season. The nation's crop is about 70,000,000 bushels less than it was last year, or a total of 389,674,000.

Beans: The bean crop did not set as well as usual, and the pods are only partly filled, especially in the dry sections of the state. The condition is 10 per cent lower than on August 1. The yields are quite disappointing in many western and central counties. The present outlook for a crop of 6,506,000 bushels is due to the heavy acreage as the yield is not large except in the more favored sections. Harvesting is well under way and some damage has been caused by rains in various localities. This injury will probably reduce the merchantable crop several hundred bushels below the above figure. It is expected that Michigan's crop represent fully 65 per cent of all white beans in the United States this year.

Sugar Beets: The condition of different fields varies widely, ranging from poor to excellent. The present condition of 83 per cent represents a production of 897,000 tons. The 1922 crop was 593,000 tons, the acreage being far less than that planted this year.

Fruits: Late rains are improving the size of winter apples which will tend to offset the drop that has taken place because of dry weather in some counties. The present outlook is for a production of 12,133,000 bushels of which 2,221,000 barrels is expected to be strictly commercial. The nation's total crop is placed at 189,787,000 bushels which is about 14,000,000 bushels less than last year's crop. The commercial portion of the United States' crop is 33,390,000 barrels, or 2,200,000 barrels greater than in 1922.

The peach crop is expected to total approximately 1,125,000 bushels,

More for Your Money

Swapping things—as when our grandmothers traded eggs for calico at the cross-roads store—gives a better understanding of values. By measuring one thing against another we too can often judge values more clearly.

Coal and wages make up more than half the manufacturing cost of cement.

The chart above shows price fluctuations for portland cement, coal and wages during the past ten years. In each case 100 is used to represent 1913 figures, by the Government departments which compiled these statistics.

Translated into "eggs and calico" language, this chart shows that a ton of coal would buy nearly twice as much cement in 1922 as in 1913. A day's wages also would buy more cement in 1922 than in 1913.

This means that even though coal and wages make up more than half its manufacturing cost, cement is now relatively lower in price than either coal or wages.

So, considering these increased costs, it is plain that in buying cement you get more for your money than before.

HANDLE THIRD OF STOCK BUSINESS

RECORD OF CO-OPS AT CLOSE OF FIRST 16 MONTHS

Michigan Live Stock Exchange Shippers Carry Stock to Packers and Get Full Returns

It might surprise many Michigan farmers to know that approximately one-third of the live stock received at the Detroit stockyards is handled on the co-operative basis by the Michigan Live Stock Exchange, one of the big exchanges affiliated with the State Farm Bureau under the commodity control type of organization.

Such, however, is the case. The Michigan Live Stock Exchange Commission Merchants, though less than a year and a half old, has grown rapidly in volume of business handled, until today it not only sells a third of the total stock, but it ranks second among all the Detroit commission firms for total volume of business handled.

Experienced Men at Helm
Probably much of this phenomenal growth is due to the fact that experienced and reliable men have been secured as sales men and managers of this epoch-making enterprise, which has so successfully blazed a new path from the live stock producer direct to the packer and butcher.

Today the exchange employs fourteen men. Included on its roster are such well-known names as John R. Beadle, manager and hog salesman; John Abearn, cattle salesman; Charles Culver, sheep salesman; and George Boutell, calf salesman.

To aid these men in the successful conduct of their business, the exchange is equipped with splendid offices in the Michigan Live Stock Exchange Building, and has ample yardage and sufficient accommodation.

tion to care for the large volume of cattle, calves, sheep and hogs which it handles.

Growth Proof of Service

Mr. Beadle, veteran live stock salesman and manager of the Exchange, points with pride to the growing business of the live stock co-ops and declares that it is the best possible proof that the service which is being given is satisfactory.

Benefits derived through shipping to the exchange are of two kinds. First, the shipper is assured of uniform service and can have perfect confidence that no stock is sold until the best price is secured. Second, members of the exchange share directly in the profits. A patronage dividend amounting to $7,000 was distributed at the end of the first year's business. After this dividend was paid there was still a surplus of $5,500, which gives the exchange a working fund and greater stability.

At present, the Michigan Live Stock Exchange handles 80 per cent of the Michigan live stock co-op business and some business from individual farmers and old-line shippers. Of course, when the dividends are passed around, only members participate.

Can't Dispute Growth

Even competitors cannot dispute the fact that the business of the exchange is gaining faster than the growth in the total number of cars handled in the yards would warrant one in expecting. The co-op business has shown steady and consistent growth during the sixteen months of its existence, until now a business ranging between $100,000 and $200,000 is being transacted every week.

Butchers and packers are eager to do business with the exchange because of the volume of business which it handles. Sometimes, however, in times of a glutted market it is found necessary to re-ship some stock, though this rarely happens.

System Avoids Mix-Ups

Because of the splendid marking and recording system employed by the exchange there is seldom any mix-up of the stock from local co-ops or the individual farmers. This system is employed especially in case of veal calves. Every man's stuff is sold on its own merit, which certainly is only fair.

Another feature of the exchange's policy which adds greatly to the satisfaction of those who do business with it is the fact that all stock is settled for the same day sold. In case of stock sent through the local co-ops, the check is mailed to the co-op manager, who distributes the returns to the individual farmers.

Not At Mercy of Local Buyer

The Michigan Live Stock Exchange at Detroit is a splendid example of what farmers are doing through co-operative organization to get the full returns from their products by following them through to the final markets.

The organized farmer with his central sales agencies is no longer at the mercy of the local stock buyer. On the contrary, he is getting better returns than ever and dividends besides. But it is well to remember that all this could not have been accomplished without organization.

SMALL SLIP LED TO HIS ARREST

"MR." IN FORGED SIGNATURE HIS NEMESIS

Nester Cameron, Deaf Mute, Confesses to Recent Attempt to Wreck Train

Nester Cameron, who was arrested last Friday in East Jordan for passing worthless checks, has been found to be the man who, on Wednesday, July 11th, attempted to wreck a train on the East Jordan-Bellaire line of the E. J. & S. R. R.

Cameron, who is about 22 years old and deaf and dumb, succeeded in getting three bogus checks cashed by East Jordan merchants before he was apprehended. Friday morning, he made small purchases of A. E. Bartlett, Fred Bennett and C. A. Brabant, presenting, in each instance, a check for $25.00. To these he had forged the name of Will Severance and two of the checks bore the notation, "For filling silo." Later in the day, he presented, at the State Bank of East Jordan, another $25.00 check, which was signed "Mr. Robert Carson."

Taking alarm at the "Mr." part of the signature, officials of the bank telephoned Mr. Carson, but in the meantime Cameron, "smelling a rat," left the bank in a hurry. Deputy sheriff Cook was notified and, after a considerable search, found his man in the yards of the East Jordan Lumber Company's Mill A. Deputy Cook had held Cameron in suspicion for the attempted train wreck for some time but did not know that the latter could write until he pulled his forged check stunt.

Cook at once took Cameron to the scene of the attempted train wreck and began writing questions to the deaf mute, each one a little stronger than the last. At first, Cameron denied any connection with the deed. Finally, his resistance broke down and he admitted that he was responsible. His reason was that the train had attempted to run him down several times and that he intended fixing it so that it wouldn't.

The prisoner was taken before Justice Blount at East Jordan, where he confessed to the two crimes. He was brought here to Charlevoix by Sheriff Novak, Friday afternoon and is now in the jail. It is thought that Cameron is mentally unbalanced and there is talk of taking him to the lunatic hospital for the insane.

Deputy Cook is to be congratulated in having secured a confession from the prisoner that he is the man who placed the obstructions on the railroad tracks, as the employees and officials of the road have been worried for fear of a second attempt being made.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL MARRIED IN FLINT

Miss Mamie Bennett Is Now Bride of John Luke

A clipping from the Flint Daily Journal, recently sent to this Courier by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bennett, of Flint, former residents of this city, contains an account of the marriage of their daughter, Mamie to John Luke, of that city, the ceremony taking place at 12:30 p. m., on Wednesday, September 12th, at the Central Christian church, Rev. Clark Walker Cummings conducting the service in the presence of 100 relatives and guests. Mrs. Roy MacArthur, another former Charlevoix girl, was soloist for the occasion.

Mrs. Luke is well known in this city and spent the past summer here, visiting friends and relatives. She has been employed in the office of the Buick Motor Company, at Flint, for some time. The groom is also an employee of this company, and he and his bride will make their home at 901 Chevrolet Avenue.

BETTER ROADS

SEEK DEFINITION FOR TRUCK

But Few States Furnish Data as to Size of Vehicles Using Nation's Highways.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

What is a motortruck? There is no universally accepted standard of what constitutes a motortruck in the various states, says the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture. As a result, only 13 states have furnished the department with the important data—so essential to road building—as to the size of trucks and commercial cars using the nation's highways during the first six months of 1923.

"In some states," says the department, "all motorcars are registered on the same basis; in others, only cars having solid tires are classed as trucks; while in others all motor vehicles used for carrying freight or merchandise of any kind whatever are classed as trucks. Even those states which provide for a separate registration for motortrucks do not employ the same basis for designating the size of the vehicle. Some states use the total weight of the loaded vehicle, others the weight of the unloaded vehicle or the weight of the chassis, and still others use such indefinite bases as the horsepower or the cost of the vehicle."

The need for definite and uniform information concerning motortrucks in use on roadways is felt, the department says, in the preparation of data which will enable road builders to take accurately into consideration the effect of such traffic.

STANDARD MATERIAL TESTS

Increasing Need Felt for Some System to Be Recognized in All Parts of Country.

With the wide extension of improved highway construction throughout the United States, the need is increasingly felt for some system of standards for the testing of highway materials so that tests in one part of the country can be accepted in another.

The bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture has held conferences on the subject with the various state highway departments, and last year a conference of testing engineers was held in Washington. The results of the conference are published in Department Bulletin No. 949, "Standard and Tentative Methods of Sampling and Testing Highway Materials." This bulletin of 98 pages gives 62 different tests and tentative tests covering nonbituminous and bituminous road materials, soils and other substances.

In some cases the standard tests of the American Society for Testing Materials have been adopted in their original or slightly modified form, and in others not yet covered by the society original standards have been established. Lists and descriptions of apparatus for conducting tests, form for reports and tables of comparative standards such as Brinell gravity, Centigrade and Fahrenheit temperatures, and metric and American measurements are also given for ready reference.

ROOM YET FOR IMPROVEMENT

Although Roads Have Been Improved Since Coming of Auto, Conditions Are Ripe for More.

That the roads in this country, although greatly improved since the coming of the automobile, are not yet universally developed to the point where they should be, was demonstrated during the stress of war. In several instances shipments of essential war materials were seriously delayed because of little less than deplorable conditions along some of our supposedly important highways, conditions that might have been improved at but little cost.

Mileage Would Enlarge Globe. Since the government first began planning the enormous task of building highways, July, 1916, the mileage of roads which have been built or are now under construction by federal aid is nearly sufficient to encircle the globe.

Dragging Helps Road. Is your road to town rough and hard to travel over? A split log or iron drag drawn over the road after each rain helps a good road and does not cost much.

LOEB FARMS HAS CHEESE PLANT

NORTH-WEST WING OF MAIN BARN UTILIZED

Industry Promises To Be Of Great Benefit To Farmers and Stock Raisers

On Tuesday, the Courier representative was asked by the Loeb Farms management to visit the farm in the afternoon and witness the wind-up of the first day's operation of the new cheese making plant, which now takes its place among the several branches of stock raising and dairying which this enterprising institution fosters.

The writer, who has heretofore claimed only abysmal ignorance of the technique of this particular industry, was surprised at its simplicity, made possible by modern methods, and appliances. The entire north-west wing of the main barn, formerly used as a creamery, has been devoted to cheese manufacture. In the center of the floor stands a large wooden tank, lined with heavy sheet tin and bolted to the floor. This tank measures seventeen feet in length, is four and a half feet wide and one and a half feet deep. Its capacity is six thousand pounds of milk. One end of the tank is fitted with a drain, having a threaded connection with shut-off cock to permit of the whey being drawn off into storage tanks.

A weighing and receiving room for milk opens into the main part of the building. The milk must be weighed as it comes off the wagons and is subjected to the Babcock centrifugal force and specific gravity tests to determine amount of butterfat contained, as payment is made on the basis of so much per pound of this ingredient of the milk. It is estimated that from eight to ten pounds of cheese may be obtained from one hundred pounds of milk.

From the weighing platform, the milk flows down a trough into the above-mentioned tank, where the chief process of transforming it into cheese takes place. There it is first heated to a temperature of 86 degrees Fahrenheit; then treated with rennet extract, which is a substance usually prepared from the lining membrane of the fourth stomach of calves, or other ruminant animals, and has the property of separating milk into what we commonly call "curds and whey." This separation does not, however, take place immediately. The milk slowly coagulates or curdles to a jelly-like consistency and must be cut with what are known as eurd knives, in order to liberate the whey from the curd.

These knives are curious looking frames, strung with parallel sets of fine wires at intervals of three-eighths to one half inch. There are two of them; one having the wires set horizontally and the other vertically, so when these knives are drawn back and forth through the thickened mass of curdled milk in the tank, it is thoroughly cross-cut, permitting the whey to flow out of the curd. This separation is further assisted by agitation of the mass with a wooden hay rake. While this is going on, the whey is being drawn off through the vent in the end of the tank to the storage vat from which after thorough pasteurization, it finally passes to the separator where the butter-fat is extracted from it to make whey butter, as it is called. The liquid residuum from this latter process is carried away by the patrons of the plant, who have brought their milk for conversion into cheese and are entitled to take away with them an equivalent amount of "denatured" whey as food for their hogs.

What they don't take goes to the Loeb Farms porkers and perhaps contributes to their ability to win prizes like the handsome silver mounted cup which adorns a shelf in the Farms office, and is marked "First Award, Michigan State Fair, 1922, Hog Division. Presented to The Loeb Farms, Charlevoix."

The curd mass in the tank, from which the whey has been completely extracted, is permitted to further congeal until it has attained a rubbery consistency, when it is fed into a curd mill, which is a contrivance similar to a butcher's disk ham cutter, except that instead of only one disk knife the curd mill has several, set about a half inch apart. This machine cuts the curd mass into short sticks or shortly elongated cubes. These are salted in the right proportions, thoroughly stirred up with a blunt-tined pitchfork and allowed to cure or ripen for about an hour. If, at the end of this time, you taste a piece, you know you are eating cheese, although the flavor is still far from that of the thoroughly cured article.

Now begins the last mechanical process in the manufacture of the finished cheese. Flanking the huge vat in the center of the room and

MICHIGAN HAS GAME CENSUS

REPORT SUBMITTED ON STATE'S RESOURCES

Alarming Decrease in Number of Brook Trout to Be Investigated by Commission.

A census of Michigan game has been taken by the state conservation department. Questionnaires were sent to all game wardens in the state with the request that they report on the numbers of game animals, fowls and fish in their districts. The replies show that Michigan game is on the increase, considering it as a whole. By species the reports follow:

Brook trout—25 per cent decrease in catches.
Rainbow—Holding their own.
Brown trout—25 per cent increase.

Black bass (both varieties)—Slight gain.
Bluegills—Stationary.
Perch—Stationary.
Wall-eyed pike—Increase.
Calico bass—Increase.
Ruffed grouse—Increase.
Chinese ring-necked grouse—Increase.

Duck and other migratory fowls—Slight increase.
Shore and wading birds—Stationary.

Deer—30 per cent increase.
Rabbits—Stationary.
Fox squirrels—Stationary.
Beaver—Increasing in upper peninsula and holding own in lower.

Muskrat—Great decrease, also akunk, mink, otter, fisher, martens and other fur-bearers.
Coyotes—Increasing in upper peninsula. None in lower.
Wolverine—Practically extinct.
Wild cat—Decreasing.
Weasels—Increasing.
Foxes—Holding their own.
Bear—Decreasing.

The department is alarmed by the decrease in brook trout and scientists at the University of Michigan have been put to work to determine the cause.

MISS NEWTON NOW
MRS. GEORGE ZIPP

Young Couple Were Wed In Detroit
Monday Eve

The following item, announcing the marriage, of a former local girl, appears in a recent issue of the Petoskey Evening News:

"Miss Mary Newton, of Charlevoix, and George Zipp, Jr., were married Monday evening in Detroit, according to word received today by Mr. Zipp's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Zipp, of Liberty Street.

Mrs. Zipp is well and favorably known by the young people of Petoskey and also in Charlevoix, where she has been bookkeeper and stenographer for Charles See for some time.

Mr. Zipp is a graduate of the Petoskey high school, where he was prominent in school and social activities, and for the past year has been associated with his father in the Zipp Lumber company, of this city."

PLAYED POSSUM ON POOR COM'R

PETER WHAZZISNAME PULLED MEAN STUNT

L. E. Benton Thought For a While
That He Had a Dead Mao On His Hands

Peter Ozoxwegwasz (pronounce it if you can), an Indian patriarch, seventy years of age, is surely an opportunist. At any rate, when it comes to picking the right time and place for a "coop de wallon" as the French say, he is the elephant's galoshes.

Pete, who hails from Chippewa county in the U. P., when he's at home, got the notion that a trip south would be a good thing for his health. So, on the sixth day of September, we find him at the home of Simon Peter in Bay Shore, an unbidden and not exactly welcome guest. When, on the 14th, it began to look as though the old man was going to become a permanent settler in the Peter home, the family got in touch with Commissioner of the Poor, Lyman E. Benton, of this city, who, after some investigation to ascertain the true state of affairs and his own jurisdiction in the matter as a Charlevoix county official, decided that the wandering Mr. Ozox would have to be returned to the bosom of his tribe in the Soo district. So he journeyed by motor to Bay Shore, picked up the gentleman in question and headed for Petoskey.

Arrived at the G. R. & I. depot, a short wait was necessary. Everything, however, seemed to be sitting pretty and Mr. Benton was looking forward to an uneventful, if somewhat tedious journey northward. But just as the train they were to take backed into position alongside the platform, the commissioner, turning to his charge, found himself in possession of what, in all outward semblance, was a dead Indian. There lay old Peter, stretched out on a waiting room seat, cold and pulseless, with just enough of a suggestion of rigor mortis to strike remorse to the heart of his conductor, who had turned a deaf ear to the aged man's remonstrances that this was "rood country. Me stay here, get well."

Telephoning for a conveyance, Mr. Benton rushed his man to the Petoskey hospital, where, after several minutes, signs of life commenced to appear in the "corpse." Assured that the old fellow was going to live, the commissioner left his erstwhile incubus with the hospital and returned home. The next day, his phone rang violently and, on answering, he was met with the announcement that his "dead man" was very much alive and had arisen from his bed and appeared in the hallway of the hospital in a condition, "au naturel" (smore French, meaning in his birthday clothes) much to the chagrin and dismay of the hospital staff. They pronounced him "some Indian." Mr. Benton's informant added. In the opinion of the hospital physician, Peter was not in a serious condition physically, but mentally deranged and permission was asked for his commitment to the Emmet County jail, pending further examination. This was granted and the new sheriff of Emmet took charge of the wanderer.

In Mr. Benton's opinion, the old man, seeing a good chance to block the game, had simply "thrown a fit," knowing that the commissioner would not attempt to take him any farther. And his scheme worked.

POKRIEFKE NEW

EMMET SHEFFIE

County Official is Named To Fill Vacancy

To Fill Vacancy

Harry Pokriefke, of Harbor Springs, was appointed sheriff of Emmet county Wednesday afternoon of last week to fill out the unexpired term of the late Will S. Purple, D. H. Hinkley, acting sheriff during the past two weeks, having tendered his resignation.

Sheriff Pokriefke is an experienced police officer, having been village marshal of Harbor Springs several years, and serving as deputy under Sheriff Purple.

The new county official announced that he would make very little change in the appointment of deputies, retaining most of the appointees of the former incumbents.

HAMILTON TALKS TO HIS PUBLIC

ANSWERS SEVERAL UNASKED
BUT VITAL QUESTIONS

Shows How Last Year's Freshman Class Panned Out—Only Ten Dropped from Rolls.

Supt. Charles Hamilton has submitted the following open letter for publication in this issue of the Courier and, in printing it, we commend most heartily Mr. Hamilton's straightforward, frank method of taking the people of the school district into his confidence. He anticipates the questions in the minds of the parents and answers them in clear and simple language. In these effete days of policy playing, pussy footing and propaganda, Mr. Hamilton's method presents a pleasing and refreshing contrast. Here is the letter:

"I believe that the public in general is interested in some such questions as the following which interested tax payers have asked recently concerning our schools. 'Last year we enrolled an unusually large Freshman class and I have been asked the question: 'Now that you have them, what are you making of them; how many came back as Sophomores?' etc.' These questions were asked by some of our most loyal school supporters for the purpose of information only, and in no way in the sense of criticism, so it is not to answer any such question that I am led to give to the public the following information, but to enlighten other equally loyal adherents who may have similar questions in mind.

'Last year we enrolled 68 Freshmen. Of that number 58 have entered again this fall, together with one from another school, making the number 59. The 10 who did not return are:

Ralph Hamilton, quit first week last year.
Nelson Christenson, quit second month last year.

Wm. Woods, Coast Guard.
George Jefferies, U. S. Army.
Lillian Pant, Housework.
Frances Pearl, California.
Frank Paeel, reported leaving for Chicago.

Eileen Fairchild, has become a senior by carrying double work and adjustment of credits.

Vlasta Krulik, going to Detroit. 'Study of the above list shows that for the greater part those not in school have legitimate reasons for not being and that the great mass of beginners are back for the 'second heat.' Now as to how hard they have worked—all have worked, some harder than others and, since that group represents about seven different schools, previous preparation must be taken into consideration, also differences in intelligence.

'About eighty percent of that group have passed in three or more subjects. Our plan for having the other twenty percent make up their work is as follows: The second semester of this year, those of this group who have an average of 80 for the first semester will be allowed to carry an extra subject the last semester, thus making up 1-2 unit and, if time permits and their abilities warrant it, I hope to be able to give this group a special evening class in the subject in which they have been found weakest, which is English, a fact that can be easily understood when one discovers how poor is the foundation in the English language of the average pupil entering high school, especially from the rural district.

'I take this particular class as an example, as it was the class that entered school as beginners when I began my duties in this school system, and whom I had a part in encouraging and urging to come to high school and with whom I have worked for a year with some thought in mind.

'I sincerely hope to see or know of fifty of those people graduating two years from next spring and here is where the public can help. Every adult who knows that an education is a real asset to a boy or girl encourage every boy or girl to come to school. This may be done by personal advice and testimony, reporting jobs that may be open, from those worth half dollar to one that will furnish board and room and at this point I wish to thank those who reported vacancies this fall and in this way helped some boy or girl to come to school. Two of our girls thus placed failed to give satisfaction, for which we are sorry, but I believe the public understands that not everyone whom we think can deliver the goods is able to do so.

"In closing I would again assure the public that the teaching force of the Charlevoix schools is tremendously interested in seeing your boy and your girl succeed and are straining every effort to help them realize their golden dream of securing an education and we earnestly hope that you will continue to get behind the administration with your good wishes and material help and let us make Charlevoix schools the best possible."

W. R. C. CONVENTION MEETS AT PETOSKEY

District Comprises Corps Of Six Counties

The district convention of the Women's Relief Corps will be held in Petoskey on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.

The district comprises thirteen Corps, representing the counties of Emmet, Charlevoix, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Benzie and Cheboygan. Some eight members of the Charlevoix Corps expect to attend the sessions of the convention.

RUG FACTORY IS DESTROYED

OLD PETOSKEY LANDMARK GOES UP IN SMOKE

Fire Started Tuesday Forenoon
From Oil Stove—Plant To Be Rebuilt, Is Believed

A well known Petoskey landmark was almost completely destroyed by fire, Tuesday forenoon. The blaze started in the Petoskey Rug Company buildings on the bay front, just north of Bay Street, catching alight from an oil stove on which water was being heated. The conflagration had a big start, when discovered.

The factory was owned and operated by Samuel Gokee, who purchased it from the estate of the late A. T. Washburn. It was originally erected by Ralph Connable, about 1880, for fish packing plant and in the early days the trout and whitefish were caught in great quantities in and near Little Traverse Bay and brought there to be frozen, packed and shipped to southern cities. It was at one time the property of the Booth Fisheries Company and was later converted into a rug factory by the late Mr. Washburn. Some years ago, a part of the building was torn down.

Mr. Gokee was working on the second floor of the building and did not notice the fire until the smoke came pouring through the doors. He hurried down stairs to find the rooms filled with flames and smoke.

Rugs belonging to patrons of the factory were pulled from the building and most of them escaped damage. A pile of about twenty rugs, nearly completed, and several rugs still on the looms were burned. Included in the machinery burned were five looms, several looms not set up, sewing machines and other equipment and supplies.

No estimate has been made of the loss on the building and the machinery, although Mr. Gokee has stated that he carried but $1,000 of insurance on the plant and that his loss would exceed that figure by a considerable sum. It is believed that the plant will be rebuilt at once.

This is the fourth of Petoskey's bad fires during the past year. Our neighbor on the north is seemingly having a bad run of luck. It is far from our thoughts to point the finger of criticism, but Charlevoix people surely have cause to rejoice the local fire loss has been kept at such a low figure. This is doubtless due to proper cooperation between property owners and a most excellent fire department.

Body Found in Pine Lake

The body of Charles H. Hayne of Boyne City was discovered Tuesday afternoon, of last week, floating in Pine Lake near the city dock. Evidence showed that he had either a stroke or heart failure and fell into the water. The body was still limp had not died from drowning. Deceased was 74 years of age.

FINE SHOWING IN PIG CLUB

JUDGING OF ANIMALS A FEATURE OF COUNTY FAIR

Exhibit Received Its Share of Attention—Count Agent Hagorman, Tells of Event.

The Charlevoix County Boys' and Girls' Pure-bred Pig Club exhibit at the county fair certainly received its share of attention from the many visitors attending that annual festivity.

Twenty-eight pure-bred Duroc-Jersey gilts, all scrubbed and cleaned extra well for this special occasion were there on full dress parade, each grunting or squealing its approval of the whole affair.

But I suppose you all are anxious to know how the judging came out. Well before we tell you, suppose we remind you of the way they are judged.

Each entry was judged on a three point basis, viz:

- 1—The individuality of the pig.
- 2—The gain in weight.
- 3—The cost per pound gain.

It might appear that the biggest pig did not win first place, but all three things had to be considered and it was the total of the three scores that determined the first prize winner.

Following is the list of prize winners and the prize they won.

- 1—Ernest Spidel, East Jordan. Purebred Boar Pig. $11.00
- 2—Fred Martin, East Jordan. $9.00
- 3—Albert Cunningham, Charlevoix. $7.00
- 4—Mildred Volker, Bay Shore. $6.00
- 5—George Secord, East Jordan. $5.00
- 6—Frances Russel, East Jordan. $4.00
- 7—Esther Preibe, Bay Shore $3.00
- 8—Daniel Reich, East Jordan $3.00
- 9—Milo K. Chew, Bay Shore $2.00
- 10—Raymond Snyder, Charlevoix. $1.00
- 11—John Martin, East Jordan. $1.00
- 12—Kenneth Russel, East Jordan. $1.00

Some folks may think that boys and girls can't grow pigs economically but the result showed that some very good gains were made at a very conservative cost. For instance, in the forty-seven days feeding one pig gained seventy-two pounds at a cost of four and six-tenths cents a pound. The highest gain in weight made was seventy-four pounds, but this was at a cost of about thirteen cents per pound. A pound a day gain on an economical basis is considered to be a good gain, so let's all wish the best of success to Charlevoix county's future pig growers.—Hurrah for the Boys and Girls.

Aged Woman Dies

Mrs. Ann Hardwig, who died in this city on September 18th, was born March 1, 1844, in Ireland, and was 79 1-2 years of age at the time of her death. The remains were laid to rest in the Catholic cemetery here on Thursday, September 20th. She leaves one son here, Joseph H. Hardwig.

SUMMER BADE US SAD GOOD-BYE SUNDAY NIGHT

Summer officially told the earth good-bye at 9:04 Sunday night when the earth reached the autumnal equinox, and ushered in the fall.

Night and day at that point were theoretically equal. From that moment, nights commence to lengthen at the expense of daylight until March 21 next, when conditions are reversed.

Eskimos at the south pole caught their first glimpse of the sun for six months, while their brethren at the north pole saw it pass below the horizon to begin a six months' night.

Certain important changes in the wind circulation of the earth will commence when the equinox is passed, owing to the different inclination of the earth to the sun.

CORRESPONDENCE

NORWOOD
Mrs. Ameridon Stafford is quite ill at this writing.

Hermond Stafford was a visitor in our community Sunday.

Rapheal Stafford is attending the Olivet college this year.

Albert Parsons and family were Sunday visitors in Norwood.

The L. A. S. meet this week, Wednesday, with Mrs. Frank Brown.

John McCall and family and Drusilla Richardson were Sunday visitors at the home of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Richardson.

George Lord, Merrill Richardson and family, motored to Charlevoix Sunday. They were joined there by Colon McKenzie and family and the whole party made an auto trip to Petoskey, Levering and other points returning Sunday evening.

Our summer people have all gone except Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Patterson, who will leave the latter part of this week. Mrs. S. B. Chase went to Evanston, Ill., Mrs. Lawrence Chase to Chicago, where she will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ferguson, for two days, then she will go to her new home in St. Louis, Missouri.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. George Light, died Sunday September 16th, at the home of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Wagner, of Charlevoix. Burial took place Monday in the Norwood cemetery where a large crowd of neighbors and friends gathered to express their sympathy to the sorrowing parents and other relatives.

Charlevoix callers at the H. Pierce home Sunday, were John McCann and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Holmes, and Chas. Raber, wife and daughter, Mildred, and Catherine McCall. When Mr. Raber started for home his little Overland refused to go, so the other members of the family returned to Charlevoix with friends, Mr. Raber remaining over night and after working diligently until three o'clock next day on his car, he got it to go, but decided to have a Ford in the near future.

BAY SHORE.

Ray Dickerhoof of Detroit, is visiting at the home of his parents.

Red Crown

Keeps Your Engine With You

It is never behind your whim. Answer—flexibility and a response so instantaneous as to make the machine seem part of yourself.

Flexibility comes from even vaporization at definite temperatures.

Even vaporization is possible only when there is a perfect chain of boiling point fractions. The chain in Red Crown gasoline is perfect, producing a steady, unbroken flow of power.

Drive Your Own Car?

Then you'll appreciate Red Crown gasoline. You get the joy of perfect performance—instant starting—a snappy get-away—eager acceleration—sustained pulling power—racing speed if you want it—maximum mileage per gallon.

Red Crown is the year 'round gasoline—it performs with equal efficiency winter or summer—it vaporizes to the last drop. It leaves a minimum of carbon and fouled plugs. These are important features in cold weather driving.

REGULARITY

Some folks have an idea that unless they can put away large sums of money at a time, saving is not worth while.

It is regularity of saving that counts.

The amount you deposit each pay is secondary to depositing something.

After you have forced yourself to save regularly for a few months, the idea will become a habit. Habits are easy—even in saving.

EDITORIAL

This story from the Cheboygan Democrat is a home and Democratic estimate of "Herb" Baker, who lives on a farm in Weadock, in that county.

"Our old friend Herb Baker, let us inform the big city space writers and the big city papers, is just now getting his tater digger ready to harvest his spuds and also gettin' ready to get his corn in the shock. After that we promise you that the bear cat of the north country will have something to say about running the country. We notice that the state Anti-Saloon League is trying to claim Herb as one of its brood with a view to grooming him for the race for U. S. senator against Senator Couzens of Detroit. We don't know how Herb feels about it but we believe when the white ribboned delegates wait on him with the promise of the nomination should he enroll under their banner, he ain't goin' to get so enthused that he will lose his sense of humor. It has been our belief that Herb would have copped the plum last year had he not had too many tails tied to his kite. The spectacle of a lot of little whiffenappers appointing themselves to manage his campaign when they are not able themselves to manage their own business, as was the case last year, will never get Herb anywhere. We believe that if he goes before the people next year on his own feet no force in the state can stop him from being elected to the senatorship. Herb is a big man every way. He has a mind of his own and he has the reputation of being able to use that mind without the assistance of any of the little leeches who fasten themselves to every public man. Herb is by far the most able man yet proposed for the senatorship and it should not require the herding of the farmer and the laboring man to get them to support him. If there is a farmer in the state who would not support him it is because of three things, either he has no personal spite, he is tagged by the party or he is ignorant. And that's all there is to it."

THE BILLBOARD REBELLION

Billboard regulation or elimination proceeds steadily. A law just becoming effective in Massachusetts makes it necessary to obtain a community's permission before billboards are erected. If the permission is withheld, then there can be none at all. If it is granted, such signs must still comply with strict regulations as to size and copy.

In Minnesota all highway advertising signs must be removed by December 1. After that date the state authorities will remove any that have remained in defiance of the law.

Kansas, Wisconsin and other western states are making progress in doing away with this particular form of advertising.

Advertising in general is commendable and useful. But the custom of advertising by means of painted fences, painted barns and walls and huge signboards set up along highways and following railroad lines has been carried to annoying excess. Beautiful landscapes have been blotted out by such signs; famous landmarks have been concealed; an attractive outlook for travelers has been wrecked; fire menace in cities has been increased—all by the various forms of highway advertising.

It is not surprising that a public gaining in its enjoyment of outdoor life and appreciation of the beauties of nature has begun to rebel strongly against the billboard and to demand that this nuisance be removed.

AUTUMN

"Season of mists and mellow fruitfulness,

Close bosom-friend of the maturing sun;

Conspiring with him how to load and bless

With fruit the vines that round the thatch-eaves run—

"Where are the songs of Spring? Ay, where are they?

Think not of them, thou hast thy music too."

So wrote one poet. Sang another:

"The melancholy days are come,

The saddest of the year." A third, with a maturity beyond his years, binds the seasons: "If winter comes, shall spring be far behind?"

To parents, autumn is a practical season. For Mother there are school books to buy, fruit to can, children's clothing to be made ready for the long grind; for Father, digging into business after the comparative ease of summer, seeing to the coal, taking down screen doors and looking after metal work, preparing the house to resist winter's storms.

Children, however, are akin to poets. "Oh, Mother, I just love the fall! Driving out into the country smelling the grapes and apples and fallen leaves, and starting to school and playing hide and seek in the dusk!" says Twelve Girl.

"I like, fall, too, but I like summer better," says Eight Girl. "I like to climb the trees and hide when there are leaves on, to play in the water and pick up nice little shells. Oh, how good it feels, the nice warm sunshine on the beach, and going camping and getting acquainted with farms!"

"Humph!" says Six Boy. "What I like is winter. Isn't there ever going to be any snow? So white and soft and shining, and O Boy! Billy and I are going to build our snowhouse up against the garage this year—"

"I think, Mrs. Robinson summer is better as winter," says bright young

Slovak Anna, two years in America.

"In summer there are roses in the yard, and I go park, swim, dance, have good time. In winter I just homesick for my Mother!"

One thought runs underneath all these expressions. Autumn one sums up, compares, thinks about the year as a whole.

A bit of wisdom injected into the stock-taking, and the whole year runs smoother, with more margin of happiness.

JAY WALKERS AND RIDERS

A New York judge decided recently that jaywalkers have a right to jaywalk if they want to, and it is up to the motorists to look out for them. Motor cars, he explained, use the streets only by tolerance, anyway.

This may be, good law, in New York or elsewhere, but anybody may question whether it is good sense or fair play.

According to the usual view, city thoroughfares are apportioned according to the needs of both pedestrians and drivers, the sidewalk being reserved for the former and the street from curb to curb for the latter. Why have sidewalks if the pedestrians are to walk all over the street at their pleasure?

Moreover, it is useful here to break down an artificial distinction. There are no longer any separate classes of pedestrians and automobilists. There is almost one car per family in America today, and there will soon be more than that. Thousands of the people seen walking along the street have cars. They are merely pedestrians when they walk and motorists when they ride. Common sense and fair play both suggest that whichever they are doing, they follow the logical rules of the game.

Street crossings are meant for pedestrians to walk on, as sidewalks are. That is where drivers naturally expect to find them and look out for them. It is unfair and dangerous for them to cross elsewhere on a busy street.

What would they say if automobilists insisted on driving on the sidewalk? That would be worse only in degree, inasmuch as a motor car is more dangerous to a pedestrian than a pedestrian is to a motor car. In principle, surely, the two offenses are alike.

SEASONABLE HINTS

When drying herbs and savories for winter cut the stalk, leaving all the leaves on, put them into preserve jars, leaves down and set the jars into the oven, uncovered.

When dry adjust the rubbers, seal and store them away. Dried in this way celery, parsley, sage, catnip or any other herb keeps well and when wanted may be stripped from the stalk and powdered as fine as needed.

When baking squash wash it without cutting, put into the oven and bake until tender. Cut, remove seeds, mash and season with butter, cream, salt and pepper. All the flavor is thus left in the vegetable and the tiresome work of getting the squash ready is eliminated.

Season mashed potatoes for a change with a teaspoonful of onion juice and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of nutmeg to each quart of well-beaten and seasoned potato.

When making cookies or doughnuts, use sour milk or cream mix them up the night before and set them on ice.

They will roll out with less flour, will be light and keep moist much longer than by the usual method.

After cooking carrots until tender put them through the ricer, season and heat as one does mashed potatoes.

Even those who refuse to like carrots cannot resist them thus prepared. A dash of nutmeg and a bit of lemon juice will add variety of flavor.

When serving toast to a child or an invalid place the egg nicely poached on toast well buttered and cut into cubes without disturbing the shape of the slice. It is much easier handled and eaten. Drop the egg into a muffin ring in the water when poaching, cut the toast the same size and an attractive dish will result.

If the members of the family are fond of grapefruit serve them with an after-dinner mint in the center of each for dessert, provided they like mint.

DODGE BROTHERS TOURING CAR

In city traffic or on the open road, this new touring car impresses you instantly with its exceptional riding comfort.

The seats are deeper and lower. The body has been lengthened to afford more leg-room. Its low-slung design reduces side sway and increases the car's stability at all speeds.

The front springs are wider, and built of more, and thinner leaves; the rear springs—now underslung—have been materially increased in length.

In fact, the comfort of the car is comparable in every way with its good looks and the well known character of its performance.

Buy Your Tires from a Firestone DEALER

At the Latest Prices—The Lowest in History

You will find the Firestone Dealer one of the stable business men of your community. He offers a clean, fresh stock, backed by a well organized service. He wants you as a permanent customer.

That is the reason he sells Firestone tires. He knows and has plenty of proof that they are the best tires on the market. He can give you the greatest value and thereby retain your trade for years.

Every day you find new proof of this unequalled value. On the 18th of this month, Firestone Tires set two new dirt track records at Syracuse when Tommy Milton slid around four turns at every mile and covered the 100 miles in 75 minutes, 33 hundredths seconds. He also established a new world's record for one mile by covering it in 42 and 28 hundredths seconds. The next four cars to finish were also equipped with Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords. Each one of them went the entire race without a stop. This and every other important race this year was won on Firestone Gum-Dipped Cords and Steam-Welded Tubes. Such performance gives you conclusive proof of their strength and durability.

Not only do race drivers use Firestone Tires as protection to their lives and the surest way to victory, but the largest tire buyers in the world insist on and buy Firestone Tires for economy and service. These buyers include the leading car manufacturers, the biggest commercial car operators and the taxicab and motorbus operators. 57,639,714 tire miles were sold to taxicab and motorbus operators in the month of August.

Think this over. You cannot afford to accept anything less than Firestone service and economy. You can buy this service and economy from any of the dealers listed below.

FOREST FIRE PATROL ORGANIZED

FIRE CHIEF SAYS ENOUGH FUNDS ARE PROVIDED

Urges Residents of State to Be More Careful With Fires in Wood and Brush

"You can't control forest fires unless you have men and forest-fire money," said Fire Chief Peterson, of Gaylord, of the department of conservation. "This has been the annual fight. However, this year things have changed. With a legislative appropriation of $225,000 and an additional $21,500 from the federal government, Michigan has ample funds for use during the coming year. An organization is being perfected that should be able to stop to a great extent the tremendous losses incurred yearly through forest fires.

"The late spring and autumn months bring Michigan face to face with her greatest menace from fire," said Fire Chief Peterson, of the department of conservation, "and this season just past was no exception. Dead vegetation thoroughly dried by the early spring sun makes an ideal combination for fire. The careless outer's burning cigar or cigar or the live coals from locomotives strike a responsive chord in the fire demon's heart when they fall upon this combustible material. Fighting fire in the woods is an entirely different matter from fire control in the village or city. There," continued Peterson, "you have water, the greatest enemy of fire. In the woods the shovel and sand must be resorted to. If the residents of this state thoroughly understood what a forest fire really means, the damage it does and the real 'he-man' power it requires to put one out, there would be less carelessness and more 'safety first' in the woods by those who enjoy out of doors pleasures. You can't be too careful, particularly during a dry season, and carelessness fires."

The Pere Marquette Railroad is now on fall schedule over the Grand Rapids division, with two trains, daily, each way out of Charlevoix. The schedule is as follows:

Southbound, 8:45 A. M. 1:45 P. M. Northbound, 10:50 A. M. 3:50 P. M.

The southbound 8:45 goes as far as Traverse City, only, while the 1:45 goes through to Grand Rapids and Chicago, with parlor car from Petoskey, picking up a sleeper at Traverse. The northbound 10:50 comes from Traverse City, while the 3:50 comes through from Grand Rapids, but drops her sleeper at Traverse.

TOURIST HOTEL MANAGERS MET LAST WEEK

Their Problems Are Different From Year-Rounders'

About thirty seasoned hotel managers, ripe in experience and representing the tourist hotels of this region, met, with their wives, at the Cushman house, in Petoskey, on Monday, September, 17th, to discuss

FRAUD WARNING!

House-to-house solicitors are claiming to sell Phoenix hosiery in various sections of the United States. Sometimes they show alleged credentials in which the word "Phoenix" is prominently displayed. Their plan is to secure a dollar deposit, promising that the hosiery will be sent by mail, and the balance collected by the postman. And that is the last their victims ever hear of them. They pocket the dollar and disappear. In a few instances, however, they have delivered some makeshift hosiery, worth about half the price.

These canvassers are outright frauds, for Phoenix hosiery is sold only through retail stores. As Phoenix is a leader in sales everywhere, and is probably the best known line of hosiery in the world, these peddlers are trading upon that reputation to defraud the buying public.

REWARD

United States Post Office inspectors and the Pinkerton National Detective Agency are now searching for these defrauders, and are working on several such cases.

We will pay liberally for information that will lead to the arrest of any of these unauthorized solicitors. If you are approached by any person offering Phoenix hosiery and seeking a deposit of money, please notify a Phoenix dealer, or your city's "Better Business Bureau," or if there is a Pinkerton agency in your city, notify them. Also telegraph us collect.

We issue this warning as a protection to the public, as well as ourselves, that no one may innocently purchase imitations for genuine Phoenix hosiery.

Unscrupulous and fraudulent house-to-house hosiery canvassers are daily mulcting the American public out of thousands of dollars. Beware of them.

PRIZE ESSAY CONTEST IS ANNOUNCED

"Adventures Of The Pioneers" This Year's Subject

The subject of the students' prize essay contest in Michigan history for 1923-1924 will be, "Adventures of the Pioneers."

The contest is open to all students of all schools in Michigan. In former contests the students in small schools have been successful.

The contest will be conducted jointly in each community by the superintendent of schools, the regent of the D. A. R. chapter, the president of the women's club, and the secretary of the civic or business association, or by any one of them, who shall also judge the essays.

First and second prizes will be given in two groups, to students in the grades, in the high school. The local committee will determine the local prize to be awarded.

The judges should forward the prize essays to the Michigan historical commission on or before April 30, 1924, when they will be examined by the state committee. The essays selected by the state committee will be published by the Michigan historical commission.

The essay may be as long as the student desires, but not less than 500 words.

All essays must be typewritten. Pictures illustrating the essays should be included, if possible.

MICHIGAN HAPPENINGS

Michigan pesches are going as far south as Tampa, Fla., as far west as Omaha, Neb., and as far east as Boston, in carload lots, according to a report by the United States department of agriculture. This is a countrywide penetration of approximately 1,000 miles in three directions. "Production for the state this year is forecast at 30 per cent of last season's, or 1,172,000 bushels, compared with 1,440,000 bushels in 1922. Aggregate shipments from Michigan last season were 1,650 cars," says the report.

The state has a cash balance of $26,983,170.98, the monthly report of State Treasurer Frank M. Gorman issued recently, revealed. Remaining in the various funds of the state is $25,497,156.38. Disbursements for the month of August from all the funds amounted to $4,338,126.58. For the year up to September 1, the disbursements totaled $12,051,103.06. The secretary of state's office made the biggest deposit with the state during the month, contributing nearly a million dollars to the cost balance.

Not more than 10 of the surviving members of the famous first regiment Michigan Engineers and Mechanics, were able to attend its 5th annual reunion at the Hotel Pennland, at Grand Rapids.

Deputy Secretary of State Elbert V. Chilson has returned from Chicago where he attended a conference of secretaries of state from all mid-western states held for the purpose of discussing uniform traffic laws.

The Lansing official was named a member of two important committees, being placed on the committee for drafting uniform laws for automobile light regulation, and on the one appointed for uniform automobile signals.

The executive committee of the State Association of Farmers' clubs has decided to hold its thirty-first annual convention in Lansing, December 4 and 5. The committee is composed of Lee Noble, Oxford, president; W. A. Cutler, Grass Lake, vice-president; Mrs. I. R. Johnson, Rushton, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. J. S. Brown, Howell; G. A. Millsbaugh, Oxford; Edgar Burk, St. Johns, and W. J. Brookings, Ovid.

The Michigan Trust company, as receiver for Manistee & Northeastern R. R. Co., asked the interstate commerce commission for authority to abandon its honor branch extending from Platte river, to Empire Junction, a distance of 16 miles. The application stated that the branch served only the village of Honor, which has a population of 150, and was not earning maintenance costs.

Russel Corey, 7-year-old son of Mrs. Bertha Corey, living near Nashville, narrowly escaped death when he fell down a 65-foot well on his mother's farm. He was playing with his brother, when he raised a plank to look down the dark shaft. He slipped and slid in, feet first. There was ten feet of water in the well, and coming to the surface, he grasped the steel pump shaft and climbed to the top.

Illness has been unknown among the 600 men in the prison road camps maintained by the state since their establishment, according to reports to the state health department. Not a single case has developed where a man was unable to work. This condition is said to be due to the rigid health rules maintained by the state department.

Dr. Guy L. Connor, of Detroit, was elected president of the Michigan State Medical society at its 103rd annual conference at Grand Rapids. Dr. Connor has been a member of the house of delegates. In his election, the society broke precedent and elected him unanimously from the floor.

Captain Walter E. Campbell, president and general manager of the Detroit and Windsor Ferry company, and one of the most widely known sailors on the great lakes, died at his home on Peche Island.

Coming in contact with an electric current of 4,600 volts, while adjusting an outdoor radio aerial, Lloyd Kridler, 35 years old of Ferndale, was killed almost instantly.

Leelanau county has been freed of bovine tuberculosis, Dr. A. W. Elbert county agent, announced.

The United States destroyer Chauncey, which piled up with other destroyers off Santa Barbara, California, was christened by Dorothy May Todd, of Grand Rapids, then a girl 15 years old, at the launching five years ago.

Postal receipts, always looked on by government officials as a reliable barometer of general business conditions, showed an increase of 5.86 per cent during August. Detroit showed the largest gain with 17.38 per cent increase.

Gov. Alex Groesbeck and State Highway Commissioner Frank Rogers have tentatively completed plans which call for the construction in 1924 of 500 miles of concrete pavement, it was announced. The State will probably employ prison labor to build from 200 to 300 miles. The rest will be laid by private contractors or by contractors who will hire out their experience and their equipment to the state. Arrangements are being made for the purchase of quantities of equipment for state use, including 15 cement mixers, paving machines and other appliances.

Tuscola county road commissioners have sold $102,000 of road bonds for the building of covered act roads in the county. Bonds amounting to $16,620 remain to be sold to cover the cost of the 1923 building program. This money is being raised for the Almer-Fairgrove townline road; Bradyville road, Dayton, Columbia corners road; the Wille township road reaching to east Dayton. Detroit Trust company and the Gleaners' organization were purchasers of the bonds. Tuscola county receives a premium of $314 on this sale.

Few men can boast of a longer service record, with one company than Philip M. Sullivan, Escanaba, engineer on the Peninsular division of the Northwestern road, who completed his fifty-fourth year of railroad service. Sullivan has seen many changes since he started as a brakeman on the Chicago to Rockford passenger run in 1869. Engineer Sullivan drove the first train equipped air west of the Allegheny mountains, in 1872.

Claim of Representative James A. Richards, of the second Calhoun county district, to continued membership in the state house of representatives will have to be decided by the house members, state officials declared. Representative Richards recently discovered he has never been a citizen of the United States. He came to Michigan many years ago from Canada and believed his father had taken out citizenship papers.

Manistee county was relieved of its timber some time ago, but apparently that does not prevent it from still being a part of the "wilds" for Stanley Axsum, farmer in the Pine Creek neighborhood, is out after his second bear, having just trapped one weighing over 400 pounds. Several of the shaggy conted bruins are said to be roaming the vicinity, which is principally a fishing and hunting resort and pine slashing.

Judge Harry J. Dingemsen, of Detroit, was re-elected presiding circuit judge of Michigan at the thirty-second annual convention of the Association of Judges of Michigan, in session at Lansing. Judge Guy M. Chester, of Hillsdale, was elected president; Judge George Sample, of Ann Arbor, vice-president, and Judge Leland W. Carr, re-elected secretary-treasurer.

Leaders of Michigan in the work with the foreign born will meet at Grand Rapids September 27 and 28 under auspices of the Michigan State Council on Immigrant Education. About 400 representatives are expected from boards of education, boards of commerce and civic committees on Americanization.

Aided by a gift of $3,157 from Gogebic county war chest funds, Roosevelt American Legion Memorial hospital at Battle Creek, will be able to carry on its work through the official gift fund of the institution. Announcement of the gift to the state hospital was made by the business manager, E. H. Welsh.

Phelps Ferris, son of Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, has been relieved of his position as member of the Island State Park commission. Governor Groesbeck announced the appointment of former State Senator Charles A. Sink, of Ann Arbor, as a member of the commission to take the place of young Ferris.

Mrs. Laura Heady, a resident of Oakland county for 20 years, has just celebrated her 101st birthday at Orion. Her sister, Mrs. Cordelia Mulford, who lives with her, was 97 years old in August. They came here from Plum Brook, Mich. Mrs. Heady has been blind for years, but otherwise is in good health.

Mrs. E. J. Mallory, wife of the Albion postmaster, has received a personal letter of appreciation from Mrs. Warren G. Harding, wife of the late president, in reply to a communication of sympathy sent at the time of the Harding memorial services held here August 10.

Satisfactory Remedies to Control Hog Vermin

The following remedies, any of which will prove satisfactory, are suggested by V. L. Starker, chief of animal husbandry, South Carolina A. and M. college, in answer to inquiries from farmers on this subject.

1. Crude Oil Treatment.—This is the most widely used treatment for hog lice. It should be applied to the hogs by pouring it down the back and rubbing it over the entire body, taking pains to see that the head and ears are well covered. One application of crude oil, provided it is thorough, will eliminate hog lice. Of course, in all cases it is necessary to clean up the hog houses and sleeping places and disinfest them with the same preparation.

2. Coal Tar Products.—By laking in ordinary coal tar preparation, you may be able to control hog lice. As in the case of crude oil, the application of this material should be thorough. When a coal tar preparation is used it is necessary to repeat the treatment in ten days, because the lice are killed, but the nits are not.

3. Oil from Garages.—Oil from garages which has been drained from the motors has been used very satisfactorily to control hog lice. However, some of the oil which is obtained from garages has a great deal more kerosene in it than others and when this is the case it sometimes hinders.

Oils are also beneficial in laying out, which is almost as injurious to hogs as lice.

A successful man is one who not only makes up his mind but makes up others' minds.

Famous last words: "I think I can beat 'er across."

FARM LIVE STOCK

Prosperity of Farming Depends on Live Stock

Live stock provides an outlet for three-fifths of the crop acreage in the United States, besides 85,000,000 acres of improved pasture, 150,000,000 acres of unimproved grass land pasture, 175,000,000 acres of woodland pasture, and 500,000,000 acres of grazing land in the arid and semi-arid sections of the West, according to C. W. McCampbell, head of the department of animal husbandry at Kansas State Agricultural college. All told, live stock furnished an outlet for 80 per cent of the total food and feed produced by lands and wild vegetation in the United States.

Live stock, by utilizing advantageously and efficiently the various pasture and forage crops, makes possible a system of crop rotation that adds materially in maintaining soil fertility and controlling plant diseases, insects and weeds.

Live stock provides, in the form of manure, the most reliable and practical fertilizer that can be used to maintain soil fertility. The production of grain takes from the soil large amounts of phosphorus, potash and nitrogen. When grain is sold off the farm where produced these elements of fertility are completely lost, but when grain is fed to live stock 80 per cent of the phosphorus, potash and nitrogen is returned to the soil in the form of manure. Manure also adds to the soil that necessary constituent humus which commercial fertilizers do not.

"The finest man I ever met," will be found to be the one that agreed with you in everything and then complimented your good judgment.

FARM LIVE STOCK

Draft Work Horse Quite Necessary on All Farms

Of recent years horse breeding has gradually been abandoned on many farms, with the natural result of a serious decrease in horse stocks throughout the country. Widespread advertising of farm tractors and trucks, high prices of feed and the belief that cheap horses could readily be obtained from the ranch country, all have had their effect in lessening horse-breeding activity. The automobile has practically driven the light horse off the roads of the country, but everywhere heavy horses, as heretofore, are doing the major part of the work on farms and in the woods, while many of them are still being used for short-haul work in the cities.

The time has come, in our opinion, actively to resume the breeding of heavy draft horses for farm work purposes, says a writer in Successful Farmer. A recent investigation in Illinois showed that not over one brood mare in five has of recent years produced a foal. At that rate it will take over 27 years to replace the horses now in use in that state, and they are fast being retired on account of old age, unsoundness, or other causes. The same thing is true in other great farming states.

Over 20,000,000 horses and mules are still needed for work purposes in America in spite of the competition of farm tractors and trucks, and should some deadly, infectious disease run riot through the country, an instant dearth of work horses will have to be faced. Abandonment of horse breeding is having a like but gradual effect in that direction.

While horse-breeding operations have practically been at a standstill, horses needed to replace those retired for one reason or another have come from the range country of the west, but high freight rates and prevailing low prices have about stopped the source of supply. We now learn that range horses are a drug on the market where they are raised, and are being "unloaded" as quickly as possible. It is even suggested that they should be slaughtered to furnish horse meat for sale in the cities. It is also true that first-class, pure bred draft stallions never were so scarce as at the present time.

Plainly, therefore, it will be necessary again to breed every sound, suitable, individually excellent and efficient brood mare the coming spring, and each of them, so far as possible, should be mated with a high-class, prepotent pure bred stallion. Unless this is done a famine of good work horses is bound to occur before long, and prices in consequence threaten to be prohibitive.

Against the side wall stands the cheese press, where the cheeses take their final form before being stored away to cure. A heavy frame work of wood, sixteen feet in length and waist high, fitted with formidable looking iron ratchet jack affairs, operating by means of long levers, horizontally and lengthwise of the press frame, it resembles nothing so much as those delightful racks or instruments of torture with which our dear old forefathers were accustomed to wring unwilling and shrieking confessions from malefactors or wreak their vengeance on unfortunate enemies by stretching their carcasses. One could almost imagine he heard the bones crack when the ratchets clicked. Nice thoughts to mix up with a homely subject like cheese!

However, we digress. The salted lumps are gathered up from the vat and crammed into what look like dry measures, cylindrical in shape, of different diameters, formed of heavy sheet tin and provided with a circular plate or cover of the same material. These receptacles are called cheese hoops and give the finished cheese its shape in the press. The cover plates are of a slightly smaller diameter than that of the hoop and it is these that take the pressure of the press arm and transmit it evenly to the cheese in the hoop. The hoops used in Tuesday's work were thirteen inches in diameter. Several sizes are in general use, however, to produce the various standard weights of cheeses, of which there are seven; two five pound—the Print and the Favorite or Round; two ten pound cheeses—the Print and Young America; the 12 pound Long Horn; the 20 pound Daisy and the 30 pound Flat.

The filled hoops are placed on the grooved body of the press on their sides. Different sized wooden knobs or protuberances are built in that end of the press opposite the jacks, fitting the openings in the hoops. Against this knob, in the groove that leads to it, is placed the cover plate of the first filled hoop; the second hoop is nested onto the back end of the first, the third on that of the second, the fourth on that of the third and so on, until all of the hoops are in place. Then the pressure is applied until the nest of cheese filled hoops will stand no more and they are left in this fashion overnight until the cheeses are thoroughly set in their final forms. Before filling, each hoop is lined with the thin, porous cloth covering known as cheese bandage, and this is pressed onto the cheese and forms its permanent covering over which a thin coating of paraffin is later spread, protecting the cheese against mould and the effects of atmospheric changes.

When removed from the press, the cheeses in their cloth wrappings are taken out of the hoops and stored on shelves, where they lie curing or ripening for two weeks, being turned twice a day in order to insure that this process will occur evenly, throughout the entire cheese. They are, at the end of the two weeks period, dipped in paraffin and boxed for shipment. Even then, however, they are not ready to leave the factory as it takes a full month for a cheese to ripen so that it is fit for market.

The big press, which is of the continuous pressure type and has a capacity of between six and seven hundred pounds of cheese at a time, depending on the size of the hoops used, was made by Stoelting Brothers, of Kiel, Wisconsin, as is the big metal lined wooden vat in which the cheese is made. All the equipment of the plant represents the very latest type of cheese making appliances and the process will be studied constantly in order to better it if possible. The work is under the able direction of H. C. Jordan of Leaning, a specialist in his line.

Professor McLean, who is connected with the feed department of the Quaker Oats Company, is expected to visit the plant in about three weeks, at which time it is intended to hold a picnic and rally day for the farmers of the region and their families at the Loeb Farms. This affair will be in charge of County Agent B. O. Hagerman, and it is expected that Professor McLean and Mr. Jordan will give talks on the peculiar benefits accruing to the farmer and stock raiser from a centrally located cheese factory; such as the one under discussion. It is also rumored that several fine head of cattle will be put up by the Loeb Farms for sale on the day of the rally.

METHODIST CONFERENCE APPOINTMENTS

Rev. H. R. E. Quant Returns to Charlevoix

The Methodist conference, which closed last week in Grand Rapids, made the following appointments for the Northern Michigan district which will be of interest to our readers.

Bowman; Fife Lake and South Boardman, L. M. Whittemore; Mancelona and Antrim, to be supplied; Old Mission, L. S. Reed; Williamsburg, W. E. Birdsell; Traverse City—Asbury, John Clemens; Central, S. Arthur Cook; Fourteenth Street, Charles Oughlen; Rev. J. H. Rayle, a former pastor at Elk Rapids, goes to Berrien Springs.

SURPRISE PARTY FOR DEPARTING MEMBERS

Royal Neighbors Meet To Say Farewell

The Royal Neighbors held a surprise party at the home of D. J. Eckinger, last evening, in honor of Mrs. Dave Schweitzer, their oracle, and Mrs. A. T. Jeffrey. Both of these ladies are planning to leave shortly for California, and the party was a sort of farewell affair. Mrs. Schweitzer going either the latter part of this week or the first part of next and Mrs. Jeffrey sometime about the first of October.

Ice cream and cake was served and all departed at a late hour, wishing Mesdames Schweitzer and Jeffrey all possible success and happiness in their new home to be.

AT THE MOVIES

"Omar the Tentmaker," a First National attraction starring Guy Bates Post and produced by Richard Walton Tully, its author, which is coming to the Palace Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, is a story of the Persia of old, when that country was conceded to be the center of civilization, the home of romance, luxury and adventure. The central figure is Omar the Tentmaker, whose fame has descended to us and whose Rubaiyat is still classed as a masterpiece of literature and philosophy.

Around this captivating personage Mr. Tully has woven a drama that is irresistible in its appeal to the lovers of tales of the Orient, and Mr. Post gives us a characterization of Omar that has been characterized a histrionic masterpiece.

What is declared to be one of the most picturesque and vivid dramas of the sea ever screened will be shown at the Palace Theatre on Saturday when "Furry," a First National picture starring Richard Barthelmess, begins an engagement of two days.

Mr. Barthelmess has surrounded himself with and excellent cast, the most important roles next to his own being portrayed by Dorothy Gish, Tyrone Power, Pat Hartigan, Barry Macollum and Jessie Arnold.

The popular star has the role of a scared young second mate of a four-masted schooner who loses all of his timidity when he learns of the great injustice that has been done his unfortunate mother. His plans to avenge the wrong upsets the arrangements he had made to elope with a little London waitress and lead to a most dramatic denouement at sea—and an unexpected happy ending.

The production, much of which was filmed on the Atlantic Ocean, was made under the direction of Henry King.

ELLSWORTH LOCALS

Sheriff Kettle was an Ellsworth visitor on Tuesday of this week.

Several from here attended the fair at Traverse City last week.

Miles Klooster of Charlevoix was in town on Tuesday of this week.

Rev. H. K. Bente of the Reformed church preached at the M. E. church last Sunday night.

Herbert Van Eeninaam of Zeeland, Mich., was in town on business one day last week.

George Lord recently purchased a New Superior touring car from the Ellsworth garage.

L. L. Kinner of Delmar, Iowa, was the guest of his sister Mrs. W. A. Boss a couple of days last week.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Klooster on September 24th a daughter.

Mrs. Benj. Madill has returned to Ann Arbor after a two weeks visit with her daughter Mrs. Frank Russel here.

The Misses Fairfield, Hall, Snyder and Anniser of Petoskey were over Sunday guests of Miss Helen Boss at her home here.

John Timmer has resigned as manager of the Co-operative warehouse at Phelps and will take charge of the books at the warehouse here on or about October 10th.

The new Autumn and Winter train schedule went into effect here on Monday of this week and trains now are due here as follows: North at 10:24 A. M. and 3:15 P. M. and South at 8:37 A. M. and 2:11 P. M.

Elzinga Bros. have secured the agency for Oakland cars and will handle them as well as Chevrolets according to announcements made by them this week. Recent changes made in the Oakland make them one of the best six cylinder machines on the market. Mr. Elzinga expects to have a machine here for demonstration purposes within the next ten days.

Burglars entered both the farmers' warehouse and the Libby McNeil and Libby salting station here some time Sunday night, securing less than a dollar in cash, a little candy etc., at the warehouse and about fifty cents in stamps at the salting station.

Entrance to the warehouse was made by breaking one of the south windows and the money which was mostly in pennies was taken from the till, no effort apparently being made to open the safe. More damage was done at the salting station, however, as in addition to the stamps taken a quantity of oil was poured into a barrel of vinegar which of course was ruined and a number of reports which had been made up ready for mailing by manager Speyers were either taken or destroyed.

The depredations were no doubt the work of kids, several of whom are already under suspicion and will no doubt be placed under arrest some time this week.

ATWOOD

AID THE KIDNEYS

Do Not Endanger Life When a Charlevoix Citizen Shows You the Way to Avoid It.

Why will people continue to suffer the agonies of kidney complaint, backache, urinary disorders, lameness, headaches, languor, why allow themselves to become chronic invalids, when a tested remedy is offered them?

Doan's Kidney Pills have been used in kidney trouble over 50 years, have been tested in thousands of cases.

If you have any, even one, of the symptoms of kidney diseases, act now. Dropsy or Bright's disease may set in and make neglect dangerous. Read this Charlevoix testimony:

John McCall, 110 E. Upright Ave., Charlevoix says: "My kidneys were weak and irregular in action and were sore as could be. Dizzy spells bothered me and I would often have to grasp something to keep from falling. I used Doan's Kidney Pills and they completely and permanently cured me of the trouble."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. McCall had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

FIRE VISITED COURIER OFFICE

ALARM TURNED IN SUNDAY AT ONE THIRTY P. M.

Beyond Slight Damage to Building,
There Was Little Loss, Fully Insured.

If your copy of the Courier, gentle readers, smells a little smoky this week, do not open it with the expectation of finding a red-hot editorial or a flaming scandal. We just had a little fire here, last Sunday—that's all.

At half past one, or thereabouts, Barney Harrington, returning from a visit to the post office, happened, in passing the Courier building, to reach up and touch the ivy that grows about the windows in its south wall, being a lover of growing things and particularly interested in the fine growth of ivy that adorns nur-

He noticed with surprise that the leaves were warm, although they were not in a location where the rays of the sun would have rested upon them for many hours. Reaching a little farther in, he touched the glass of the window pane next to the ivy and found it hot. Now thoroughly alarmed, Mr. Harrington, peering through the windows found the rooms filled with smoke and promptly turned in the alarm.

The fire department, under the leadership of Charles Marshall, as promptly responded, Marshall did not dare to make entrance through a window, on account of the difficulty of escaping through the dense smoke that filled the building and the danger of creating a draft that would fan the flames. So the firemen kicked in the corner door of the building, and, groping their way through smoke, found the fire located in the door and casing leading from the press room to the composing room.

This door is always kept fastened open and back of it stood a large packing box, used for waste paper and rubbish. This was completely destroyed and the door and casing were burning when the firemen reached the pot. Directly above the door and the box, a hole was burned through the plaster and lath of the ceiling.

Excellent judgment was used in extinguishing the fire. A couple of minutes' use of water in the building would have done more harm than the fire promised to. As it was, barring badly smoked walls and warped ceiling in the press room, the demolished door and casing and a thin film of easily removed chemical from the fire apparatus, on parts of the machinery, there was little or no damage. None of the paper stock in the cupboards was even smudged and an hour or two of sweeping and scrubbing served to restore things to their normal appearance.

Upstairs, in the Christian Science hall, a gaping hole in the floor at the top of the stairway was the only evidence of damage.

Both building and stock were amply covered by insurance. The loss to the former would total, perhaps, two or three hundred dollars. Beyond that the damage is negligible.

How the fire started remains a mystery. It was at first thought that electric light wires in the flooring of the Christian Science hall were responsible, but electricians claim that this is improbable. No one, so far as is known, was in the lower part of the building between the hours of eleven thirty, Sunday morning, and

MISSAUKEE CUTS DEER HUNTING

At a special meeting held in the Missaukee county courthouse attended by representatives of the state department of conservation and leading sportsmen of that section it was unanimously decided to close Missaukee county to deer hunters for a period of five years, and the department has issued orders to that effect.

It is believed that inasmuch as the ruling applies to that county only and not to adjoining counties it will make this a good harboring place for these animals and result in rapid increase in the number of deer in that section during the next five years. The sparsely settled sections of Missaukee county will make ideal feeding grounds for the animals.

BAN SHOOTING OF FOX-SQUIRRELS

Practice Prohibited By Two City Ordinances.

It has been brought to the attention of the mayor and city council that certain boys in this city have been shooting the fox squirrels in the park again.

The mayor wishes to repeat his former warning that this practice is strictly against two of the city ordinances; one forbidding the shooting or trapping of fox-squirrels within the city limits and the other, prohibiting the use of firearms within the city limits in target practicing or hunting.

If the boys, some of whom are known to the authorities, persist in violating these ordinances they will be prosecuted and an example made of their cases that will effectively deter other possible violators. A word to the wise is sufficient. Of course, you can't tell a fool anything.

CHEBOYGAN BOY IN FRENCH JAIL

HAS SPENT YEAR IN SOLITARY CONFINEMENT

Jail Sentence Follows Shattered War Romance—Efforts Made Towards His Release.

John Louis Ayotte of Cheboygan, Mich., is confined in a French prison, where he has spent a year in solitary confinement as the result of strange vicissitudes that followed a shattered war romance.

Ayotte was a doughboy in the American army when he met and married a French girl. At the close of the war he returned to the United States bringing his bride with him but she longed for her native land and returned to live with her father.

The young husband tried to forget but found it impossible and followed his wife to France.

He found her and induced her to return with him to America but the father interfered and after a quarrel, drove the American from the house.

Being without funds Ayotte slept in the barn that night and claims that he accidentally set fire to the building while smoking a cigarette.

The father had the boy arrested, charging that the barn was fired for revenge.

Ayotte was brought before the local court, and, knowing very little French, was speedily convicted and sentenced to five years imprisonment in solitary confinement.

It was several months before Americans in Paris heard of his plight. Since then all possible strings have been pulled to secure his release and Myron T. Herrick, ambassador to France, will appeal to President Millerand to release John Louis Ayotte.

He has had but one visitor during the year of his imprisonment. Miss Marjorie Hanson, head of the American Aid Society, was permitted to talk with him during her visit to Melun prison. "The boy is in a sorry plight," Miss Hanson told the United Press. "I was the first person allowed to see him in a year. He was not allowed to receive mail or to accept the presents sent through me by his family in Cheboygan. I was allowed to leave him only an algebra book they had sent."

He is watched day and night by six gendarmes and was heavily guarded during my talk with him. I was not allowed to go near him and an interpreter listened to our conversation and reported to the warden. His food is very poor and he was elated when I told him that Ambassador Herrick will appeal to President Millerand in his behalf. Despite his suffering he is bearing up bravely and I believe he is innocent.

BELVEDERE PAVING IS COMPLETED

FINE JOB AND A CREDIT TO A BEAUTIFUL CITY.

Will Not Be Open To Traffic, However, Until October 24—Three Weeks More

The Belvedere pavement, recently completed, is as fine a piece of concrete as we have anywhere in the city, if not the best.

Operations commenced the last week in August, but the work of actual paving did not start until September 7th. From this time on, only fourteen working days were available out of the period which closed October 26th, when the last shovelful of cement was spread.

About five thousand square yards of concrete were used in the construction of this piece of road, which extends from the west side of Alice street to the east side of Bridge street, thirty feet wide from curb to curb, terminating at the latter point in a wide, plaza like, entrance onto the main artery of traffic. This concrete is of the mixture known as 1 to 5 1-2, or, to be more specific, one part concrete, two parts of sand and three and a half parts of gravel. It is not reinforced, but has a uniform thickness of seven inches. Five thousand, eight hundred and fifty-two sacks of cement were used to make the proper mixture. There are expansion joints set in intervals of fifty feet apart for the entire length of the pavement.

Ample provision has been made for carrying off rain water, in fact, this stretch of street is the only pavement in town possessing a real, storm-water drainage system. There are eleven man-holes and catch-basins, carrying water through separate storm sewers into Round Lake.

The survey for this paving and the laying of the lines was performed by City Engineer E. A. Robinson of Boyne City, who is also county surveyor and city engineer of Charlevoix. The Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Co. had the contract for the paving job and George Lusk, the very fine job of curb and gutter. In the neighborhood of 15 men were employed in the work, under the direct supervision of state inspector H. A. Preston and R. F. Sloan of the Engineering Co.

This piece of pavement will not be open to traffic until October 24—three weeks from this date. This wait is necessary in order to allow the pavement to thoroughly cure before subjecting it to heavy traffic. We cannot permit this occasion to pass without voicing our feeling that the Charlevoix Summer Home Association, at whose gates this improvement practically stops, should now take up the work and complete this fine stretch of avenue, at least across the front of the Belvedere Hotel—say, as far as the Belvedere station, although, we believe that in time Belvedere avenue will be but a section in a splendid Charlevoix-East Jordan highway that will be the pride of the country and the joy of the tourist.

And in continuing this improvement, we would respectfully recommend that they modify the hair-trigger curve at the foot of the hill, just in front of the casino, which is one of the most difficult and dangerous places to manipulate a car in town (especially at night). Coming from the south one has the choice of accelerating to make the grade and trusting to high Heaven and his lucky star to save him from hidden dangers that may be approaching behind the thick hedge that flanks the roadway at this point, or proceeding with great caution and going into low gear to make the sharp turn and the steep hill. It is almost as bad going the other direction.

TRUCK SMASHES INTO OIL PUMP

ACCIDENT OCCURRED CORNER
ANTRIM AND STATE

Touring Car Tries To Pass Between Two Trucks And Falls To Make The Grade

An accident of the expensive kind, without fatalities, occurred last Friday afternoon, between two and three o'clock, when a touring car, driven by J. M. Saunders of this city, collided with a truck, owned by Garfield Madison, road contractor, and driven by Joe Newberry. The account that follows is that of an eye witness.

The truck that figured in the collision was proceeding west on Antrim street, loaded with cement, and was following at a distance of about fifty feet, another truck, similarly loaded. The first truck safely passed the intersection of State and Antrim and came to a stop at a point near the curb between the courthouse and the jail. Saunders was driving south on State street, planning to make the hill. Instead of waiting for the second truck to pass, he kept on, attempting to dodge between the trucks. His speed, however, was not sufficient to prevent the inevitable collision. The left front wheel of the truck struck the left rear wheel of the touring car, when both vehicles were at a point about twenty-five feet west of the dummy policeman, the shock tearing off the truck tire and smashing the wheel of the touring car.

The loss of the tire and the almost simultaneous breaking of the truck's steering gear caused the big, heavily loaded vehicle to swerve to the left, crossing the street and mounting the foot-high concrete base of the oil pump in front of Henry Block's garage, completely demolishing the pump and grinding away a part of the heavy concrete base on which it stood.

The entire front end of the truck was stove in by the collision; radiator smashed and axle and steering wheel broken. Fortunately, both drivers escaped injury, a miraculous thing, considering the weight of the truck and the tremendous force of the impact.

Both the trucks were proceeding at a reasonable speed and according to the chief of police and the sheriff, had the right of way over the Saunders car.

It might be pointed out, as it has often been privately observed by the many who have driven around and across it, that this is a particularly bad corner on account of the irregular junction of State Street with the dummy policeman, which is so far to the west, and the presence of the hill, which is steep and tempts the driver who intends to climb it to accelerate even before he has crossed Antrim street. Sometime, someone is going to be killed on this corner and then, perhaps, something will be done about it. Why not do it now, and save a human life or two?

Possibly, the grassed parking that divides State street into two narrow alleys at this point might be cut back a few feet and give the southbound driver a little leeway. At any rate, the dummy policeman might be moved eastward a little and permit westbound drivers on Antrim street, who intend to climb the hill, to make the turn without tying their cars into a double bow-knot, as at present. Any difficulty in handling a car makes for danger and both danger and difficulty are what we want to get away from as far as possible.

DICKENS CLUB OP- ENS THEIR SEASON

Attractive Social Affair At Herschel

W. R. C. MEETS IN WOLVERINE, 1924

Mrs. Adaline Bellinger of This City
Chosen Junior Vice President

The twelfth district convention of the Women's Relief Corps of Michigan for 1924 will be held at Wolverine, Mich., according to the decision of the 1923 convention delegates in session in Petoskey Wednesday, September 26. The election of officers and the selection of the place of holding the next meeting were important acts of the closing day of this year's convention. There were about 75 women in attendance from the fourteen corps in the district. Mrs. Leota Powers, of Harbor Springs, was elected president.

The full list of officers named follows: Mrs. Leota Powers, of Harbor Springs, president; Mrs. Lizzie McKillop, of Wolverine, senior vice president; Mrs. Adaline Bellinger, of Charlevoix, junior vice president; Mrs. Fannie Zerwekh, of East Jordan, chaplain; Mrs. Ella Montgomery of Petoskey, treasurer; Mrs. Susan M. Beebe, of Harbor Springs, secretary, and Mrs. Helen V. Nowland, of Charlevoix, patriotic instructor.

FAULKNER'S NEW PLACE IS FINE

EVERYTHING UP-TO-DATE AND SHIP-SHAPE THROUGHOUT

Proprietor Delighted With Success
Of His Quick-Lunch Restaurant
So Far

Ray W. Faulkner, formerly of the local post office staff, is congratulating himself this week on the excellent success of his new business venture the quick lunch restaurant which opened to the public a week ago Monday and which has panned out even better than Mr. Faulkner had anticipated.

But—there's a reason, as a certain famous breakfast-food manufacturer once said. In the first place, the little "eat shop" is spotlessly clean from stem to stern, or, to put it more fittingly, from front window to kitchen door. Then, the handsome hard maple counter and back-bar, polished and varnished to almost face reflecting brightness, with their attractive deep rose wood colored underbodies, the spick and span linoleum which covers the floor and the comfortable, up-to-date seating arrangements add to the appeal of the place for its patrons.

Although the little restaurant occupies but a ten by thirty-five foot space in the Powers Building, there is seating capacity for fourteen people, including the little four-square table, designed for parties, which stands at the front end of the counter. All the equipment is of the very latest and most efficient type, and includes an electric coffee urn, electric toaster, automatic bread cutter and combination milk, cream and water cooling and dispensing urn, and for the kitchen, a fine large range, built in icebox, sink and dish drain and ample cupboards for food storage.

Mrs. Pearl Scott, of Hayes Township, and Mrs. Goldie Pant, of Charlevoix, divide the cooking job between them; in shifts, and produce a quality of "eats" quite in keeping with the impression presented to the eye by the other features of the place.

Mr. Faulkner has every reason to be satisfied with his little enterprise and the Courier, for one, wishes him all kinds of success.

POSTUM CEREAL CO. TEAM TO PLAY E. J.

This Outfit Once Played the Chicago
White Sox.

The famous "Postum Cereals," winning baseball team of the big Battle Creek institution, whose products are familiar to the housewives of a continent, will meet the East Jordan league team in three games at East Jordan, on Friday and Saturday, October 5th and 6th, at 3:00 p. m., standard time, and Sunday, October 7th, at 2:30 p. m.

The Postum team is the only independent team in Michigan playing against a league team this year. They at one time played the Chicago White Sox. So you see, fans, these game promise to be well worth going to see, as they will not play anywhere but East Jordan and on the dates above named.

ROE APPEALS TO FOOTBALL FANS

ALSO, THE GENERAL PUBLIC FOR REAL SUPPORT

Charlevoixians Should Show Their Interest In a Practical Way—
Buy Tickets

Cleveland Roe, business manager of the Charlevoix High School Athletic Association, has issued the following appeal through the columns of the city's newspapers. "We believe that his arguments in favor of general public support of the football team in their work this fall are reasonable and right and would add our moral influence, such as it is, to inducing the people of Charlevoix to 'get out and get under' their school's team in a practical way and help to make it a winner."

Mr. Roe's remarks are as follows: "We have twenty-two men out for foot ball this fall. Each one is devoting his valuable time and energy three hours each evening, except Saturday and Sunday, in a sincere attempt to make it possible for Charlevoix to have a successful football squad this season."

Each one of these men have been equipped with headgear, shoulder-pads, socks, pants and sweaters by the school. M. F. H. Austin and C. E. Altenburg are utilizing their time and energy each night that school is in session; honestly and earnestly endeavoring to turn out for Charlevoix a creditable team.

The athletic manager has secured the sale of 135 foot ball season tickets to the student body in high school and has also sold to each teacher of the faculty an adult ticket for $1.25 each. The directors of the athletic association have arranged a very satisfactory foot ball schedule, which required a great deal of time and careful planning. The schedule, is not complete, as yet but there will be a completed schedule in the next issue of this paper.

Mr. Blakeslee is busy at this time, organizing a yelling team and cleaning material for our pep meetings. Everything looks as it never has before. We are doing all we can do in the very best way we know how. We cannot run our team alone. We want the public to know that we are depending upon it to be loyal to its school.

If our boys and girls see fit to buy a foot ball ticket, which will buy you five good games, if Mr. Austin and Mr. Altenburg are willing to render their very best coaching, both before dark on the football field and in the classroom after supper, with no extra pay, and buy a season ticket besides and extend the use of their automobiles without pay, along with other car services donated, if we plan a careful and satisfactory schedule and uphold clean sport and give everyone a chance and give them our advice and care, if we provide vocal music and pep at the game and competent officials, why should the merchants, professional men, laborers, etc. refuse to buy one of our adult season tickets for $1.25? We are coming around to sell you one and if you do not, down in your heart, think that our games and the effort and sacrifice that make them possible are worth 25c per game, we do not want you to buy a ticket.

WIFE'S LATE HOURS FREE HER HUSBAND

A husband is not "disorderly" in the legal meaning of the term when he keeps a list of his wife's goings out and the comings in, if the list shows anything like this:

Sept. 10, 11:20 p. m.
Sept. 11, 7:15 p. m.
Sept. 12, 12:30 p. m.
Sept. 13, 2:14 a. m.
Sept. 14, 12:18 a. m.
Sept. 15, 9:31 a. m.
Sept. 17, 11:46 p. m.

Otto J. Walter of Chicago brought before Judge Morgan on his wife's charge of disorderly conduct, presented the court a leaf from his diary showing the above notations. "That is the time she got home each night that week," he said. "Other weeks are like that one." "How about it?" The judge looked at Mrs. Walter. "I go out to get away from him." "Discharged."

DAIRY FACTS

New World's Record for Butterfat Production

A new world's record for production of butterfat in one year over all breeds has been established by a Holstein cow owned by Raymond H. H. farm at Vaudroull, Quebec. Dekol Plus Segs Dixie freshening at the age of nine years and three months, and weighing 1,650 pounds, produced 33,464.7 pounds of milk containing 1,349.35 pounds of butterfat in 365 consecutive days. This amount of butterfat is equal to 1,686.63 pounds of butter. This production surpasses the former world record held by another Canadian Holstein cow by 5 pounds of butter.

Because of her previous high records of production, "Dixie" was placed on strictly official test, supervised by both the Holstein-Friesian Association of America and the Dominion department of agriculture of Canada, which supervises record of performance tests for all breeds of dairy cattle in Canada.

The new champion was fed a grain ration consisting of equal parts of bran, hominy, dried distillers' grains, gluten meal, oil cake and cracked oats. To 100 pounds of this mixture was added one pound of salt, one pound of charcoal and one-fourth pound of bone meal. She was fed at the rate of one pound of grain mixture to each four pounds of milk produced. Her roughage consisted mainly of mixed hay and some corn silage and beets. All of last summer she was let out to pasture two hours a day.

A four-year-old son of the new champion recently sold at public auction for $4,100 at the National Holstein sale.

Production of Fat Is Affected by Age of Cow

Fat production by the average dairy cow increases till she has passed her seventh year, reaches its peak before the end of her eighth year and then gradually declines. This fundamental truth in farming science was discovered recently by C. W. Turner, a teacher in the dairy department of the Missouri College of Agriculture.

This conclusion was reached only after Turner had worked out the relation between the age and the yearly fat production of more than 46,000 dairy cows. The data included all the yearly fat records available of pure bred dairy cows in the United States. This is the first time an intensive compilation of this sort has been carried out.

The value of this information lies in knowing what production may be expected of a cow at a certain age. For example, if a farmer knows the present production of a two-year-old cow and wishes to estimate what she will be worth to him in five years, he will have an authoritative table which he may consult.

A yearling produces 64.6 per cent compared to a cow at maturity; a two-year-old, 73.6 per cent; a three-year-old, 84 per cent; a four-year-old, 90 per cent; a five-year-old, 95 per cent, and a six-year-old, 99 per cent. After seven years the decline in production is gradual.

Of the total number of records examined, 13,723 were Jersey cows; 13,559 Guernseys; 12,604 Holsteins; 5,162 Ayrshires, and 1,014 Milking Shorthorns.

Increase of Butterfat Is Not Made by Feeding

According to experimental work that has been done, the percentage of fat in milk cannot be increased by feeding. The milk of each individual cow seems to have a fixed composition that is natural to her. True, the richness of the milk may be increased or decreased for a short time if the cow's digestive system is disturbed by sickness or improper feeding, but will return to the normal test in a short time. The quantity of milk may easily vary with feeding, consequently the total pounds of butterfat would be increased without a variation in the test. By having a cow in high flesh at the time of freshening, the test may be raised for a time, the supposition being that the body fat is drawn upon, but it only lasts for a short time, when the test returns to the point peculiar to the individual.

Pointers for Selection of Improved Dairy Cow

One or two signs tell a good cow. In a poor cow the thigh runs down straight, so there is no place between the thigh and the udder on one side and the tail on the other. There should be plenty of daylight between the udder and the tail. One of the best ways to tell what kind of a cow you have is by her temperament. A good dairy type has a sharp spine, and sharp hip bones. A good cow has a large wedge-shaped stomach.

The True Blue Oakland has a Brand New Engine

THESE exclusive engine features make the 1924 Oakland the finest of light-sixes and justify the continuance of Oakland's 15,000 mile guarantee and the mileage basis gauge of value.

1. Head engine with Ricardo-type combustion chamber insuring great power at all speeds.
2. New type intake manifold and Stromberg carburetor of latest design. Impossible to place this carburetor out of adjustment.
3. Full automatic spark control, timing the spark to give maximum power at all speeds.
4. Larger and heavier crankshaft with larger bearing surfaces; new and more rigid crankcase of a type found only on higher priced cars.
5. Special patented bronze-backed bearings—insuring at least 40,000 miles without adjustment.
6. Larger valves of highest grade special alloy steel—insuring 15,000 miles without grinding.
7. Cylinder walls honed to the smoothness of glass. Pistons, rings, piston pins, and connecting rods like those used heretofore in Liberty motors and expensive cars.

See many other exclusive features at our special showing all week of the True Blue Oakland. Test the four-wheel brakes—admire the new Fisher bodies. Note the new lower prices. Make your own comparisons.

REGULARITY

Some folks have an idea that unless they can put away large sums of money at a time, saving is not worth while.

It is regularity of saving that counts.

The amount you deposit each pay is secondary to depositing something.

After you have forced yourself to save regularly for a few months, the idea will become a habit. Habits are easy—even in saving.

WHAT'S DOING AT SPRINGFIELD

TEST ROADS OF VARIOUS KINDS BEING BUILT

"Uncle" Geo. H. Van Pelt Keeps Up Long Fight For Permanent Concrete Roads

Not many people are aware that anything is happening at Springfield Ill. But there is one very important thing going on there night and day which the newspapers in this part of the country have unfortunately, not given the publicity that it deserves. In future years the importance of this subject will be more appreciated, and we taxpayers will regret that it was not called to our attention sooner. But as an ounce of prevention is far better than a pound of cure, I will again tell you something about it now, although I have previously made mention of it.

Because the state of Illinois was going to build 5,000 miles of highway and wishing to know which of the roads in use today is the best, they conceived the idea of building a test road of the many different kinds of roads that are now being built or used throughout the United States. This they did and called it the "Bates Experimental Test Road." This road was made up of 63 different sections of pavement (22 of brick, 17 of asphalt and 24 of concrete) each 150 ft. in length and they were tested by actual truck traffic. These sections were all given the same test, being a continuous line of heavy army trucks, starting with the bare chassis and adding additional weights from time to time until the maximum legal load 16 tons load and truck combined allowed by the State of Illinois was reached. This as you see is the hardest test that can be given any road. On the completion of this test, the State of Illinois Highway Department gives out the following report: Of the 63 sections tested, 4 1-2 per cent of the brick, 17 and two-thirds per cent of the asphalt, and 41 and two-thirds per cent of the concrete sections successfully sustained all the imposed traffic. Thus, you see that concrete sustains twice as much as all the others combined.

Now why should not the State of Michigan take advantage of this experimental test like the State of Illinois. Charlevoix County should be willing to profit by the bitter lesson it had in building a million dollars worth of Gravel and Soft Stuff roads which we all know are next to worthless. We do not have to go to Springfield in order to see the advantage of concrete road, because we have concrete roads in each one of our 3 cities which have already stood the test of 13 years with the expense of upkeep not exceeding $1 per mile, and that for filling the cracks with soft stuff, and that about all the soft stuff is good for anyway. But nevertheless it might not be a bad idea to go.

No part of our county needs good permanent roads more than does the East Jordan section. Surely a good 20 ft. wide concrete road all around Pine Lake would bring people there and the beauty spots around East Jordan would soon be occupied by fine buildings and beautiful grounds. In order that you may more plainly see the mistake Charlevoix Co., has made in building so many miles of Gravel or Gravel and Soft Stuff roads, which as everybody knows have to be built over month after month and year after year. I here submit a portion of the report as given by the Bates Test Road News Bulletin No. 7, of Nov. 10, 1922. The report is as follows:—

1. Bituminous Filled Brick on a Macadam Base.—The different thickness of the base has no appreciable effect on the wearing qualities of the brick.

2. Asphaltic traffic carrying capacity increases with an increase of thickness of asphalt top, though the evidence supporting this point is not conclusive.

3. Asphaltic Concrete on a Concrete Base.—It is only partially borne out that an asphalt top of 1 inch will not bear the same load as an extra thickness of solid Concrete would.

4. Bituminous Filled Brick on Concrete Base.—The old idea that Bituminous filled brick surface on a concrete base has a strength equal to n concrete slab was incorrect.

5. Monolithic Brick.—It was clearly evident that the strength of a so-called monolithic brick section was less than a concrete section of the same thickness.

6. Portland Cement Concrete.—Plain concrete of the same thickness has greater strength than when mixed with special cements or other chemicals. Sections having transverse and longitudinal joints with marginal steel showed greater strength than plain concrete sections of the same thickness. In the plain concrete sections, the strength of the concrete is proportional to the thickness of the road.

I fully recognize the fact that letters sent out broadcast in the interest of permanent roads frequently fall on barren ground. But never the less when I find work to do, it has always been my plan to do it.

Yours truly,

"Uncle" George H. Van Pelt.

P. S.—Let's make this slogan for Charlevoix County:—"A 20 ft. wide reinforced concrete road all around Pine Lake in the next 10 years."

The doctors are discovering new anesthetics, but none has so far been found that will keep the patient from feeling the bill.

DAIRY HINTS

Suitable Age of Dairy Heifer for First Calf

The proper age of heifers for first calving is always a fruitful source of discussion among dairymen. One group points to the necessity of proper physical development before the cow begins on its very arduous task of yielding milk through ten months or more of the year. The other side holds that late calving gives the heifer qualities in the cow time to develop and encourages a tendency toward coarseness in the dairy animal.

In the terms of ordinary dairymen, the question turns on which system, in the long run, makes the most money. Does the production of the mature cow make up for the extra feed put into her during the non-lactating period? Does the added year or two of production in early life of the early calver balance the possible loss in stullity and in long-time average production?

An experiment that has been conducted at the Connecticut experiment station throws an interesting light on this question. Ten cows were included in the experiment. Five calved at the average rate of two years and one and four-tenths months. The other five averaged three years and one month at calving time.

In the first lactation period, the late calvers produced at nearly double the rate of the early calvers. During the second lactation period the late calvers made a record 60 per cent greater than the early calvers. In the third period the early calvers made about the same record as the late calvers.

One interesting point about the results is that it was not until they reached the third lactation period that the early calvers made as good a record as the late calvers made in their first lactation period. The late calvers, aged three years and one month at the time of freshening, made 13,128 pounds of milk and 443 pounds of fat in their first period. The early calvers, aged four years, nine and one-half months at the third freshening, averaged 13,552 pounds of milk and 497 pounds of fat.

All the cows in this test were of the same general breeding and all received the same care. The numbers involved are too small and the time covered too short to warrant any positive conclusion. It does seem, however, that late calving has sound ground for being considered good commercial dairy practice.

Find Relative Value of Different Dairy Feeds

Feed stuffs as a rule are divided into concentrates and roughages, says the dairy department, North Dakota Agricultural college, in discussing the relative value of different dairy feeds. The concentrates are grains and factory by-products, oats, corn, barley, oil meal, which contain little crude fiber and are highly digestible. The roughages are bulky material like hay and silage and contain considerable fiber.

Corn is valuable chiefly on account of its carbohydrates; although it contains about 10 per cent of protein, other sources of this material usually are cheaper. It is deficient in mineral matter. It should not be fed alone to the dairy cow as the only concentrate; however, it is an excellent dairy feed in combination with other feeds. Corn and cob meal is valuable in the dairy ration because it supplies bulk and allows more thorough digestion of the grain.

Oats contain one pound of protein to six of carbohydrates, which in itself is a balanced grain ration. No grain is better for milk producing cows or cows about to freshen. It is for supplying the unborn calf with nutrients for growth. It should be ground if it can be done on the farm.

Wheat compares in feeding value with corn, but is little fed because of its price.

Wheat bran is high in protein, ash and carbohydrates, but its market price usually prohibits its use. It has a good effect upon the system, but it is advisable to feed it only to cows before and after freshening, and young growing stock. Middlings are not palatable or easily digestible.

Barley can be used to supplement corn and should be rolled, or preferably ground.

Heavy Grain Feeding Is Not Always Profitable

Heavy grain feeding may make a better showing on a milk sheet, but not in the net profits, except with those dairy farmers who live near desirable markets where they can sell their hay and dairy products for extremely high prices. If the roughage is tough and fibrous the proportion of concentrates must be larger.

Efficiency in Use of Food Makes Good Cows

It is the cow that gives the milk that makes the money, and naturally the more milk she gives, the more money she makes. Efficiency in the use of her food is what makes a cow a good one; lack of efficiency is characteristic of a scrub. Feeding corn or other feed to scrubs is just as wasteful as burning fuel in a poor stove, because it could be used to a far better purpose by good cows.

ALL LIQUOR DANGEROUS

One man in 100 who buys illicit liquor in the United States today gets genuine unpoisoned and unadulterated liquor. This fact is shown by analysis of 80,000 samples seized in all parts of the United States during the last year and made up of all the kinds of liquor illicitly sold in this country. A statement recently made by the United States prohibition director shows that the man who puts his trust in a bootlegger very often drinks with death. The end may be sudden and violent, or, on the other hand, it may come slowly as the result of cumulative poisons, and often is attributed to diseases which these poisons induce.

There are, according to Commissioner Haynes, four sources of supply for bootleg liquor. They are "moonshine" liquor, redistilled denatured alcohol, smuggled goods, and liquor illegally withdrawn from bonded warehouses and diverted to leverage purposes. Each class has its own peculiar dangers. "Moonshine" is poisonous, first, because it is new liquor containing all the poisons that would be eliminated by proper aging. It is vile because it is distilled under conditions that make it, in most instances, unspeakably filthy. Redistilled denatured alcohol is poisonous because it is impossible to remove the denaturants by any means at the command of the illicit distiller. Smuggled liquor and liquor diverted from bonded warehouses is usually adulterated to increase the volume without diminishing the intoxicating power. So, from whatever source it comes, practically all the liquor that can be bought in the United States today is deadly or dangerous. Yet many men hold the blind faith that they are getting "pure stuff" from these polluted streams!

One fact however, is to be borne in mind. Spectacular and violent are some of the cases of illicit liquor poisoning and inevitable as is the slow poisoning often incurred, the number of men killed by alcoholic drink in the United States today is much smaller than it was before prohibition. A larger proportion of those who drink are killed, but drinkers today constitute a proportion of the total population so much smaller than in pre-prohibition days that the aggregate is much diminished.

"The Village Blacksmith"

Most Popular American Poem Filmed by Fox

For many years in fact ever since the Cambridge poet indited the immortal lines which describe the "Village Blacksmith" the poem has been one of the popular that has ever been used in a school room. Every school child after second year is familiar with the lines which tell "The smith a mighty man was he." So popular was this masterpiece that William Fox seized the opportunity of using it as a foundation for one of the greatest motion picture plays of the current year. It will be shown at the Palace Theatre Next Wednesday and Thursday.

BENEFIT SHOW

For the Charlevoix Fire Department Coming Next Monday and Tuesday.

"THE THIRD ALARM"
And a Larry Semon Two Reel Comedy
"THE AGENT"

At last a photodrama, constructed on gigantic lines, that sings the long-delayed praises of the firemen of this country. It has been a long time coming, to be sure, but now that it is here in lavish reality, firemen and their hundreds of thousands of friends are rejoicing because it shows in vivid and logical sequences the degree of service the fireman gives to his employers—the well known public.

That the fireman is a vital factor in the welfare of any community is brought out with smashing dramatic power in "The Third Alarm." It shows not only how diligently he serves but it also depicts in thrilling renewes the dangers he confronts, the perils he faces uncomplainingly in the daily pursuit of his duties.

"The Third Alarm" is not propaganda for the firemen. Keep this point in mind. It is a powerfully dramatic story about a fireman and his little family, of his struggles for happiness, of his failure under the weight of increasing years, of his dismissal from the department and of his comeback in a conflagration so staggering big in its scope as to put other screen fires to shame.

Then, too, there is a delightful note of romance. The unceasing loyalty of Fireman McDowell's wife, her bravery in the face of her husband's discharge, all make for drama of poignant appeal. There are young people in love heightens the romantic interest of the story.

"The Third Alarm" unfolds a story that is right down to the level of the average American citizen and the members of his family. Its producer, Mr. Emory Johnson, has told the whole truth about the firemen just as he told the truth about the policeman in his epic photoplay "In the Name of the Law." Believing that the nation owed a just debt not only to the fire fighters of the big cities but to those of the smaller communities as well Mr. Johnson has created "The Third Alarm" as a means of paying this debt of gratitude to the men who risked their lives day in and day out that our property may be safe-guarded.

In the cast are Ralph Lewis, Johnnie Walker, Ella Hall, Virginia True Boardman, Richard Morris, Josephine Adair and Frankie Lee.

DR. MARTIN TO LECTURE HERE

On Subject of Bible Reading in The Schools

Rev. E. B. Kemm, of Lexington, Ky., representing the educational department of the National Reform Association, of Pittsburgh, Pa., with which the Methodist and Congregational and Baptist churches and Church of God are affiliated, was in the city Saturday, making arrangements for the first of a series of lectures, to be delivered at the Congregational church here, Monday, Oct. 22 at 7:30 p. m., by Dr. Renwick H. Martin, talented lecturer of the association, who has just finished a seven weeks program in the upper peninsula.

Dr. Martin was formerly president of Geneva College, has been a successful pastor and a close student of Christian civics. He comes to us in the interests of a bill which the association purposes to introduce at the next regular session of the Michigan legislature, providing for the compulsory reading of the Bible, without comment, in the public schools of the state. Several states, of the union already have such mandatory measures on their statute books, as well as the cities of New York, Washington, D. C. and Indianapolis, requiring teachers to read to their pupils on each school day of the year a number of passages from Holy Writ. This is not in the nature of religious instruction, as the verses are to be read entirely without comment.

Some of the projects fathered by the association are the strengthening of the laws relating to Sunday observance, the passage of the uniform divorce bill and world peace.

For mileage and durability, buy Goodyear Tires. Today's prices lower than for 10 years. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 40tf.

AT THE MOVIES

Peter B. Kyne, the author of countless heroic novels and stories which have appeared in the Saturday Evening Post, wrote the story of "Kindred of the Dust" produced by Raul A. Walsh for Associated First National release, and which is coming to the Palace Theatre on Saturday for an engagement of two days. In this instance Mr. Kyne's story is one of the strongest ever filmed. The chief character is "Nan of the Sawdust Pile," and the part is played by Miriam Cooper, who won considerable praise for her work in "The Oath," "Serenade" and other recent First National attractions.

Playing opposite her is Ralph Graves, one of the most talented of screen actors. Due to the high character of his work in this production, it is understood that he will be elevated to stardom within the near future. Others in the cast are Lionel Belmore, Eugenie Besserer, W. J. Ferguson and Pat Rooney.

The Great Northwest is the locale of the story, and the camera's eye has caught many exciting and breath-taking scenes.

Goodyear Tire prices are lower today than in over 10 years. Buy what you need now. Benj. Brown.—Adv. 40tf.

ROAD BUILDINGWider Highways Help Solve Traffic Problem

A dispatch from London states that country roads and city streets to be laid out hereafter in Great Britain will have a right of way 120 feet wide in most instances and 100 feet wide as a minimum. It is a powerfully dramatic story about a fireman and his little family, of his struggles for happiness, of his failure under the weight of increasing years, of his dismissal from the department and of his comeback in a conflagration so staggering big in its scope as to put other screen fires to shame.

England's roads approached 100 per cent perfect long before any great accomplishment in highway construction had been recorded in this country. Long before the war the highways of England had become rivals of the railways through the use of motor trucks and steam traction engines, often hauling several trailers, each with a capacity of tons. The roads bore this traffic well and their maintenance, which calls for almost daily inspection and continuous repairs, has enabled these highways to stand up under a much heavier traffic than 90 per cent of American roads receive.

The plans of the government will involve a total of several thousand miles of additional new construction, destined to make London the center of the most adequately rounded section of the world. The United States, just embarking with governmental assistance upon the construction of an interstate, nationwide, primary highway system, will consider the conclusions which an infinitely greater experience has forced upon British highway authorities. While few of our roads, like those in the vicinity of London, need a right of way 120 feet in width at the present time, that traffic requirements will ultimately demand such a width seems almost certain.

Canada Will Spend Big Sum in Building Roads

A million dollars is being spent in road building in British Columbia this year. Most of the work will be done between now and early autumn. The army of laborers now engaged will be shifted to farms during the heavy harvest season.

British Columbia's program is being duplicated by the three prairie provinces. Modern highways are piercing new agricultural sections as rapidly as these districts are settled by incoming farmers. Under the comprehensive program all the branch highways are linked with main roads, thus making western Canada's highways virtually a unit.

"Behind the entire plan" said a good-roads official, "is the establishment of main arteries of travel with a network of connecting roads. These roads will join all the cities and towns and will connect with highways that link up the different provinces. "Western Canada is one of the richest agricultural districts and its output is rapidly increasing. Farmers are evolving into business men. They are doing much of their marketing with motor trucks. Many motor truck lines are already established for rapid movement of crops to railroad terminals. Good roads are to a large extent eliminating distance. Western Canada realizes that they are indispensable to the development of a country, agriculturally and industrially, and so the ambitious program is being put forward with all speed consistent with good judgment.

"Canada's roads problem was largely solved when the Canadian government appropriated $20,000,000 to be used in construction of main highways and market roads."

Establish Highways on Narrow Rights-of-Way

Too many states are establishing their main highways on narrow rights-of-way and proceeding to install permanent improvements which are bound to increase the value of the adjacent property. When the states come to when their rights-of-way, as will ultimately be necessary, a tremendous expense will be involved which could be eliminated entirely should the original right-of-way established be made wide enough to accommodate any necessary future increase in pavement width. Such far-sighted provision for the future works as hardship on adjacent farmers as they can be allowed to cultivate the land which for a time will not be required. No expensive improvements, however, would be undertaken on the width set aside for the ultimate road.

Campaign Against Ads.

The Ohio state highway department has begun a campaign against advertising placards along highways. It has recently torn down and removed nine truck loads of these signs. This is done under a state law.

Roads in Canada.

At the close of 1922 there had been placed under agreement for federal aid, in connection with the Canadian highway act, 274 projects at an estimated cost of $35,706,991 for 5,756 miles of road in the different provinces.

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 4

Frank Mayo in the "Bolted Door," and a Neley Edwards comedy, "Should Wm. Tell?"

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5

Paramount presents Mary Miles Minter in "Drums of Fate," supported by George Fawcett. A story of woman's sacrifice, starting in a gilded society ball room. Sweeping with intense dramatic force into the jungles of Africa to a breathless climax. And a Cameo comedy, "Pitter Patter."

SATURDAY and SUNDAY, OCT. 6 and 7

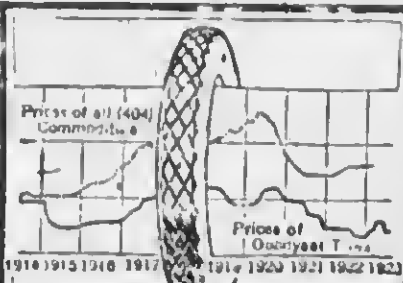

R. A. Walsh presents Peter B. Kyne's great story, "Kindred of the Dust." The big story of northwestern love, humanely thrilling to the screen. A picture as sweeping as the league-long rollers, as strong as the forest giants that tang it. Produced amid the logging camps and on the grim coast of the mighty northwest. Starring Miriam Cooper, Lionel Belmore and Ralph Graves. Also a Hal Roach two reel Gang comedy, "Young Sherlocks."

MONDAY and TUESDAY, OCT. 8 and 9

Benefit Show for the Charlevoix Fire Department. The outstanding photo-dramatic sensation of the century, "The Third Alarm." A gigantic feast of romance, humor, thrills. Then the crashing climax that will lift you bodily from your seat. Then the most staggering thrill ever swept across the screen. Then the stunning tribute to as brave a body of men as ever trod the surface of the earth. And a two reel Larry Semon comedy, "The Agent." Come out and see a good show and give the fire boys a boost.

WEDNESDAY and THURSDAY, OCT. 10 and 11

Wm. Fox presents a special production, "The Village Blacksmith," from Longfellow's famous poem. A vivid picture from the book of life. "The Village Blacksmith" does for father what "Over the Hill" did for mother. And the third chapter of "Around the World in 18 Days."

COLD DESSERTS

There is no simple dessert that is more popular with the young than apple dumplings. They may be served hot or cold with cream. Roll out a piece of pastry or rich biscuit dough very thin, cut it into circles and inclose to it a quartered, cored and peeled apple. If small take two. Pinch the edges together and bake in a rather slow oven until the apple is well cooked. Open the dumpling, add sugar, nutmeg, cinnamon and butter and serve each rich morsel topped with a spoonful of whipped cream.

Lemonade.—Soak two tablespoonfuls of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water and after ten minutes add two cupfuls of boiling water, one cupful of sugar, the juice of three lemons and the grated rind of one. Stir until dissolved and chill. When cold and beginning to set beat with a whisk until frothy, then fold in three well-beaten egg whites. Heap by spoonful on a glass dish and sprinkle thickly with grated coconut. Chill and serve with a custard sauce.

Gingerbread Pudding.—Take a cupful of gingerbread broken into bits. Scald a pint of milk, beat two egg yolks and one-fourth of a cupful of sugar; add to the egg mixture the scalded milk. Pour this over the gingerbread which has been placed in a buttered baking dish. Place in a pan of hot water and bake until set. Cover with a meringue made from the beaten egg whites and six tablespoonfuls of sugar with vanilla to flavor.

Marshmallow Custard.—Beat two eggs slightly and add two tablespoonfuls of sugar, two cupfuls of this cream and flavoring to taste. Place a marshmallow in the bottom of each custard cup and pour the mixture over them. Bake in a pan of hot water until the custards are set. Place in the ice box to chill.

Apple Porcupine.—Steam cored and peeled apples in a syrup until well cooked but not broken. Thrust quartered blanched almonds into the apples and place in a baking dish with the syrup. Bake until the almonds are lightly browned. Chill and serve with cream.

Deficiencies of White Corn for Feeding Pigs

In an experiment conducted at the Illinois experiment station four sows fed white corn and tankage produced and raised pigs in two consecutive litters as well as did four other sows fed yellow corn and tankage. Two of these sows fed white corn were continued on a ration of white corn and tankage for a third gestation period. One sow farrowed a normal litter, but had inflammation of the udder, followed by pneumonia which resulted in her death. The other sow farrowed a dead litter at the end of a gestation period of 124 days. The pigs had less hair than normal pigs. They were emaciated far gone, but nothing was found. This sow was bred for a fourth litter and fed the same ration, with potassium iodide added. The litter came dead at the end of a gestation period of 118 days. For her fifth gestation period, 1 per cent of cod liver oil was added to the ration of white corn and tankage. This litter came normal at the end of a gestation period of 118 days.

The pigs from the first litters of the white-corn sows, when continued on the ration of their dams, failed to attain a weight of 75 pounds. These pigs, farrowed in March and April, began dying six weeks after weaning time, and all were dead by December 17. For several weeks preceding death, a number of the pigs had a nervous trouble manifested by a general inco-ordination of parts, accompanied by convulsions every few days. It was also evident that the ration of white corn and tankage was less palatable than yellow corn and tankage, after the first month. Some pigs died within five or six weeks, while others continued on a low plane of nutrition for months. Autopsy, after the death of those pigs which had been on this ration for some time, showed lung congestion or pneumonia in some cases; a few pigs had atones in the kidneys; in two cases, soreness of the eyes was found; and other pigs showed no complications.

White corn and tankage do not, therefore, make a complete ration for pigs immediately after weaning. For growing and fattening older pigs, the deficiency is less marked. Pigs started on this ration at 50 to 75 pounds may or may not show indications of a ration deficiency before a marketable weight is attained. The exact nature of the deficiency in the ration of white corn and tankage is not definitely known, but considerable evidence has been put forth to show that a growth-producing substance known as vitamin A is lacking in this ration. The deficiencies of this ration can be overcome by feeding the pigs forage or legume hay. The various grains and protein supplements have not been thoroughly tested, but some experimental work would indicate that a number of the more common grains and protein supplements are also low in this growth-producing vitamin.

Pastures or legume hays correct the deficiencies of white corn. The deficiencies of white corn are noted only after continued feeding in the dry lot. —John H. Rice, H. H. Mitchell and H. J. Laible, Illinois Experiment Station, Urbana.

Pays to Know How Many Animals Farm Will Feed

The man who consistently follows a well-established live-stock system on his farm is more prosperous than the man who tries to be in when conditions look good and out when they look bad, said H. M. Garlock of the Missouri College of Agriculture at Farmers' week. Usually the man who follows the in-and-out system is out when he should be in and in when he should be out.

Consistent live-stock farming offers several opportunities to the farmers. By consistent live-stock farming is meant a system where a definite number of live stock is included as a part of the farm operation. The number of live stock kept should vary with the size of farm and crop rotation. Meat animals will furnish a market for crops and crop residue, distribute labor throughout the year and produce additional values in barnyard manure to maintain the soil fertility.

There is no set rule for balancing our crops and live stock that will fit all farms because of the difference in their location, size, topography, fertility and proximity to markets, but there should be some relationship between the crop rotation and the number of meat animals kept. The United States produces annually between two and three billion bushels of corn, and according to the best information, about 50 per cent of this is fed to live stock while only about 8 per cent is used for human food. These figures would indicate that the men producing corn are dependent upon live stock for a market for their product.

Dairy Cows Respond to Good Feed and Treatment

A dairy cow will respond to good feeding and good treatment, perhaps better than any other farm animal. Each individual dairy cow should be a unit by herself. Unlike other farm animals, dairy cows cannot be efficiently fed in a feed lot, as the requirements for each cow may be different.

The best feed for dairy cows is an abundance of pasture grass when that is available. A good pasture provides a balanced ration. Some high-producing cows will require a little grain as a supplement to pasture.

During the time of the year when a good pasture is not available, a cow can be fed efficiently by providing:

1. An abundance of palatable feed.
2. A balanced ration.
3. Succulent feed.
4. A moderate temperature in barn.
5. Comfortable surroundings.

A dairy cow is fed for the following purposes:

1. For maintaining the body.
2. To supply material for milk.
3. For development of fetus.
4. For growth of animal, if immature.
5. At times to produce gain in weight.

Three general classes of food material are required for feeding cows:

1. Protein or nitrogenous material.
2. Carbohydrates and fat to supply heat and energy.
3. Ash or mineral matter.

A well-balanced dairy ration will contain the above food material in the proper proportions. In making up a feed for dairy cows, it is usually most convenient to balance the roughage and concentrates separately and then feed all the roughness each cow will eat and adjust the grain mixture to the amount of milk or butterfat produced by the cow.

A good general rule to use as a guide in feeding is to feed from one-fourth to one-half as much of a balanced grain mixture per day as the cow gives milk per day. Cows giving rich milk usually give less per day but need a little more grain in proportion of the milk. —A. C. Baer, Professor of Dairying, Oklahoma A. and M. College.

Summer Suggestions on Care of Dairy Utensils

It is more or less difficult to give adequate care to the dairy utensils during the summer months. This is due to the fact that hot scalding water or steam is more troublesome to obtain. Proper care of these utensils is important during the summer months due to the temperature which favors the multiplication of bacteria. In the production of high-grade milk it is necessary that all utensils be thoroughly cleaned, for if any organic matter is left in any of them, it is almost impossible to produce the desired quality of milk.

If the utensils are cleaned with water just as it comes from the well or tap, some bacteria will remain which will multiply very rapidly during the warm weather of the summer months. The utensils should be sterilized, and this is done by exposing them to live steam for several minutes. In the cleaning of tinware they should be first washed with cold water and then with hot water and a washing powder that is alkaline in nature. Ordinary soaps are not satisfactory in the cleaning of the utensils of the dairy. After the tinware has been thoroughly cleaned it should be sterilized. Sterilization is the most important factor in the production of high-grade milk. —H. W. Fairbanks, Associate Professor of Animal Husbandry, Colorado Agricultural College.

Mr. Sandberg served in the German army through four years of the world war and took part in the German advance through Belgium at its beginning.

Miss Nettie Ecklund, outgoing missionary to the West Indies Islands, will have charge of the service in the Holiness church at Phelps, Sunday morning. She will also speak in Ellsworth Holiness church Sunday evening.

Miss Ecklund's former home was near Charlevoix and her friends will be glad to hear her.

Tuesday, October 16th, is the date when J. Leahy, the Optometrist, will again visit Ellsworth. Office at the Big Fish Inn. Curing headaches a specialty.—Adv. 40t2.

ONE WEAK SPOT

Many Charlevoix People have a Weak Part and Too Often It's The Back.

Many people have a weak spot. Too often it's a bad back. Twinges follow every sudden twist. Dull aching keeps up, day and night.

Backache is often from weak kidneys. In such case a kidney medicine is needed.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for weak kidneys. For backache and urinary ills.

Charlevoix people recommend the remedy. Ask your neighbor.

Mrs. Frank Smith, 307 May St., Charlevoix, says: "My kidneys were weak and irregular and there was a dull ache in my back. Doan's Kidney pills were recommended to me and I got a few boxes at Hines & Co.'s Drug Store, and they cured me completely."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Smith had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

ANTRIM CITY.

Jack Smith is busy filling silos. Mrs. Stott is able to be up again.

Mrs. Josie Simon and Miss Irene Bruce went to Bellaire Sunday.

Capt. Brant bought six sheep from a party near Charlevoix last Saturday.

C. L. Stott and H. R. Mason drove stakes for another pound net last week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Glinzer were visitors at the Frank Mason home on Sunday.

Mr. Ward and family of Ironton, were visitors at the Baumbach home Sunday.

Ralph Watkins is taking his snow mill down and is going to move it to Elk Rapids.

Mr. Stott sold a cow to A. B. Sneller and Frank Mason batchered a pig for him Friday.

Mr. Stott and family, Joseph Stott and Elliott Mason made a trip to Charlevoix Sunday.

Rolla Baumbach hauled logs part of last week with his truck to the basket factory at Traverse City.

MILES DISTRICT.

Miss Gerdena Steenhagen with a party of young people spent Sunday in Petoskey.

Mrs. Geo. Coates of Grand Rapids, came Thursday to help care for her mother, Mrs. John TerWee.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Gidley and little son, of East Jordan, spent Friday evening at the Miles home.

Mrs. John TerWee, who has been to Charlevoix Hospital for treatment, returned home last Wednesday much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Miles had for dinner guests last Tuesday, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Dye and children of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. John Monroe and Mrs. Art Gidley and son, Dick, of East Jordan, and on Wednesday, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Benell of Watersmeet, and Mrs. Elva Barrie of East Jordan.

Age of Breeding Heifer

Is Problem for Farmer

It is said that if you leave a heifer too long before breeding, that she will never be as good a producer of milk as she would have been. She will have formed the habit, it is claimed, of using her surplus feed and energy towards the production of body fat. It will take several years to overcome the habit and the necessary loss is considerable.

On the other hand if the heifer, or any other animal, is bred too young, trouble of various sorts is liable to follow. The growth of the animal may be stopped, prematurely, leaving an undersized individual, or the actual breeding capacity or fecundity may be affected.

If, however, breeding is not commenced so early as to be unsafe, it is the more profitable method. It will reduce the cost of maintenance, owing to the shorter length of time the animal need be kept, non-productively. In all classes of stock the same problem exists.

There is a real question in the minds of breeders as to whether it is ever profitable to breed sows to farrow before they are twelve months old, to breed mares to foal at three years of age, to breed ewes to lamb at so young an age as thirteen to fourteen months of age. The breeder has observed that sometimes animals bred at ages as young as those named will suffer in their development or the offspring may not be normal. On the other hand, if breeding operations can be begun at these ages the breeding life of the animals will be prolonged, the number of offspring from each female will be increased, and other things being equal, the profitability of breeding operations will be greater.

What evils are likely to follow such early breeding practice? It is apparent that if evils do follow they are to be observed chiefly in one of the following: 1. The growth of the young dam may be retarded and her ultimate size diminished. 2. The vigor and thrift of the offspring may be below that of the offspring of more mature animals. 3. A possible decrease in the size of the race or breed. 4. Loss of fecundity and danger to the dam at time of giving birth.

All domestic animals are, of course, bred before they have attained full maturity. They are still growing. They are rarely bred at the beginning of puberty since under average farm conditions the breeder has discovered that such early matings are neither safe nor profitable. There is reason to believe that there is a right and wrong age at which to first breed, but no definite rules seem to be available.

Selecting Herd Bull to Improve Weakest Points

In the selection of a herd bull, the chief factors to be considered are the kinds of families in the herd, and the size, character, natural fleshing, quality, and evenness of conformation of the bull, according to Dr. C. W. McCampbell, head of the animal husbandry department, Kansas State Agricultural college.

"The study of the females of the herd should receive the most careful consideration," Doctor McCampbell added. "By a careful study of the females in the herd, a bull can be selected that will improve the weakest points in the herd, as well as add to its general improvement."

"Since there is a constant tendency for animals to revert to their smaller ancestry, one of the most economical means of maintaining a profitable size in our market cattle is by the use of big, rugged bulls."

"One of the most important considerations is character, as it is an evidence of an ability to reproduce the good qualities which the bull himself possesses. It is indicated by evidence of masculinity especially in the head and neck of a bull and by the vigor and style which he manifests."

"As meat is the ultimate purpose of cattle production, the amount of meat an animal carries, or the natural fleshing of the bull, should receive very close consideration."

"Quality is of value because of the fact that animals possessing it will require less feed to produce a given amount of gain and sell for higher prices when marketed than animals that do not possess quality. It is indicated by a soft coat of hair, a soft pliable hide, and general smoothness of conformation."

"The most profitable type of animal for the feed lot is one with an evenness of conformation, straight lines, broad back, deep middle, square ends, and closeness to the ground, and to produce this profitable kind of cattle it is quite essential that a bull of similar type be selected."

Profitable Producers

Come From Good Bulls

Good cows do not often just happen. They are the product of mating good sires and good dams. "Like begets like, or the likeness thereof." Scrubs bred to scrubs can produce only scrubs. But a good pure bred bull when mated to ordinary cows or even to scrubs will produce animals that are profitable producers. If you already have good cows, you will be going backward if you do not also have a very good bull.

Through a Sieve Woven Finer Than Silk

Raw materials of which portland cement is made come out of the ground usually as solid rock.

They must first be crushed, ground and reground until at least 85 per cent of the resulting powder will shake through a sieve that will actually hold water.

This sieve is considerably finer than the finest silk fabric. It has 200 hair-like bronze wires to the inch. That means 40,000 holes to the square inch.

But the several crushings and grindings necessary to reduce solid rock to this extreme fineness are only the beginning of cement making.

The powdered materials must then be subjected to intense heat for several hours in huge rotary kilns. Here they are half melted and become a substance much harder than the original rock—clinker, it is called.

Then the clinker must be crushed and ground until at least 78 per cent of the resulting product will pass through the sieve woven finer than silk. This is portland cement.

More than 80 power and fuel consuming operations are necessary in cement making. The electric power alone used in producing a barrel of portland cement would, if purchased at usual household rates, cost $1.70.

Few manufactured products go through so involved or complicated a process as portland cement. And it sells for less per pound than any comparable manufactured product.

Send for Veterinarian

When Cholera Appears

When cholera comes your way, the only safe thing to do is to send for the nearest qualified veterinary surgeon and have him immunize your hogs. Do not try to do this yourself, for you do not understand it and it may cause you loss. More than this do not go over and inspect your neighbor's sick hogs, or you may carry the germs of cholera on your feet, and so infect your own herd.

Moving Your Coal

The 24 steam railroads operating in Michigan are already well advanced in their yearly task of bringing in the coal that will keep Michigan warm and working through the winter.

We are better prepared for this job than ever before.

Our repair shops contain only current work; there is no accumulation of crippled rolling stock. Our construction operations have been purposely pushed to release all equipment for this emergency. For four months we have been accumulating our own coal supplies until they are now at their highest point in history—79% of our entire storage requirements filled.

Best of all, we are swinging into use the record-breaking addition of 175 new locomotives, and 21,344 new freight cars, all bought during 1923. More improvements and additions are planned if you will back us by giving your support.

From the gateways, and the junction points, where we receive your coal, we are promptly carrying it on to you. Unload promptly and release our car for us to use in serving your neighbor's needs.

Are we doing this job as you want it done? We ask your criticism or approval.

DON'T KILL SAYS "BILL" KING

LOVER OF ANIMAL AND BIRD LIFE MAKES PLEA

Appeal Applies to all Birds and Animals—Lives on Shores of Beautiful Burt Lake

In the woods surrounding Burt Lake, Emmet county are posted several signs, each of which reads:

"Did a Partridge Ever Shoot at You?"

William King posted these signs; "Bill" King, who loves birds and all wild things, and who believes that no living thing should be killed that cannot be replaced.

"Bill" King for 47 years has lived on the shores of Burt Lake. His cabin, erected in a clearing near the sands of the lake shore and within earshot of the lapping waters, stands with its back to a dense forest—75 acres of valuable timber from which no live tree has been cut in five years. The trees are untouched by the axe because, as King points out, they are the home of the wild life.

King has lived on Burt Lake shore since a boy, coming here in 1877. During the past 21 years, King living in the midst of birds and wild animals, has never killed a partridge, and his son, a man of 40 years, has killed only one partridge during his lifetime.

Squirrel, deer, rabbit, ruffed grouse—whatever wild life makes its abode in the woods is free from gun and dog.

Twenty-one years ago Bill King set out to tame the grouse so he could feed them. Many students of wild life said it was an impossible task. It was slow, tedious procedure. But King understood birds, and his patience was everlasting. In 1914 he succeeded in feeding the grouse for the first time. Even then, however, it was the wild food of the bird that was eaten, and not the domesticated corn and wheat.

King persisted, year after year, until today his wild friends are as fond of corn as a crow. Each year the number of King's wild friends has multiplied until three years ago he fed 70 ruffed grouse throughout the winter. The following year he was ill and obliged to leave his secluded cabin, but his feathered friends came, perched on the roof and in the trees, waiting for Bill to come back. Last winter he fed 60 grouse all season, often having as many as 40 grouse around him at one time.

King says he knows his grouse like a farmer's wife knows her chickens. He says one bird has been coming to his cabin each winter for several years.

The hen partridge, King says, is much like the mother of small chickens. The hen herself learns not to fear her benefactor, but never allows her young to eat from his pan or hand. As soon as the young leave the mother's protecting wing, however, they fall before the temptation of the enticing yellow corn and the soft, understanding voice of its donor, and in a short time they have banished their fears.

Recognition of King's work was made several seasons ago by the Michigan State conservation department which has since encouraged and aided in his work in several ways. For several years King raised or bought the corn fed the birds, but now it is furnished him by the department. Moving pictures of King's sanctuary and his bird friends were made by the conservation department last year and have been shown in many cities of the state.

LICENCE PLATES FOR '24 ARE OUT

Will Be Yellow, With Black Numbers
And Letters

Automobile license plates are being delivered to officers of county clerk and treasurers in Michigan by the officials of Jackson prison, where the plates are made. Charles J. Deland, secretary of state, plans to have each office supplied early so that every motorist will have ample time to procure plates before Jan. 1 without inconvenience.

The 1924 plates are yellow with black numerals and letters. They are considerably larger than Michigan plates have been in past years, being five and one-half inches high and fifteen and one-half inches long. Plates for commercial vehicles will be different than those for passenger cars.

Officials at the county courthouse in this city, where the license plates have been issued to county automobile owners during the past year and where they again will be distributed from in 1924, announce that they have received notification from the state authorities that Charlevoix county's allotment for next year will soon be shipped from Jackson prison where the plates are manufactured.

While it will be a short time before the new licenses will be in the hands of the distributing officers they will not start issuance of the plates until Jan. 1. Charlevoix county's allotment of plates for 1924 will be 2,500 pairs.

A NEWSPAPER SERMON WITH A TIMELY TEXT

We Steal The Preacher's Thunder
To Hammer Home a Few Platitudes

"The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge." Ezekiel, 18-2.

It is not often that we preface an article in this paper with a text from the good Book. However, the text fits in with what we are going to say and, in a way, expresses the theme of this article; also, inasmuch as the preachers couldn't preach last Sunday, we feel that, coming next in line as we do ("the pulpit and the press," you know), we are just a little bit obligated to help them out.

Something happened a week or so ago that, affords us an opportunity to give expression to something we have had on our editorial mind for some time. It seems that a cottage on Park avenue, recently vacated by a resort family was entered and certain depredations committed therein. The participants in this outrage were school-boys and girls, two of them mere children.

Of course the police were requested to act and they acted. It is not necessary to mention names. That would do no good, whatever, and would simply serve to localize the sore spot and give other offenders of as lightly milder sort who have not fallen into the fire as yet but are merely playing with it a chance to pat themselves on the back in comforting comparison—and their parents likewise, after the fashion of parents everywhere. You know how it goes—"Of course, that's all you could expect of that horrid Jones boy, but my Johnny (or Mary) would never think of such a thing." Very comfortable sort of a feeling that, but sort of unconvincing when you come to figure out that Johnny, Mary and the Jones boy are pretty much the same sort of kids—full of life and animal spirits and in the formative period, when their minds take all sorts of impressions, good and bad, as clay takes shape under the molder's fingers.

Now, what could the authorities do after they had caught the culprits and definitely fixed their responsibility for the property destruction alleged to have taken place? Send 'em to the reform school? Yes, Yes! Imagine the hullabaloo that would result—children of our leading families sent "over the road." Can't you hear the axes falling and the political and official heads dropping into the basket already. Well then, what? Warn 'em? That's probably what they did do, but how much effect does warning have on a child or a young boy or girl. Especially, when they instinctively feel that their parents side with them against the authorities?

But we must have a goat of some kind. Let's see—shall it be the school superintendent? Why, sure, he has the kids for five or six hours a day. He's the guy. Why don't he make 'em behave. Hold on—what have we heard from some quarters, lately, about the school superintendent—that he was too strict, too much of a disciplinarian? Why? He actually bawls some of the sensitive young souls for their shortcomings and has even been known to use harsher methods with some of the

DRYS TO SOUND OUT EVERY CANDIDATE

Every candidate for public office will be put on record by the drys in the 1923 campaign says, Luren D. Dickinson, former lieutenant-governor and dry leader.

Mr. Dickinson believes that Michigan will draw the attention of the national wet-organization next year. He is of the opinion that an effort will be made to commit candidates to a 2-3-4-per cent beer platform.

"In view of the fact that it will probably be a sharply divided campaign," he said, "it will influence the candidates for state as well as national offices. There will be definite wet and dry candidates. The dry forces plan to put every man on record. There will be more advertising and a greater effort to acquaint every voter with the attitudes of the candidates on the prohibition question."

harder-boiled. Honestly, now, what do you folks expect a school superintendent to do—follow your boy and girl around nights and see where they go and what they do—a kind of old fashioned English form monitor might do it, but you can hardly ask it of a busy, modern school executive, however cheerful and self-sacrificing his disposition. Don't you suppose that the young folks know that his responsibility stops at the school-room door and does it add any weight to the advice and admonitions that he gives them to be patted comiseratingly on the head by their parents when they return home with their tales of woe and be told, in substance, that they are the patient and long-suffering victims of a martinet?

Too much discipline! Ye gods! Look about you. What is the world's most crying need today. Isn't it discipline of heart and mind and body, both self-imposed and administered by those entrusted with the law's enforcement, that would turn this old world into a paradise? Isn't it the lack of it that makes labor futile and aimless, society barren, marriage a joke, government an empty form and religion anemic? If you want an example of the value of discipline, look at Germany today, despised and under the heel of her conquerors, yet peacefully conquering the world in its own markets, able to undersell her competitors and slowly climbing once more.

DECISION GOES AGAINST ABBOTT

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS LOWER TRIBUNAL'S RULING

Judge Asserts Plaintiff Did Not Fulfill Important Stipulated Conditions

Those of our readers who, throughout the many months of its continuance, have followed with more or less interest the course of the Abbott suit against the City of Charlevoix and Henry Richards, will be glad to note that the plaintiff's appeal to the Supreme court has resulted in a verdict for the defendants.

The opinion of the court sets forth the contracts between the parties in full and the claims of the parties. It recites the opinion given by Judge Chester, who heard the case in the lower court. It then concludes with the following language, which quite clearly states the view the defendants had of the case from the beginning:

"The rule is very well established that when a plaintiff comes into a court of equity he must establish a case by a preponderance of proof. Unfortunately for Mr. Abbott, he has failed to do this. Six or eight witnesses do not remember important conversations as he remembers them. The conduct of the parties is not consistent with the present claim of Mr. Abbott. The contract Mr. Abbott had with Mr. Richards provided for a sale of the plant to Mr. Abbott within sixty days of its date 'upon the terms, conditions and considerations hereinafter set forth'. Those terms, conditions and considerations have never been fulfilled by Mr. Abbott. By Subdivisions 21 and 22, of Mr. Abbott's contract with the City of Charlevoix, he was required to do very important things. 'In default thereof this contract shall be of no further force or effect.' Abbott did not meet these requirements. The opinion and decree of the court below are fully justified by the preponderance of the evidence."

The Courier sincerely trusts that the above-quoted decision of the supreme court may bring to a permanent close a case that has occupied the court of this county for several years entailing a heavy burden of expense to both parties. It is also cause for congratulation that its protraction has not been attended by any impairment of our excellent electric light and power service. In other words, the people in this case have not been the ones to "hold the bag."

HAVE EPIDEMIC UNDER CONTROL

FIRST CASE IMPORTED HERE FROM WISCONSIN

Alleged Breaking of Quarantine Cause of Its Spread—Five Cases Reported So Far

The one absorbing topic of conversation and speculation this week is the small pox epidemic.

This disease made its appearance out Norwood way several weeks ago the first case being a visitor from Wisconsin. According to our advice, the health authorities acted promptly in establishing a state of quarantine and placarding the house. Last week several other cases developed and on Monday morning five cases of the malady, accepted as such by the attending physicians, were reported along with a number of suspected cases, quarantined and held under observation. The pest house south of town was put into condition to receive patients and yesterday morning one of the victims was removed thereto.

Though some difference of opinion exists between the city's physicians as to the identity of the disease, as small pox, the cases so far developed have been deemed serious enough to warrant quarantine and special treatment. Many of the townspeople have submitted to vaccination on the advice of their doctor and every precaution is now being taken to prevent the spread of the disease, whatever it may be.

It appears that some one or two of the members of the three original families quarantined when the disease first appeared in their homes, took it upon themselves some six weeks or so ago to remove the small pox sign from their home and later appeared in town before the disease in their case, had passed its active stage. It is also alleged that visitors were admitted to their houses during the period of quarantine prescribed by the physician. It is not possible for us, at this time, to ascertain the exact circumstances, but, if what is alleged is true, the parties in question committed a disgraceful violation of the quarantine law, showed disregard of the welfare of their fellows and an amazing callousness and indifference to anything but their own selfish ends.

It makes no difference whether the doctors finally decide it to be small pox or Liberty measles, whether they thought they couldn't give it or not; as long as the quarantine was in force it should have been obeyed and, let us say right here, that in view of the results it would have been cheaper and better all round had the health department appointed someone to guard these people and see that they kept within the confines of their homes. The quarantine law has teeth, if the authorities are disposed to show them and if a few violators came in rough contact with the statute's molar it might save a good many hundreds of dollars in loss of business later on and, possibly, human life, although as yet none of the cases has developed to that point of seriousness.

Had it been diphtheria instead of small-pox considerable loss of life might have resulted from one person's thoughtless and selfish act. There is but little difference between the person who kills another with a club or gun and one who wilfully transmits a fatal disease. The violators of the present quarantine are fortunate for their souls' quiet that they are not in a like position.

Observed Seventh Birthday Eighteen playmates and friends of Alice Elizabeth Usher gathered at her home Friday afternoon, October 5th, to help celebrate her seventh anniversary. Games were played on the lawn until the summons came for refreshments. The little hostess received many gifts to remind her of the event.

CHANTICLEER-A WINNING FOWL

CROWED FOR THE FIRST TIME HERE LAST WEEK

New School Paper a Real, Live Publication and Makes Interesting Reading

The first issue of the "Chanticleer," the new high-school paper, made its first howl to the public last week.

Modesty forbids us to comment on the printing, cuts and set-up but we may and do praise unqualifiedly the work of the editor, Albert Widdifield and his able staff of collaborators.

First to greet the eye is a clever and seasonable cover design by the staff artist, C. H. Meyers, a Charlevoix product whose budding talent promises much for his future as an illustrator.

Passing the table of contents, with its original poem, the foreword by the editor and staff lineup, we come to a snappy editorial that expresses the purpose and keynote of the publication, an inspiring word of congratulation and encouragement by Superintendent Hamilton, another editorial, taking as its text or theme the idea expressed in Russell Conwell's "Acres of Diamonds" and well worth reading and digesting by all of us; an excellent philosophical contribution by instructor, Altenburg; seventh grade news and the athletic section, with a fine cut of last year's squad and live dope on different branches of sport, including a little bit by Walter Camp, world-famous athletic director. The clever and humorous work of the department writers which follows, interspersed with a spicy sprinkling of brand new jokes, is especially good.

On page 10 we find a ghoulish tale of the Paris catacombs, probably written by Widdy after a bad night of wrestling with the effects of too much mince pie. It is a harrowing yarn and hold the reader's interest, stimulating the gooseflesh and raising the strands of one's hairstute covering to the last word. We confess to several wakeful nights after proofreading the copy. Claire H. Myers draws a striking comparison between modern methods of warfare and those employed by Julius Caesar in his Gallic wars, on page 12.

Next comes the main "Joke" section and there are a lot of school "cracks" worthy of a place in the columns of Puck, Judge or Life.

The issue closes with the interesting scandal page in the form of questions, some of which even the uninitiated outsider may guess the answer to, despite the naive disclaimer of the authoress at the end. Miss Ina Geniet of the county normal is evidently stating the cold facts in her discussion of "Why Pupils Fail". The merchants of the city have evidently responded liberally to the appeals of the Chanticleer's advertising manager and the ads are representative of the city's leading firms.

The Chanticleer will make its appearance on the first of each month to and including June 1st. It is a live, snappy little school organ, well written and efficiently organized and is well worth the subscription price.

REBEKAH CIRCLE MET AT THE McCALL HOME

Members Say Farewell to the Roy Bowdishes

The Rebekah Circle met with sister Marie McCall, last Wednesday afternoon, at her home on East Hurbut Avenue, twenty-nine of the circle's members being present.

The regular business session was disposed of as quickly as possible and the circle got to the real business of putting away the chop suey and other delectables provided for the supper. In this matter, the ladies were nobly supported by their husbands, who joined the party in time to get in on the eats. All reported perfect satisfaction.

The affair was also in the nature of a farewell reception for Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowdishes, who left Thursday for New Orleans, where they will make their future home.

ANNUAL PYTHIAN HUNT OCTOBER 23

Pino Lake Lodge Will Hold Their Popular Hunt and Game Supper

The annual hunting event of the local Pythians will occur on October 23rd. The lodge will be divided into three teams to be selected by the entertainment committee. One team will be called the "Blues" a second team the "Yellows" and a third the "Reds." The highest scoring will not be required to work. The next best team will be required to wait on the tables, while the low team will have to prepare the game and do the cooking. The game supper will be given on Thursday, October 25th.

The purpose of the event is not to slaughter game but to provide an outing or vacation day for the members. Instead of hunting on separate days, all of the boys will go out on the same day. Each member will be notified of his team membership and will be required to wear his colors. The siren on the fire hall will blow at seven o'clock a. m. sharp announcing the beginning of the hunt. Citizens will take notice of this and not get out of bed to attend a fire at this, for them unseemly hour.

The wives, sisters and best girls of the Pythians will be invited to the game supper as guests and a program of entertainment will be given. The hour of the supper is 6:30 p. m.

USE CARE IN POTATO DIGGING

WARNING SENT OUT BY STATE POTATO SPECIALIST

Do not Dig Until Ripe and Be Careful Not to Injure With Mechanical Digger

Use of more careful methods of harvesting Michigan's potato crop would result in a saving of thousands of dollars to farmers of the state, through better keeping quality of the tubers when placed in storage.

Many farmers fail to realize the need for care at digging time with reference to keeping qualities of the crop, says H. C. Moore, extension specialist in potatoes at M. A. C., who gives the following general rules for handling the spud harvest.

"Potatoes should be dug when they are well matured, so that the skin is not easily broken in handling. Immature potatoes are easily bruised and skinned. Such stock takes on a dark color which renders it undesirable on the market. Furthermore, immature potatoes are likely to rot in storage, and the shrinkage loss is heavy.

"If possible, the digging should be done on bright, cool days and when the soil is comparatively dry. When harvested under these conditions, the potatoes will maintain a brighter color and keep better in storage than when dug in warm, rainy weather.

"One of the main criticisms on the markets against Michigan potatoes is that many lots show too high a percentage of mechanical injuries. Growers are urged to use more care in digging. When digging with a fork or potato hook, pains should be taken not to stab the potatoes.

"The use of the mechanical diggers is becoming more general throughout the state. When properly operated, these machines dig the crop with a minimum amount of injury. The shovel point should be adjusted deep enough to avoid cutting the tubers.

"After the potatoes have been dug leave them on the ground for an hour or so to dry and toughen their skins."

S. A. DRIVE COMING NEXT

OCTOBER 13TH WILL BE ITS TAG DAY HERE

Army Plans To Spend Twenty-five Hundred Dollars In This County, Alone

Officers of the Salvation Army, from Boyne City, have been in town for the last two or three days, perfecting an organization to carry on a drive for $2,500.00, to be used in their work within the limits of Charlevoix county.

It is not generally realized by Charlevoix people that, although there is no regular post of the Army in this city, yet their work goes on among us, quietly and unobtrusively. Many needy cases, either investigated or reported to the Boyne headquarters direct, or turned over to the Army by the local authorities, are taken care of, practically and efficiently, without any blasts of the trumpet to announce that the faithful men and women in blue are "on the job." Once in a while, we recognize the familiar uniform in our streets and do not give it the consideration we should. It means that a big, fine, valuable institution is functioning efficiently for the relief of human misery and the building and regeneration of human souls.

Their organization here is now perfected and all is in readiness for the Army's four day campaign throughout the county. The quota set for Charlevoix city is $500.00. Masnn Rose has been selected to act as general chairman here. Others who will take part in the active solicitation of funds are, Archie Livingston, treasurer, and a business men's team to cover the down-town business district, composed of Dr. W. W. Mitchell, Robert Bridge, George W. Weaver and Charles F. Hamilton. There is also a women's committee, comprising a captain for each ward, for house to house canvass. They are, as follows: First Ward: Mrs. Robert Bonthron; Second Ward: Mrs. R. F. Sloan; Third Ward: Mrs. S. J. Alcox. The chairman for the tag day is Mrs. O. D. Hammond, who will be assisted in the work by nine ladies of the town.

The drive commenced this morning and will continue through until Friday evening, ending up Saturday with a tag day. All funds obtained by this drive will be spent exclusively in Charlevoix county.

The Army does a real and tangible good work. It reaches down to those who are not reached, as a rule, by any other agency. It brings to those who have fallen by the wayside of life a word of cheer and hope and a helping hand. It believes that a man may be "down, but he is never out" and it goes a long way towards proving the substance of that belief by making it good.

You are asked to support the Salvation Army in its work, as it gives relief and applies a remedy for human misery. It stands for moral, physical and spiritual regeneration. It knows no creed, it asks no questions. It helps! Help it!

UNFAIR METHODS EMPLOYED IN DRYGOODS GAME

We have Walt Whitman's authority for it that the ways of the heathen Chinese are dark and mysterious; we have read of the Mexican greaser and his wily skullduggery and a certain famous wielder of the Big Stick has given us the inside dope on the oppressive methods of John D. and lesser "plutes" in stifling competition, but they all look like a bunch of thorns compared to a certain merchant on our main drag who is modeling his plan of action on the gas warfare tactics employed by Messrs. Von Hindenberg, Ludendorff, et al in the late unpleasantness.

It is a well known fact that gas bombs have nothing on pole cats. Of course, the latter can't be dropped from the clouds but they can be planted, as this one was—right down underneath the northernmost grating in the sidewalk in front of J. L. Crane's store. Now whndayo think o' that! Poor, harmless, unsuspecting pussy, used as a weapon of cut-throat competition! Yes, Yes, we know its hard sledding here in the winter, boys, but even that doesn't excuse schemes of this character. And him a president of the hospital board! My, oh my!

EXCEPTIONAL RIDING COMFORT

The new Dodge Brothers Touring Car is exceptionally comfortable to ride in; it is good looking; and it incorporates many important refinements of detail.

The body is longer and lower, eliminating side sway, affording more leg room, and enhancing the beauty of the lines.

Deeper seats, long underslung rear springs and longer front springs, give ample assurance that cross country touring can be enjoyed without weariness or fatigue.

Yet with these improvements, and many others, it is still fundamentally the same car—built on the same chassis and powered by the same sturdy engine.

Reforestation and the Farm Woodlot

D. V. Baxter, Forester of the U. S. Dept. of Agr'l. was in Charlevoix recently investigating disease of White Pine and in response to a request to write an article for our Charlevoix county readers submitted the following:

"Reforestation on a large scale is not a proposition for the individual, but a forestry is by no means limited to our national estate forests. The large timber holders now of our county, and the American farmer is one of the big timber owners—are beginning to realize the largest benefits from the timberlands best protected, and best cared for. In Michigan, Henry Ford is actually practicing forestry on his lands by protecting the young growth and by having a diameter limit for his cutting. He desires a future usage of his timber. The mill owners and railroads are now co-operating with the fire wardens as never before. It is time for the farmer, in these days of increasing lumber prices, to consider the importance of protecting his timberlands, also.

The farmer is going to need timber as he has in the past and is now his own big market. Whatever forest products that can be sold over his own demand means just that much more to his pocketbook. In Michigan, according to the fourteenth census, 36.7 percent of all farms reported forest products in 1919. There are now 442, 647 acres of merchantable timber on the Michigan farms and the products have a total value of $12,649,621.

Such timber lands are certainly worth consideration. Not only do they offer a means to salvage winter labor, teams etc., but the woodlot offers a channel thru which idle acres may be turned into producers. However, such values can remain for the farmer in the future only if the woodlot receives the proper care. If the timber is slashed, as will be the future values.

If the farm forest, on the other hand, receives scientific handling, the farmer will continue to have wood to work with and wood to use. Protection is one of the fundamentals of forest management. Protection from fire, from insects, and disease. Fire wardens are now controlling various sections and are doing everything possible to save the timber. In Charlevoix County the value of this protection of the timber and of the fine young hardwood reproduction is difficult to estimate.

The white pine in Charlevoix County is indeed scarce. The pine in this section valuable, mainly for its beauty rather than for lumber, must be protected from the white pine blister rust. This disease has been found in two Michigan Counties, but fortunately they are removed from the timbered areas of the state.

The white pine blister rust is European disease which was introduced into this country on imported white pine seedlings. The life history of this rust is striking in that the parasite uses two entirely different plants to complete the full cycle. Part of the parasite's life is spent on the white pine (and other 5-needled vines) and the rest of the cycle requires currants or gooseberry plants (wild or cultivated.) Where the infections of white pine occur, the disease does great damage to the trees. Such trees that harbor the rust should be destroyed, and in plantations where the blister rust has been found, currants and gooseberries should be destroyed in a zone at least 200 yards wide about the white pine. Further information concerning this disease may be obtained from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

M. A. C. Winter Courses in Agriculture

There has been received at the County Farm Bureau office at Boyne City a few copies of the catalogue illustrating and announcing the Winter Short Courses in Agriculture to be offered at the Michigan Agricultural College this winter.

The courses offered for 1923 and 1924 and their dates are as follows:
General Agriculture - Sixteen Weeks-Two Years... Oct. 29-Mar. 6
General Agriculture-Eight Weeks-Two Years... Jan. 7-Mar. 6
Dairy Production Course-Twelve Weeks... Jan. 7-Mar. 26
Dairy Manufactures Course-Eight Weeks... Jan. 7-Mar. 6
Ice Cream Making Course-Two Weeks... Mar. 10-Mar. 21
Horticultural Course-Eight Weeks... Jan. 7-Mar. 6

Truck and Tractor Course-Four Weeks... Jan. 28-Feb. 22
Truck and Tractor Course-Four Weeks... Feb. 25-Mar. 21
Farmers' Week... Feb. 4-Feb. 8
These catalogues not only present the above mentioned courses in a most interesting manner but they are also a regular album of pictures showing the College Campus scenes and activities. The book itself makes a fine souvenir of Michigan's Agricultural College.

762 Eggs Pay Plasterer For One Day's Work

A man who runs a farm in Virginia sent to the New York Herald the other day a letter in which he translated the cost of construction at present wages into food at the price the farmers get.

The example he gives is most illuminating:

"It takes 63 1-2 dozen, or 762, eggs to pay a plasterer for one day of eight hours work."

"It takes 17 1-2 bushels of corn, or a year's receipts from an acre, to pay a bricklayer one day."

"It takes twenty-three chickens weighing three pounds each to pay a painter for one day's work in New York."

"It takes forty-two pounds of butter, or the output from fourteen cows, fed and milked for twenty-four hours, to pay a plumber $14 a day."

"It takes a hog weighing 175 pounds, representing eight months, feeding and care to pay a carpenter for one day's work."

These facts are beyond argument. Reduced to barter and exchange the charges made by skilled labor are startling to say the least. How do they "get away with it," to use the slang expression.

The answer is simple. Labor is organized. Its creed is, "Work less, demand more, increase membership." The farmer in his present unorganized state, protestingly accepts what is handed him. He dare not strike, from patriotic reasons. Food is the coin of the earth. He must go on producing, else nations starve. And his overproduction ruins his own market.

Labor knows how to handle its oversupply. So does capital. When there is an oversupply of labor, each man continues to hold his job, but "strikes on the job"—that is he simply loaf along and thus making work for a brother workman. When there is an oversupply of oil, the Standard Oil and other big oil companies do not dump it on the market and thus destroy the selling price.

No indeed! They store it in tanks and hold it until the market is ready for it—at their own price.

Tire manufacturers, through The Rubber Club, an organization composed of the heads of the big rubber companies, wisely calculate just how many new cars will be manufactured each year. They then plan to produce just four tires for each new car adding to this number a sufficient supply to take care of replacements on old cars. All well organized. Well greased. A system that can't be beat.

But proving the value of organization, an "outlaw" busted out of the Rubber Club, it is said, and started to make tires on a large scale, paying no heed to demand. What happened. You remember. Tires tumbled. Every tire manufacturer suffered, including the man who started the landslide. As long as exactly the right number of tires were produced prices were held at a satisfactory level. As soon as the oversupply came into the market prices fell.

But can farmers organize for their own protection? You bet they can. And what is more, they are doing it. It comes slowly, but it is coming. The farmer is naturally suspicious of business, of banks, or corporations. When he is well organized, his statisticians will tell him just how much wheat he shall raise, and he will raise that amount and no more. His surplus land and energy will be put into other crops, also recommended by his statisticians. And then it will take the plasterer three days labor to pay for a dozen eggs, instead of 762 eggs for one day's labor. The balance will be struck!

Fall and Winter Care of Potatoes

The attention of potato growers is being called continually to the control of such diseases as late blight, hopperburn, rhizoctonia, and blackleg, which occur during the growing season, while little or nothing is said or done to control several troubles which occur after the crop has been produced and which result in the loss of thousands of bushels of potatoes each year.

Chilling injury, or "frost frost" as it is sometimes called, and breakdown are two fall and winter troubles of potatoes tubers which

Only the complete facilities and resources of Oakland, a division of General Motors, permit these quality-built, six-cylinder closed cars, with Fisher bodies, to be sold at such unusually low prices.

Smooth and quiet performance, of a kind hitherto found only in the costliest cars, is achieved by Oakland's brand new engine. The very ultimate measure of safety is insured by Oakland's sound, practical and simple four-wheel brakes. Nowhere is there the slightest compromise with sturdiness, comfort, power, or any other quality essential to the finest closed car.

You must actually see these closed cars to appreciate fully how far they surpass all others at anywhere near their remarkably low prices. Won't you stop in today and inspect them?

merit the attention of every potato grower, because the losses which they cause can be prevented.

Chilling Injury

Growers are well acquainted with the watery softening of potato tubers when solid freezing occurs, but the effect of slight chilling is not generally known. Many specimens of potato tubers are sent by growers to this station each winter which, from all external appearances, are normal, but which when cut open show a blackening of the fibrils which may extend for a considerable distance into the tuber from the stem end, as shown in Fig. 2. Other tubers show brown or grayish-black areas in the flesh at the stem end just outside of the vascular ring and about an eighth of an inch beneath the skin, the flesh being somewhat withered at these places. (Fig. 3.) When cooked, such tubers instead of being white and mealy, are blackened and soggy, much to the chagrin of the housewife.

The symptoms described above are produced when the potato tuber is chilled by being subjected to temperatures near the freezing point of water (32° F.) The severity of the symptoms depends upon the length of time the tubers are chilled. Symptoms as shown in (Fig. 2.) may be produced by subjecting tubers to below freezing temperatures for a period of only three or four hours, a fact which emphasizes the care with which potatoes should be handled. Good judgment must be used at harvest. (Continued on page 7.)

DOES HONESTY PAY?
"Taking the other fellow's money is all right, if you can get away with it." Substantiated moral considerations, this statement expresses a not uncommon viewpoint. Leaving out the morality for the moment, the question is—Can you get away with it?

The answer is, No. The chances of stealing without detection and conviction are estimated at one out of one hundred. The chances of being a professional thief without ever being punished are estimated at one out of a thousand. Not all thieves are punished, but practically all thieves sooner or later are apprehended. The other day a notorious criminal, "Liverpool Jack," died, in his own bed it is true, but of his fifty years twenty nine had been spent in jail. The "vacations," out of jail as criminals call them, are estimated at six to eight months on the average.

The "earnings" of thieves are exaggerated. Several years ago Joseph Flynn estimated them at $1600 a year, and the amount today is probably no greater. It is less than the average of unskilled labor. It is not generally known that thieves usually give up their occupation as soon as they are convinced that it does not pay. It takes ten to fifteen years of imprisonment to bring this conviction. Those who have been unusually successful may stick to it with even twenty years spent behind the bars. After the fifteen year limit the criminal is likely to get what he calls "the shivers," a constant physical tremor caused by fear of capture, which incapacitates him from success or even for any kind of work.

Dishonesty does not pay. Education is the only sure cure for thievery. Crookdom has its own schools, and the schools of honor must be even more devoted, more skillful, more convincing in their instruction. To the school of the crook which teaches how dishonesty can beat machinery, the school of honor has an overwhelming answer. It is this:

A man can make more money, have greater peace of mind, and enjoy freedom by keeping straight than by growing crooked. Possibly the crook may beat the machine, but he cannot beat the moral law of the universe.—National Honesty Bureau.

POSTUM CEREALS TAKE THREE GAMES

Hand Out Two Shut-Outs and 3 to 2 Score to East Jordan

East Jordan's Northern Michigan League ball team lost each of the three games played in that city on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of last week, with the fast Postum Cereals of Battle Creek.

In Friday's game the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Battle Creek aggregation, Saturday's game resulted in the same score, and the score on Sunday was 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors.

For a while in Sunday's game it looked as if East Jordan would win out. With Gunderson on the mound and going good, the Food City boys did not score until the eighth inning, when E. J. center fielder dropped a fly. In the ninth the East Jordan second baseman had a little hard luck and allowed the Postum players two more. East Jordan scored two runs in the 4th when the Kamradt brothers and Gunderson each came across with healthy hits after one of their mates had gotten on first by a walk.

In the ninth inning the Postum shortstop fell while running to first base and sustained a fractured shoulder. He had to be carried from the field. All three of the games were beautiful exhibitions of the national pastime.

STUDENTS ENTER ESSAY CONTEST

Subject For This Year is to Be "Adventures of the Pioneer."

The subjects of the students' prize essay contest in Michigan history for 1923-1924 will be "Adventures of the Pioneers."

The contest is open to all students of all schools in Michigan. In former contests the students in small schools have been successful.

The contest will be conducted jointly in each community by the superintendent of school, the regent of the D. A. R. chapter, the president of the women's club and the secretary of the civic or business association, or by only one of them, who shall also judge the essays.

First and second prizes will be given in two groups, to students in the grades, in the high school. The local committee will determine the local prize to be awarded.

The judges should forward the prize essays to the Michigan Historical commission on or before April 30 1924, when they will be examined by the state committee. The essay selected by the state committee will be published by the Michigan Historical commission.

The essays may be as long as the student desires, but not less than 500 words.

All essays must be typewritten. Pictures illustrating the essays should be included, if possible.

MISS RUTH DURANCE MARRIED THIS NOON

Becomes Bride Of Francis A. Jones Of Frankfort

Miss Ruth F. Durance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jone Durance, of this city, and Mr. Francis A. Jones, of Frankfort, Michigan, were married today at high noon at the home of the bride's parents on Petoskey avenue, in the presence of only the most intimate friends of the family and amid beautiful decorations of larkspur and daisies.

The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. R. E. Quant, of the M. E. Church. The bride was beautifully gowned in pale blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of asters. Her attendant was Miss Pearl Durance, her sister, who was garbed attractively in blue silk. Mr. Vernon Alexander, of East Jordan, acted as groomsmen. Mrs. Quant played the wedding march. The bride received some very fine gifts.

Following the ceremony, a three-course dinner was served after which the happy couple left for their new home in Frankfort, where Mr. Jones is employed by the Manistee & Northeastern Railway. The bride has been a resident of Charlevoix all her life and is well-liked and respected. The Courier wishes them all success and happiness.

POULTRY

PLAN TO PREVENT MOULTING

Natural for Very Early Hatched Pullets to Go Through Partial Molt in Fall.

Every fall we hear a number of reports of pullet egg production being cut down by fall moulting. This is perhaps only natural when we consider that every one is working toward early maturity and production by means of better breeding early hatching and heavy feeding. It is natural for very early hatched pullets to stop laying and go through a partial moult before cold weather. In addition to this natural tendency, the moult may be hastened by any sudden change of feed, care or environment. The following simple rules, if followed, will be helpful to prevent this fall moult:

1. Avoid hatching out of season; March, April and May are best, the exact time depending on the breed.
2. Provide free range during the entire season.
3. Avoid rations containing an excess of protein.
4. Do not attempt to hold pullets back, let them mature normally.
5. Have the pullets in their winter quarters before production starts.
6. Avoid any sudden change in feed, care or management after production begins.—Connecticut Experiment Station.

DIFFICULTIES WITH TURKEYS

Hard Work to Keep Flocks From Wandering Over Wide Area and Invading Other Farms.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the greatest difficulties with which turkey growers have to contend is to keep their flocks from wandering over too wide an area and invading neighboring farms. To some extent, feeding heavily night and morning reduces the area over which turkeys range, but even then they often go too far. When trouble of this kind occurs, the most effective plan is to drive them into an enclosure and keep them there until about noon.

In warm weather turkeys do most of their ranging early in the morning, and by nine o'clock they are usually as far from home as they will get during the day. As soon as the sun becomes very warm they spend most of their time in the shade, until three or four o'clock in the afternoon, when they begin moving toward home, ranging for feed along the way. If the weather is not too warm they do not spend so much time lying in the shade, and consequently range over a larger area, and may keep moving away from home until noon. By feeding in the pen every morning they soon learn to go there on command down from roost, and no time is lost in penning them. If they fly out of the pen after being fed, the flight feathers from one wing should be clipped.

KILLING OFF BEST CHICKENS

Housewife Makes Mistake in Getting Rid of Cockerels Because They Are Large.

The housewife who kills off her largest and best cockerels and pullets is not so much a poultrywoman as some people think. Often it is the cockerels that are the most valuable, yet nearly every farm woman thinks she is justified in killing off her largest chicks if they happen to be cockerels. It is not a very hard matter to get $2 and $3 for good, vigorous utility cockerels nowadays. Better be certain before you kill the next one.

GIVE OLD FOWLS ATTENTION

Here Intended to Be Sold Should Be Fattened and Placed on Market Soon as Possible.

Just now your greatest attention should be directed toward the care of the old hens. Those that you intend to keep over another year should be given a separate pen where you can give them additional care and a special ration to meet their requirements, but those you intend to sell should be fattened and placed on the market as soon as possible. SETS DATE FOR AN EDUCATIONAL WEEK

Coolidge Recommends General Observance in U. S.

County School Commissioner, Archie C. Belding, has submitted to this office for publication a copy of a proclamation by President Calvin Coolidge, relative to National Education Week, which is the week beginning November 18th and, according to the proclamation, is to be "set apart for the purpose of more liberally supporting and more effectively improving the educational facilities of our country."

Space and time do not permit of our printing the full text of this proclamation. We are therefore quoting excerpts only.

"Our country adopted the principle of self-government by a free people. Those who were worthy of being free were worthy of being educated. Those who had the duty and responsibility of government must necessarily have the education with which to discharge the obligations of citizenship. The sovereign had to be educated. The sovereign had become the people", and again: "We have observed the evidences of a broadening vision of the whole educational system. This has included a recognition that education must not end with the period of school attendance, but must be given every encouragement thereafter. To this end, the night schools of the cities, the moonlight schools of the southern Appalachian countries, the extension work of the colleges and universities, the provision for teaching technical, agricultural and mechanical arts, have marked out the path to a broader and more widely diffused national culture."

This too, especially: "Every American citizen is entitled to a liberal education. Without this, there is no guarantee for the permanence of free institutions, no hope of perpetuating self-government. Despotism finds its chief support in ignorance. Knowledge and freedom go hand in hand."

best time to see that no more tubers are dug each day than can be picked and hauled to the storage house and thus protected from frosts which may occur during the night.

Although not all the chilling injury is due to the negligence of the grower, as some of it no doubt occurs after the potatoes have left the grower's hands; nevertheless much of it can be prevented if each grower will take care to see that his crop is not subjected to freezing temperatures at harvest, in storage, or in transit to the shipping point.

Breakdown

Breakdown of potato tubers is another trouble which occurs during the storage season and which causes a shrinkage of thousands of bushels each year. The injury was particularly evident in Michigan storage houses during the last season. Due to the bumper potato crop in 1922 and the low prices which prevailed during the fall, many growers held their potatoes hoping for higher prices in the spring. As a result storage houses were overloaded, and even though the temperature may have been kept below 40 Fahrenheit, great losses occurred. In one northern Michigan storage house in which 15,000 or 20,000 bushels of potatoes were stored, the loss from breakdown was reported as 33 percent. On May 24, 1923, a specimen of breakdown was received from a grower who reported that 25 percent of his stock was affected.

When placed in storage on November 1, 1922, the potato tubers were in perfect condition, according to the grower's statement.

growers in various parts of the state, indicating that losses from breakdown were general and not confined to any one section.

Breakdown of potatoes may be of two types the one a superficial dying of areas of the skin and the second a deep internal discoloration of the flesh. The surface breakdown of potato tubers is an injury which makes its appearance after the tubers have been placed in storage. The first symptoms are observed by the grower three or four months after the date the potatoes were stored, when some tubers in the bin show on their surfaces slightly sunken, round or irregularly-shaped spots varying in size from one-sixteenth to three-fourth of an inch in diameter (Fig. 4.) The borders of the spots have a bluish or gunmetal hue. Upon cutting these sunken spots with a knife, it is found that they are only skin deep, and, except for the thin brown layer of dead cells beneath the skin, no rotting has progressed into the tuber. This surface breakdown is the so-called "Button-Rot" of the trade, but it is not a true rot of the tuber.

The pitting of the tubers becomes more pronounced as the season advances, and with the coming of warm weather in the spring the most severe symptoms of breakdown are seen. Many tubers are found to be soft and mushy, and others when cut open, show black centers, a condition known as "blackheart" (Fig. 5.) Blackheart often occurs in refrigerator car shipments or in shipments where tubers are subjected to overheating of the tubers. It is common with pitted potatoes when the spring weather is excessively warm.

Breakdown is purely physiological trouble and is not caused by a fungus or bacterial parasite, as are such diseases as late blight or blackleg. The injury is brought about by a lack of oxygen, and the pitting as shown during the winter results from the death of the cells around the lentils or breathing pores of the tubers. As more and more cells are killed, the spots increase in size. Potato tubers respire more rapidly later in the storage season, and, unless there is a sufficient supply of fresh air, the cells in the central part of the tubers will suffer from the lack of oxygen and as a result will be killed and blackened, as shown in (Fig. 4.) Such tubers fall prey to saprophytic bacteria, which are present everywhere but are not able to attack sound potatoes. The bacteria cause a foul smelling rot of the tubers and make sorting over of the stock or cleaning out the storage house a disagreeable task.

The enormous loss caused by breakdown each year can be prevented by giving more attention to ventilation in the construction of new potato storage houses or by remedying the defects of those already constructed. The following recommendations are made:

1. Provide each potato cellar or storage house with inlets for fresh air and outlets for foul air.
2. Provide false floors and walls for the bins.
3. Provide air spaces between bins.
4. Never store potatoes in piles more than five feet deep without making some provision for air to get to the center of the pile.

FIVE YEARS LATER, Mrs. Hull said: "I can speak just as highly of Doan's as I did when I recommended them before. I used this medicine occasionally as a tonic and it keeps my back and kidneys in good condition."

Salt, Lime and Iodine

Needed in Stock Rations

"Salt, lime and calcium are needed in every well-balanced live stock ration," declared Mr. B. Hart, of the agricultural chemistry department, University of Wisconsin.

"Salt is an essential factor in a well-balanced ration," declared Mr. Hart. When used it is usually in the form of ordinary salt or sodium chloride. The chlorine upon entering the stomach forms hydrochloric acid, and this acid is necessary for proper and complete digestion. The animal with a roughened coat is one which is not receiving proper nutrition, and this improper nutrition may sometimes be traced to a lack of salt in the ration.

"Nearly all common foodstuffs are very low in iodine content," said Mr. Hart. "The greatest loss resulting from a deficiency of iodine is in the birth of hairless pigs. The goiter region of this country is in the Northwest and it is in this section that high losses are incurred. The fact that it has not put in an appearance on your farm does not necessarily mean that it never will. A little iodine in the form of sodium or potassium iodide will serve as an insurance against trouble of this type."

"Calcium is being given off constantly in the form of salts in the milk of a dairy cow, and some provision must be made to replace this. It has been found that alfalfa hay cured under cups carries a vitamin which aids in calcium assimilation. Lime or bone-meal added to the roughage will also help to overcome the constant drain on the calcium supply of the body."

Good Feeds for Growing Pigs or the Brood Sow

A mixture of 60 per cent barley and 40 per cent oats will be a good mixture for growing pigs or brood sows. This mixture would be improved upon by making it 40 per cent barley, 30 per cent oats, 20 per cent middlings, and 10 per cent tankage. For fattening pigs a ration of 90 per cent barley and 10 per cent tankage or 60 per cent barley, 30 per cent middlings, and 10 per cent tankage will be found satisfactory.

Police had to be called to settle a loud quarrel between a husband and wife camping in a Jackson park when the wife dropped the baby. The enraged husband, it was learned, had had to pick it up.

Series of Experiments to Decide Value of Corn

Recently a series of experiments was run to decide the value of grinding corn. In these tests it was found that cornmeal produced 7 per cent more milk and 14 per cent more fat than ear corn. Where corn and cornmeal were compared with cornmeal it was found that the cornmeal was slightly in the lead, having a 2 per cent better production in butterfat.

Even though the corn is extra cheap, the cows will give a better account of themselves to the tester if they are fed corn that has been ground.

Regularity of Feeding Is of Much Importance

Regularity of feeding is of greater importance than time of feeding. In the care of dairy cows. The dairy cow should have regular meal hours. More roughage will be consumed if it is fed two or three times a day instead of only once.

Feeding of Minerals to Cows Is Not Profitable

Feeding of mineral mixtures to dairy cows did not show profit in pounds of milk produced at the Ohio station, where it was carefully tried out.

To supply minerals to dairy cows in forms that can best be used is by feeding legume roughage, such as alfalfa hay, clover and soy bean hay, rich in minerals and nitrogen. This applies both in raising young animals and feeding for milk production.

to commercial supremacy through her wonderful industrial discipline. Discipline is more than the law of man, it is the basic law of life. Bring it right down to the hour and place—would members of a highly disciplined community break quarantine and enviously mingle with their neighbors in the knowledge that they were spreading a loathsome disease but deafened by self-interest to any appeal of conscience or duty?

Away with this mush about self-expression for the individual! That might have been all right in the cave-dwelling days, but it doesn't work in our highly complex age of dense populations. When our murderers, highway robbers and 57 varieties of con men start "expressing their individuality" today, we put 'em behind the bars (or ought to). That's discipline. In the majority of cases, had they become acquainted with it in their youth they wouldn't be where they are today.

And how, my friend, do you expect your boy or girl to live an orderly life if you don't live one yourself. It is true, you might retort, mend your own fences first, but that is beside the question. All of us know better than we practice and many physician cannot heal himself. A growing boy has mounted his father on a pedestal and in him sees the incarnation of what he himself should be. Up to a certain age, he follows his father, right or wrong. Beyond that point, should he discover that his idol is clay-footed, only innate strength of character will enable him to set up higher standards for himself. A man who, like many in this community as well as others, is a wastrel of his time, gambling in quiet corners and encouraging the bootlegger, brazenly advocating defiance of the law and conniving at its violation, has little grounds to quarrel with his son or daughter, should they overstep the bounds of decent behavior. The mother of the fourteen or sixteen year old girl who permits her daughter to roam the streets of the city at night and contents herself with a sleepy, "Is that you, Mary?" when the infantile adventurer blows in somewhere around the wee sma' hours, is as deeply branded with that daughter's sin as is the father whose more or less open alliance with the worst elements of the city encourages his son to throw off irksome moral restraints and turn into the road leading to disgrace and the penitentiary. Truly the fathers are eating the "sour grapes" and the children's teeth are edging. The responsibilities of parenthood cannot be shifted.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The closing of churches by order of the Board of Health is of great moment. No people are more law-abiding than christian people. We gladly acquiesce. We wish to lend our influence to the health department to stay the threatening plague. But did you notice how dull Sunday was, not to hear the church bells ring? Who would like to live in a community where there were no churches? We can do without a good deal in this day, but we cannot subtract from our civilization the individual need of spiritual life.

If a prolonged epidemic demands closed doors of our churches it ought to send every christian in the community to his knees. Just now our message to the Methodists at least is "Let us pray."

The pastor will preach at Green-sky Hill Sunday 2:30 p. m. Sunday school proceeds.

STATE ENFORCES NEW MOTOR LAWS

DRIVERS SHOULD BECOME CONVERSANT WITH CHANGES

Owners Have Been Notified and No
Leniency Will Be Shown Offenders

Believing that motorists of Michigan have had sufficient time to thoroughly acquaint themselves with the new automobile laws, the Uniform Traffic Law passed by the last legislature, the state Police are now enforcing the automobile laws to the letter. Many arrests have been made in many parts of the State in the last few weeks because of minor violations. Secretary of State, Charles DeLand, recently issued letters to all peace officers and the State Police as well, calling their attention to the fact that the Uniform Traffic Law is in effect and that they would be expected to enforce it and the old automobile laws as well.

The principal violations of these laws upon which the State Police have been called to make recent arrests are:

Failing to keep automobile license tags properly hung.

Failing to have parking lights burning and failing to dim headlights upon the approach of another vehicle.

Failing to extend arm upon turning, or halting a machine.

Failing to come to a complete stop upon approaching any main State Trunk Line.

Failing to stop behind stopped street cars or other passenger carrying vehicle.

Parking on the public highway.

These seven salient points in the automobile laws of Michigan must be adhered to the State Police department insists. The motorcycle patrols of the department are constantly on the lookout for violators and are co-operating with city and county officials. In Jackson recently 80 motorists were arrested on charges of violating the automobile laws, in a single day. Every motorist well knows the speed limit allowed on the State highways of Michigan; which is 35 miles per hour. It is not deemed necessary to call the attention of motorists to this phase of the law and many arrests for speeding are recorded on the court files of any county.

There is a provision of the State law which says that automobile license tags must be fastened in a conspicuous place, front and rear. Many drivers are being haled into court for having them concealed behind bumpers or for allowing them to become mud bespattered so that they cannot be readily read.

At any time an automobile is stopped on a road, trunk line or country, the law says that a white light must show from the front and a red light from the rear. This provision of the law permits the use of what is termed a "parking light" or one light with white front and red glass rear.

The Uniform Traffic Law says that the driver of an automobile upon making a right or left turn, or upon coming to a complete stop, or upon slowing down must extend his arm to warn machines approaching from the rear. The State Police have approved a system of signals as follows: Arm pointing skyward to denote a right turn; arm extended horizontally to denote a left turn; arm pointing toward the road to denote a stop or slowing down. This same system of signaling has been adopted and approved by the police departments of a number of cities.

Another feature of this same law is the section making it compulsory to stop while approaching a state trunk line road, the automobiles on the trunk line having the right of way.

On practically every main road

in the state there is sufficient "shoulder" or unused part of the road to the side of the beaten path, where a motorist can stop his machine to make an adjustment, repair a tire, etc. Failure to pull the machine to one side is a violation of this section.

Best Plan to Get Good Cows Is to Raise Them

Profitable dairy cows may be secured in two ways. First, they may be purchased. This is, no doubt, the most expensive way, but necessary in many cases in order to get a start. In purchasing cows you take chances on getting individuals not as good as they look, for often the best judges of dairy animals are fooled in the value of cows. Then, also, there is the chance of bringing in diseases such as tuberculosis, contagious abortion, and other troubles, says J. P. LaMaster, chief of the dairy division of Clemson college.

The second and best way to get good profitable cows is to raise them on your farm. All dairy cows depend for their value on the inherent tendency to convert feed into milk and on their proper growth and development. That is, they must have well-bred ancestry. Although the cows you now own may be graded and poor grades at that, you can insure the value of your future herd by breeding these cows to well-bred pure bred bulls.

A well-bred bull is not only a registered bull, but one having a sire coming from a line of high butterfat and milk producers, and out of a dam with a good butterfat record, nothing less than 400 pounds in one year, she also having come from a line of high producing ancestry.

The tendency of the normal cow is to revert to the original wild cow which gave only enough milk for her calf; so unless by selection you increase the ability to produce, you will soon have only boarder cows which will not pay you for the feed they eat or the labor necessary to manage them.

The most profitable system of dairy farming is to have the most of the cows freshen in the fall. In order to do this it is necessary to breed the cows during November, December and January. If you do not have a good bull or do not live near a farmer who owns a good bull to which you can breed your cows, begin now to locate one for your own use. The dairy division of Clemson college will assist you in locating a good bull.

Plan Outlined to Avoid Grassy Flavor in Milk

When the herd is first placed on pasture or is turned into clover or alfalfa, a grassy taste is often caused in the milk for a short time, not only making the milk objectionable to trade, but affecting the butter taste as well. This can usually be eliminated by starting the herd on a change of pasture, or a pasture from confinement, gradually.

Do not leave the herd on the new pasture too long the first day—a few hours in the morning or afternoon, supplementing this with some grain and a dry roughage such as silage. The silage can best be saved during the time of good pasture, after the cows have gradually been allowed more time in the pasture, as it will make a good supplement for poor pastures later in the summer. After a week or ten days, cows producing twenty pounds of milk a day or less will need little if any grain on good pasture. For heavier producers, feed a pound of grain for each six or eight pounds of milk produced per day.

A mixture of 400 pounds of ground corn, 200 pounds ground oats, or bran, and 100 pounds of cotton seed meal is recommended by the Purdue dairy department. Cottonseed meal is especially good as this time, to produce a firm butter with better quality, as well as to tend to check the laxative effects of a fresh pasture. A liberal supply of salt should be available to herds on pasture at all times.

Ohio Cow Makes Record of Five Sets of Twins

The Ohio Station Bulletin 7 makes note of a cow in the station herd that is reported to have dropped five sets of twins out of seven times calving. Twinning has also been rather common in other closely related cows in the herd. The possibility of establishing a family of cows which would produce a high percentage of twins is suggested, but it is pointed out that of the nine sets of twins recorded six sets were male and freemartin and three were males.

Good Cows Will Always Pay Biggest Dividend

Just because a poor milk-producing cow pays you a return, do not conclude that scrubs pay. This is an unusually productive year for dairy cows, and with cheap feed you should make money on any sort of animal. Good cows will pay you a still greater return.

Let your feet wonder but keep your mind at home.

A NEWSPAPER SERMON WITH A TIMELY TEXT

We Steal The Preacher's Thunder To Hammer Home a Few Platitudes

"The fathers have eaten sour grapes, and the children's teeth are set on edge." Ezekiel, 18-2.

It is not often that we preface an article in this paper with a text from the good Book. However, the text fits in with what we are going to say and, in a way, expresses the theme of this article; also, inasmuch as the preachers couldn't preach last Sunday, we feel that, coming next in line as we do ("the pulpit and the press," you know), we are just a little bit obligated to help them out.

Something happened a week or so ago that affords us an opportunity to give expression to something we have had on our editorial mind for some time. It seems that a cottage on Park avenue, recently vacated by a resort family was entered and certain depredations committed therein. The participants in this outrage were school-boys and girls, two of them mere children.

Of course the police were requested to act and they acted. It is not necessary to mention names. That would do no good, whatever, and would simply serve to localize the sore spot and give other offenders of as lightly milder sort who have not fallen into the fire as yet but are merely playing with it a chance to pat themselves on the back in comforting comparison—and their parents likewise, after the fashion of parents everywhere. You know how it goes—"Of course, that's all you could expect of that horrid Jones boy, but my Johnny (or Mary) would never think of such a thing."

Very comfortable sort of a feeling that, but sort of unconvincing when you come to figure out that Johnny, Mary and the Jones boy are pretty much the same sort of kids—full of life and animal spirits and in the formative period, when their minds take all sorts of impressions, good and bad, as clay takes shape under the molder's fingers.

Now, what could the authorities do after they had caught the culprits and definitely fixed their responsibility for the property destruction alleged to have taken place? Send 'em to the reform school? Yes. Yes! Imagine the hullabaloo that would result—children of our leading families sent "over the road." Can't you hear the axes falling and the political and official heads dropping into the basket already. Well then, what? Warn 'em? That's probably what they did do, but how much effect does warning have on a child or a young boy or girl. Especially, when they instinctively feel that their parents side with them against the authorities?

But we must have a goat of some kind. Let's see—shall it be the school superintendent? Why, sure, he has the kids for five or six hours a day. He's the guy. Why don't he make 'em behave. Hold 'em—what have we heard from some quarters, lately, about the school superintendent—that he was too strict, too much of a disciplinarian? Why? He actually bawls some of the sensitive young souls for their shortcomings and has even been known to use harsher methods with some of the

Every candidate for public office will be put on record by the dries in the 1923 campaign says, Luren D. Dickinson, former lieutenant-governor and dry leader.

Mr. Dickinson believes that Michigan will draw the attention of the national wet organization next year. He is of the opinion that an effort will be made to commit candidates to a 2-3-4 per cent beer platform.

"In view of the fact that it will probably be a sharply divided campaign," he said, "it will influence the candidates for state as well as national offices. There will be definite wet and dry candidates. The dry forces plan to put every man on record. There will be more advertising and a greater effort to acquaint every voter with the attitudes of the candidates on the prohibition question."

harder-boiled. Honestly, now, what do you folks expect a school superintendent to do—follow your boy and girl around nights and see where they go and what they do—a kind of old fashioned English form monitor might do it, but you can hardly ask it of a busy, modern school executive, however cheerful and self-sacrificing his disposition. Don't you suppose that the young folks know that his responsibility stops at the school-room door and does it add any weight to the advice and admonitions that he gives them to be patted comiseratingly on the head by their parents when they return home with their tales of woe and be told, in substance, that they are the patient and long-suffering victims of a martinet?

Two much discipline! Ye gods! Look about you. What is the world's most crying need today. Isn't it discipline of heart and mind and body, both self-imposed and administered by those entrusted with the law's enforcement, that would turn this old world into a paradise? Isn't it the lack of it that makes labor futile and aimless, society barren, marriage a joke, government an empty form and religion anemic? If you want an example of the value of discipline, look at Germany today, despised and under the heel of her conquerors, yet peacefully conquering the world in its own markets, able to undersell her competitors and slowly climbing once more

SUPREME COURT AFFIRMS LOWER TRIBUNAL'S RULING

Judge Asserts Plaintiff Did Not Fulfill Important Stipulated Conditions

Those of our readers who, throughout the many months of its continuance, have followed with more or less interest the course of the Abbott suit against the City of Charlevoix and Henry Richardi, will be glad to note that the plaintiff's appeal to the Supreme court has resulted in a verdict for the defendants.

The opinion of the court sets forth the contracts between the parties in full and the claims of the parties. It recites the opinion given by Judge Chester, who heard the case in the lower court. It then concludes with the following language, which quite clearly states the view the defendants had of the case from the beginning:

"The rule is very well established that when a plaintiff comes into a court of equity he must establish a case by a preponderance of proof. Unfortunately, for Mr. Abbott, he has failed to do this. Six or eight witnesses do not remember important conversations as he remembers them. The conduct of the parties is not consistent with the present claim of Mr. Abbott. The contract Mr. Abbott had with Mr. Richardi provided for a sale of the plant to Mr. Abbott within sixty days of its date 'upon the terms, conditions and considerations hereinafter set forth'. Those terms, conditions and considerations have never been fulfilled by Mr. Abbott. By Subdivisions 21 and 22, of Mr. Abbott's contract with the City of Charlevoix, he was required to do very important things. 'In default thereof this contract shall be of no further force or effect.' Abbott did not meet these requirements. The opinion and decree of the court below are fully justified by the preponderance of the evidence."

The Courier sincerely trusts that the above-quoted decision of the supreme court may bring to a permanent close a case that has occupied the court of this county for several years entailing a heavy burden of expense to both parties. It is also cause for congratulation that its protraction has not been attended by any impairment of our excellent electric light and power service. In other words, the people in this case have not been the ones to "hold the bag".

HAVE EPIDEMIC UNDER CONTROL

FIRST CASE IMPORTED HERE FROM WISCONSIN

Alleged Breaking of Quarantine Cause Of Its Spread—Five Cases Reported So Far

The one absorbing topic of conversation and speculation this week is the small pox epidemic.

This disease made its appearance out Norwood way several weeks ago the first case being a visitor from Wisconsin. According to our advisers, the health authorities acted promptly in establishing a state of quarantine and placarding the house. Last week several other cases developed and on Monday morning five cases of the malady, accepted as such by the attending physicians, were reported along with a number of suspected cases, quarantined and held under observation. The pest house south of town was put into condition to receive patients and yesterday morning one of the victims was removed thereto.

Though some difference of opinion exists between the city's physicians as to the identity of the disease, as small pox, the cases so far developed have been deemed serious enough to warrant quarantine and special treatment. Many of the townspeople have submitted to vaccination on the advice of their doctor and every precaution is now being taken to prevent the spread of the disease, whatever it may be.

It appears that some one or two of the members of the three original families quarantined when the disease first appeared in their homes, took it upon themselves some six weeks or so ago to remove the small pox sign from their home and later appeared in town before the disease in their case, had passed its active stage. It is also alleged that visitors were admitted to their houses during the period of quarantine prescribed by the physician. It is not possible for us, at this time, to ascertain the exact circumstances, but if what is alleged is true, the parties in question committed a disgraceful violation of the quarantine law, showed disregard of the welfare of their fellows and an amazing callousness and indifference to anything but their own selfish ends.

It makes no difference whether the doctors finally decide it to be small pox or Liberty measles, whether they thought they couldn't give it or not; as long as the quarantine was in force it should have been obeyed and let us say right here, that in view of the results it would have been cheaper and better all round had the health department appointed someone to guard these people and see that they kept within the confines of their homes. The quarantine law has teeth, if the authorities are disposed to show them and if a few violators came in rough contact with the statute's molars it might save a good many hundreds of dollars in loss of business later on and, possibly, human life, although as yet none of the cases has developed to that point of seriousness.

Had it been diphtheria instead of small-pox considerable loss of life might have resulted from one person's thoughtless and selfish act. There is but little difference between the person who kills another with a club or gun and one who willfully transmits a fatal disease. The violators of the present quarantine are fortunate for their souls' quiet that they are not in a like position.

Observed Seventh Birthday Eighteen playmates and friends of Alice Elizabeth Usher gathered at her home Friday afternoon, October 5th, to help celebrate her seventh anniversary. Games were played on the lawn until the summons came for refreshments. The little hostess received many gifts to remind her of the event.

CHANTICLEER A WINNING FOWL

CROWED FOR THE FIRST TIME HERE LAST WEEK

New School Paper a Real, Live Publication and Makes Interesting Reading

The first issue of the "Chanticleer", the new high-school paper, made its first bow to the public last week.

Moderesty forbids us to comment on the printing, cuts and set-up but we may and do praise unqualifiedly the work of the editor, Albert Widdifield and his able staff of collaborators.

First to greet the eye is a clever and seasonable cover design by the staff artist, C. H. Meyers, a Charlevoix product whose budding talent promises much for his future as an illustrator.

Passing the table of contents, with its original poem, the foreword by the editor and staff lineup, we come to a snappy editorial that expresses the purpose and keynote of the publication, an inspiring word of congratulation and encouragement by Superintendent Hamilton, another editorial, taking as its text or theme the idea expressed in Russell Conwell's "Acre of Diamonds" and well worth reading and digesting by all of us; an excellent philosophical contribution by instructor Altenburg; seventh grade news and the athletic section, with a fine cut of last year's squad and live dope on different branches of sport, including a little bit by Walter Camp, world-famous athletic director. The clever and humorous work of the department writers which follows, interspersed with a spicy sprinkling of brand new jokes, is especially good.

On page 10 we find a ghouliah tale of the Paris catacombs, probably written by Widdy after a bad night of wrestling with the effects of too much mince pie. It is a harrowing yarn and hold the reader's interest, stimulating the gooseflesh and raising the strands of one's hair to the covering to the last word. We confess to several wakeful nights after proofreading the copy. Claire H. Myers draws a striking comparison between modern methods of warfare and those employed by Julius Caesar in his Gallic wars, on page 12.

Next comes the main "Joke" section and there are a lot of school "cracks" worthy of a place in the columns of Puck, Judge or Life.

The issue closes with the interesting scandal page in the form of questions, some of which even the initiated outsider may guess the answer to, despite the naive disclaimer of the authoress at the end. Miss Ina Genet of the county normal is evidently stating the cold facts in her discussion of "Why Pupils Fail".

The merchants of the city have evidently responded liberally to the appeals of the Chanticleer's advertising manager and the ads are representative of the city's leading firms.

The Chanticleer will make its appearance on the first of each month to and including June 1st. It is a live, snappy little school organ, well written and efficiently organized and is well worth the subscription price.

REBEKAH CIRCLE MET AT THE McCALL HOME

Members Say Farewell to the Roy Bowdishes

The Rebekah Circle met with sister Marie McCall, last Wednesday afternoon, at her home on East Huron Avenue, twenty-nine of the circle's members being present.

The regular business session was disposed of as quickly as possible and the circle got to the real business of putting away the chop suey and other delectables provided for the supper. In this matter, the ladies were nobly supported by their husbands, who joined the party in time to get in on the eats. All reported perfect satisfaction.

The affair was also in the nature of a farewell reception for Mr. and Mrs. Roy Bowdishes, who left Thursday for New Orleans, where they will make their future home.

ANNUAL PYTHIAN HUNT OCTOBER 23

Pine Lake Lodge Will Hold Their Popular Hunt and Game Supper

The annual hunting event of the local Pythians will occur on October 23rd. The lodge will be divided into three teams to be selected by the entertainment committee. One team will be called the "Blues" a second team the "Yellows" and a third the "Reds." The highest scoring will not be required to work. The next best team will be required to wait on the tables, while the low team will have to prepare the game and do the cooking. The game supper will be given on Thursday, October 25th.

The purpose of the event is not to slaughter game but to provide an outing or vacation day for the members. Instead of hunting on separate days, all of the boys will go out on the same day. Each member will be notified of his team membership and will be required to wear his colors. The siren on the fire hall will blow at seven o'clock a. m. sharp announcing the beginning of the hunt. Citizens will take notice of this and not get out of bed to attend a fire at this, for them unseeing hour.

The wives, sisters and best girls of the Pythians will be invited to the game supper as guests and a program of entertainment will be given. The hour of the supper is 6:30 p. m.

USE CARE IN POTATO DIGGING

WARNING SENT OUT BY STATE POTATO SPECIALIST

Do not Dig Until Ripe and Be Careful Not to Injure With Mechanical Digger

Use of more careful methods of harvesting Michigan's potato crop would result in a saving of thousands of dollars to farmers of the state, through better keeping quality of the tubers when placed in storage.

Many farmers fail to realize the need for care at digging time with reference to keeping qualities of the crop, says H. C. Moore, extension specialist in potatoes at M. A. C., who gives the following general rules for handling the spud harvest.

"Potatoes should be dug when they are well matured, so that the skin is not easily broken in handling. Immature potatoes are easily bruised and skinned. Such stock takes on a dark color which renders it undesirable on the market. Furthermore, immature potatoes are likely to rot in storage, and the shrinkage loss is heavy."

"If possible, the digging should be done on bright, cool days and when the soil is comparatively dry. When harvested under these conditions, the potatoes will maintain a brighter color and keep better in storage than when dug in warm, rainy weather."

"One of the main criticisms on the markets against Michigan potatoes is that many lots show too high a percentage of mechanical injuries. Growers are urged to use more care in digging. When digging with a fork or potato hook, pains should be taken not to stab the potatoes."

"The use of the mechanical diggers is becoming more general throughout the state. When properly operated, these machines dig the crop with a minimum amount of injury. The shovel point should be adjusted deep enough to avoid cutting the tubers."

"After the potatoes have been dug leave them on the ground for an hour or so to dry and toughen their skins."

S. A. DRIVE COMING NEXT

OCTOBER 13TH WILL BE ITS TAG DAY HERE

Army Plans To Spend Twenty-five Hundred Dollars In This County, Alone

Officers of the Salvation Army, from Boyne City, have been in town for the last two or three days, perfecting an organization to carry on a drive for $2,500.00, to be used in their work within the limits of Charlevoix county.

It is not generally realized by Charlevoix people that, although there is no regular post of the Army in this city, yet their work goes on among us, quietly and unobtrusively. Many needy cases, either investigated or reported to the Boyne headquarters direct, or turned over to the Army by the local authorities, are taken care of, practically and efficiently, without any blasts of the trumpet to announce that the faithful men and women in blue are "on the job." Once in a while, we recognize the familiar uniform in our streets and do not give it the consideration we should. It means that a big, fine, valuable institution is functioning efficiently for the relief of human misery and the building, and regeneration of human souls.

Their organization here is now perfected and all is in readiness for the Army's four day campaign throughout the county. The quota set for Charlevoix city is $500.00. Mason Rose has been selected to act as general chairman here. Others who will take part in the active solicitation of funds are, Archie Livingston, treasurer, and a business men's team to cover the down-town business district, composed of Dr. W. W. Mitchell, Robert Bridge, George W. Weaver and Charles F. Hamilton. There is also a women's committee, comprising a captain for each ward, for house to house canvass. They are, as follows: First Ward: Mrs. Robert Bonthron; Second Ward: Mrs. R. F. Sloan; Third Ward: Mrs. S. J. Alcox. The chairman for the tag day is Mrs. O. D. Hammond, who will be assisted in the work by nine ladies of the town.

The drive commenced this morning and will continue through until Friday evening, ending up Saturday with a tag day. All funds obtained by this drive will be spent exclusively in Charlevoix county.

The Army does a real and tangible good work. It reaches down to those who are not reached, as a rule, by any other agency. It brings to those who have fallen by the wayside of life a word of cheer and hope and a helping hand. It believes that a man may be "down, but he is never out" and it goes a long way towards proving the substance of that belief by making it good.

You are asked to support the Salvation Army in its work, as it gives relief and applies a remedy for human misery. It stands for moral, physical and spiritual regeneration. It knows no creed, it asks no questions. It helps! Help it!

UNFAIR METHODS EMPLOYED IN DRYGOODS GAME

We have Walt Whitman's authority for it that the ways of the heathen Chinese are dark and mysterious; we have read of the Mexican greaser and his wily skullduggery and a certain famous wielder of the Big Stick has given us the inside dope on the oppressive methods of John D. and lesser "plutes" in stifling competition, but they all look like a bunch of tin horns compared to a certain merchant on our main drag who is modeling his plan of action on the gas warfare tactics employed by Messrs. Von Hindenberg, Ludendorff, et al in the late unpleasantness.

It is a well known fact that gas bombs have nothing on pole cats. Of course, the latter can't be dropped from the clouds but they can be plunked, as this one was—right down underneath the northernmost grating in the sidewalk in front of J. L. Crane's store. Now whad'ya think o' that! Poor, harmless, unsuspecting-pussy, used as a weapon of cut-throat competition! Yes, Yes, we know it's hard alledging here in the winter, boys, but even that doesn't excuse schemes of this character. And him a president of the hospital board! My, oh my!

EXCEPTIONAL RIDING COMFORT

The new Dodge Brothers Touring Car is exceptionally comfortable to ride in; it is good looking; and it incorporates many important refinements of detail.

The body is longer and lower, eliminating side sway, affording more leg room, and enhancing the beauty of the lines.

Deeper seats, long underslung rear springs and longer front springs, give ample assurance that cross country touring can be enjoyed without weariness or fatigue.

Yet with these improvements, and many others, it is still fundamentally the same car—built on the same chassis and powered by the same sturdy engine.

Reforestation and the Farm Woodlot
D. V. Baxter, Forester of the U. S. Dept. of Agr'l. was in Charlevoix recently investigating disease of White Pine and in response to a request to write an article for our Charlevoix county readers submitted the following:

"Reforestation on a large scale is not a proposition for the individual, but a forestry is by no means limited to our national estate forests. The large timber holders now of our county, and the American farmer is one of the big timber owners—are beginning to realize the largest benefits from the timberlands best protected, and best cared for. In Michigan, Henry Ford is actually practicing forestry on his lands by protecting the young growth and by having a diameter limit for his cutting. He desires a future usage of his timber. The mill owners and railroads are now co-operating with the fire wardens as never before. It is time for the farmer, in these days of increasing lumber prices, to consider the importance of protecting his timberlands, also.

The farmer is going to need timber as he has in the past and is now his own big market. Whatever forest products that can be sold over his own demand means just that much more to his pocketbook. In Michigan, according to the fourteenth census, 36.7 percent of all farms reported forest products in 1919. There are now 442,647 acres of merchantable timber on the Michigan farms and the products have a total value of $12,649,621.

Such timber lands are certainly worth consideration. Not only do they offer a means to salvage winter labor, teams etc., but the woodlot offers a channel thru which idle acres may be turned into producers. However, such values can remain for the farmer in the future only if the woodlot receives the proper care. If the timber is slashed, so will be the future values.

If the farm forest, on the other hand, receives scientific handling, the farmer will continue to have wood to work with and wood to use.

Protection is one of the fundamentals of forest management. Protection from fire, from insects, and disease. Fire wardens are now patrolling various sections and are doing everything possible to save the timber. In Charlevoix County the value of this protection of the timber and of the fine young hardwood production is difficult to estimate.

The white pine in Charlevoix County is indeed scarce. The pine in this section valuable, mainly for its beauty rather than for lumber, must be protected from the white pine blister rust. This disease has been found in two Michigan Counties, but fortunately they are removed from the timbered areas of the state.

The white pine blister rust is European disease which was introduced into this country on imported white pine seedlings. The life history of this rust is striking in that the parasite uses two entirely different plants to complete the full cycle. Part of the parasite's life is spent on the white pine (and other 5-needled vines) and the rest of the cycle requires currants or gooseberry plants (wild or cultivated). Where the infections of white pine occur, the disease does great damage to the trees. Such trees that harbor the rust should be destroyed, and in plantations where the blister rust has been found, currants and gooseberries should be destroyed in a zone at least 200 yards wide about the white pine. Further information concerning this disease may be obtained from the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

M. A. C. Winter Courses in Agriculture

There has been received at the County Farm Bureau office at Boyne City a few copies of the catalogue illustrating and announcing the Winter Short Courses in Agriculture to be offered at the Michigan Agricultural College this winter.

The courses offered for 1923 and 1924 and their dates are as follows:

Truck and Tractor Course—Four Weeks... Feb. 25-Mar. 21
Farmers' Week... Feb. 4-Feb. 8
These catalogues not only present the above mentioned courses in a most interesting manner but they are also a regular album of pictures showing the College Campus scenes and activities. The book itself makes a fine souvenir of Michigan's Agricultural College.

762 Eggs Pay Plasterer For One Day's Work

A man who runs a farm in Virginia sent to the New York Herald the other day a letter in which he translated the cost of construction at present wages into food at the price the farmers gets.

The example he gives is most illuminating:

"It takes 63 1-2 dozen, or 762, eggs to pay a plasterer for one day of eight hours work."

"It takes 17 1-2 bushels of corn, or a year's receipts from an acre, to pay a bricklayer one day."

"It takes twenty-three chickens weighing three pounds each to pay a painter for one day's work in New York."

"It takes forty-two pounds of butter, or the output from fourteen cows, fed and milked for twenty-four hours, to pay a plumber $14 a day."

"It takes a hog weighing 175 pounds, representing eight months, feeding and care to pay a carpenter for one day's work."

"These facts are beyond argument. Reduced to barter and exchange the charges made by skilled labor are startling to say the least. How do they 'get away with it,' to use the slang expression."

The answer is simple. Labor is organized. Its creed is, "Work less, demand more, increase membership." The farmer in his present unorganized state, protestingly accepts what is handed him. He dare not strike, from patriotic reasons. Food is the coin of the earth. He must go on producing, else nations starve. And his overproduction ruins his own market.

Labor knows how to handle its oversupply. So does capital. When there is an oversupply of labor, each man continues to hold his job, but "strikes on the job"—that is he simply loaf along and thus making work for a brother workman. When there is an oversupply of oil, the Standard Oil and other big oil companies do not dump it on the market, and thus destroy the selling price, and hold it until the market is ready for it—at their own price.

Tire manufacturers, through The Rubber Club, an organization composed of the heads of the big rubber companies, wisely calculate just how many new cars will be manufactured each year. They then plan to produce just four tires for each new car adding to this number a sufficient supply to take care of replacements on old cars. All well organized. Well greased. A system that can't be beat.

But proving the value of organization, an "outlaw" busted out of the Rubber Club, it is said, and started to make tires on a large scale, paying no heed to demand. What happened. You remember. Tires tumbled. Every tire manufacturer suffered, including the man who started the landslide. As long as exactly the right number of tires were produced prices were held at a satisfactory level. As soon as the oversupply came into the market prices fell.

But can farmers organize for their own protection? You bet they can. And what is more, they are doing it. It comes slowly, but it is coming. The farmer is naturally suspicious of business, of banks, or corporations. When he is well organized, his statisticians will tell him just how much wheat he shall raise, and he will raise that amount and no more. His surplus land and energy will be put into other crops, also recommended by his statisticians. And then it will take the plasterer three days labor to pay for a dozen eggs, instead of 762 eggs for one day's labor. The balance will be struck!

Fall and Winter Care of Potatoes.
The attention of potato growers is being called continually to the control of such diseases as late blight, hopperburn, rhizoctonia, and black-leg, which occur during the growing season, while little or nothing is said or done to control several troubles which occur after the crop has been produced and which result in the loss of thousands of bushels of potatoes each year.

Chilling injury, or "field frost" as it is sometimes called, and breakdown are two fall and winter troubles of potatoes tubers which

DOES HONESTY PAY?

"Taking the other fellow's money is all right, if you can get away with it." Substantiated moral considerations, this statement expresses a not uncommon viewpoint. Leaving out the morality for the moment, the question is—Can you get away with it?

The answer is, No. The chances of stealing without detection and conviction are estimated at one out of one hundred. The chances of being a professional thief without ever being punished are estimated at one out of a thousand. Not all crimes are punished, but practically all thieves sooner or later are apprehended. The other day a notorious criminal, "Liverpool Jack," died, in his own bed it is true, but of his fifty years twenty nine had been spent in jail. The "vacations," out of jail as criminals call them, are estimated at six to eight months on the average.

The "earnings" of thieves are exaggerated. Several years ago Josiah Flynn estimated them at $1600 a year, and the amount today is probably no greater. It is less than the average of unskilled labor.

It is not generally known that thieves usually give up their occupation as soon as they are convinced that it does not pay. It takes ten to fifteen years of imprisonment to bring this conviction. Those who have been unusually successful may stick to it with even twenty years spent behind the bars. After the fifteen year limit the criminal is likely to get what he calls "the shivers," a constant physical tremor caused by fear of capture, which incapacitates him from success or even for any kind of work.

The discouraged criminal becomes a tramp. The average thief ends either in jail or "on the road."

Dishonesty does not pay.

Education is the only sure cure for thievery. Crookdom has its own schools, and the schools of honor must be even more devoted, more skilful, more convincing in their instruction. To the school of the crook which teaches how dishonesty can beat machinery, the school of honor has an overwhelming answer. It is this:

A man, can make more money, have greater peace of mind, and enjoy freedom by keeping straight than by growing crooked. Possibly the crook can beat the machine, but he cannot beat the moral law of the universe.—National Honesty Bureau.

POSTUM CEREALS TAKE THREE GAMES

Hand Out Two Shut-Outs and 3 to 2 Score to East Jordan

East Jordan's Northern Michigan League ball team lost each of the three games played in that city on Friday, Saturday and Sunday of last week, with the fast Postum Cereals of Battle Creek.

In Friday's game the score stood 3 to 0 in favor of the Battle Creek aggregation, Saturday's game resulted in the same score, and the score on Sunday was 3 to 2 in favor of the visitors.

For a while in Sunday's game it looked as if East Jordan would win out. With Gunderson on the mound and going good, the Food City boys did not score until the eighth inning, when E. J. center fielder dropped a fly. In the ninth the East Jordan second baseman had a little hard luck and allowed the Postum players two more. East Jordan scored two runs in the 4th when the Krumhardt brothers and Gunderson each came across with healthy hits after one of their mates had gotten on first by a walk.

In the ninth inning the Postum shortstop fell while running to first base and sustained a fractured shoulder. He had to be carried from the field. All three of the games were beautiful exhibitions of the national pastime.

STUDENTS' ENTER ESSAY CONTEST

Subject For This Year is to Be "Adventures of the Pioneer."

The subjects of the students' prize essay contest in Michigan history for 1923-1924 will be "Adventures of the Pioneers."

The contest is open to all students of all schools in Michigan. In former contests the students in small schools have been successful.

The contest will be conducted jointly in each community by the superintendent of school, the regent of the D. A. R. chapter, the president of the women's club and the secretary of the civic or business association, or by only one of them, who shall also judge the essays.

First and second prizes will be given in two groups, to students in the grades, in the high school. The local committee will determine the local prize to be awarded.

The judges should forward the prize essays to the Michigan Historical commission on or before April 30, 1924, when they will be examined by the state committee. The essay selected by the state committee will be published by the Michigan Historical commission.

The essays may be as long as the student desires, but not less than 500 words.

All essays must be typewritten. Pictures illustrating the essays should be included, if possible.

MISS RUTH DURANCE MARRIED THIS MORNING

Becomes Bride Of Francis A. Jones Of Frankfort

Miss Ruth F. Durance, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jone Durance, of this city, and Mr. Francis A. Jones, of Frankfort, Michigan, were married today at high noon at the home of the bride's parents on Petoskey avenue, in the presence of only the most intimate friends of the family and amid beautiful decorations of larkspur and daisies.

The ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. R. E. Quant, of the M. E. Church. The bride was beautifully gowned in pale blue crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of asters. Her attendant was Miss Pearl Durance, her sister, who was garbed attractively in blue silk. Mr. Vernon Alexander, of East Jordan, acted as groomsmen. Mrs. Quant played the wedding march. The bride received some very fine gifts.

Following the ceremony, a three-course dinner was served after which the happy couple left for their new home in Frankfort, where Mr. Jones is employed by the Manistee & Northeastern Railway. The bride has been a resident of Charlevoix all her life and is well-liked and respected. The Courier wishes them all success and happiness.

PLAN TO PREVENT MOULTING

Natural for Very Early Hatched Pullets to Go Through Partial Molt in Fall.

Every fall we hear a number of reports of pullet-egg production being cut down by fall moulting. This is perhaps only natural when we consider that every one is working toward early maturity and production by means of better breeding early hatching and heavy feeding. It is natural for very early hatched pullets to stop laying and go through a partial molt before cold weather. In addition to this natural tendency, the molt may be hastened by any sudden change of feed, care or environment. The following simple rules, if followed, will be helpful to prevent this fall molt:

1. Avoid hatching out of season; March, April and May are best, the exact time depending on the breed.
2. Provide free range during the entire season.
3. Avoid rations containing an excess of protein.
4. Do not attempt to hold pullets back, let them mature normally.
5. Have the pullets in their winter quarters before production starts.
6. Avoid any sudden change in feed, care or management after production begins.—Connecticut Experiment Station.

DIFFICULTIES WITH TURKEYS

Hard Work to Keep Flocks From Wandering Over Wide Area and Invading Other Farms.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

One of the greatest difficulties with which turkey growers have to contend is to keep their flocks from wandering over too wide an area and invading neighboring farms. To some extent, feeding heavily at night and morning reduces the area over which turkeys range, but even then they often go too far. When trouble of this kind occurs, the most effective plan is to drive them into a inclosure and keep them there until about noon.

In winter flocks of turkeys do most of their ranging early in the morning, and by nine o'clock they are usually as far from home as they will get during the day. As soon as the sun becomes very warm they spend most of their time in the shade, until three or four o'clock in the afternoon, when they begin moving toward home, ranging for feed along the way. If the weather is not too warm they do not spend so much time lying in the shade, and consequently range over a larger area, and may keep moving away from home until noon. By feeding in the pen every morning they soon learn to go there on coming down from roost, and no time is lost in penning them. If they fly out of the pen after being fed, the flight feathers from one wing should be clipped.

KILLING OFF BEST CHICKENS

Housewife Makes Mistake In Getting Rid of Cockerels Because They Are Large.

The housewife who kills off her largest and best cockerels and pullets is not as much a poultrywoman as some people think. Often it is the cockerels that are the most valuable, yet nearly every farm woman thinks she is justified in killing off her largest chicks if they happen to be cockerels. It is not a very hard matter to get $2 and $3 for good, vigorous utility cockerels nowadays. Better be certain before you kill the next one.

Just now your greatest attention should be directed toward the care of the old hens. SETS DATE FOR AN EDUCATIONAL WEEK

Coolidge Recommends General Observance In U. S.

County School Commissioner, Archie C. Belding, has submitted to this office for publication a copy of a proclamation by President Calvin Coolidge, relative to National Education Week, which is the week beginning November 18th and according to the proclamation, is to be "set apart for the purpose of more liberally supporting and more effectively improving the educational facilities of our country."

Space and time do not permit of our printing the full text of this proclamation. We are therefore quoting excerpts only.

"Our country adopted the principle of self-government by a free people. Those who were worthy of being free were worthy of being educated. Those who had the duty and responsibility of government must necessarily have the education with which to discharge the obligations of citizenship. The sovereign had to be educated. The sovereign had become the people," and again: "We have observed the evidences of a broadening vision of the whole educational system. This has included a recognition that education must not end with the period of school attendance, but must be given every encouragement thereafter. To this end, the night schools of the cities, the moonlight schools of the southern Appalachian countries, the extension work of the colleges and universities, the provision for teaching technical, agricultural and mechanical arts, have marked out the path to a broader and more widely diffused national culture."

This too, especially: "Every American citizen is entitled to a liberal education. Without this, there is no guarantee for the permanence of free institutions, no hope of perpetuating self-government. Despotism finds its chief support in ignorance. Knowledge and freedom go hand in hand."

vest time to see that no more tubers are dug each day than can be picked and hauled to the storage house and thus protected from frosts which may occur during the night.

Although not all the chilling injury is due to the negligence of the grower, as some of it no doubt occurs after the potatoes have left the grower's hands; nevertheless much of it can be prevented if each grower will take care to see that his crop is not subjected to freezing temperatures at harvest, in storage, or in transit to the shipping point.

Breakdown

Breakdown of potato tubers is another trouble which occurs during the storage season and which causes a shrinkage of thousands of bushels each year. The injury was particularly evident in Michigan storage houses during the last season. Due to the bumper potato crop in 1922 and the low prices which prevailed during the fall, many growers held their potatoes hoping for higher prices in the spring. As a result storage houses were overloaded, and even though the temperature may have been kept below 40 Fahrenheit, great losses occurred. In one northern Michigan storage house in which 15,000 or 20,000 bushels of potatoes were stored, the loss from breakdown was reported as 33 percent. On May 24, 1923, a specimen of breakdown was received from a grower who reported that 25 percent of his stock was affected.

When placed in storage on November 1, 1922, the potato tubers were in perfect condition, according to the growers' statement.

Breakdown of potatoes may be of two types: the one a superficial dying of areas of the skin and the second a deep internal discoloration of the flesh. The surface breakdown of potato tubers is an injury which makes its appearance after the tubers have been placed in storage. The first symptoms are observed by the grower three or four months after the date the potatoes were stored, when some tubers in the bins show on their surfaces slightly sunken, round or irregularly-shaped spots varying in size from one-sixteenth to three-fourths of an inch in diameter (Fig. 4.) The borders of the spots have a bluish or gunmetal hue. Upon cutting these sunken spots with a knife, it is found that they are only skin deep, and, except for the thin brown layer of dead cells beneath the skin, no rotting has progressed into the tuber. This surface breakdown is the so-called "Button-Rot" of the trade, but it is not a true rot of the tuber.

The pitting of the tubers becomes more pronounced as the season advances, and with the coming of warm weather in the spring the most severe symptoms of breakdown are seen. Many tubers are found to be soft and mushy, and others when cut open, show black centers, a condition known as "blackheart" (Fig. 5.) Blackheart often occurs in refrigerator car shipments or in shipments where stoves cause overheating of the tubers. It is common with pitted potatoes when the spring weather is excessively warm.

Breakdown is purely physiological trouble and is not caused by a fungous or bacterial parasite, as are such diseases as late blight or blackleg. The injury is brought about by a lack of oxygen, and the pitting as shown during the winter results from the death of the cells around the lentils or breathing pores of the tubers. As more and more cells are killed, the spots increase in size. Potato tubers respire more rapidly later in the storage season, and, unless there is a sufficient supply of fresh air, the cells in the central part of the tubers will suffer from the lack of oxygen and as a result will be killed and blackened, as shown in (Fig. 4.) Such tubers fall prey to saprophytic bacteria, which are present everywhere but are not able to attack sound potatoes. The bacteria cause a foul smelling rot of the tubers and make sorting over of the stock or cleaning out the storage house a disagreeable task.

The enormous loss caused by breakdown each year can be prevented by giving more attention to ventilation in the construction of new potato storage houses or by remedying the defects of those already constructed. The following recommendations are made:

1. Provide each potato cellar or storage house with inlets for fresh air and outlets for foul air.
2. Provide false floors and walls for the bins.
3. Provide air spaces between bins.
4. Never store potatoes in piles more than five feet deep without making some provision for air to get to the center of the pile.

Salt, Lime and Iodine

Needed in Stock Rations

"Salt, lime and calcium are needed in every well-balanced live stock ration," declared E. B. Hart of the agricultural chemistry department, University of Wisconsin.

"Salt is an essential factor in a well-balanced ration," declared Mr. Hart. When used it is usually in the form of ordinary salt or sodium chloride. The chlorine upon entering the stomach forms hydrochloric acid, and this acid is necessary for proper and complete digestion. The animal with a roughened coat is one which is not receiving proper nutrition, and this improper nutrition may sometimes be traced to a lack of salt in the ration.

"Nearly all common foodstuffs are very low in iodine content," said Mr. Hart. "The greatest loss resulting from a deficiency of iodine is in the birth of hairless pigs. The colder region of this country is in the Northwest and it is in this section that high losses are incurred. The fact that it has not put in an appearance on your farm does not necessarily mean that it never will. And a little iodine in the form of sodium or potassium iodide will serve as an insurance against trouble of this type."

"Iodine is being given off constantly in the form of salts in the milk of a dairy cow, and some provision must be made to replace this. It has been found that alfalfa hay cured under glass carries a vitamin which aids in calcium assimilation. Lime or bone-meal added to the roughage will also help to overcome the constant drain on the calcium supply of the body."

Good Feeds for Growing

Pigs or the Brood Sow

A mixture of 60 per cent barley and 40 per cent oats will be a good mixture for growing pigs or brood sows. This mixture would be improved upon by making it 40 per cent barley, 30 per cent oats, 20 per cent middlings, and 10 per cent tankage. For fattening pigs a ration of 90 per cent barley and 10 per cent tankage or 60 per cent barley, 30 per cent middlings, and 10 per cent tankage will be four satisfactory.

Police had to be called to settle a loud quarrel between a husband and wife camping in a Jackson park when the wife dropped the baby. The enraged husband, it was learned, had had to pick it up.

Series of Experiments to Decide Value of Corn Recently a series of experiments was run to decide the value of grading corn. In these tests it was found that cornmeal produced 7 per cent more milk and 14 per cent more fat than ear corn. Where corn and cornmeal were compared with cornmeal it was found that the cornmeal was slightly in the lead, having a 2 per cent better production in butterfat. Even though the corn is extra cheap, the cows will give a better account of themselves to the tester if they are fed corn that has been ground.

to commercial supremacy through her wonderful industrial discipline. Discipline is more than the law of man. It is the basic law of life. Bring it right down to the hour and place—would members of a highly disciplined community break quarantine and callously mingle with their neighbors in the knowledge that they were spreading a loathsome disease but defended by self-interest to any appeal of conscience or duty?

Away with this mush about self-expression for the individual! That might have been all right in the cave-dwelling days, but it doesn't work in our highly complex age of dense populations. When our murderers, highway robbers and 57 varieties of con men start "expressing their individuality" today, we put 'em behind the bars (or ought to). That's discipline. In the majority of cases, had they become acquainted with it in their youth they wouldn't be where they are today.

And how, my friend, do you expect your boy or girl to live an orderly life if you don't live one yourself. It is true, you might retort, mend your own fences first, but that is beside the question. All of us know better than we practice and many physician cannot heal himself. A growing boy has mounted his father on a pedestal and in him sees the incarnation of what he himself should be. Up to a certain age, he follows his father, right or wrong. Beyond that point, should he discover that his idol is clay-footed, only innate strength of character will enable him to set up higher standards for himself. A man who, like many in this community as well as others, is in quiet of his time, gambling in a wicket corner and encouraging the bootlegger, brazenly advocating defiance of the law and conniving at its violation, has little grounds to quarrel with his son or daughter, should they overstep the bounds of decent behavior. The mother of the fourteen or sixteen year old girl who permits her daughter to roam the streets of the city at night and contents herself with a sleepy, "Is that you, Mary?" when the infantile adventurer blows in somewhere around the wee sma' hours, is as deeply branded with that daughter's sin as is the father whose more or less open alliance with the worst elements of the city encourages his son to throw off some moral restraints and turn into the road leading to disgrace and the penitentiary. Truly the fathers are eating the "sour grapes" and the children's teeth are edging. The responsibilities of parenthood cannot be shifted.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

The closing of churches by order of the Board of Health is of great moment. No people are more law-abiding than christian people. We gladly acquiesce. We wish to lend our influence to the health department to stave the threatening plague. But did you notice how dull Sunday was, not to hear the church bells ring? Who would like to live in a community where there were no churches? We can do without a good deal in this day, but we cannot subtract from our civilization the individual need of spiritual life.

If a prolonged epidemic demands closed doors of our churches it ought to send every christian in the community to his knees. Just now our message to the Methodists at least is "Let us pray."

STATE ENFORGES NEW MOTOR LAWS

DRIVERS SHOULD BECOME CONVERSANT WITH CHANGES

Owners Have Been Notified and No Leniency Will Be Shown Offenders

Believing that motorists of Michigan have had sufficient time to thoroughly acquaint themselves with the new automobile laws, the Uniform Traffic Law passed by the last legislature, the state Police are now enforcing the automobile laws to the letter. Many arrests have been made in many parts of the State in the last few weeks because of minor violations. Secretary of State, Charles DeLand, recently issued letters to all peace officers and the State Police as well, calling their attention to the fact that the Uniform Traffic Law is in effect and that they would be expected to enforce it and the old automobile laws as well.

The principal violations of these laws, upon which the State Police have been called to make recent arrests are:

Failing to keep automobile license tags properly hung.

Failing to have parking lights burning and failing to dim headlights upon the approach of another vehicle.

Failing to extend arm upon turning, or halting a machine.

Failing to come to a complete stop upon approaching any main State Trunk Line.

Failing to stop behind stopped street cars or other passenger carrying vehicle.

Parking on the public highway.

These seven salient points in the automobile laws of Michigan must be adhered to the State Police department insists. The motorcycle patrols of the department are constantly on the lookout for violators and are co-operating with city and county officials. In Jackson recently 80 motorists were arrested on charges of violating the automobile laws, in a single day. Every motorist well knows the speed limit allowed on the State highways of Michigan; which is 35 miles per hour, it is not deemed necessary to call the attention of motorists to this phase of the law and many arrests for speeding are recorded on the court files of any county.

There is a provision of the State law which says that automobile license tags must be fastened in a conspicuous place, front and rear. Many drivers are being hauled into court for having them concealed behind bumpers or for allowing them to become mud bespattered so that they cannot be readily read. At any time an automobile is stopped on a road, trunk line or country, the law says that a white light must show from the front and a red light from the rear. This provision of the law permits the use of what is termed a "parking light" or one light with white front and red glass rear. The Uniform Traffic Law says that the driver of an automobile upon making a right or left turn, or upon coming to a complete stop, or upon slowing down must extend his arm to warn machines approaching from the rear. The State Police have approved a system of signals as follows: Arm pointing skyward to denote a right turn; arm extended horizontally to denote a left turn; arm pointing toward the road to denote a stop or slowing down. This same system of signalling has been adopted and approved by the police departments of a number of cities.

Another feature of this same law is the section making it compulsory to stop while approaching a state trunk line road, the automobiles on the trunk line having the right of way.

On practically every main road

in the state there is sufficient "shoulder" or unused part of the road to the side of the beaten path, where a motorist can stop his machine to make an adjustment, repair a tire, etc. Failure to pull the machine to one side is a violation of this section.

Best Plan to Get Good Cows Is to Raise Them

Profitable dairy cows may be secured in two ways. First, they may be purchased. This is, no doubt, the most expensive way, but necessary in many cases in order to get a start. In purchasing cows you take chances on getting individuals not as good as they look, for often the best judges of dairy animals are fooled in the value of cows. Then, also, there is the chance of bringing in diseases such as tuberculosis, contagious abortion, and udder troubles, says J. P. LaMuster, chief of the dairy division of Clemson college.

The second and best way to get good profitable cows is to raise them on your farm. All dairy cows depend for their value on the inherent tendency to convert feed into milk and on their proper growth and development. That is, they must have well-bred ancestry. Although the cows you now own may be grades and poor grades at that, you can insure the value of your future herd by breeding these cows to well-bred pure bred bulls.

A well-bred bull is not only a registered bull, but one having a sire coming from a line of high butterfat and milk producers, and out of a dam with a good butterfat record, nothing less than 400 pounds in one year, she also having come from a line of high producing ancestry.

The tendency of the normal cow is to revert to the original wild cow which gave only enough milk for her calf; so unless by selection you increase the ability to produce, you will soon have only boarder cows which will not pay you for the feed they eat or the labor necessary to manage them.

The most profitable system of dairy farming is to have the most of the cows freshen in the fall. In order to do this it is necessary to breed the cows during November, December and January. If you do not have a good bull or do not live near a farmer who owns a good bull to which you can breed your cows, begin now to locate one for your own use. The dairy division of Clemson college will assist you in locating a good bull.

Plan Outlined to Avoid Grassy Flavor in Milk

When the herd is first placed on pasture or is turned into clover or alfalfa, a grassy taste is often caused in the milk for a short time, not only making the milk objectionable to trade, but affecting the butter taste as well. This can usually be eliminated by starting the herd on a change of pasture, or a pasture from confinement, gradually.

Do not leave the herd on the new pasture too long the first day—a few hours in the morning or afternoon, supplementing this with some grain and a dry roughage such as silage. The silage can best be saved during the time of good pasture, after the cows have gradually been allowed more time in the pasture, as it will make a good supplement for poor pastures later in the summer. After a week or ten days, cows producing twenty pounds of milk a day or less will need little if any grain on good pasture. For heavier producers, feed a pound of grain for each six or eight pounds of milk produced per day.

A mixture of 400 pounds of ground corn, 200 pounds of ground oats, or bran, and 100 pounds of cotton seed meal is recommended by the Purdue dairy department. Cottonseed meal is especially good at this time, to produce a firm butter with better quality, as well as to tend to check the laxative effects of a fresh pasture. A liberal supply of salt should be available to herds on pasture at all times.

Ohio Cow Makes Record of Five Sets of Twins

The Ohio Station Bulletin makes note of a cow in the station herd that is reported to have dropped five sets of twins out of seven times calving. Twinning has also been rather common in other closely related cows in the herd. The possibility of establishing a family of cows which would produce a high percentage of twins is suggested, but it is pointed out that of the nine sets of twins recorded six sets were male and freemartin and three were males.

Good Cows Will Always Pay Biggest Dividend

Just because a poor milk-producing cow pays you a return, do not conclude that scrubs pay. This is an unusually productive year for dairy cows, and with cheap feed you should make money on any sort of animal. Good cows will pay you a still greater return.

Let your feet wonder but keep your mind at home.

The Small-Pox Scare Is Over But The Critics Are Still Going Strong

We are ducking our heads this week, so to speak, under a mild storm of criticism directed from some quarters at our alleged lack of judgment in advertising to the world the fact that Charlevoix has, or, to put it more accurately, has had a small-pox scare. The ban lifts today on the churches, schools and theatre and the epidemic may be classed as a thing of the past.

The argument runs like this: "What's the use of letting the resisters know that we have had small-pox in the vicinity. It don't do us any good and may do us a great deal of harm. A good many of these people are sensitive to anything of this kind and you may have a repetition of the famous water-scare of several years ago. It's poor advertising for the town."

We are going to answer this argument backwards. First let us consider the statement that publication of the facts is "poor advertising". As a matter of fact, is any advertising poor advertising that puts a place on the map. How much business has Reno, Nevada, lost through the general knowledge of her divorce activities? Is California any the less popular because they have had an earthquake or two and several widespread conflagrations? How much do you suppose Wilbur Glen Voliva makes out of his comical regulations and restrictions in Zion City? What does the producer of a questionable and risqué play welcome with open arms? Police interference and denunciations from the press and the pulpit. Why? Because he knows his house will be full for the rest of the time his play has to run in that particular community and everywhere else he may take it to.

Supposing they do learn, for instance, in New Orleans, Puduch or London, Ont., that Charlevoix has had the small-pox. They at least learn, perhaps for the first time, that there is such a place. Long after the small-pox impression is passed out of their minds, the peculiar name of Charlevoix, when mentioned in some favorable manner, will produce the sense of having been heard before and will hold the attention long enough, perhaps, to excite interest. Interest once aroused, they may be the more easily taught that Charlevoix has other things besides small-pox; beautiful scenery, wonderful climate, fine hotels, unexcelled bathing beaches, broad lakes and fishing par excellence; ideas that remain in their consciousness as things of permanence. Put her on the map!

Now, let's take the next statement—that many of our summer visitors are sensitive and would take alarm should they learn that we had been visited by the plague. Don't you think, Mr. and Mrs. Critic, that your three months of dealing with our resort friends over the counter and on the street has slightly blunted the keen edge of your perceptions—perhaps the "close up" was too close.

HOW TO HELP IN FIRE PREVENTION

The Michigan state fire marshal's department has issued the following notice relative to its efforts during Fire Prevention week:

Every year in Michigan we burn up over ten million dollars of property and many lives.

You can help by removing the cause.

Defective chimneys and flues.

Defective electric wiring.

Careless use of kerosene and gasoline.

Careless with matches.

Carelessness with cigarettes.

Carelessness with cigars.

Accumulation of trash and rubbish in basements, attics, closets and yards.

Your fire department asks your active aid in their fight for:

Better and safer buildings.

Proper fire fighting equipment.

Cleaner premises.

Safer school buildings.

Fire prevention in the home.

Fire drills in schools, hospitals and factories.

Act yourself and tell your neighbor to act.

Many of the good people who visit us in the summer time are really possessed of quite a high order of intelligence, despite the fact that the tired and busy townsman or woman who has stood on his or her feet all day or run their legs off to wait on the resort or placate his seeming unreasonableness may often be tempted to think otherwise. They know, perfectly well, that every town in the United States, in these days, following a period of unrestricted immigration such as we have suffered in the recent past, is likely at any time to have diseases brought to it—diseases originally bred in the filth of congested districts of the large centers of population, perhaps the very ones in which they themselves spend their winters. Charlevoix is no lode star for disease. In fact, other towns of Michigan, far to the south of us—Muskegon, for example, are having their troubles with small-pox. Evidently, these towns have not kept their epidemics secret, as we learn of them through the daily press, which is no respecter of persons or localities. "Murder will out", as the saying goes.

Furthermore, they know full well that an epidemic in the fall doesn't necessarily mean one in the summer.

ACCIDENTS WILL STILL HAPPEN

TWO MINOR MISHAPS MARK THE WEEK END

Cow Turns to Beef After Buick Hits Her—Undimmed Lights Again Figure

Just to prove that all accidents can't be laid to resorters, along with the slump in business activities following the busy summer, comes an increase in the accident toll.

Saturday evening, at about midnight a party of Indians, two men and two women, returning from Charlevoix to their home in Bay Shore, were forced off the road in their Ford touring car, at Godbold's "Death" corners, by a big car, without dimmers, approaching from Petoskey, the driver of which never even stopped to learn what damage he had done.

The front end of the Ford was badly wrecked, but none of the occupants was injured.

Sunday night, at about 6:30 o'clock, a party of four, two men and two women, who gave the name of Mueller and whose license and name plate showed that they hailed from La Grange, Ill., struck a cow on the Petoskey road, just the other side of Greensky Hill. It is not exactly known whether "Bossy" rammed the car or the car rammed her. Anyhow, she was beef after the impact had occurred. About $100 of damage was done to the car, a Buick touring model, which had to be towed into Charlevoix. The women of the party were badly scared and shaken up, but otherwise no damage was done to the occupants of the car.

DR. MARTIN LECTURES HERE 22nd

Noted Reformer Will Speak At Congregational Church

A meeting is planned for Monday evening, October 22nd, at 7:30, in the First Congregational church of Charlevoix, with Dr. Renwick H. Martin, noted lecturer and educator, as the speaker. The subject of the address will be "The making of Americans" and the rally will be under the auspices of the local churches and The National Reform Association, with headquarters in Pittsburgh, Pa.

As former president of Geneva College, Dr. Martin is widely known for his educational work as well as platform speaking. For the past year he has been actively connected with The National Reform Association and is one of the speakers now being heard in the present campaign in this state. As the name indicates, the Association is for the purpose of national reform and the work is conducted along broad but comprehensive programs. Dr. Martin speaks as the official representative and is receiving the hearty co-operation of the local churches.

Brother Josiah is coming to the Palace Theatre, Thursday evening, October 25th, at 8 o'clock. Don't miss the fun.

GRANGE MEETING TO BE IMPORTANT

HELD IN MUSKEGON ON OCTOBER 23 TO 26

Vital Problems of Michigan Farmer Will Be Discussed Says Master A. B. Cook

Due to the large number of farm problems that are sure to be discussed, the annual convention of the Michigan state grange, to be held here Oct. 23-26, inclusive is expected to be one of the most important grange meetings ever held in the state, according to A. B. Cook of Owosso, master of the state grange.

Several of the questions to be considered are important not only to the farmer but to the city resident as well, Mr. Cook pointed out. These include a state income tax, and the entire problem of making agriculture in Michigan a more remunerative proposition for the producer.

The granges, in their convention here, expect to discuss ways of bringing a state referendum on the gas tax and income tax proposals, each of which met defeat in the last legislature. Among other resolutions that will be presented at the meeting, according to Mr. Cook, may be listed the following:

Depriving of all persons who are not tax payers of the right to vote on bond issues; requiring a two-thirds majority for the adoption of any state bond issue.

Registration of opposition to the game commission's steps toward hatching Chinese pheasants and turning them loose upon the farmers of Michigan.

Registration of opposition to the development of large areas of land by the federal government to compete with "our already large agricultural surplus."

Forbidding all hunting, fishing, trapping or any other trespassing whatever on any farm property without the written consent of the owner.

Operation of the state ferry at the straits of Mackinac so that it will be self-sustaining.

The resolution concerning the present economic status of the farmer is to be read substantially as follows:

"Whereas the farmer is far from receiving adequate prices for his crops; not enough to pay for seed or for the time and labor expended in growing, therefore be it resolved; that at the convention some time be given to discussion of the question of proper prices for farm stuffs, and the best methods to procure them."

This resolution will be presented at the opening of the convention by the Shiawassee county Pomona grange No. 61.

Tuesday, Oct. 23, the opening day of the convention, will be set apart for the address of Master Cook and the reports of other officers. The same evening there will be a discussion of the question, "The Farmer and the Railroads."

Speakers not yet selected will represent the railroads and the farmers.

Wednesday morning's session will provide the opportunity for reports and presentations of resolutions. A business session will be held in the afternoon, the annual banquet being held in the evening.

Thursday morning and afternoon will be set apart for transaction of business, and the evening will be given up to the exemplification of degrees.

The final business session, with the election of officers and selection of next year's convention city, will be held Friday.

CONDITION OF MICHIGAN CROPS

LATE CROPS IMPROVED BY SEPTEMBER RAINS

But at Same Time Rain Damages Bean During Harvesting—Forest Holds Off

Pastures, late potatoes, sugar beets and some of the truck crops were improved by the September rains. However, the cool and wet weather delayed the maturing and harvesting of late crops. Considerable damage was done to beans in process of harvesting at the time of the rains. A heavy frost occurred the middle of September in local areas in northern Michigan and a few eastern counties, stopping further growth of potatoes in the regions affected. The greater part of the State was practically free from frost up to the end of the month and all crops were past harm from that cause according to the October report issued today by Verne H. Church, agricultural statistician and L. Whitney Watkins, commissioner of agriculture.

Corn: The prospective corn crop declined about one and one-half million bushels from that of September 1. Drought had shortened the ears more than suspected and frost injured the crop in portions of a number of counties. The present estimate is 58,774,000 bushels. The Michigan crop last year was 60,716,000 bushels. In a few southern counties, the yield will be equal to or above that of 1922. The entire production of the country is placed at 3,021,454,000 bushels. In 1922, it was 2,890,712,000 bushels.

Spring Wheat: The crop yielded fairly well, showing an average of 16 bushels per acre. However, the total acreage only amounted to 8,000, giving a total production of 128,000 bushels.

All Wheat: A special inquiry relative to the amount marketed to October 1, showed that only 4,854,000 bushels, or 29.5 per cent of the crop had left the hands of Michigan crop in tiao a oao ta ta ta nooin farmers by that date. The light crop in Kansas and other western states is encouraging growers to hold for better prices.

Oats: Correspondents report the average yield of oats as 31.5 bushels per acre, or a total crop in the state of 48,132,000 bushels. The crop produced last year was 49,434,000 bushels. The quality is very good except in a few eastern and northern counties where a portion of the crop was much discolored while standing in the field late in the season. The United States produced a total of 1,302,453,000 bushels this year as compared with 1,215,496,000 in 1922.

Barley: The average yield of barley is 24 bushels per acre, or a total crop of 3,432,000 bushels. This is slightly less than the 1922 crop which totaled 3,500,000 bushels. The United States' crop is estimated at 199,251,000 in comparison with 186,110,000 bushels last year.

Potatoes: The growth of potatoes was stopped in rather limited localities in northern and eastern counties by a frost in September. On the other hand, rains promoted a rapid growth in other sections and the outlook improved quite materially during the month. The present prospect is for a crop of 32,970,000 bushels as against 37,842,000 in 1922. The total crop of the United States made a gain in September of nearly 12,000,000 bushels below last year's final estimate. Potatoes on low ground are reported to be rotting in some Michigan fields.

Tame Hay: The average yield of all kinds of tame hay is found to be 1.20 tons per acre, which makes the total crop 3,689,000 tons while last year's crop reached 4,457,000 tons. The Nation's crop is 86,538,000 tons or about ten millions less than last year's. The yield of alfalfa is estimated at 2.10 tons per acre which is somewhat less than usual.

Clover Seed: The condition of the clover seed is 70 per cent. Second cutting filled well and the acreage cut is larger than expected earlier in the season. Harvesting is later than usual due to slow maturing, wet weather in September, and shortage of labor. The present condition presages a crop of 140,000 bushels, or 100,000 bushels less than produced in 1922.

Beans: Late beans are being harvested. The yields are not quite as good as from the early crop, and during a part of September rains did considerable damage, causing an increased moisture content and higher percentage of pickage. Results of the October 1 inquiry show an average yield of 11 bushels per acre and an average pick of eight per cent. The yields vary from an average of three and four bushels per acre in the poorest sections to an average of 15 to 20 bushels in the best localities. Individual yields of 25 and 30 bushels per acre have been reported from several counties. The respective crop in Michigan is 6,248,000 bushels; in New York, 1,526,000; in Wisconsin, 154,000; in Colorado, 1,360,000; in California, 4,336,000; in Idaho, 990,000; and in New Mexico, 276,000. The United States' crop aggregates 14,936,000 as compared with 11,893,000 bushels produced in 1922.

DEATH CAME UP ON HIM QUICKLY

WALLON LAKE FARMER INSTANTLY KILLED

While Hunting His Cows, Grasps Charged Guy Wire on Electric Light Pole

Harry B. Goodwin, for many years a resident of Melrose Township, died Saturday afternoon near his farm at Wallon Lake, near the Thomas resort hotel, a victim of electrocution.

Mr. Woodwin was searching for his cows and, in some way, came in contact with a guy wire supporting an electric light pole. The rain and wind had caused a contact with the live wire and the current passed through the man's body and it is thought, killing him instantly.

One leg was badly burned and a shoulder broken, caused by the falling of the body. Search was made for Mr. Goodwin Saturday night, but he was not found until nearly noon, Sunday. The current was still passing through the body when he was found.

The funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at the M. E. church at Wallon, Rev. F. L. Blewfield, Petoskey pastor, officiating. Burial will be in the Greenwood cemetery. A sister, Miss Pansy Goodwin, who made her home with the deceased, and several brothers survive him.

HOME TALENT DRAMA TO DELIGHT US, ALL

To Be Staged at Palace Theatre October 25th

We understand that one of those delightful affairs, at which everybody loosens up their risibles and has a good time, is coming to the Palace Theatre, on Thursday, October 25th.

The name of this skit is "Brother Josiah" and is said by those who are in the know to be full of joy from start to finish. Local talent will be employed in this little drama, exclusively and the cast of characters, chosen from the young men and women of the town, have been busily preparing for this three act comedy, in which fun and pathos are beautifully blended.

Brother Josiah, with his wife and son, pay an unwelcome visit to his very aristocratic brother, Wellington Armstrong, the broker, and the comical situations that develop promise an evening full of enjoyment and laughter for the audience.

Hospital Notes

Mrs. Archie Quick of East Jordan submitted to an operation Tuesday and is getting along finely.

Last Wednesday, Mrs. Charles Graves was operated on at the hospital and is now much improved.

An Indian who figured in a recent accident near East Jordan, in which a car turned turtle, is now in the hospital in a paralyzed condition and it is thought has a broken back.

Mrs. Bob West of Horton's Bay was brought to the hospital Tuesday with an infected hand for treatment.

Like Looking at the Sun

Looking into one of the huge rotary kilns where the raw materials for cement are burned into clinker is just like looking at the noonday sun.

The terrific heat required makes a glare of light so intense that the glowing flame would temporarily blind you.

But borrow the workman's colored goggles to protect your eyes while you take another look into the kiln. Then you will see a tornado of powdered coal—or gas or spraying oil—bursting into a sheet of sun-white flame.

Into the other end of the kiln flow the powdered limestone and shale [clay]—the raw materials for cement.

As the slowly revolving kiln tumbles the materials about, they are subjected to gradually increasing heat. During their three-hour journey through this inferno, moisture and gases are first given off. Finally, as the powdered materials reach the sun-white flame, they half melt into glass-hard balls called "clinker." This clinker, an entirely new chemical compound, when finely powdered is portland cement.

Portland cement kilns consume great quantities of fuel—30 pounds of coal or its equivalent for each 94-pound sack of cement. For the whole cement making process the consumption of coal is approximately 50 pounds a sack—more than half a ton of coal to a ton of cement.

Take a look at Sporting Goods Windows during Remington Sportsmen's Week October 15th to 20th.

THIS week, hardware and sporting goods dealers here in town and the Remington Arms Company are working together to help you and every other sportsman look around and enjoy yourselves.

Dealers are making special displays in hunting and camping equipment; Remington Fire Arms, Ammunition and Cutlery.

These displays are unusual. They are special. They are worth going out of your way to see. Don't miss them!

REMINGTON ARMS COMPANY, Inc., New York City
Established 1816

The New Remington Game Loads

Be sure to see them—the biggest advance ever made in loaded shot shells. Produced as the result of important Remington discoveries about powder. There is a Remington Game Load for every kind of game in this locality. Each one is loaded to give safe and uniform velocity, pattern and penetration—the right shooting quality for that particular kind of game.

The load pictured above is the Remington Heavy Duck Load. It comes in 12-gauge with either No. 4, 5 or 6 Shot and in 20-gauge (the hard hitting 2 1/2" shell) in No. 6, 7 or 7 1/2 Shot. The velocity, pattern and penetration are right for big ducks, and for long range shooting when they are flying high. Sure and safe!

Remington Game Loads are loaded in the famous Nitro Club Wetproof Shells. Here is the complete list:

DUCK LOAD	RABBIT LOAD	SQUIRREL LOAD
HEAVY DUCK LOAD	QUAIL LOAD	SNIPER LOAD
GOOSE LOAD	GROUSE LOAD	DOVE LOAD
BUCK SHOT LOAD	TRAP LOAD

Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not!

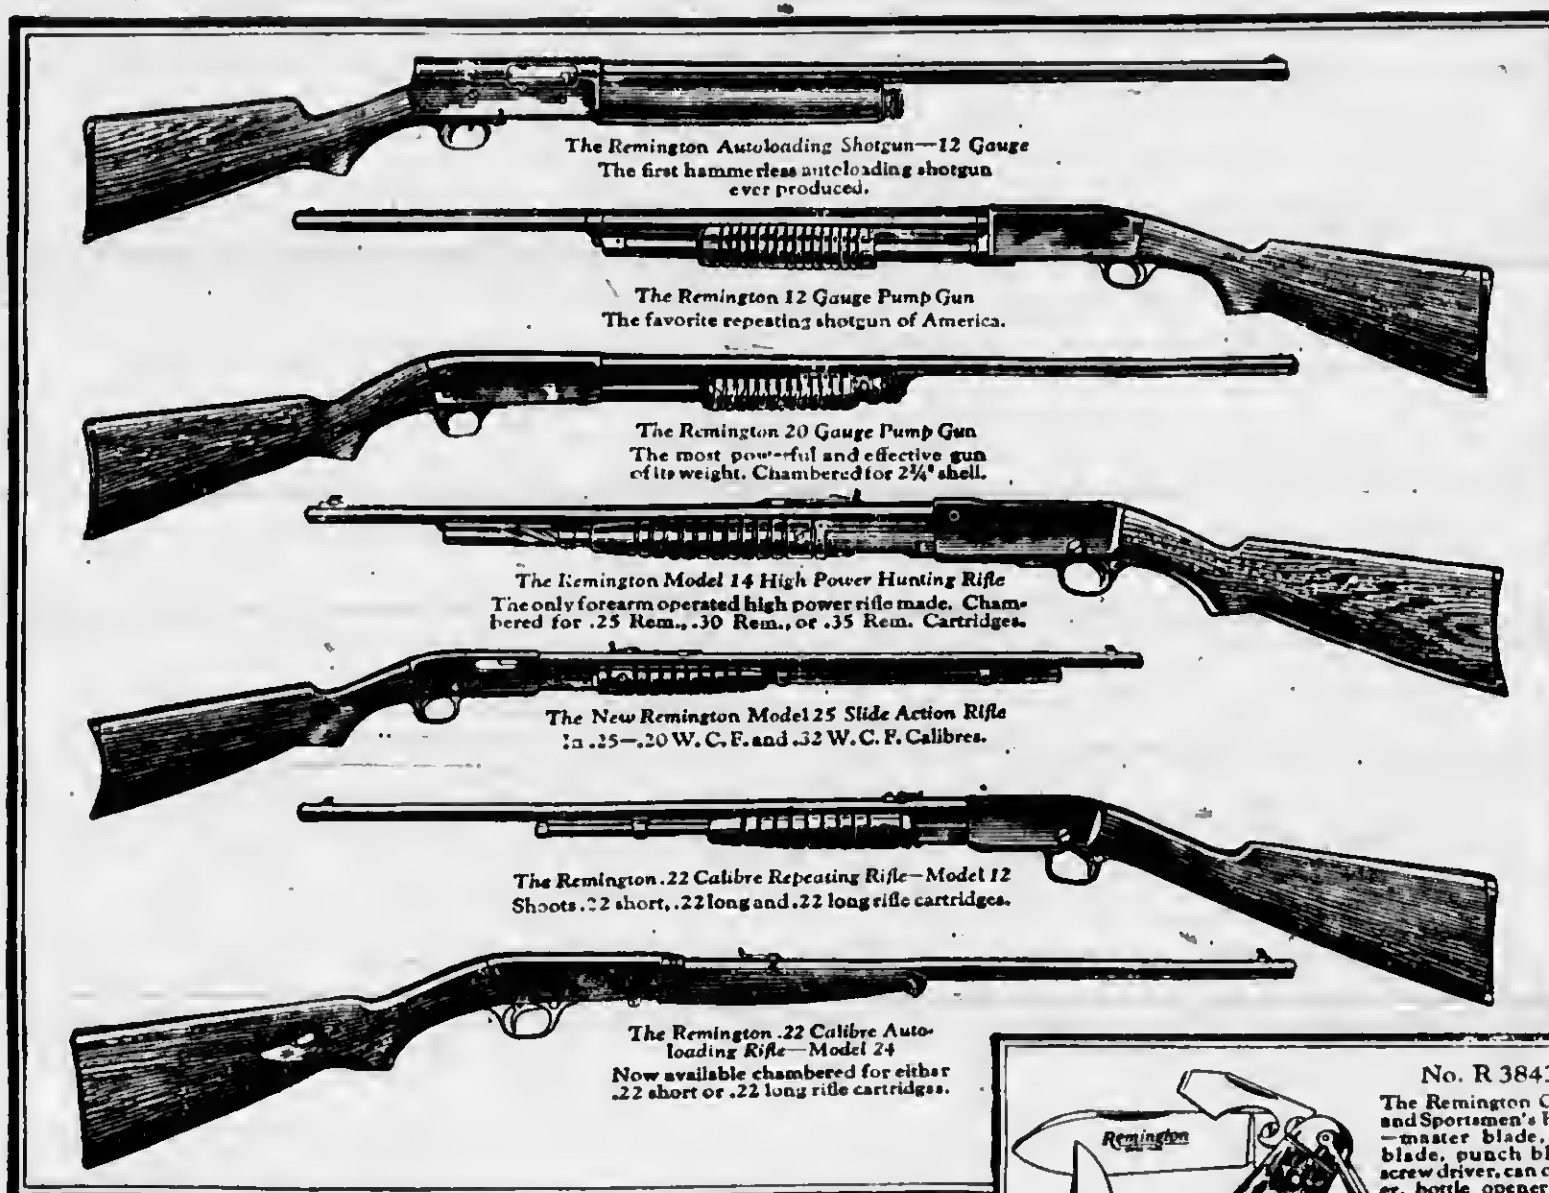

Remington Metallics

The first successful metallic cartridges ever made were produced by Remington 65 years ago. Practically every betterment in rifle and pistol ammunition has been invented and developed by Remington. Dependability and accuracy make Remington Cartridges outsell all others.

With the new Remington primer. Developed to give the owner of the .22 a dependable sure-fire load.

Sportsmen's Knives

Your dealer is showing a variety of Remington Pocket Knives especially designed for hunting and camping use—two of them illustrated here. The finest pocket knives made today—worthy of the name "Remington."

EVER COUNT CARS AND

THINK TAXES?

Have you ever noticed the horde of tourists traveling on Michigan highways? Have you ever stopped to consider how much it would help our highway construction and repair costs and how much it would ease the taxpayers' burden if these tourists were to pay a two cent gasoline tax, as most of them do at home?

It has been estimated that 200,000 tourists are in Michigan daily each summer. The number is growing as the fame of Michigan's resort country spreads. They come from every state in the Union, and 36 of those states have gasoline taxes for highway construction and upkeep. In Michigan the resident tax payers pay the full shot. Through the Michigan State Farm Bureau, Michigan farmers succeeded in having the legislature pass a two cent gasoline tax last winter, but it was voted by the governor, in face of an overwhelming majority in both House and Senate for the measure.

Do you see what your State Board of Directors sees every day? This is what they said in an informal discussion of tourists and a gasoline tax at their meeting at Lansing, Aug. 22.

Director Fred Smith of Elk Rapids, Antrim County, recently counted 43 cars that passed his place in 15 minutes, and noted that 75 percent of them were cars from other states. They pay no gas tax in Michigan.

Director Tom Price saw 78 cars pass a point in Saginaw county recently and noted that only 17 of them carried Michigan licenses.

Director Elmer Beamer lives at Blissfield in Lenawee County, down near the Ohio line. Ohio folks like the Michigan Lakes for week ends. He observed that out of 37 cars north for the lakes, 25 carried Ohio licenses. He estimates that around 1,000 foreign cars make the Michigan lakes through Lenawee County each week end. They pay no highway upkeep in Michigan.

Director James Nicol of South Haven said that Benton Harbor records often show 1,000 cars an hour on M-11, the main pike to the northern lake resorts. Many of them come from Indiana, Illinois and other states.

Director E. C. McCarty from the Thumb region, lives near Bad Axe. He said that counts kept by road inspectors a few years ago showed 1,000 cars a day traveling a certain road. Today that road often carries as high as 14,000 cars in a day.

Even scattered figures like these show that there should be some means whereby visiting tourists should contribute something to the upkeep of our roads. The gasoline tax is a fair means of collecting such a just contribution. It is also a fair means for proportioning the highway expense upkeep within the state. Farmers are solid on that point.

The Michigan State Farm Bureau

its County Farm Bureaus, the Michigan Elevator Exchange and the Michigan Potato Growers Exchange are squarely on record for a two cent gas tax and will continue to work for it.

OVER 4,000 FARMERS SUBMIT 1922 PRODUCTION EXPENSES

Reports from 4,000 farmers in all parts of the country to the department show that, on the average, in 1922 it costs 66 cents per bushel to produce their corn, $1.23 per bushel to produce wheat, and 53 cents per bushel to produce oats. The cost figures include charges for the labor of the operator and his family and for use of the land. Where the price received for the product was less than cost either the farmer did not receive going wages for his time or he did not receive for the use of his land an amount equal to the cash rental value reported. It is pointed out.

The average of producing an acre of corn on 3,400 farms was $23.01. The average yield was 35 bushels per acre, making the cost per bushel 66 cents. The average value of the corn sold was 73 cents per bushel. Of the cost, 52 percent was for man and horse labor in preparing seed bed, planting, cultivating, harvesting, and marketing; 16 percent for fertilizer and manure, 2 percent for seed, 23 percent for land rent, and 7 percent for miscellaneous items, such as twine, wear and tear on machinery and storage building, crop insurance, etc. An average of 26 acres of corn per farm was grown.

The average cost of producing an acre of wheat on 2,400 farms was $19.68. The average yield was 16 bushels per acre, making the cost per bushel $1.23. The average sale value of the wheat reported was $1.11 per bushel. Preparation seed bed, planting, harvesting, threshing, and

WHAT DOES THE WIFE EARN?

Good-by to the day when man could boast that he had married "the most wonderful woman in the world" and then forget all about how much that wonderful woman was worth to him—in the kitchen and in the management of the household. He is going to be confronted by the cold facts in the form of complete statistics shortly. For Dr. Louise Stanley, new head of the federal home economics bureau, is conducting a survey to find out just how much the wife's services total in cash, figuring on the piece-work basis. In other words, how much does she earn when she bakes a cake, puts up a jar of preserves, or sews the buttons on husband's shirt?

Here is a survey that has been needed for a long time. Many wives—most wives, in fact—have felt that theirs was the hard end of the bargain. But all they could do was quote the old proverb:

"Man works from sun to sun;

Woman's work is never done."

That made as much impression on friend husband as one raindrop does in raising the level of Lake Michigan. But he will have to sit up and take notice when the "home manager" gets down her little book to show him just how much she has earned in the items of the day's work. Her next question inevitably will be: Where do I come in in the distribution of the family income? It isn't a question of payment to wives for their services, but of recognition of their actual money value. For it is an essential step in the establishment of woman's economic independence.

In another way this survey ought to awaken the "head of the house." Heretofore his interest has not gone beyond the dining room. Any kind of thing would do for the kitchen. But if he has to pay for services he will be quick to see that he had better invest in equipment that will reduce costs. In other words, he will begin to think of his home with some of the intensity that he now uses to think of his office or his factory. Milwaukee Journal.

BUILD THAT HOUSE THIS WINTER SELL IT IN THE SPRING

The real estate market is always better in spring than at any other time during the year. The home-owning desire is strongest then and less persuasion is needed to bring the prospective home buyer to a definite conclusion. But often the man who wants to buy a home finds that there is a shortage in the spring and that to gratify his desire he must build—a procedure which involves considerable annoyance and delay at a time when every one else seems to be building.

One way out of this difficulty is to have a house ready for sale in the winter time, a practice which is growing in popularity. The work should be started, of course, in the fall, and the excavation made before cold weather sets in. The concrete foundation and the concrete masonry walls can then be built in cold weather with entire safety. The materials for the concrete and mortar should be heated before mixing and the walls protected from freezing until the concrete has hardened. With the building once enclosed the interior can easily be kept warm enough for the workmen to do all else necessary to have the building completed by early spring.

The builder derives a three-fold gain from winter construction; he will keep his crew together during the months of usual idleness; he will realize an earlier return on his investment; and he will have his building ready for sale in the spring when the demand for homes is greatest.

MAKES RAPID HEADWAY

Add This Fact to Your Store of Knowledge

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headaches, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, procure a good kidney remedy at once.

Your townspeople recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the statement of this Charlevoix citizen.

Daniel Himebauch, says: "I had a lame back and felt bad a good many times with backache. I was bothered by the weak and irregular action of my kidneys and had to get up three or four times at night to pass the secretions, which were highly colored and contained sediment. A few boxes of Doan's Kidney Pills, bought at Metcalf's Drug Store, fixed me up in a fine way."

Price 60c at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Himebauch had. Foster-McBarn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

"SYMPATHY STAG" FOR NOVIATIES

Clarence Bridge and Kaye Butters Are the Subjects

A "sympathy stag" was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bridge, last Monday evening, at seven o'clock, in honor of Clarence Bridge and Kaye Butters, whose approaching marriages are rumored to be close at hand.

Those present included Robert Bridge, Robert Morse, Ralph Price, Clarence Wood, Mason Rose, Archie Livingston, W. W. Mitchell, Irving Hallett, George Beeman, Kaye Butters and Clarence Bridge.

A three course dinner, pronounced a "d—l of a good feed" by one of the appreciative guests (we are quoting his exact words, as the expression unmistakably came from the heart) was supplied by the hostess, Mrs. Robert Bridge, and the party progressed merrily until a late hour when the guests of honor departed, bearing with them the good wishes and valuable (?) advice of their married cronies.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

We are glad to get back into church again. The church is the need of the community. The church ought never to be closed unless in case of extreme necessity where the community feels the need of the church, as is her due, greater interest will be shown in what stands for. We have been shut out for two Sundays. One cannot estimate the spiritual damage to the community this has done. Let us rally all and make our interest count for church now. We will show our appreciation. Go to church Sunday.

10:30 worship. Sermon by the pastor, subject, "Christ the World's Need." Special music. Mrs. Constance Gaskin has been secured as choir director. Those who can sing and will sing, meet at the church Friday night, for a sing sing.

12:00 Sunday School. For this session commit to memory Joshua 1:8. The pastor is able to give special attention to Sunday School now. Not having to go to Barnard he will teach the pastor's Sunday School class. Ask about it. Perhaps you may be in it.

NEW PALACE THEATRE

ATTRACTIONS FOR THE COMING WEEK

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 19th

Wm. Fox presents Charles (Buck) Jones in "SNOW-DRIFT." A story of the Northwest and a glorious fight for life in the Yukon Gold Fields. Thrilling action set amid the frozen hills of Alaska. Also a comedy.

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY, OCTOBER 20-21

Paramount presents "THE GO-GETTERS." Here is a high-gear, six-cylinder lover for you. Starting with nothing but his nerve, winning a million dollar girl and a job. In a romance that sizzles. From the story by Peter B. Kyne. The breeziest and funniest of all the famous Cappy Ricks stories, and a Larry Semon two reel comedy "THE SPORTSMAN."

MONDAY AND TUESDAY, OCTOBER 22-23

Benefit Show for the Charlevoix Fire Department. The outstanding century photo-dramatic sensation, "The Third Alarm." A gigantic feast of romance, humor, thrills. Then the crashing climax that will lift you bodily from your seat. Then the most staggering thrill ever swept across the screen. Then the stunning tribute to as brave a body of men as ever trod the surface of the earth. And a two reel Buster Keaton comedy "THE ELECTRIC HOUSE." Come out and see a good show and give the fire boys a boost.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 24

William Fox presents a special production "SILVER WINGS" with Mary Carr in eight big smashing reels. Pronounced a success from every angle during a three month's run at the Appollo Theatre New York. Replete with Thrills! Laughter! Entertainment. If you want to see one of the cleanest, finest pictures you have ever seen don't miss this one. And the fifth chapter of "AROUND THE WORLD IN 18 DAYS."

FOR many years now, Goodyear Tire prices have been kept consistently lower than the average price level for all commodities, as you see from the above chart. At the same time, Goodyear quality has been consistently bettered. Today, Goodyear Tire prices are lower than in 1914, and Goodyear quality is the highest ever. This is a good time to buy Goodyears.

marketing took 46 percent of the cost land rent, 25 percent; fertilizer and manure, 12 percent; seed, 9 percent; and miscellaneous costs 8 percent. An average of 57 acres of wheat per farm was grown.

The average cost of producing an acre of oats on 2,600 farms was $13.40. The yield per acre was 33 bushels, and the cost per bushel 53 cents. An average selling price of 48 cents per bushel was reported. Fifty percent of the cost was for man and horse labor, including seed-bed preparation, planting, harvesting, threshing and marketing; 8 percent for fertilizer and manure; 7 percent for seed; 27 percent for land rent; and 8 percent for miscellaneous costs. Twenty-four acres of oats were grown per farm.

pounds of picric acid, a surplus was explosive, among the states for road building and land clearing work; the Bureau of Public Roads is now about to begin the distribution of approximately 18,000,000 pounds of sodatol, a product made from surplus was material. The contract for preparing cartridges and shipping sodatol has been awarded to E. I. Du Pont de Nemours & Co. Shipping will be begun from Barksdale, Wis., by October 1. It is expected that later it will be available for shipment from Repauno, N. J.; Ashburn, Mo.; Louviers, Colo., and Du Pont, Washington.

Sodatol is a high explosive made by mixing trinitrotoluene (T. N. T.) and sodium nitrate. It is prepared for use in double-dipped paraffined cartridges weighing about 7 ounces. The cartridges are packed in wooden boxes, each containing 50 pounds of the explosive. While it is more sensitive than (T. N. T.) or picric acid, there is no danger whatever in handling it, provided that the ordinary care used in handling dynamite or other explosive is used. It will burn without exploding at least, in small quantities and should not be exposed to fire or flame.

So far as ordinary handling is concerned, sodatol has no toxic effects. It can be used in any open-air blasting operations and will not cause headaches, stain the hands, nor cause other ill effects. A cartridge of sodatol, as it has been prepared for distribution, weighs about 7 ounces and is equal in strength for agricultural blasting to the usual cartridge of dynamite, which weighs 3 ounces. That is in a 50 pound box of dynamite there are 100 cartridges, while in a 50 pound box of sodatol there are about 120 cartridges, each one of which is equal in strength to a cartridge of 40 percent dynamite. Sodatol is a nonfreezing explosive and will give good results at all ordinary temperatures.

On account of the high freight charges on explosives in small lots, shipments of sodatol can not be made by the department in less than carload lots. To prevent this material from falling into the hands of speculators, no one is permitted to secure more than 1,000 pounds. In each state, where there is sufficient demand to warrant it, some state agency, usually the State agricultural college, handles the distribution with in the state. The same agency handles the distribution of the blasting caps. Information as to what agency is handling the distribution in any state can be obtained from county agricultural agents or from the state agricultural college. The department orders for agricultural can not accept individual orders for either sodatol or caps.

There is no charge for the explosive itself, but the cost of preparation and the freight charges must be paid by the consumer. These costs are not necessarily different in various parts of the country, but, in general, they amount to about one-third the cost of an equivalent amount of dynamite.

WORTH REPEATING
When H. D. Lute resigned as secretary of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation he penned a "Swan Song" which is a classic in farm organization literature. He declared:

"As I leave the work but not the organization I can only express my faith as follows:

I BELIEVE
"That the farmer can secure the recognition to which he is entitled through co-operation.

"That farm-organization leaders must PRACTICE co-operation among themselves as well as PREACH it to individuals.

"That the Farm Bureau has sold Agriculture to the Nation more effectively than was ever done before.

"That the Farm Bureau is on the right track and is the one farm organization that promises to secure results in more than a local way. Results in legislation, lower freight rates and other improved conditions speak for themselves.

"That a Service Organization is absolutely essential to the farmers cause and that when he ditches that or fails to support it, he lays the foundation for a tenant peasantry for posterity.

"That Co-Operative Marketing by commodities under contract and on a National Scale, supporting and supported by an overhead general service organization, are imperative if the farmer is to receive a just return.

Good night,
(Signed) H. D. Lute.

pounds of fat, 640 pounds of milk, 4.14 per cent test, and $9.98 net profit per cow. The next in order are: J. W. Drenth, Ernest Loehne, George Rubingh Russell Burns and John Torgna. On an average each cow in the association produced 456 pounds of milk at an average test of 4.22 per cent, 19.3 pounds of fat and made a net profit of $5.17. Each cow returned $2.77 for every dollar expended for feed, and it cost 15c to produce a pound of butterfat and 64c to produce 100 pounds of milk.

Compare these figures with the month of August, when each cow produced 466 pounds of milk at an average test of 4.24 per cent, 197 pounds of butterfat and made a net profit of $4.15. Each cow returned $2.41 for each dollar expended for feed and it cost 15c to produce a pound of butterfat and 63c to produce 100 pounds of milk.

AT THE MOVIES

"The Go-Getter" Thrilling
There is much that is unique and thrilling about the latest Paramount Cosmopolitan production, "The Go-Getter," which will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday. T. Roy Barnes, in the leading role of Bill Peck, a war "vet" working for the Ricks Lumber Company, has a hard time getting re-established after his discharge from the army, but "the only girl in the world" arrives in time to see that her father takes care of him. Naturally Bill falls in love with Mary (Seena Owen) at first sight, and what paces he doesn't have to go through to satisfy her father that he is worthy of her aren't worth mentioning.

The original story, by Peter B. Kyne, is especially suited for the screen, and in writing the scenario, John Lynch has brought out to perfection all of its fine points. Along with Mr. Barnes and Miss Owen William Morris, Tom Lewis and Louis Wolheim are featured players.

REGULARITY

Some folks have an idea that unless they can put away large sums of money at a time, saving is not worth while.

It is regularity of saving that counts.

The amount you deposit each pay is secondary to depositing something.

After you have forced yourself to save regularly for a few months, the idea will become a habit. Habits are easy—even in saving.

ASSN. SHOWS RAPID GROWTH

FIVE NEW MEMBERS DURING PAST MONTH

New Members Add 85 Cows on Test, Making Some 325 All Told

During the month five new members joined the association, making a total membership of 33 dairymen up to the present. The new members are: Leonard Bush, Milo Montgomery, H. Keileys, Chas. K. Smith and F. G. Wilson all from Bellaire. Next month the East Jordan Lumber Co. farm will be included in the above list. These new members added about 85 cows on test and will make nearly 325 cows being tested every month.

In the course of the month 12 milk scales were purchased and are being used by as many members in the association. This is certain to produce an added interest in dairying and will help greatly in taking the guesswork out of the dairy business. The milk scales used every day in the year, will show a man just how important feeding, breeding, and caring for cows is, because all of these factors show up in the milk pail. Did you ever find a successful dairyman who didn't keep accurate milk records on his cows?

There are a predominance of Holstein cows on test. Divided into breeds there are 105 Holsteins, 74 Durhams, 49 Jerseys, 28 Guernseys and 43 whose breed cannot be determined from all appearances. Of these number only 4 Jerseys, 13 Holsteins and 2 Durhams are registered. It is also to be regretted that there are only 10 purebred sires at the herd of herds.

The most important step to be a successful dairyman is to head your herd with a purebred sire, who has a good production record back of him and who is known to be highly potent—that is, to be able to transmit his good qualities into the blood of his offspring. The added production following will surely pay the price necessary to purchase such an animal. It is recognized among dairymen that the sire is half of the herd, so be sure and maintain a proper sire.

In the month of September, 17 members fed grain to their cows, an increase of 6 over the month of August. Also 10 members weighed their milk daily as compared with 5 the previous month.

There are 15 cows that have made over $20.00 net profit above the cost of feed for the two months. In this respect Ernest Loehne has the highest cow, having one, Ruby, a purebred Jersey, making $37.83 in two months. The next high cow is a grade Holstein owned by Leonard Bush, making $27.30.

Only 3 cows have made over 80 pounds of butterfat in the two months. Ernest Loehne's above mentioned cow has produced 131.3 pounds of butterfat, George Drenth is next with 87.6 pounds of fat, and F. H. Hemstreet has a registered Holstein making 82.4 pounds. This would indicate that the more production you get out of a cow with intelligent feeding, the more net profit she will make for you.

Statistics show that as you double your production, you triple your net profits, and as you triple your production you are six times better off financially.

There were 6 cows that produced over 40 pounds of butterfat in September. Ernest Loehne's Ruby was high cow with 60.9 pounds of butterfat, Earl Burns was next with Belle (grade Guernsey), F. H. Hemstreet next with 47.6 pounds, Charles Snyder fourth with 42.4 pounds, Leonard Bush fifth with 41.4 pounds and George Drenth next with one producing 40.5 pounds.

Nick Torgna had the highest herd average for the month. His 6 cows averaged 27.3 pounds of fat, 567 pounds of milk, 4.81 per cent test, and net profits $9.96 per cow. W. P. Smith was next with 26.50 (Continued on page six) got to hand them credit for more sense than that. And if some few should be so silly as to believe this nonsense, why, they would probably be difficult people to do business with when they got here and we would be better off without them anyway. The fool water scare of a couple of years ago proves that.

Now for the first question, which we will answer last—"what's the use of saying anything about it at all? Why not hush it up? What good will it do to say anything about it?" Just this, my friend—its going to be found out in some way, sometime and it's poor business to let it be bandied about from mouth to mouth next summer by those who, in all probability, will embellish the tale with ideas of their own and who are unfamiliar with the circumstances. A week of such whispering would do us more harm than a dozen straight-forward newspaper articles. "Pussyfooting" never did get an individual or a community anywhere. The pussyfooter is a type of individual every normal man or woman hates and a community is only a collection of individuals. It is human nature, however unethical, to respect the honest highwayman and detest the high-minded hypocrite. If we covered up this epidemic of disease, what manner of auspicion would we engender in the minds of our summer patrons? And how would they feel when it finally leaked out? They might imagine, and with perfect right, that we might be hiding something else still more alarming from their view. That, also, is human nature, and auspicion are harder to down than the passing, foolish fears of a few nervous, fussy folks.

Now, as it stands, we have laid the cards on the table. They know how it started, how far it spread and what steps were taken to check it. What derelictions of duty on the part of the victims or officials incident to the epidemic have not been covered up but spread open to the daylight. That, in itself, inspires confidence. They know that somebody is ON THE JOB! That means the community, for the newspaper is but the mouthpiece of the community.

Let it be known to the readers of the Courier, our summer friends as well as the year-round residents, that the policy of this paper is and will be to publish facts, and where haphazard, elipsiod methods are used by the people's chosen officials in the conduct of their duties those same officials are going to come in for criticism at its hands—just criticism, based on the evidence from all angles and after the facts are all in. If an individual or collection of individuals, no matter who they are, pulls off anything that endangers the public welfare, he's going to hear something drop. If he's got a comeback, we'll listen to it and give our readers a chance to hear him. Fair enough. But when the hush stuff is passed around, we simply aren't there, that's all.

However get us right. It isn't the province of a newspaper to help satisfy its own or somebody else's private grudge or hammer the morals or habits of any given individual. As far as they affect himself and himself alone, they are as much his own, private and personal property as his shirt. Besides, there are enough agencies, societies, bureaus and other self-appointed saviors of mankind to attend to all that without the newspaper butting in, as the good Lord knows. But a newspaper that never functions except to pat somebody on the back with fulsome words of praise and sidesteps all the disagreeable stuff for fear of treading on somebody's pet corns isn't worthy of "a place in the sun". It belongs back in the shade where all creeping, parasitical things flourish best.

"THIRD ALARM" IS A GOOD COMEDY

At Palace Theatre For Benefit of Local Firemen

Paying a stunning tribute to firemen in every city throughout the land, depicting a story of rare entertainment value replete with thrills and no little romance and good comedy. "The Third Alarm," hailed as one of the real big pictures of the year, will be shown at the Palace Theatre on next Monday and Tuesday, for the benefit of the Charlevoix Fire Department. Turn out and see a good show and give the fire boys a boost.

Conceived and created by Emory Johnson who was responsible for the great police melodrama "In the Name of the Law," "The Third Alarm" strikes a vital note in American life of today. It reveals for once in vivid dramatic sequences, just what the fireman—the everyday, hard-working, devoted servant who risks his life in the performance of his daily duties, means to our civilization. It dramatizes the lives of the very men who protect us and the property of the tax-payers of this community. It shows the struggles, the hazards they confront, the perils they undergo and their devotion to duty that we may live in peace and contentment.

"The Third Alarm" is not propaganda. It is entertainment of the most engrossing nature. It shines like a mighty blazing beacon of truth and gives the firefighters a square deal for once on the screen where, unfortunately, there has been a tendency to lampoon them in films of a comic nature.

NOW ENGAGED IN ROUTINE LABORS

SUPERVISORS BUSY DISPOSING OF REPORTS, ETC.

Melrose Township Goes Under County Road System—More Insurance Recommended

The Board of County Supervisors met on October 8th, and adjourned their session at that time to October 15th. During the three days meetings, nothing much other than the acceptance of reports and regular routine business has been taken up. Among the matters of especial interest, we might mention that the Township of Melrose has voted itself out of the township road system and now, upon confirmation of this vote by the board, goes under the county system.

The committee on insurance has recommended that all automobiles owned by the county be insured and the policies distributed among several agencies throughout the county, instead of locally, as formerly. They also recommend that the County Poor Farm property be adequately insured against loss by fire and lightning, the policies to be handled in the same manner.

In next week's issue we will be able to give our readers a better idea of the work of the supervisors, as their first two or three days sessions are almost entirely given up to routine business.

FERRY ARIEL PULLED OFF ROCKS

State Owned Auto Ship Goes Aground in Fog

The state owned automobile ferry, Ariel, which ran on the rocks a mile north of St. Ignace, Thursday, during a heavy fog, was pulled off and towed to her wharf at St. Ignace at about 10 o'clock Friday forenoon. The powerful wrecker, Favorite, succeeded in twisting the ship off the rocks after many hours' work. For some time it was feared the Ariel could not stand the strain of the heavy pull of the Favorite.

A hurried inspection of the ship failed to reveal any serious damage but she will be thoroughly inspected at her wharf.

When the Ariel went on the rocks she was making the morning crossing from Mackinaw City. During the fog and smoke the ship missed the entrance to St. Ignace harbor and hit bottom at what is known as Big Rock, about a mile up shore from St. Ignace.

COST OF PORK PRODUCTION

Records Easily Kept Will Show Breeder If His Profit Is a Fair One, or the Reverse.

Before it is possible to determine profit or loss, it is necessary to know the cost of production. Investigations of farm costs of pork, made by the University of Minnesota, gave the following results for 100 pounds of salable hog:

Feed, 64 pounds; labor, man, 6.2 hours; labor, horse, 9 hour; cash expense, 7.4 cents; general expense, 12.6 cents; interest, .24 cent.

The only items of cost that are not accounted for are shelter and equipment. For hogs fattened in the fall and sold in the early winter, this would be a small item. It is a simple matter to determine the cost of pork production by supplying local values to the amounts of feed and labor required. General expense covers general labor not directly connected with hog feeding.

WINTER SHELTER FOR COLTS

Open Shed Is Not Desirable as Feed Is Utilized Mostly to Combat Cold Weather.

An open shed is not desirable for winter shelter for the colts. If they have to use feed mainly to combat cold weather and other conditions which could be overcome by better quarters, they will be stunted and handicapped, to say nothing of much of the profits being taken up in feed-lag.

TOURIST ASS'N. MAKES ITS PLANS

MEETING AT GRAND RAPIDS
ATTENDED BY 300

Many Valuable Suggestions Made—Larger Budget and Longer Program Advised

Space and time will not permit us to more than touch briefly on the matters discussed and plans formulated by the more than 300 people who met in the Press hall at Grand Rapids, last Friday afternoon, under the auspices of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association.

Nat less than a fund of $100,000.00 for advertising purposes during 1924 was considered and it was proposed that $10,000.00 annually should be added to this amount for from three to five years. Details of this proposition were left to the quota committee.

President Fred N. Rowe, of the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association, said that few realize what the resort business means to Michigan in dollars and cents. He mentioned several leading resort centers and asked what the business of those towns would amount to were there resort business to be removed from them. "Even doctors, dentists and architects are benefited by it," said Mr. Rowe. He then added that the past year's budget of $40,000.00 had actually increased the resort business of the state and that the results could be directly traced. He also pointed out that the most successful resort sections of the United States are those that advertise the most—California, with $1,000,000.00 Florida with $250,000.00; Denver, with $100,000.00. "Michigan," he said, "with a larger association budget can reach more people, than it has done in the past. Get the thought of selling Michigan's playground and that the Michigan Tourist and Resort Association is a clearing house for your business."

Hugh J. Gray, the association's secretary and manager, gave some figures regarding expenditures during the season. He said that $22,000.00 had been spent in direct advertising and the rest in service and overhead and that $30,000.00 had been collected and that there was $7,500.00 still due. Advertising had been done through the central, south and west in dailies with about 4,000,000 circulation and magazines with 2,100,000 circulation per month. 30,000 road maps, he said, had been distributed, as well as 50,000 booklets. Of tourists who had inquired about Michigan 82 per cent visited this state and 8,000 cars stopped at the information booth in Campus Square, in Grand Rapids.

He also stated that Michigan spent more on advertising this season than it was able to afford. Exhibited advertisements of western and southern cities to prove his assertion. He stated that Minnesota, for instance had spent $10.00 or $20.00 to Michigan's $1.00, "but, in proportion," he said, "it was worth it."

HALLOWEEN FAIR IN THE EAST; RAIN IN THE WEST

Half of the small American boys are favored by Nature on Halloween. The other half will meet with semi-discouragement, if there can be such a thing on such a night. It happens like this.

From the Lake region and Mississippi river eastward the weather is expected to be fine although probably quite cool for the season. Even a clear night would be a disadvantage if it was not for the moon which purposely will not rise until after 10 o'clock and then be only about a last quarter phase.

Over the western states, including upper Lake region, upper and western middle Mississippi river valley, Arkansas valley, Plains states and Rocky Mountain region unsettled weather will predominate on this day and night. In sections rain will be falling. This may dampen the spirits of the small boy but anyway, with a cloudy sky, he will feel more secure against the watchful eye of those on whom he plans mischief.

During opening days of November this western storm will move to central and eastern sections of the country and increase in strength with high winds and rain general. A severe change to colder will follow closely.—Prichard's Weather Forecast.

portions they did not do any better sales job than we did." Speaking of roads, he said that they are getting better all the time.

The consensus of opinion seemed to be that a four or five year program should be adopted rather than a one year program. In the matter of pledges and budget, the 100 per cent basis was finally adopted.

Many suggestions were offered regarding the treatment of resorters, hotel accommodations, etc. One man urged. Learn to be gracious hosts and make courtesy pay. Play up our advantages so that tourists will want to come to Michigan and come again. Mr. Rowe advised using the Indian lore of the state as advertising and adding to the resort season four to six weeks in the fall and early winter. Some other worthwhile comments were:

Suggested that the association send a weekly report of road conditions to each member and send advertising cars in the spring into the tourist territory.

The communities furnishing the best camps, hotels and other facilities will reap the most benefit.

OFFICIALS ON AN INSPECTION TOUR

P. M. ROAD'S ANNUAL TOUR
NOW IN PROGRESS

President Alfred and Staff Left Petoskey, Wednesday, to Look Over Our Division

Pere Marquette Railway's ninth annual inspection tour left Petoskey Wednesday morning on the third day of its nine day tour. The day was dedicated to the inspection of the Petoskey Grand Rapids Line. Fruit men in the western part of the state again showed how close the railroads are associated with their success by sending an assortment of their orchard and cannery products as complimentary remembrance of the event.

These inspection trips have a three fold purpose; viewing the work of betterments and improvements for the coming year and the budget this year amounts to the enormous sum of $11,500,000; anticipating the wants for the winter months when operation is sometimes difficult and also preparing the budget for the coming year.

Seven different committees are at work from sunrise to sunset judging the work carried on during the current season and for which special cash prizes are awarded each year. These annual inspection tours and contests have stimulated a keen rivalry among the men, a circumstance that makes for better service.

Accompanying Pres. Alfred are the following, Messrs. J. L. Cramer, vice president and treasurer; E. F. Cain, assistant to president and general manager; A. L. Grandy, assistant to president and general manager; C. M. Booth, freight traffic manager; W. E. Wolfenden, general passenger agent; A. E. Badger, general superintendent; A. J. Minard, assistant general superintendent; E. D. Hawley, superintendent of transportation; W. J. Hargis, superintendent of freight claims and police; R. J. Williams, superintendent of motive power; F. K. Wood, assistant superintendent of motive power; F. L. Oliver, superintendent of parlor and dining cars; W. C. Atherton, purchasing agent; George E. Hunt, division freight agent; M. M. Cronk, assistant superintendent, etc.

HO! YE FARMERS, ATTENTION HERE

MOVIES AND FREE FEED AT LOEB FARMS FRIDAY

"Prof." J. A. McLean of The Quaker Oats Co. And The Famous Jim Hayes Will Speak

The farmers and dairymen of this region are in receipt of a circular letter, issued by county agent, B. O. Hagerman, reading as follows:

"Dear Friend: There have come to me many requests for something to be done towards a market for the surplus milk in your neighborhood. These requests came from farmers, both large and small.

The summer resort trade furnishes excellent market for summer production but during the winter there is no such market and it is with this idea in view that the following series of meetings will be held.

Ironton Grange hall, Wednesday, October 24th, 7:30 p. m., standard time.

Marion Center Grange Hall, Thursday, October 25th, 7:30 p. m., standard time.

Loeb Farms, Friday, October 26th, 7:00 p. m., standard time.

J. A. McLean, of the Quaker Oats Company's live stock service department and the famous Jim Hayes, widely known dairy specialist from the Michigan Agricultural College, will be the speakers at each meeting.

At the meeting at the Loeb Farms, there will be several moving pictures and also, we are to be treated to a dairy lunch. If you are interested in getting more money from your cows, attend one of these meetings. Remember the movies and the free lunch at Loeb's.

Yours very sincerely (signed) B. O. Hagerman, County Agricultural Agent.

The speaker will take up the subjects of the value of concentrated feeds, growing your own hay and legumes at home, etc., and will endeavor to bring out the fact that this country is designed by nature for the dairy cow and that potatoes and root crops must take second place.

We heard a little more about the free lunch at Loeb's on the side. Each person present will be given a big hunk of the Loeb farms cheese and a cup of prime coffee.

The meetings have not been previously mentioned in these columns with the exception of a brief comment some three or four weeks ago and this article is intended to supplement Mr. Hagerman's letter.

WRIGHT RIPLEY RE- TIRES FROM SERVICE

Closes His Thirty-ninth Year as Light House Keeper Here

Thirty-nine years ago, the U. S. government placed harbor lights at the entrance to Charlevoix Harbor. Simultaneously with this action came the appointment of Wright Ripley to be light-house keeper. He had come here to Charlevoix after two years of service as keeper of the Point Aux Barques light and his retirement of pension from the service on November 1st of this year will mark the forty-second year of his government service and the thirtieth of his incumbency here.

Upon the termination of his work here, Mr. and Mrs. Ripley plan to locate in Grand Rapids. His successor here is Carl J. Grann, who has been keeper of the Calumet harbor light for several years past. He will take over the job on November 1st.

Charlevoix people will be sorry to lose Mr. and Mrs. Ripley. During their long residence in this city they have been active in the social and civic activities of the community and their sterling qualities of heart and mind have endeared them to many and won the respect of their neighbors and friends. At the same time, we extend a most cordial welcome to Mr. Grann who is shortly to take up his abode with us.

PIONEER WOMAN HAS PASSED ON

MRS. MARIA LYMAN DEAD AT AGE OF EIGHTY-THREE

Came To Michigan Fifty-Five Years Ago—A Resident Of Charlevoix For Forty-One Years

Old residents of Charlevoix, as well as many of the younger generation, were shocked and saddened to learn of the death, which occurred last Monday evening between seven and eight o'clock at the Charlevoix Hospital, of Mrs. Maria Lyman, who was apparently in good health and was making plans to go to Petoskey and work this winter, up until last Saturday night, when she was suddenly taken with a stroke of apoplexy and immediately removed to the hospital which she never left.

Mrs. Lyman was born in Pennsylvania eighty-three years ago and has been a resident of Michigan for more than fifty-five years. She was married at the age of nineteen to Martin Lyman and came to Michigan shortly thereafter, settling with her husband in Brownville, Cass county. The family afterwards located on a farm near Ellsworth, from whence they came to Charlevoix forty-one years ago where Mrs. Lyman has made her residence on Mason street for the entire period of her life in this city. Mr. Lyman died many years ago.

Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Lyman, two of whom, Mary and Harry, died some years ago. Her surviving children are Finley, of Traverse City, who is now here with his wife and Mrs. Levy Walsh, of Cleveland, Ohio, who is expected to arrive in Charlevoix today.

The funeral will be held at Sec's undertaking rooms on Thursday, at two o'clock. Rev. Clarence W. Long, of the Congregational church will conduct the services, the interment following immediately after the service at Brookside.

Mrs. Lyman was brought up in the Lutheran faith. She was a good Christian woman and much liked and respected by those who knew her. Her passing will be a distinct loss to her many friends and her sorrowing children.

HAVE SAID GOODBYE TO BACHELOR DAYS

Clarence Bridge and Kaye Butters Enter Happier State

Two well known and popular young men of this city have recently taken upon themselves the responsibilities of the married state, and are now touring the east on their honeymoon.

Clarence N. Bridge and Miss Maude Charlotte Cable were wed Thursday morning, October 18th, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cable, in Grand Rapids. Mr. Bridge is a Charlevoix boy, born and raised in this city and holds a responsible position as superintendent of the city's electric light and water departments.

Mrs. Bridge was formerly superintendent of the Charlevoix Hospital and during her incumbency made many friends in the city. They will be at home after November 10th, at 308 Dixon Avenue, Charlevoix.

Kaye H. Butters and Miss Eleanor Simpson were married at St. Alban's Episcopal church, in Detroit, at 7:45 p. m. last Friday, attended by Robert O'Neill, Mr. Butters the son of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Butters of Pellston, is assistant cashier of the County Bank here and Mrs. Butters is a Detroit girl who became acquainted with her husband while the two were fellow-employees of a Detroit bank. They were joined by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bridge and attended the football game at Ann Arbor, Saturday, and are now accompanying the latter on their trip to the east. The best wishes of the Courier and their many friends go with them.

POSTUMS PLAY DETROIT TIGERS

Were Strongest Independent Team
In the State

The East Jordan Herald in its last week's issue prints a story of a game of ball between the Postum Cereals of Battle Creek and the Detroit Tigers. The Postums defeated the East Jordan team in all of three games, but considering the class of players they belonged to, our neighbors did well to hold the score down as well as they did. The story follows:

At Battle Creek, Oct. 11, the Postum Cereal team, which played East Jordan here for a three-game series the previous week, were defeated by the Detroit Tigers 2 to 0. McMillan and Goudie were the battery for Postums—the same battery went against East Jordan in the Friday's game here. Cole, Dauss and Wood all were used by Detroit. The Tigers won in the second on an error and passed by Postums. Detroit was held to five hits. East Jordan secured four hits off the same pitcher. The result of above game shows that the Northern Michigan champs went up against probably the strongest independent team in the state.

MOONSHINE MYS- TERY LOCATED

SHERIFF FINDS BIG STILL NEAR BOYNE FALLS

Two Crawford County Rascals, One An Ex-Jailbird, Caught Red-Handed With the Goods

During the early part of last week, Sheriff Novak, assisted by Henry Fike, deputy, of Boyne Falls were following up some information that they had been getting from time to time about a big still, located somewhere in the hills, southeast of Boyne Falls.

In the course of their investigations, last Wednesday, they came upon a path leading into the hills that seemed to be well worn and had a suspicious look. They struck into the path and, following it to the end, found that it terminated in a swamp. They beat it around in the brush near where the path ended for some time without results. Finally, when about thirty rods off the beaten track, they heard voices apparently quite near at hand.

A few moments scouting enabled them to locate the speakers and the two officers swooped down on their quarry. They found two men, running twenty-five gallon, double header still, full of apples, with 300 gallons of mash ready to distill and two other stills ready to be installed. Enough containers and jugs of various kinds were found to take care of 25 or 30 gallons of moonshine. Five gallons of the manufactured article were seized as evidence.

The still was located on the bank of a creek running through the swamp and was a regular outfit. The men gave names of Henry Patton and Bert Danuth, both of Crawford County. They were brought to Charlevoix and at a hearing before Justice Stites were bound over to the circuit court. Effort is being made by their friends to obtain bail for them. Danuth will be tried first in Grayling however, for a similar offense. He is a habitual offender and once did time in Marquette for murder.

DEDICATED NEW SCHOOL BUILDING

New Structure Opens Wednesday
With Ceremonies

Traverse City's new $275,000 senior high school will be formally dedicated at afternoon and evening exercises Wednesday October 21. Sup. C. L. Poor has announced. Parents of school children will visit this newest educational edifice in northern Michigan during the afternoon of the celebration day, to watch the students about their work. Guides will conduct tours throughout the building with short lectures on each department. In the evening at formal exercises the school will be presented to the city by Everett C. Whitney, senior member of the board of education, and acceptance will be voiced by Mayor James T. Milliken.

BOARD CLOSES BUSY SESSION

MANY MATTERS DISPOSED OF
BY COUNTY SOLONS

Appropriations Made For Hospital, Poor Farm, County Park, Crippled Children And Fair

Quite a good bit of work has been accomplished by the Board of Supervisors in their sessions since our report of last Wednesday, which covered their operations up to Tuesday noon.

Among the various matters which they have taken up and passed upon are the following:

The tax valuation of South Arm township, as set for at the June meeting of this year, was fixed at $334,620 and the assessment roll of this township is to be adjusted to conform with the valuation fixed by the state tax commission for this township for 1923.

The regular annual report of the County Poor Commission showed that the average cost per inmate for 1923 was $5.40. An average of sixteen people were cared for at the Poor Farm during the twelve months ending October 1, 1923.

Several members of the Charlevoix Hospital Association appeared before the board and asked an appropriation of $1,000.00 for hospital work, which includes the construction of an addition to the present hospital. The appropriation was granted.

The sum of $350 was appropriated for the Michigan Children's Aid Society of St. Joseph, Mich.

The swing bridge cost the county for the year, 1923, $1,372.22, which is one half of the total expense incurred, the other half being borne by the city.

The sum of $1,000.00 was appropriated to complete the bridge across the South Arm, at East Jordan.

F. O. Barden was elected president of the Whiting County Park Association and F. H. Wangeman, secretary-treasurer and appointed caretaker of the park for one year without compensation. Four toilets, 5 feet by 12 feet, 20 small tables, 2 large tables and forty benches have been constructed in the park. $647.73 has been spent so far in the work of improvement, clearing brush, construction, etc. $400 is to be borrowed for immediate improvements and an appropriation of $1,000 made to continue the work.

Beginning November 1st, the sheriff of this county will draw an annual salary of $2,400, or $200.00 per month, the old fee system being abolished.

The board voted to raise the sum of $76,024.91, being the sum of $6.00 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation in the county by taxing the real and personal property of the county, to be known as the County Tax fund. The additional sum of $31,677.95—being the sum of $2.50 on each $1,000 of assessed valuation is to be raised by taxation of real and personal taxable property, for the purpose of paying off county road and federal aid bonds and for the payment of the semi-annual interest accumulated on such bonds. This fund is to be known as the County Sinking fund.

The matter of hiring an assistant for Sam Alexander in running the Ironton ferry was referred to a committee with full power to act in the matter, fix the salary, etc.

Some comparative road figures gleaned from the records of the proceedings of the past few days might be interesting. The Advance road, 82,000 feet, cost per mile, $5,042.40; East Jordan and Central Lake road, 7,770 feet, $4,910.40; Norwood road (except G. R. R.), 11,200 feet, $6,913.20; East Jordan and Advance, 14,800 feet, $5,887.20; Wilson road, 5,380 feet, $4,435.20; East Jordan and Mancelona road, 7,863 feet, $4,028.64.

The sum of $1,800 was appropriated for the work of the County Farm Bureau.

The board finished their labors and adjourned Saturday noon.

The ladies of the Congregational Church will hold a rummage sale on Friday afternoon and all of Saturday of this week in the Monte Withers building on Bridge street, 43-41.

The M. E. Ladies will give a chicken pie supper at the church, Wednesday evening, October 31st. Bill 50c. adv. 43-41.

POULTRY

FEED AND CARE FOR PULLETS

Most Common Mistake to Give Fowls Free Range and Compel Them to Hustle for Living.

When should an April pullet begin laying? Generally the statement is made that Leghorn pullets should begin when live to five and one-half months old; Rhode Island Reds and Wyandotte pullets take a month longer and Plymouth Rocks still another month.

An investigation made by Purdue university developed the fact that many flocks are not doing as well as they could if the young pullets were properly fed and cared for. They are often crowded in the coops at night for the little brood coop that is big enough in the spring is crowded by late fall and the chicks sweat.

The most common mistake is poor feeding. The pullets are allowed free range over the farm and compelled to gather most of their living. They may grow, but it is a slow growth. To hurry this growth, plenty of mash should be kept before them at all times. A very simple mash, for the older pullets can be made by taking 50 pounds bran, 50 pounds shoria, and 30 pounds of high-grade tankage. This should be placed dry in a self-feeder, or trough, and the pullets induced to eat all they will of it. Some grain should be fed in addition, that the pullets may be in good flesh when ready to start laying.

KEEP YOUNG STOCK GROWING

Succulent Green Feed, Variety of Grain, Fresh Water and Shade Are of Importance.

So long as the young stock have plenty of succulent green food, a variety of grain, fresh water, shade and exercise, together with well-ventilated sleeping quarters, they will grow like the proverbial weed, but if the growth is stunted by the lack of any one of these essentials, gain is slower even when conditions become normal than it would have been. The poultry grower gets tired; surely the chickens ought to be all right for one night—but that very night is the night the chickens take to pile up. Morning finds the half-grown stock gaunted; a day or so shows them with the dirty nostrils that come when the catarrhal discharge has filled with dust. A cold from crowding soon becomes a rumpy cold unless prompt action heads it off, and one night's neglect has cost dearly.

Keep them growing by giving more room through culling market stock as fast as it develops, and by providing shade.

Formerly the woodlands were full of the footprints of game, but now the principal trace of wild life is the refuse left by last summer's picnic parties.

John R. Santo of Traverse City declared that gravel roads are a handicap to Michigan, saying: "You can't see Michigan for the dust. When a car travels at the rate of 25 miles per hour on a gravel road, three pounds of road goes off into the fields per mile."

A Sutton's Bay divine urged, "Make Michigan a playground of the nation during December and January. Advertise our snowflakes and winter sports. Florida children would rather have snowballs than oranges."

Thus it ran, according to a lively and interesting article in the October 20th issue of the Grand Rapids Press, which we have "boiled down" for the benefit of our readers.

Combinations Outlined for Production of Pork

"Why fatten hogs with corn and wheat when each of the following combinations will produce 100 pounds of pork?" is the pertinent question when reading over the following feeding summary made by Professor F. J. Eklund of the Oregon Agricultural college:

1. 470 pounds barley, ground.
2. 400 pounds barley, ground, plus 20 pounds digester tankage.
3. 332 pounds barley, ground, plus 350 pounds skim milk or hnttermilk.
4. 246 pounds barley, ground, plus 123 pounds middlings, plus 220 pounds hnttermilk or skim milk.
5. 236 pounds barley, ground, plus 118 pounds middlings, plus 511 pounds kachage.
6. 359 pounds barley, ground, plus 160 pounds middlings.
7. 252 pounds barley, ground, plus 126 pounds middlings, plus 30 pounds digester tankage.
8. 269 pounds barley, ground, plus 200 pounds middlings, plus 20 pounds digester tankage.

POULTRY NOTES

Cockerels to be kept for breeding purposes should be handled in a similar manner to pullets.

Young stock will do better if not compelled to pick their living with the old. There will also be less trouble from lice.

Misshapen eggs are always penalized by the market and bring an inferior price to smooth, even, perfectly shaped eggs.

Do not make the mistake of feeding too much in the early days of the fattening process. It should ever be kept in mind that the appetite must be preserved unimpaired.

Shade is one of the most important essentials during the hot months. Get the chicks into the orchard and cornfield. It is not too late to plant sunflowers.

LIQUOR CASUALTIES

In the first nine months of this year poison liquor took 2,000 lives in the United States. These figures were compiled from official estimates by coroners, bureaus of vital statistics and other responsible sources in 24 states in which partial records were kept. If the records covered a larger area no doubt the total would be greater.

One state reported 12 deaths from alcoholism since Jan. 1, making no distinction between the so-called "poison booze" and any other kind. Nebraska, North Dakota, Kansas, Iowa, Oklahoma and Ohio reported 14, three, 10, 26, 20 and 17 deaths respectively.

The lowest death rates from this cause were found in southern states, the highest came from the north.

In addition to these fatalities, innumerable accidents, particularly automobile accidents, and consequent property losses, are attributed to the same source.

These are appalling figures, but it should be remembered when considering them that there is also an amazing array of figures on the other side—statistics compiled by social agencies and welfare institutions—which show that bad as conditions are now under imperfectly enforced prohibition, they were infinitely worse under the saloon regime.

DISCIPLINE NEEDED

Senator Ferris addressed the recent Methodist conference at Grand Rapids and the Michigan Christian Advocate reports him as saying:

"The American home is no longer a place where obedience is practiced. I never argued with my father. I was too well acquainted with him."

Which recalls a worth while editorial from the Soo Evening News of a few days ago on the subject of juvenile delinquency:

"The chief cause of this sort of thing is the lessened home influence of the day and the drifting apart of parents and children. Part and parcel of this, of course, is the increased latitude given children by their parents. The child rules the roost too often and comes and goes when he and she please. A good deal more of the real old fashioned discipline is needed. A parental 'No' that means just what it says will go a long way toward nipping the thing in the bud. . . . children of parents who are firm and who know where the children are after dark, and who insist, furthermore, that within a reasonable time after dark the kid are bedded down in the home bay—these children, we insist, do not go wrong very often. Think it over."

MISS O'NEILL WED TO ELMER OSTRUM

Leave Today For Their New Home In Sunny California

The marriage of Miss Agnes O'Neill of this city to Elmer Ostrum of Santa Paula, California, took place at St. Mary's church here on Tuesday morning, October 16th, Rev. Father Wegener performing the ceremony. They were attended by the bride's sister, Mrs. George McNally of Everett, Washington and James Gaskin of this city.

After the ceremony, the bridal party drove to East Jordan, where a wedding breakfast was served at the home of another sister of the bride, Mrs. H. G. Hipp, only immediate relatives and friends being present.

Mr. and Mrs. Ostrum left this morning for their home in Santa Paula, by auto, accompanied by Mrs. Louise O'Neill, mother of the bride. They will stop on the way to make short visits at Shelby, Michigan, and Chicago, and will be at home after November 15th at 250 Palm avenue, Santa Paula, California.

Mrs. Ostrum is a Charlevoix girl and her husband was formerly a resident of this city. The Courier joins with their many friends in wishing them a long life of happiness and prosperity.

The M. E. Ladies will give a chicken pie supper at the church, Wednesday evening, October 31st. Bill 50c. Adv. 43-11.

LITTLE LAD FOLLOWS DOGS TO DEATH

Young Son Of Percy Woolley Crushed By Freight Train

A shocking accident occurred early this morning when the southbound freight, due at Phelps at 8:20 o'clock, struck Jack, the little three year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Woolley, of Route two, instantly killing the child and one of the hounds which he had recently followed to his death.

The tragedy occurred at the crossing below Tonnahill hill, near the high bridge just this side of Phelps. Little Jack, whose mother supposed he was playing safely in the yard, followed a couple of hound dogs over to the railroad track and met his sad fate while attempting to cross ahead of the engine.

Members of the train crew picked up the mangled little body and brought it to Phelps, in the meantime notifying the parents. One arm was cut completely off and the head crushed in. Arrangements for the funeral are not as yet known.

We have a large stock of wool socks and mittens and will sell them at surprisingly low prices. Benj. Brown. Adv. 411f.

CHEBOYGAN WILL VOTE ON AGENT

Question on Continuing Agricultural Department up to People

The question of the county agent and his and his wife's club leader in Cheboygan county is to be placed in the hands of the voters for decision at next spring's election. The Cheboygan county board of supervisors decided to close both offices at the end of December and then let the people decide Cheboygan county's future course.

Two years ago Mackinac county decided to do away with the county farm agent department, but has now decided that the agricultural interests of the county cannot be properly cared for without a county agricultural agent. Grand Traverse county also decided to do away with the county agent but has now decided to have one again.

The M. E. Ladies will give a chicken pie supper at the church, Wednesday evening, October 31st. Bill 50c. Adv. 43-11.

SNEATHEN WINS DULUTH POTATO HONORS

Local Man Again Scores First Place With Golden Russets

A peck sample of Potosky-Golden Russet potatoes exhibited by L. E. Sneathen, certified seed grower of Charlevoix County won first place in the Russet Rural class and Grand Prize for the best peck of late potatoes in the International Potato Show which was held at Duluth, Minnesota, last week. (Oct. 16, 17, 18.)

Potato growers will recall that two years ago Mr. Sneathen won first place at the Duluth show with a peck sample of the russet skinned spuds and last fall the same prize went to Ernest Pettifor of Otsego County. The Russet Rural is a hardy and prolific strain of the Rural variety which has become the standard late potato in the state. Other states are growing this variety more or less, but nowhere else does it develop to such ideal perfection as in northern Michigan.

THE STEP BEYOND FEDERAL AID

Common Sense Applied to the Nation's Road-Building Program

It is generally recognized that existing roads fall into four classes: Interstate roads, state roads (important to the whole state), county roads (important to the whole county), and local roads, serving only a small part of a county.

The United States Government recognizes the importance of the interstate road by providing in the Federal Aid act, that interstate roads of a mileage not to exceed seven percent of the total system, may receive Federal aid in construction.

States recognize the importance of the state road, and build it, often wholly from state funds. Counties build their roads and sometimes local roads, although many such are enterprises constructed by a community of less size than the county.

State roads and interstate roads usually join. Some state roads may not have good connections across a state line, but as a general rule they do; indeed, many interstate roads become known by their national name, as the National Old Trail Road, the Lincoln Highway, the Lee Highway, etc.

It is the argument of those who believe that the United States should go further than Federal aid, and become the original constructor and permanent maintainer of truly national roads; that just as the state builds state roads, counties build county roads, and communities build local roads, so should the nation build the main interstate trunk lines; that there are roads which truly serve the whole nation, which should be built by and maintained by the whole nation, just as there are state roads which truly serve the whole state and which the states recognize are rightly built and maintained by the state.

Miss Ethel Ingalls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Ingalls of Route one, Charlevoix, who is now attending the normal college at Mount Pleasant, has been elected president of the recently organized rural club, better known as the Kelley Club.

This is quite an honor and Miss Ingalls is to be congratulated on her distinction. She graduated from the Charlevoix High School in 1920.

D. J. Eckinger and wife, accompanied by Mrs. Will Black, returned Tuesday afternoon from Flint, by the way of Tawas City, Alpena and Rogers City, having spent four or five days in Flint visiting at the home of Roy MacArthur and family.

On the down trip they were also accompanied by Mrs. Tom Shapton whom they left at her home in Flint. Mr. Eckinger reports the roads in the district through which he travelled the finest gravel roads he has ever seen. He says the reason is that they keep them continually scraped and their conditions puts the roads of Charlevoix county to shame.

AT THE MOVIES

A happy motion picture story ending that doesn't include a marriage or an embrace!

That is one of the unique distinctions claimed for "The Rustle of Silk," Herbert Brenson's Paramount picture featuring Betty Compson and Conway Tearle, which will be the feature of the bill at the Palace Theatre for next Saturday and Sunday.

The story, adopted from Cosmo Hamilton's novel by Sada Cowan and Onida Bengere, centers about a humble English girl who falls in love with a great British statesman who is already married. The girl, serving the statesman's wife, adores the husband from afar.

By accident the man learns of the girl's love. Unhappy with his wife and disheartened by the course of political events, he offers to get a divorce and marry the girl.

But a crisis in the affairs of state requires all of his attention. If he resigns, chaos threatens to engulf the government. The girl, because she loves him, sacrifices her love and accepts his position.

He sends her back to fight his cause against overwhelming odds. Her compensation is found in the fact that the man who loves her faces his duty because he loved her. He wins his fight, but for the time being at least, he fails to win the girl who spurred him on to victory.

Unlike so many screen plays of the day, "The Rustle of Silk" does not introduce an episode five or ten years later showing the principals happily married. It ends as real life stories, so often end—in happiness achieved through sacrifice, but with promise of happiness to both in the future.

Indigestion in Horses

Result of Poor Feeding

Digestive troubles in the horse are often the result of injudicious feeding and watering, especially during the hot summer months when the horse is doing a full quota of work. It must be remembered that if the horse is tired out and exhausted his stomach and other internal organs are in the same condition and are not in a fit state to start to do their work, which is the proper digestion and assimilation of the food taken in by the animal. If the stomach is unable to perform its work in a normal manner and a large feed of oats is given it can easily be understood that the results are apt to be disastrous and lead to severe colics which often have a fatal ending. Many colics are due to feeding immediately the horse comes in from a hard spell of work and when he is heated and tired out. Being hungry, he starts to eat rapidly, with the result that the stomach becomes overloaded and unable to handle the food. In a short time the horse shows signs of pain and restlessness and the farmer has on his hands a very sick animal. If the horse is exhausted, allow him only a mouthful of water and feed a sloppy bran mash, which is easy of digestion, but the oats and hay must be withheld until the animal is cooled and been well rubbed down. By that time, under the influence of the bran mash, the stomach will have recovered its tone and he is in a fit state to digest the regular rations. Indigestion in colts may result from the irritation of teething, from the removal of the dam at too early an age, or suckling when the dam is heated or has been too long a time parted from the foal. In older animals indigestion may be due to defective teeth, debility of the stomach; improper and irregular feeding are also common causes. Indigestion with engorgement arises from ravenous eating, filling the stomach to an excessive degree.

In ordinary cases of chronic indigestion first examine the teeth, and remove the cause of irritation from them; next carefully consider the diet the horse is fed, and see that it is moderate in quantity, nutritious and offered at regular intervals, and when these are done it will be time to think of medicines.

Generally, it will be advisable to give a mild purge of oil with ginger, followed by a tonic made of bicarbonate of soda and powdered gentian, each half an ounce, and powdered nuxvomica 20 grains, given as a dose twice a day.

Essential Features of Self-Feeders for Hogs

Pigs that are to be fattened for market, says Arthur L. Anderson, who is in charge of the hog section of the animal husbandry division at University farm, will make the most rapid and economical gains if put on a self-feeder. The time required for the hogs to reach the marketable weight is reduced by this system of feeding. Also the labor bill is cut down materially.

The free choice system, or allowing the hogs to select feeds to the amount of their own wanting, has been found a satisfactory plan. The wants of the pig are a good criterion of his bodily needs.

Self-feeders vary a great deal in minor features of construction. The essential features, says Mr. Anderson, are:

1. Substantial and rainproof construction.
 2. A V-shaped hopper to insure a constant supply available to the pigs.
 3. A small opening at the base of the hopper to control the escape of feed, and adjustable for the various kinds of feeds.
 4. A trough from which the hogs may eat, so constructed as to prevent the waste of feed.
- A self-feeder having these features of construction can be made in an ordinary farm workshop and will be found very practicable.

Silage More Profitable Than Corn in Feed Test

The Iowa experiment station in feeding steers found that a full ration of silage (62 pounds) and no corn gave larger profits than a full ration of corn and a half ration of silage (27 pounds), lined meal and alfalfa hay being fed to both lots of steers. The lot that received a full ration of silage and a half ration of corn and a full ration of silage gave a profit of $23.11, while the lot that received no silage and a full ration of corn gave a profit of $23.11.

The farmers of Iowa have been building silos by the thousands and in a few years there will be one on every farm in the state. The same should be true in Colorado.—R. W. Clark, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.

DR. KING'S NEW DISCOVERY

FEEDING PIGEONS IN LOFTS

Most Popular Method Is to Have Stated Hours for Placing Grain Supply in Troughs.

Self-feeding hoppers are seldom found nowadays in the lofts of veteran pigeon breeders. Their argument is that they have not found it profitable to have several days' supply of grain within reach so the birds may help themselves at will. There are two reasons for this: First, inferior squabs are raised in lofts where feed is constantly before the birds, as there is no regularity among the breeding pigeons in feeding their young; second, this continual picking at the grain eventually leads to poor appetites, resulting in the squabs suffering.

Another disadvantage in having feed lying around, is that it attracts mice and even rats, and when once these enemies get in a loft there is great loss of young birds.

The most popular method for feeding is to have stated hours for placing the grain in the troughs. These troughs are placed in the center of the floor, so that there will be plenty of room for the birds to gather around it. Galvanized iron drinking vessels are preferred to stone fountains.

Loose Grain in Pigeon Lofts Attracts Mice and Rats.

There are three open boxes in each loft, measuring 12 inches in length, three inches in width, and three inches in depth, and these boxes contain oyster-shell, grit and charcoal.

A bathtub is placed in the aviary of each pen. These are made of galvanized iron and of convenient size for handling. During the winter the birds are given a bath about once a week, but only on bright clear days. In summer it may be given twice a week. These pans are filled about eleven o'clock in the morning and allowed to remain for about two hours, when they are emptied and turned upside down. If the water is not emptied shortly after the birds are through bathing, they may drink of it and become sick.

LIME OF GREAT IMPORTANCE

Mineral Element Is Essential for Egg Production and Development of Young Chicks.

Provision for an adequate supply of lime in the ration should be made by poultry raisers, for if this important mineral element is lacking in the food a drain is made on the reserve supply in the bones and soft tissues of the animals which interferes materially with egg production in mature hens and in the proper development of the growing chicks.

BIG VALUE OF ANIMAL FEED

Experiments Made at Purdue University Showed Great Increase in Egg Production.

Animal feeds have a decided value in the ration of laying hens and pullets. Experiments made by the Purdue University showed an average egg record of 140.2 eggs in a year from a pen of pullets fed skim milk; 136.4 eggs from those fed meat scrap; and 61.2 eggs from those that received no animal feed of any kind.

nessday of this week, but friends have not as yet learned what arrangements have been made for funeral services.

Considerable excitement was caused in the East side of town on Friday when a horse belonging to George Nelson and used by him for milk delivery service, became tired of waiting for his master who was making collections at the home of one of his customers and started for home evidently with the intention of getting there in the least possible time. Luckily the bulk of the delivery had been made so very little milk was undelivered and as a result, practically no damage was done except to Mr. Nelson's feelings.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of our dear son and brother, Earl, who died one year ago today, October 20th, 1922.

Though earthly ties are broken, In life we'll meet no more, Our thoughts are with you, brother, On yonder distant shore.

The God who gave has taken And Heaven our brother has won, Although our hearts are sad, The will of God is done.

TEACHING PATRIOTISM

Part of the business of the Youth's Companion is cultivating a fine patriotism—the love of country; not wrong, but right. The Youth's Companion started the movement for putting the flag on the schoolhouse, it formulated the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag that is repeated today in practically every schoolhouse in the United States. It has for a long time, now, been running a series of patriotic covers picturing striking events in the nation's history. Painted by the best historical illustrators in the country, they are reproduced in full color at frequent intervals on The Companion's cover. It is worth a year's subscription to the companion to have these scenes in our building of the nation pictured so graphically. They help greatly in fixing the memory of the events related in the school histories.

The 52 issues of 1924 will be crowded with aerial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive—

UNCEASING MISERY

Some Charlevoix Kidney Sufferers Get Little Rest or Comfort.

There is little sleep, little rest, little peace for many a sufferer from kidney trouble. Life is one continual round of pain. You can't rest at night when there is kidney backache. You suffer twinges and "stabbing" of pain, annoying urinary disorders, lameness and nervousness. You can't be comfortable at work with darting pains and blinding dizzy spells. Neglect these ailments and serious troubles may follow. Begin using Doan's Kidney Pills at the first sign of disorder. Thousands have testified to their merit.

Proof in Charlevoix testimony: Mrs. Dan Bascot, 105 Lincoln St., Charlevoix says: "My back was stiff and sore just over my kidneys. My kidneys were weak and acted irregularly, so I decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a few boxes. They rid me of the trouble in a very satisfactory manner."

Price 60c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bascot had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfr. Buffalo, N. Y.

EVERYDAY GOOD THINGS

When looking for a dessert in the family that likes pie try:

Nut, Cream Prune Pie—Put through a sieve one cupful of stewed prunes; add a cupful of rich milk, one tablespoonful of flour, a third of a cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs, well beaten, and the whites beaten stiff and added just at the last. Sprinkle a cupful of chopped black walnut meats over the top and bake as usual. Use a pastry-lined plate and bake at first in a hot oven, then lower the heat to bake the custard.

Mashed Potatoes With Peanut Butter—Boil, mash and beat until light, six medium-sized potatoes; add salt, one tablespoonful of butter and one-half cupful of hot milk. Heap in a hot dish. Blend one and one-half tablespoonsful of peanut butter with one tablespoonful of butter, add a few dashes of red pepper and dot the hot potato with bits of the butter.

Pinked Fish—Split the fish, wipe with a damp cloth and lay skin-side down on the well-heated plank, which has been rubbed with sweet fat. Sprinkle the fish with seasonings and dot with bits of butter if it is a fish lacking fat. Place in the oven under the broiler flame for fifteen minutes. Meanwhile have potatoes boiled, rice and seasonings, and add milk to moisture; add an egg yolk, mix well and fold in a beaten white. Arrange the mashed potato around the fish in mounds, or force through a pastry tube. Brown quickly under the broiler flame. Garnish the fish with slices of cucumber which have been marinated in French dressing, and small tomatoes cut into the form of a lily. Place whorls of mayonnaise in the center of each tomato.

Cabbage Salad—Chop cabbage, add a cupful of chopped celery to three cupfuls of cabbage, and three sliced bananas. Season well and cover with any desired well-seasoned dressing. Serve in a cabbage bowl made by scooping out the cabbage from a good firm head. Garnish with fringed celery and some of the thick mayonnaise.

Front and rear seats adjustable forward and back for tall and short people.

50 cu. ft. for farm truck, luggage, etc., by removing rear seat and upholstery.

Both seats and upholstery make into a full sized bed in the car for camping.

RED CLOVER AND ALSIKE
GOOD PRICE

Growers Will be Interested in Following From U. S. Government Report

Movement of red and alsike clover seed this season has been below normal. In most producing districts 5 per cent or less of the 1923 crop of red clover had left growers' hands by September 18. Hauling of crop is later than usual, and was just beginning in some districts the first or second week of September. About 40 per cent of the alsike crop has been sold by growers. Alsike clover are considerably higher than last year, growers are not inclined to sell at prevailing prices, which average about $4.25 per 100 pounds higher for red and $1.50 higher for alsike than last year at a corresponding time.

Quality of the red clover seed is about the same as last year, while the quality of the alsike is somewhat better.

Red Clover. Movement of red clover seed was just starting in most districts by September 18. On the same date last year about 25 per cent had moved from growers' hands. In central Illinois, southern Wisconsin 5 to 10 per cent had moved. In southern Idaho 15 per cent and in southern Iowa about 25 per cent had left growers. Elsewhere the movement was more belated and in several districts practically no seed had been sold by growers.

Prices offered growers for cleaned seed on September 18 ranged from about $17.50 in southern Minnesota and southeastern Iowa to $18.50 to $19.50 in portions of Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Michigan. The average price paid in leading producing sections on that date was $18.50 compared with $14.25 a year ago and $16 two years ago on approximately the same date. Between August 18 and September 18, prices advanced $1 per 100 pounds, which was about 25 per cent less than the advance that took place last year during a similar period.

Eighty-five per cent of the reports received by the United States Department of Agriculture indicate that growers are not selling freely at prevailing prices. Growers realize that the 1923 crop was much smaller than last year, as pointed out in the outlook report in "Weather, Crops and Markets" for September 1st and anticipate higher prices.

The arrivals of red clover seed from Europe during the past three weeks have been small. As soon as new crop seed is available, much larger imports are expected. Alsike Clover. Movement of alsike clover seed has been slower than normal and last year. Up to September 18 about 40 per cent of the crop had been sold by growers compared with 50 per cent last year at a corresponding time. In Michigan and Indiana about 25 per cent, in Wisconsin 40 per cent, in Illinois, Ohio, and New York 50 per cent, and in Idaho about 70 per cent of the crop had moved.

Prices offered growers for cleaned seed ranged from $12.65 per 100 pounds in northeastern Wisconsin and $13.25 in southern Wisconsin to $15.50 in portions of Michigan, Indiana and Ohio. The average price paid in surplus producing sections was $14.30 compared with $13.65 a month ago, $12.75 last year, and $14.25 two years ago on the same date. Growers are not selling freely at prevailing prices.

Eighty per cent of the reports received indicated that the quality of the 1923 crop will be equal to or better than that of last year.

STATE APPLE AND POTATO SHOW

Michigan Crops To Have Own Exposition

Apples and potatoes, two crops of which Michigan is famous and of which the entire state is justly proud, will have a special show of their own this fall.

The Michigan Apple and Potato Show, established as an annual event, will be held in Grand Rapids from November 20 to 23, with the choicest selections of the two crops gathered from all parts of the state.

A long list of cash prizes has attracted a record number of entries and the prediction is being made that the show will be the greatest exhibition of its kind ever staged in Michigan, or any other western state, for that matter.

The show is planned in the interests of the two crops from a statewide standpoint. Excellent quality of apples and potatoes produced in Michigan will be brought out, with the resultant effect of not only stimulating production of better fruit but also tending to increase consumption of crops within the state.

Various co-operative potato and apple growers' associations, business men of west Michigan, railroad interests, and various state departments, including the Michigan Agricultural College, are co-operating in the details of the big exposition.

Special features, in addition to the straight showing of competitive fruit and potato samples, will be provided to add to the interest of the show.

J. F. Munson, prominent fruit grower of Kent County, is president of the Apple and Potato Show, while H. C. Moore, extension specialist at M. A. C., serves as secretary.

Sunday School at 11:35 o'clock. General lesson theme—Some Missionary Teachings of the Prophets.

B. Y. P. U. at 6:30 o'clock. Edith Chew will lead. The topic for discussion is, "The Call of the City."

The scripture lesson is found in Matthew 25:35-40. At this time plans will be made for a business meeting to be held in the near future. There are several matters to be taken up with regard to our winter's work and program, so come with plenty of timely hints and suggestions.

Rev. and Mrs. Hoskins leave early next week to take up their winter's work, so next Sunday will be the last one in which they will be with us. We feel that we have been greatly benefited by their work among us and we are sorry indeed to have them leave us. We hope and trust that greatest success may attend and bless them during the coming season.

The mid-week prayer service will meet on Thursday evening of this week at 8:00 o'clock. This will be the last mid-week service at which Rev. Hoskins will be able to be with us and we trust that a large number will be present.

On next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, Rev. Hoskins will preach at Burgess.

MRS. JACK BUGBEE HAS BIRTHDAY PARTY

Seventeen Friends Bring Huge Cake And Fine Gifts

Last Monday at about 7:30 o'clock a number of cars drove up into Mrs. Jack Bugbee's yard and seventeen ladies emerged therefrom, bearing a huge birthday cake and other "fix-ins", including the many candles.

After the greetings were over the fun began. Cards were played and games of various kinds and at a late hour the lunch was served, at which time all did justice to the big cake.

Just before leaving, all gathered around to assist Mrs. Jack in undressing the beautiful birthday gifts which they had given her as a reminder of this event. The guests left in the wee sma' hours, wishing Mrs. Bugbee many more happy birthdays.

NEW I-BEAMS BUILT IN PALACE THEATRE

Unobtainable During War, Now Being Installed

The work of strengthening the structure of the Palace Theatre by the installation of a few big I-beams in its facade has been under way for several days.

These beams, which it was originally designed to incorporate in the framework of the building, when it was erected, could not be had at that time, owing to the exclusive consumption of steel by Uncle Sam and certain preferred industries during the war period.

The repairs, it is expected, will be completed a week from today.

Coal in Consumption.

Carbon is the preponderant element of coal, and in order to turn one pound of pure carbon there is required 11.6 pounds of pure air. Imagine a column of air one inch square extending 10 miles into the sky and you will have a good idea of the amount of air required to burn a single pound of coal. A pound of coal would require a column one inch square and only three feet high.

A Dud Is Always a Dud.

CARNEGIE MED- AL FOR MC HUGH

LOCAL MAN PARTICIPATES IN HERO FUND AWARD

Saved Clayton Dutcher From Drowning In February, 1919—Also To Receive $1,000.

Mrs. Ada Powers of this city is in receipt of a letter from F. M. Wilmot, manager of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission, whose office is located at Pittsburgh, Penna., advising that her efforts to secure the commission's recognition of an act of heroism that occurred here in February, 1919, have been successful.

The act in question was the rescue of Clayton Dutcher from the waters of Round Lake, effected by the quick-witted and daring feat of Harry E.
McHugh of this city, who braved the dangers of rotten ice and a terrific current, barely escaping with his own life. The occurrence would have gone unreported had it not been for the kindly offices of Mrs. Powers, who took it upon herself to see that the commission was put in possession of the facts. After considerable correspondence between the Carnegie Fund office, Mrs. Powers and latterly with Mr. McHugh, himself, the award of a medal and the sum of $1,000 has been O. K'd by the commission.

We reproduce herewith the commission's letter to Mrs. Powers and the copy of their letter to Mr. Mc-Hugh, advising him of the award, which was enclosed therein:

Mrs. Ada Powers, Oct. 26, 1923
218 Belvedere Avenue,
Charlevoix, Mich.

My Dear Madam:
In acknowledgement of your courtesy in calling to the attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission the case of Harry E. McHugh, I beg leave to enclose you herewith a copy of my letter of this date addressed to Mr.
McHugh, relative to the action taken by the commission upon his case.

Yours very truly,
(signed) F. M. Wilmot Manager.

October 26, 1923
Mr. Harry E. McHugh,
708 South Bridge Street,
Charlevoix, Mich.

My dear sir:

Through the courtesy of Mrs. Ada
Powers, of 218 Belvedere Avenue, Charlevoix, the attention of the Carnegie Hero Fund Commission has been called to an act performed by you, by which on February 22, 1919, you saved H. Clayton Dutcher from death by drowning in Round Lake, at Charlevoix, Michigan. Your case after a thorough investigation was considered at a meeting of the Commission held this afternoon, and I have much pleasure in informing you that in recognition of your heroism on that occasion the commission awarded you a bronze medal and the sum of $1,000 for a worthy purpose to be approved by the Executive Committee.

I shall be obliged if you will kindly advise me without delay, by a letter bearing your own signature whether or not you wish to accept the commission's awards. If your reply is affirmative, the medal will be ordered and will be forwarded to you as soon as it has been received from the manufacturers, and the money will be held for you until it is needed for the purpose which will later be decided by the Executive Committee.

Yours very truly,
(signed) F. M. Wilmot,
Manager.

Mr. Mc Hugh, when interviewed
Monday, signified his intention of accepting the commission's awards but is not now prepared to state what use he will make of the $1,000.

It will be recalled that the incident that called for the rescue occurred at the foot of Clinton Street, at about noon on Washington's birthday. Mr.
McHugh, on his way to dinner, noticed the boys, Clare Usher and Clayton Dutcher, evidently playing
"stump the leader" on the rotten ice fringing the shore, as he passed the head of the street. He kept on and when about in front of Cartier's shop thought he heard a cry for help.
He ran back to the corner he had just passed and saw that the boys had broken through the ice and were struggling in the water. Stripping off his coat as he ran, Mr. McHugh rushed down the hill to their aid.
By the time he reached the edge of the ice, Clare Usher had scrambled to safety, but young Dutcher was still floundering in the water and nearly all in with exhaustion. Mc-Hugh ran out onto the ice, striving to break it through between the drowning boy and shore to make a path for their escape, but a considerable portion of it held. All that McHugh could do was to keep himself and the lad afloat and clear from the ice until help could come and this was no small job as the current was running so strong that it carried his feet out from under him while treading water, more than once threatening to drive them both underneath the floor.

Passersby, attracted by the cries for help, procured a rope and ran to the water's edge. After several attempts, the boy and his rescuer managed to secure a firm grip on the rope and were dragged to safety.

HISTORICAL SOCI- ETY MEETS FRIDAY

Business of Vital Importance On The Docket

A business meeting of the Charlevoix Historical Society is scheduled to meet at the home of Mrs.
and Mrs. Clarence W. Long, on Friday evening, November 2nd, at 7:
30 o'clock.

Several matters of importance, involving the very life of the society are to be discussed and a decision in respect to them is highly imperative.
The meeting has been called by the president, Dr. F. F. McMillan, and Rev. C. W. Long, chairman of the business committee.

MONSTER S. S. MEET PLANNED

GRAND RAPIDS ALONE WILL HAVE 5,000 DELEGATES

State Wide Affair, Including 17 Evangelical Churches For Week of October 27th

State-wide interest is being developed in all sections of the state of Michigan centering around the sixty-third annual State Sunday-school convention which is to convene at Grand Rapids November 6-7-8. This event is announced as the largest inter-church event in the history of Michigan. Seventeen evangelical denominations are cooperating to make it a real blow against religious illiteracy, spiritual destitution, ignorance and superstition. It is pointed out that all churches cooperating are stronger than all churches working singly.

Grand Rapids is making preparation for the largest delegation in the history of Sunday-school work in this State. Plans are laid for an attendance of 5,000 delegates—Railroads and interurbans throughout the state have made special concessions to the persons who are going to Grand Rapids. The theme of the convention is announced as "Toward Building a Christian Commonwealth." The development of this theme will be in the hands of such able speakers as Dr. Walter S.
Atherton and Professor H. Augustine
Smith of Massachusetts; William T.
Ellis of Swarthmore, Pennsylvania;
R. A. Waite of the International
Young People's Division; Dr. Bert
E. Smith of the Methodist Board of Sunday Schools; and President M. L.
Burton of the Michigan University.
In addition to these, the names of Miss Stooker of New York and Miss Pearl Weaver of Illinois have been mentioned as specialists in work with children. Dr. E. Bourner Allen, the former pastor of Marion Lawrence, the International Secretary, is announced as the Bible Teacher of the event, with Dr. Joseph A. Vance of Detroit cooperating.

The pageant "The Commonwealth of God," a production by professor Smith is to be presented under his personal direction by characters.

EAST JORDAN LOSSES GAME

SCORE IN OUR FAVOR IS THIR-TEEN TO NAUGHT

A Hard-Fought Contest, Marked By Spectacular Plays and Good Sportsmanship

With a rivalry that dates back to last year this time, when Charlevoix was defeated at East Jordan, our eleven went out on the gridiron last Saturday with blood on their gills.
East Jordan, confident that the battle was theirs, were in the best of trim their team reorganized and as powerful as it ever has been or ever will be. They proved themselves to be a bunch of fighters, though C. H.
S. was in the lead.

First quarter: Charlevoix kicked to East Jordan and the battle was on.
They failed to make downs and the locals took the ball. Charlevoix soon got under way and a series of end runs and line plunges took the ball down to within fifteen yards of a touchdown.

Second quarter: The locals came back determined to place the pigskin on the other side of the goal posts. Bacot received a pass from Marshall and advanced the ball to within five yards of the goal. Jones took the ball for a line plunge and dove through the East Jordan defense. The whistle blew. The ball was over Cunningham kicked goal and the score stood 7 to 0.

Third quarter: The locals opened up on end runs and Marshall carried the ball 35 yards and only 10 yards from a goal. The ball was advanced to within a yard of a touchdown but a quarter-back sneak failed to put it across. Smith punted from behind the goal posts.

Fourth quarter: C. H. S. failed to make downs. Jones intercepted a pass and ran down the field to the ten yard line. A series of catapult plunges resulted in a touchdown.
Cunningham failed to kick goal and the score stood 13 to 0. The game ended with the hard-fighting, triumphant locals forcing their opponents steadily down the field to within ten yards of another goal. The whistle saved the Jordan from a worse white-washing.

In Bacot Charlevoix has developed an excellent end. He played a steady game showing commendable head-work as well as accuracy in bringing down passes and tackling.
Jones played a fine game as Fullback, Marshall at quarter and Cooper at half. Capt. Todd, Jensen, Swartout, and the rest of the line showed up fine on the defense. In fact every man on the squad played a remarkable game. It was a scrap in which the Charlevoix players showed themselves as fighters, clean players have some more of this gentleman's hard-boiled Austin-Altenburg brand of football! They tell us that Potoskey walked all over the victors of the Boys City-Cadillac match. We meet the boys who walloped Boys City 31 to 0 on next Saturday. Lets get Potoskey!

BEAVER ISLAND WO- MAN HAS PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Sophia Lafreniere Died Last Monday At St. James

Mrs. Sophia Lafreniere, wife of Nelson Lafreniere and well-known life-long resident of St. James, Beaver Island, died Monday morning at her home on the island, following a short period of ill health.

The funeral will be held Thursday from the home, Rev. Fr. McManmon of St. James officiating. Interment of the remains will be made in the cemetery there.

Mrs. Lafreniere, whose husband kept the general store at St. James, was thirty-five years of age and had many friends in this city, as well as on the island. Besides her husband, she leaves to mourn their loss a brother, Henry, who keeps the Point Betsey Lighthouse; two brothers and a sister who are residents of the Beavers; two sisters, one at Escanaba and the other in Chicago and seven children.

FORD FORESTS ARE GUARDED

WHILE THOSE OWNED BY OTHERS GO UP IN FIRE

Flivver Kings, Efficiency Has Taught
Old Lumbermen Something About Logging

Today with between $5,000,000 and $8,000,000 of Ontonagon county timber land on the ground, black and charred reminders of the recent fires, there is one spot in the very heart of the fire area eyed with awe by lumbermen who lost their all during the conflagration.

It is the Ford lumber camp at Sid-naw, where Ford efficiency has taught lumbermen something they probably will not forget for many a year, and the green stalwart uprightness of Ford's trees, a veritable lumber Eden in the center of bleak desolation will do much to revolutionize logging in this section.

On the south, northeast, and west of the Ford camp for the last three weeks great forest fires have raged. A great many fires have started on the Ford camp. But the fires made no headway and Ford's loss was practically nothing.

There is a reason, and lumbermen admit that Ford's system of logging saved him hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Ford obeyed the law. His camps are studies in efficiency.

Other lumbermen in Ontonagon county disobeyed the law. Ontonagon county is a study in carelessness.

When Ford lumberjacks cut the big timber and hauled it away, an other crew chops the tops of the trees. That is hauled away as stove wood. Still a third crew gathers all the refuse, small branches dead limbs haul it to a cleared spot and it is burned.

When lumberjacks leave a section it is cleared land. All that remains as evidence of the great forest is stumps. There is no refuse left lying around as prey for the tiniest spark. A stump pulling machine works on an acre of Ford land for a day and the acre becomes ready for the plow.

Other lumbermen clear their land of the heavy timber. The tops, small branches and refuse are left where they fall. There is no attempt to clear away the refuse. The big timber goes out to the mill. The small timber stays for the fires. There is a law on the statutes passed many years ago requiring lumbermen to burn their refuse. The law passed to prevent fires such as the upper peninsula just experienced has never been enforced. Ford enforces it voluntarily.

In other ways Ford efficiency has been taken to the north woods. His camps are models of sanitation and comfort. He erects no shacks or hunkhouses. His houses are portable, probably manufactured in Detroit, and shipped to the north woods.
His kitchens are kitchens with the most modern equipment and not mere campfires. His sleeping houses are weatherproof and heated by electric lights.

He furnishes his lumberjacks with individual beds. Each camp has its own bath house, tub and shower, hot and cold water.

His tractors replace horses during the winter haul. On an ice road one tractor can haul thousands of feet of logs during the hardest weather.

But the most noticeable thing is that Ford does not rely on state

KILLED ANIMAL WITH SINGLE SHOT

Pesky Mink Comes to Grief After Killing Turkey

A large mink killed a young turkey at Loeb Farms last week and left the carcass near the entrance to his den, just a few feet from the home of Forrest Fowler, who killed the animal with a single shot. For a man who shoots a gun so seldom, it was a fine piece of marksmanship, and Forrest says he was more surprised than the mink, which was swimming down stream at the time.

BACK BROKEN WHEN AUTO TURNS TURTLE

Indian Youth in Hospital Slowly Dying

Peter Okemakekedo, an Indian of Omaha, Leelanau County, visiting in this region with his father, met with an accident two weeks ago last Monday which will probably terminate his life within the next two or three weeks. He is now in the Charlevoix hospital paralyzed from the hips down and it is thought his back is broken.

The unfortunate man who is about twenty-four years of age was driving with his father in a Ford car to a point near East Jordan in Antrim County where the two were to go to work cutting wood for the East Jordan Chemical Company.
They had left the home of a widow in Hayes township where they had stopped for a visit that morning and were a few miles beyond East Jordan when the car turned turtle, throwing both of them out and pinning them under the machine, from which position they were extricated with difficulty by passing motorists. As the accident occurred this side of the county line, Commissioner of the Poor, Lyman E. Benton was notified and the victims were brought to the hospital here, where the younger of the two was found to be in the condition as indicated above.
The older man was uninjured, barring severe bruises about the head and neck. It is rumored that moonshine had something to do with the affair but this has not as yet been definitely ascertained.

NDW, LET JOY BE UNCONFINED

THIS IS THE SPORTSMAN'S
GOLDEN HOUR

As Kipling Puts It, He Hears "The Red Gods Calling" From Field and Woodland

"Open season!" These words stand for a world of joy to every sportsman—and now it is open season on almost every kind of game.
In uplands and lowlands, marsh and covert, sportsmen are enjoying the thrill of the hunt. Wherever there is game, furred or feathered, there are gunners winning fun and heightened health from the oldest, and according to them, the greatest sport.

The Indians called September the "Hunters' Moon," but it is November to which hunters now look forward most eagerly the whole year round.

Those who themselves cannot go on long hunting trips are envying their more fortunate fellows who can and there are but few red-blooded two-fisted men who are not managing somehow to squeeze at least several day's shooting into their month's activities.

The old hunting instinct may lie dormant the rest of the year. But there is something in these crisp, cool days that forces it wide-awake.
As Kipling puts it, sportsmen hear "the red gods call."

Whether for wildfowl or the winged or four footed dwellers in the woods or fields, everybody's going hunting. And—"Ain't it a grand and glorious feeling?" No "fly in the ointment" as earlier in the year!
No swarms of black flies or mosquitoes or even gnats to disturb your peace or take the edge off your pleasure!

Ask men why they go hunting!
They'll give you many reasons. Some prosperous business or professional men, probably—will tell you that there's no better preparation for the winter's work than some time spent in the open matching their quickness and wits against those of the game they're hunting. They'll say there's no pep-producer that can compare with the clear air of a brisk Fall day redolent with the tang of the forest or the salt of the bay that hunting's a real efficiency measure. To bring home a good bag, a man must be on the alert!

Others will declare that now the country and the woods are at the

NEW DAIRY CO. BEING FORMED

WITH LOEB, JORDAN AND FOW-LER AS OFFICERS

Factory At Levering First .Of .a Chain to be Established in Dairying Districts

A new corporation is being formed in this region, to be known as the Northern Dairy Products Co. The incorporators are now taking out papers under the laws of the state of Michigan and already have an organization.

Ernest G. Loeb, of Loeb Farms, is the president; H. C. Jordan of Lev-ering, vice president and general manager and Forrest Fowler, bookkeeper at the Loeb Farms, Secretary-treasurer.

The only plant owned by the new corporation which is at present in operation is the cheese factory at Levering, where Mr. Jordan is conducting operations. It is hoped, however, to expand the activities of the corporation into localities where there are enough cows to warrant it.

The Northern Dairy Products Company will not attempt to enter Charlevoix at present, leaving the field here to the Loeb Farms cheese and creamery department, which is an entirely separate affair and really a competitor of the dairy concern. It is to be presumed, though, in view of Mr. Loeb's interest in Charlevoix county that in the course of time he will endeavor to bring into this county as many factories as conditions warrant. In this the farmers of the region can cooperate by raising fine dairy herds which will result in mutual profit and benefit to themselves and the company.

At the rally at Loeb Farms last Wednesday about 350 to 400 people were present, slightly in excess of the number for which seating capacity had been provided. At the next meeting of the kind, however,
Mr. Loeb promises that this defect will be remedied. Professor Mc-Lean of the Quaker Oats Co. feed department treated his audience to a three real movie, depicting the national champion cattle of the Eastern Western and Middle Western cattle shows and a series of very interesting films detailing the points of perfection in the ideal dairy cow and bull, which Mr. McLean explained painstakingly and interestingly to the visitors. James Hayes, dairy
"wizard" of the Michigan Agricultural College put the proposition of creamery versus cheese factory strongly up to his farmer auditors, leaving out none of the arguments on both sides of the case. Mr. Mc-Lean, B. O. Hagerman and Ernest
G. Loeb also addressed the meeting,
Mr. Loeb clearly outlining what the Loeb Farms hopes to do for the farmers of this region through the medium of the cheese factory. After the speaking the crowd adjourned to the cheese factory where they were served with a cup of steaming hot coffee, crackers and a generous portion of the product of the newest Loeb Farms enterprise.

FORMER RESIDENT DIED IN TRAVERSE CITY

Mrs. Addie Chatfield Succumbs To Apoplectic Stroke

Mrs. Addie Chatfield, a former resident of this city and wife of William Chatfield died last Wednesday, October 24th, at her home in Traverse City, following a stroke of apoplexy. The remains were brought to this city on October 27th and the funeral was held last Monday from the church of God, Rev. Eldredge

How a Single Industry Spreads Prosperity

A most significant fact about an industry is the large number of people who benefit from it.

Take the cement industry, as an example:

The mills used 9,000,000 tons of coal last year. This meant 9,000 coal miners steadily employed—their families, numbering not less than 25,000, maintained—and along with them tradesmen and other people enough to supply the needs of a town of over 50,000.

That is, of course, saying nothing of the business created for coal operators and transportation lines.

Sacks are not so large an item in the cement industry as coal, yet 50,000,000 new sacks, representing 50,000 bales of cotton, had to be bought last year for replacements alone. Back of this were cotton planters, plantation workers, mill owners, mill operatives and so on—thousands all together.

And consider these other requirements of the industry last year:

- 3,700,000 barrels of fuel oil
- 3,400,000,000 cubic feet of gas
- 15,000,000 pounds of explosives
- 32,000,000 pounds of greases and oils
- 1,700,000 linear feet of belting
- 4,500,000 firebrick for relining kilns
- 7,000,000 pounds of paper for bags
- 600,000 tons of gypsum

In addition the industry bought quantities of heavy grinding and burning machinery, locomotives, cars, rails, electrical and other necessary equipment.

In this way a single industry spreads prosperity to many others.

LIVE STOCK

Pure Bred Live Stock

Solve Feeding Problem

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

The extent to which pure bred live stock helps solve farmers' feeding problems is a striking result of a questionnaire investigation just completed by the United States Department of Agriculture. In this study nearly 500 practical stockmen described what their most serious feeding problems were and how they are meeting them.

In answer to the question, "Do you find that live stock of improved breeding make greater gains or produce more than scrubs or common stock when fed in the same way?" there was almost unanimous agreement on the better results obtained in feeding improved live stock. Most replies gave specific figures on the extent of superiority as shown by financial returns. The figures varied widely with an average superiority of 39.6 per cent for the improved stock. In general, pure bred stock excelled the grades and the grades greatly excelled scrubs.

Commenting on the result, live stock specialists in the Department of Agriculture point out that improved stock is more likely to receive somewhat better feed and care, yet, since good stock and good feed and care go together so commonly, the per cent given is about what others may expect when they improve their herds or flocks. While the result lacks the preciseness of scientific work, it has as a background the average of 20 years' experience of nearly 500 practical live stock owners under farm conditions. The figure given is strikingly similar to that of 40.4 per cent obtained by the department more than a year ago in showing the superior utility value of pure breeds over common stock from a general farm point of view.

Many farmers, in discussing the superior ability of pure breeds in utilizing feeds, gave interesting experiences. A southern hog grower states that his pure bred swine make 50 per cent better growth than scrubs on the same feed and care.

A South Dakota farmer told of selling three good grade steers on the Omaha market for $55.36 apiece more per head than scrubs raised with them.

An Ohio dairyman kept milk records of some common cows and pure breeds with the result that showed a production at the end of the year double that of the common stock.

Another farmer reported a feeding test in which he kept well-bred cattle and scrubs in the same yard, all receiving the same ration. The good cattle fattened while the scrubs remained poor.

Scores of similar experiences indicate that well-bred live stock is an important means in reducing feeding costs and increasing financial returns. It is of interest to note, however, that, no matter how strong the consensus of opinion may be, there are generally a few on the negative side. Of nearly 500 experiences, five or about 1

OUT OF THE GLOOM

Many a Gloomy Countenance in Charlevoix Now Lightens With Happiness.

A bad back makes you gloomy. Can't be happy with a continual backache.

The aches and pains of a bad back are frequently due to weak kidneys.

Doan's Kidney Pills are recommended for weak kidneys.

So Charlevoix citizens testify. Mrs. Chas. Myers, 207 Park Ave., Charlevoix says: "I had trouble with my kidneys and felt tired out and languid all the time. My back ached continually. I bought a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Metcalf's Drug Store, and began using them. They soon relieved the trouble."

Mrs. Myers gave the above statement October 5, 1916 and on May 4, 1920, she added: "The cure Doan's Kidney Pills brought about in my case has proven permanent."

Price 60 cents at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Myers had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

per cent, for one reason or another, had failed to succeed with improved stock. This fact, taken into consideration with the foregoing data, points to a 50 per cent probability that pure bred and other improved live stock will aid greatly in solving economic feeding problems. Details of the department's recent study of feeding questions may be obtained from the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

More Summer Fattening of Cattle Is Suggested

More summer feeding of young cattle for market is suggested by W. H. Peters of the animal industry division, Minnesota College of Agriculture, who has been watching market quotations on grain-fed cattle and finds that they are higher now than at any time yet this year. Market reports for the last ten years also show, he says, that invariably good grain-fed cattle, especially yearlings, have sold for high prices through August, September and October of each year. He believes there is a suggestion in this circumstance that should be used to advantage by Minnesota farmers.

Professor Peters does not overlook the objections raised to the fattening of cattle on grain through the summer months. There is, of course, the difficulty of securing suitable feeder cattle in the spring. Ordinarily cattle on feed do not make good gains through the hot weather and fly season; also, all available labor on the farm is needed for farm-crops work through the summer season. But he believes it is possible to overcome these objections, and against them there is the great advantage of a high price for the finished product through the late summer and early fall months.

"Summer feeding," he says, "should perhaps be confined to yearlings or baby heifers, as it is the handy weight fat beef carcass from the 1,000 to 1,200-pound steer that is in greatest demand through the summer and early fall. By starting in with a group of good beef calves in the fall when they are weaned and carrying them through the winter on alfalfa or clover hay and silage with a medium grain ration, not getting them on full feed until in April or May and then pushing them until sold in August or September, the feeding of such cattle can be accomplished economically. Many feeders of baby beef cattle would be money ahead had they carried cattle that were sold last May and June until now."

"By giving yearling cattle the run of a darkened, well-bedded shed during the daytime in summer, so as to protect them from the flies, and turning them out to a good grass pasture at night, at the same time keeping them in a full feed of grain, they will make almost as good gains as in winter. The labor of caring for them is also somewhat less and the usual higher price received for grain-fed cattle in late summer and early fall will more than make up the difference in the higher cost of labor and slower gains made."

Prejudice Against Heavy Lambs in Many Quarters

Of late years there has been a growing prejudice among consumers against heavy lambs. There is no doubt that the texture of meat of a large animal is coarser than that of a small one, but the difference is so slight that it would take a scientist to discover it.

The real trouble is that in certain quarters the word lamb has become rather elastic. It has been applied to sheep of all ages with the result that the consumer feels it safest to purchase the smallest specimens he can find and is usually willing to pay more for this kind.

In reality lambs are no exception to the general rule. Small animals of other classes are not usually preferred to large ones. There is no doubt that lamb properly grown up to 175 or 150 pounds weight is better food than the same lamb marketed at 60 or 100 pounds. At the latter weight he should be consumed without any waste.

Sometimes the heavier breeds are marketed in an unfinished condition for the purpose of keeping the weight within what is considered the margin of safety. This practice should be discouraged for the quality of meat produced must certainly be of a low class. The way to overcome the difficulty with lambs of heavy breeds is to begin to feed them for market a couple of months younger than is necessary with the smaller breeds.

Question of Labor in Considering Fall Pigs

If fall pigs are being considered, the question of labor arises. They might perhaps require a board or two nailed over the cracks in the old hoghouse, or a little more bedding and a little more energy spent occasionally in seeing that their wants are properly supplied. But those items are well taken care of as labor at that time of the year, viz., late fall and winter, is forced by nature to take things more or less easy.

Manner of Controlling Principal Insect Pests

Hog lice, mange, mites and fleas are the principal insect pests of the hog. For lice and mange rubbing pots or oiled wallows will usually give relief. The flea are often troublesome in breeding houses and open sheds in early spring. Clean out all bedding and spray with coal oil or stock dip. Repeat at intervals of a week until the pest is completely controlled.

Proteins and Minerals Necessary in Hog Feed

Considering the whole problem of economical, successful and satisfactory pork production with a minimum chance of loss from disease when one studies the problem a little, it is easy to see that the things necessary are a program that provides as cheaply as possible plenty of proteins and minerals in the ration. And in getting them cheaply by the use of growing crops, we have gone a long way in satisfying the sanitary requirements by eliminating chances of loss from some of the contagious diseases and parasites of the overcrowded hog lot.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Kill a scrub bull Monday and on Tuesday you'll be better off.

If you are planning on raising some good pigs and getting into the business, it is none too early to plan now for your next year's pig crop.

Exercise for the gilts and especially the old sows is necessary if large litters of strong, healthy pigs are to be expected.

Every progressive farmer should raise pure bred live stock, and every progressive breeder needs records for keeping track of his herd.

It is best to have more than one pasture for sheep, alternating each year. In this way troubles from parasites are reduced to a minimum.

What good are horns for domestic cattle? Except for purposes of defense on the range where coyotes and bears still do some damage, horns are a menace and a needless expense.

workers to prevent fires. He keeps his own observation towers, pays men to do fire patrolling. Has crews handy to put out the slightest fire as soon as it is sighted.

Fires burned in Ontonagon county for three weeks before there was any effort made to put them out. Not so in Ford's camp.

Old lumbermen insist that there is no way to prevent fires.

"God sends the fires," they say. "No earthly power can check them." But they're wondering today why the fires of God have so consistently missed the Ford camp.

Ontonagon county is a study in carelessness. Ford camps are studies in efficiency.

Marketing Your Products

October in Michigan railroading is always the month of peak load. Coal is coming in; crops are rolling out. To so handle this additional traffic that it may be carried smoothly and without interruption to the normal year-round flow of raw materials and finished products is a task which finds every employee of Michigan's twenty-four railroads, keyed and ready.

Our personnel is at its highest point of efficiency.

Our rolling stock is in virtually 95% perfect repair condition.

Our road beds are in better shape than at any time since the disaster of Government operation. We have bought 620 miles of new rail this year.

Two seasons of prosperity of Michigan have permitted us to invest this year in new locomotives, cars and other betterments the record breaking sum of $75,980,881.26.

Despite restrictions such as handicap no other business, Michigan railroads are solving—not their problem—but the problem of transportation that naturally follows the industrial, social and economic expansion of a prosperous state.

Do you notice and experience this improvement in your transportation? Tell us frankly and fully.

Upon the attitude of you people of Michigan towards your railroad system rests much of the future prosperity of your state.

"I have been threatened, reviled and prosecuted because of the fight I have made. Truths that I have uttered, have been turned into lies. Every effort has been made to discredit me. And all because I have maintained that politics and inefficiency have been driving us on to the utter destruction of our forests and wild life. Evidence of this is again shown in the statements from Lansing that instead of the best conservationist money can hire, irrespective of politics, a country preacher and a verbal spellbinder is to be given the position of the recently resigned secretary of the conservation commission. This is the minute and the hour for every man, woman and child in Michigan to rise up in mighty protest even though it raises the roof from the gubernatorial palace in Lansing."

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The October meeting of the W. C. T. U. was held at the home of Mrs. H. S. Harsha last Friday afternoon. Mrs. Belding led in a Jubilee song service. Mrs. Harsha had the devotionals. During the business session plans were adopted to hold a series of teas before the November meeting, to interest the membership in the work of the W. C. T. U. in regard to our local needs and privileges, also to explain the relation of our work to the state and National plans.

Miss Anna Metcalf gave a report of District meeting at Manclona, Charlevoix Union is the largest union in the district. Mrs. Jennie Aleox was elected first vice-president of the district.

In the report of the committee on essay contests Georgia Kelderhouse was awarded second prize by the state judges on the subject of Law Enforcement.

Mrs. James Simmons gave the report of the 49th state convention, which was held at Adrian. The convention was heartily welcomed by the Mayor, Chamber of Commerce, the Women's Club and the churches.

Rev. Edward Montgomery in his welcome from the churches paid a splendid tribute to Mrs. Mary Hunt, who introduced Scientific Temperance Instruction, in the public schools. "This instruction of the past forty years is responsible to a large degree for the dry votes of today." Rev. Montgomery also called attention to great objective of the W. C. T. U. work, namely "To keep before our citizens respect for sacredness of constitutional authority."

Mrs. E. L. Calkins, the State President of the organization, told of her trip to Copenhagen, Denmark, as a member of the "Anti Alcoholic Conference." She also visited London, England, and told of their public bars, where she saw children under 10 years of age drinking. At the close of her address the convention adopted resolutions protesting against any modification of the prohibition law, declaring for an intensive campaign for world temperance, against all habit forming drugs, against vicious and corrupting literature. That we work for the consummation of enduring peace and we do favor the entrance of U. S. into a world court.

The Law Enforcement Department urged that we make plans that will stir men's blood to help teach Law Observance. Write it on sky. "The World Is Going Dry." Congressman Crampton said: The next congress will have four objectives in reference to the enforcement of the 18th amendment. It will aim to stop the disobedience of law by foreign Ambassadors. 2nd. To extend the dry territory at sea. 3rd. To eliminate politics in the appointment of dry enforcement officials. 4th. To obtain a federal agency with sufficient strength to enforce the law. He also urged that every society should provide through their board of supervisors sufficient funds to enable the sheriff to wage an active campaign against violators in the community. He also said Senator Couzea is challenging the organized dry sentiment of Michigan, if he consents to run in an 5 per cent beer platform.

Congressman Ketchan is quoted as saying: "Diaregard for authority in general is the most serious angel of the whole situation. The United States must have citizens who can control themselves, and support her orders, if we are to continue a strong nation and prove ourselves worthy of the leadership that is ours today."

The convention crafted a resolution asking that "convict labor on public highway construction on the Sabbath day be discontinued. The Christian people of Michigan, are in favor of Sabbath observance."

Next year will be the Jubilee year of W. C. T. U. in America. There were nine of the early crusaders in attendance at the national convention held in Columbus, Ohio, in October. Also at this convention seven thousand eight hundred women dressed in white marched through the streets of the city led by Mayor Donahy and Dr. Harding. Miss Anna Gordon, National President, was escorted on one side by a delegate from the Philippine Island, on the other by a delegate from Finland.

The report of thirty-one new unions for Michigan during the year. Nineteen unions with a membership of one hundred or more Adrian having the largest in the state consisting of two hundred and fifty members.

Dr. Holmple said the closing remarks: "God grant that we can have a vision so wide and clear that we can look beyond the seas and set our goal for a saloonless world, a sober, law abiding human kind."

The next regular meeting of Charlevoix union will be held at the home of Mrs. R. B. Armstrong November 9th.

Mrs. E. E. Cross, Member of Press Committee.

height of their beauty. Many of the trees are still gorgeous in their russet, scarlet and gold panoply of autumn foliage. The landscape on every side presents a panorama in which they delight.

Still others prize most highly—beside the never-to-be-forgotten thrill of hunting—a pleasure of a more material kind: appetizing dishes that are fit for a king, venison, roast duck, quail on toast, stuffed goose, broiled partridge or grouse, rabbit or squirrel pot-pie—yum!! yum!! There are most ns many reasons given for going hunting as there are hunters, but all agree on one thing: not to go hunting in November is to miss a barrel of fun, to pass up a big part of the joy o' life. For a sportsman can enjoy no happier time than a clear, snappy November day tramping the fields behind a pair of good dogs in quest of quail—unless it be going gunning through the brush for grouse or rabbit or the swamp for snipe—especially Jack snipe with that perplexing "cork screw flight," that so often saves them for another day's sport—or waiting in the blind for geese or duck that are wary and flying high.

Wildfowl are flying south and testing the marksmanship of the most experienced gunners. "Br'er Rabbit's" trail lends to real sport. Bob Whites, grouse and their families are apt to whirl up from your feet most anywhere out of town. Game is plentiful. All in all, it's a most successful season!

"Good hunting, brother!"

Infant Child Dies

Helen M. Shaw, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert E. Shaw, who reside on the East Jordan road in Eveline Township, died last Saturday, October 27th. The baby, who was one month and seven days old, was a sufferer from valvular disease of the heart. The services were conducted at the home of the parents by Rev. Eldredge of the Church of God here and the remains were interred in Brookside cemetery on Monday. The bereaved parents have the sympathy of the entire community in their hour of trial.

SWAT THE MEAN CHICKEN THIEF

He's At It Again Out Hayes Township Way

Chicken thieves are at work again out in Hayes Township. Last Tuesday night, they went onto the Frank Hyek farm and swiped five of Mrs. Hyek's best white chickens. The following Friday, one of the stolen chickens found its way back home so it is likely that the culprits do not live at any great distance away.

This is poor business. There is nothing meaner than a chicken thief who will take the hard-working farm woman's source of income, living like a parasite off the community which is unfortunate enough to harbor him. Let him have both barrels of a shot-gun, well crammed with rock salt, if you can't catch him. But catch him, if you can, as there is a stiff penalty awaiting the chicken thief if he can be brought into court. The law is far from tender in dealing with them.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 2

Ethel Clayton in "HER OWN MONEY." Money, money, the thing that makes or breaks a million homes a year. Every day people, everyday troubles and joys. A heart-touching human picture of your neighbor's doings and yours. And a two reel Larry Semon comedy "THE AGENT."

SATURDAY AND SUNDAY, NOVEMBER 3 AND 4

Paramount presents Agnes Ayres in one of her best productions, "THE HEART RAIDERS" with Mahlon Hamilton and a great cast. A joyful battle of hearts. In which a lovelorn girl chases a love-shy man, captures him for her own and brings him home in triumph. Guaranteed to tickle your funny bone, chill your spine and play on your heart-strings. Added attraction, Reginald Denny in the first round of the third series of Leather Pushers in "THE WANDERING TWO." The third series of Leather Pushers will be run each Saturday and Sunday until all six are used. Don't miss them.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 6

Agnes Ayres in "THE LANE THAT HAD NO TURNING." A feast of beauty set amid thrills. Revealing the fascinating life of a famous star of the operatic stage, sparkling with luxury and fashion. Also a Neeley Edwards comedy.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 7

William Fox presents a special production "THE LIGHTS OF NEW YORK." A drama of life in a big city. Said to be one of the real big pictures of the year. Shadows of a great city in a gripping up-to-minute melodrama. And the seventh chapter of the serial "THE DRAGON'S CLAWS."

LOOK at the way Goodyear Tire prices have been kept consistently lower than the average for all commodities. Then think of the improvements represented by that finest of all Goodyears, the new Goodyear Cord. Despite this, prices are 37% lower now than in 1920, and 30% lower than in 1914. This is the time to buy Goodyears.

GOOD YEAR

INTERESTING BITS OF INFORMATION CLIPPED FROM OUR EXCHANGES

One of the things that at this season leaves us still stoical and with courage to face the morrow is the news that somebody's summer cottage has burned down.

Tourist Associations are said to be considering the adoption of the slogan, "A Dustless Michigan." The mud is expected to help a good deal, as the autumn rains come along.

Even those of us who are prone to enjoy the good fortune of others get only a mild pleasure out of the reflection that the coal operators will have plenty of money to spend for Christmas presents.

Burglars who took a new razor from the home of a Grand Rapids man left an old razor in its place. Well, as long as there is no capital punishment in the state, crimes like leaving an old razor, must be expected.

A house, barn and pump were stolen from a home at Beaver recently during the absence of the owner. The hole in the ground which had served as a cellar beneath the house, is said to have been left undisturbed.

"Detroit is the wickedest city in the world," asserted a Whitehall minister, addressing the Ludington board of trade. It hadn't been thoroughly advertised, however, and so a few young men are still content to stay in the country.

have taken it very calmly when the cook stove exploded at her wedding party. Experienced wives, of course go right on with their knitting when their husbands explode at finding the furnace fire out.

An Owosso husband recites that his wife often breaks into a violent temper, when she bites him, scratches him, tears his clothes and pulls his hair. It is suggested that on such occasions he give her opportunity to pull nothing but his coat tail.

Fifty years is the best age for a farmer to leave the farm and move to the city, it was decided at a meeting of the Burton Farmers' Club. Of course there will always be those who want to stay on till 55 or 60 and lose just a little more money before they retire.

An automobile expert points out that a piece of steel wire, if flexed as rapidly as the walls of an automobile casing would break in the course of a minute or two. People intending to take longer trips therefore, should stick to the rubber casing on their wheels, as heretofore.

Hired men and others on the farm of A. B. Cook, head of the Michigan state grange, work only nine hours a day. Pretty soon they'll be doing as well as we used to, when we worked only eight hours a day, after having got up early and worked eight hours in the night.

GOOD FOOD IN VARIETY

A simple, easy to prepare dessert is often hard to find in a hurry. Try this:

Ambrosia.—Take one cupful of walnut meats, two cupfuls of dates, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-half cupful of whipped cream. Wipe the dates and remove the pits, cut into small pieces and combine with the walnut meats coarsely chopped. Add the lemon juice and arrange the mixture in sherbet cups topped with a spoonful of sweetened and flavored whipped cream.

Banana Whip.—Take six ripe bananas, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of chopped walnut meats and one cupful of whipped cream. Press the bananas through a ricer, add the lemon juice, sugar and walnut meats chopped very fine. Chill thoroughly and serve in sherbet glasses garnished with a spoonful of cream. A teaspoonful of finely minced mint added to the bananas before chilling makes a nice flavor.

Tomato Canape.—Take a slice of a large tomato, slice half of a hard-boiled egg lengthwise and put it sliced side-down on the tomato, pour over French dressing and sprinkle with finely chopped chives.

Sardines a la Tartare.—Skin and remove the bones from six sardines. Cut strips of bread the same size and shape as the fish and fry them in butter until golden brown. When cool arrange the sardines on the bread, coat them with tartare sauce and garnish with capers and bits of pimento.

Head Lettuce With Roquefort Dressing.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of Roquefort cheese. Mix together one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of vinegar and three tablespoonfuls of oil. Blend well and add the cheese. Pour over the head lettuce and serve at once.

A ruffle at the bottom of the kitchen apron is not merely a trimming. Its fullness makes it outstanding, thus preventing anything spilled from finding a landing place on the skirt.

Combinations Outlined for Production of Pork

"Why fatten hogs with corn and wheat when each of the following combinations will produce 100 pounds of pork?" is the pertinent question when reading over the following feeding summary made by Professor Fjellsted of the Oregon Agricultural college:

1. 470 pounds barley, ground.
2. 400 pounds barley, ground, plus 20 pounds digester tankage.
3. 332 pounds barley, ground, plus 350 pounds skim milk or buttermilk.
4. 246 pounds barley, ground, plus 123 pounds middlings, plus 230 pounds buttermilk or skim milk.
5. 236 pounds barley, ground, plus 118 pounds middlings, plus 511 pounds earlage.
6. 320 pounds barley, ground, plus 160 pounds middlings.
7. 252 pounds barley, ground, plus 126 pounds middlings, plus 30 pounds digester tankage.
8. 200 pounds barley, ground, plus 200 pounds middlings, plus 20 pounds digester tankage.

Vigorous, Healthy Hogs May Withstand Cholera

Hog cholera is a geria disease like typhoid fever, and unless the germs are present on the farm it is utterly impossible for hogs to take it from feeding stuffs of any kind. For if the germ is not there there can be no cholera, and even though it may be present hogs in vigorous health may escape it, but if for any reason they become weakened they are practically sure to take it.

REGULARITY

Some folks have an idea that unless they can put away large sums of money at a time, saving is not worth while.

It is regularity of saving that counts.

The amount you deposit each pay is secondary to depositing something.

After you have forced yourself to save regularly for a few months, the idea will become a habit. Habits are easy—even in saving.

This bank located on the convenient corner will help you to save.

ing in production, but quite a number of growers report a yield of upwards of two hundred.

John Oosterbaan and Miss Anna Timmer were quietly married on Thursday evening of last week, the marriage taking place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Timmer south of town. The young people have been residents of this vicinity since childhood and have a host of friends who extend congratulations to the happy pair. They will reside for a time at least on the Church farm, near Essex.

VICINITY LOSES PIONEER SETTLER

Was a Resident of Northern Michigan Over Forty Years

Funeral services of John Fielstra, a pioneer of the logging and lumbering industry of northern Michigan for the past forty years, were held from the home of his son, Albert, on Thursday of this week and interment was at Boss cemetery.

Deceased was born in the Netherlands on February 11, 1864, and died at his home at Grandville, Mich., on Monday, October 21, 1923.

He came to America with his parents when but two years of age and resided at Muskegon, Mich., during his childhood. When a young man, however, he came to upper Michigan and worked for several years in the logging camps of the upper peninsula before transferring his work to this vicinity. He was married to Mrs. Alice Prince in 1910, his first wife having died about two years previously, and following this marriage owned and worked a farm southeast of town until May of 1921, when he moved to Grandville, where he lived, until the time of his death which occurred on Monday, May 21st, following an illness of nearly one year.

He leaves his wife, two sons Herman and Albert, as well as several step-children and a host of friends and the entire family have the sympathy of the community.

Henry Koster and family left for Chicago, Monday last, where they expect to stay for some time at least.

Miss Grace Essenberg, who went to Denver, Colorado, some five weeks ago, is home again to care for her sick mother, Mrs. John Essenberg.

World Congress Aims to Solve Traffic Problem

Responsible government officials the world over now recognize the untold value of the motor vehicle as an element in transportation, according to Tyke Johnson, representative of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, who has just returned from a study of transport conditions abroad. Johnson attended the fourth session of the international road congress at Seville, where some 600 of the leading highway officials of the globe gathered to exchange information and views.

"The dominant note at Seville," he said, "was a general recognition that motor transport is on a permanent basis abroad as well as in the United States, and with this in mind, discussion centered on ways and means of giving its use the broadest possible economic application."

"Among the resolutions passed were those calling for governmental aid for motorbus lines in communities and countries where inadequate facilities now exist; the need for uniform traffic rules and regulations; for progressive studies into city and rural planning in order to allay congestion and for centralized authority in dealing with highway problems."

"Other sections dealt with the physical side of highway construction and design, including methods of relocating and widening highways, types of maintenance and other engineering problems."

In his survey of existing transport conditions in Europe, Mr. Johnson found that questions of finance, coordination of motor with other forms of transport, and that of handling traffic in congested areas are the subjects uppermost in the minds of government officials.

Motor Driver's Part in Maintaining Good Roads

Drivers can do almost as much for the maintenance of good roads as highway engineers. Did you ever notice in going up a hill, particularly one paved with asphaltic concrete, that the surface on the right-hand side of the road is wavy and rough, while that on the left-hand side is smooth? The reason is this: The extra traction required to climb the hill wears and tears the surface, while there is little or no traction down hill.

Another thing, the right-hand track of the road in either direction is the one which is worn most. This is because the arched surface of the road throws the greater weight and strain on the right-hand side of the vehicle and consequently the right-hand side of the roadway. Truck builders and wagon makers have even adjusted their axles and springs so as to withstand the greater strain on the right-hand side of the vehicle.

Drivers can prevent wear to the surfaces of the roads and even improve their condition, if, instead of driving in one track or on the edge of the road, they will drive over the middle and other less used parts of the road when traffic permits. The one thing that is fatal above all things to road surfaces, whether dirt or paved, is driving in tracks, which subjects one small part of the road surface to all the traffic and damage that the whole road accommodates.

Traffic should be evenly distributed over the entire surface of the road, and a little thoughtfulness and care in this respect on the part of the drivers will do much to add to the permanence and excellence of our roadways.

Many States Repairing Concrete With Asphalt

Highway engineers in various parts of the country are finding it advisable in a greater degree to repair concrete roads with asphaltic materials.

STATE GRADING RULES NOW HOLD

CO-OPS WARN FARMERS TO GRADE POTATOES

Good Ones Bring a Premium, While Oversized Or Diseased Tubers Get The Gate

The Charlevoix Co-operative Association desire to call the attention of the farmers of this region to the state grading rules, by which their product will be either accepted or rejected this season.

They are now taking in potatoes for shipping and storage and the farmers cooperation will be appreciated in helping them to a good quality of potatoes for the market. Good potatoes bring a premium while oversized or diseased potatoes will not be accepted at all.

The new grading rules for this state are as follows:

"U. S. No. 1 shall consist of potatoes of similar varietal characteristics which are not badly misshapen, which are free from freezing injury and soft rot and from damage caused by dirt or other foreign matter, sunburn, second growth, growth, cracks, hollow heart, cuts, scab, blight, dry rot, diseased, insects, or mechanical or other means.

"The diameter of potatoes of round varieties shall not be less than 1 7/8 inches, and of potatoes of long varieties 1 3/4 inches.

"In order to allow for variations incident to proper grading and handling, not more than 5 per cent, by weight, of any lot may be below the prescribed size, and, in addition, no more than 6 per cent, by weight, may be below the remaining requirements of this grade, but not to exceed one-third of this 6 per cent tolerance shall be allowed for potatoes affected by soft rot."

Manager Clarence Meggison of the Coops, says:

"While the price of potatoes is discouraging, we must remember that it is just the beginning of the season of demand, and so many are forced to sell that they are forcing the market beyond what it can readily absorb. Our advice is to sit tight as you have nothing to lose by not selling, and still have several months when potatoes are going to be harder to market which will necessarily boost the price.

While we are buying turkeys on Friday, November 9th, it will be a good chance for turkey raisers to be on hand so that they can make exchanges with their neighbors of breeding stock for next season, thereby securing unrelated matings without much trouble or expense.

The price of butter is good and will without doubt go still farther so it will not pay to let your cows' slow up if a little grain dairy feed or concentrate will keep them going."

Tuesday is the time for the Sunday school board meeting. All officers, teachers and heads of departments need to be at this gathering.

At the sale the other day the auctioneer gave the preacher a mallet enjoining him to use it in getting people to church. As we watched this earnest crier vociferously proclaiming his wares and beheld the hundred upturned faces joyfully making their bids, we thought, "What could not the church do?" if men and women in congregations so vied with each other to obtain the goods offered. Somewhere we have read of "a nail in a sure place." We suppose this preacher used a hammer. Do you suppose Christ meant that when he said, "Go out into the highways and byways and compel them to come in that my house may be filled?"

Young people remember the "Christian Endeavor." Everybody remember the Sunday School and preaching services.

"BROTHER JOSIAH" MADE HIS BOW

Local Talent Comedy Scored a Distinct Hit Here

"Brother Josiah," the three act comedy that made its first public appearance at the Palace Theatre last Thursday evening, was a complete success judged from the standpoint of the excellent way in which the various roles were handled and the comparative inexperience of most of the members of the cast.

So well did each of the participants play his or her part that it is impossible to discriminate between them. The points perhaps that caught the particular favor of the audience were the funny antics of the ludicrous Benjamin Butler Armstrong (ably portrayed by Hubert McCann) and his little dog and the snobbish Mrs. Armstrong with her ridiculous insistence that the "sphere in which we move" was a lofty one. The leading lady Miss Wahnetta Harrington, also entertained her audience with a very creditably rendered impersonation skit previous to the opening of the play. This number, though not on the program and unexpected, was much enjoyed. A. F. Rollins, as the millionaire broker and J. L. Palmer, as the wily fortune-hunter acquitted themselves in good shape and by their easy juggling of enormous sums radiated the impression of great affluence. Clayton Dutcher's evident concern for the welfare of his employer's finances was so real as to be almost convincing and Johnny Woods, as the rising young author had just the right degree of porgous satisfaction in his accomplishments that belongs to a budding celebrity. The three minor feminine parts, represented by Anna McCann, Ada Yettaw and Norn Hebert were well expressed and Walter Bergeon, as the butler, "bottled" like an old timer. Edward Stafford, in the character of "Brother Josiah" was the wheel-horse of the performance and won the sympathy of his audience for his unsatisfied hunger and their admiration for his hard-boiled disregard of the conventions and innate generosity.

The management of the play intended to produce it in Petoskey next week and we are sure that they will make a hit with it.

HALLOW'EEN FUN GOES TO FAR

BREAKING OF BELFRY WINDOW WAS POOR BUSINESS

Too Much License On The Part Of Celebrators May Kill Off Innocent Features

Hallowe'en in Charlevoix, with its usual quota of parties and pranks, was not wholly without its unpleasant regrettable features.

We could stand the horn blowing, the window-soaping and tick tacking and even smile at sleighs and telephone wire-spools left in the middle of the main drag, but when it comes to property destruction a line should certainly be drawn and sharply too.

Sometime during the small hours of the morning, the belfry of the Methodist church was entered by a gang of young men, bent on ringing the bell. The mere act of ringing the bell would not have been so bad—nothing out of the ordinary, as it has been done many times in the past and in many places other than Charlevoix. But the clapper of this particular bell had been removed and Vane Smith, who was caught in the tower by the sheriff, finding that he was unable to ring the bell, it is alleged wantonly broke the belfry window in order to get something to hammer the bell with. The window was an expensive one and Vane will have to pay for it, besides serving ten days in the county bastille. The other boys escaped.

Funny, isn't it, how people are constituted nowadays. If you give them an inch they take an ell, as the old saying goes. Let the officers of the law sensibly wink at the less serious escapades that, productive of discomfort as they are, are still more or less sanctioned by the custom and practice of years, and straightway some rattlebrain kicks over the traces and goes too far. Then everything has to be tightened up again and even the innocent fun is banned. The old time saloon was a good example of an institution killing itself, by brazenly overstepping the bounds and Hallowe'en with its rough practices bids fair to wipe itself out as a day of even moderate license if its desecrators get too bold.

Fun or jokes of any kind have their definite limits and those limits end where the actual loss and suffering of another commences. This is not only good ethics but good sportsmanship as well and no true American will stand to be called a poor sport whatever other failings he may be willing to own up to.

HUNTING ACCIDENT NEARLY COSTS LIFE

Petoskey Man is Accidentally Shot by His Young Son.

A week ago Tuesday morning, a serious hunting accident occurred at Van siding, near Pellston.

Roy Golden of Petoskey, while hunting with his young son, Donald, and two other men, received a severe flesh wound in the back from a shotgun accidentally discharged by the boy in stumbling over some object on the ground.

First aid was administered by members of the party and Petoskey telephoned for medical aid. The injured man was rushed to the Petoskey hospital and attending physicians report that Mr. Golden has a fair chance of recovery.

HAVE BEEN WED A HALF CENTURY

Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien Turn 50th Milestone.

The third of a series of remarkable coincident golden anniversary celebrations was held last Saturday, November 3rd, the principals this time being Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien of this city.

Three men of this county were born in the same year, married the same year and had the same number of children. They are B. P. Wilkinson, Alfred VanDusen and James O'Brien. Mr. and Mrs. Wilkinson celebrated their golden wedding anniversary in Arizona in March of this year; Mr. and Mrs. Alfred VanDusen in May and last Saturday marked the finale of the series.

The affair took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Eagleton, Mrs. Eagleton being a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien.

About thirty-five people were present to pay their respects to the guests of honor. Delicious refreshments were served, the beautiful wedding cake being made by Mrs. Edwin Cook, a niece, being one of the main features.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien have had seven children, three of whom have passed away. Their four living descendants are Mrs. E. C. Easton of Washington, D. C., Mrs. W. O. Parker of Seattle, Washington, Elijah O'Brien and Mrs. George Eagleton of Charlevoix.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Brien received many useful and handsome presents. Games were played until a late hour when the guests departed, expressing their enjoyment of a delightful evening.

Encampment Feed

Charlevoix Encampment No. 19, I. O. O. F., will hold an oyster supper next Saturday night at the lodge hall. Patriarch Billy Cowan will cook the supper, as this is a strictly stag affair. Preceding the supper, work will be put on and candidates for a goat ride that is "right" will kindly present themselves.

LOCAL CATTLE MAKE RECORDS

TWO LOEB FARMS COWS GET SPECIAL MENTION

Two Aristocratic Bossies, One a Princess, Prove Great Butter-fat Producers

Four creditable records were made recently in the herd of Loeb Farms, of Charlevoix, Michigan, by two of their purebred cows, according to an official announcement made by the advanced registry office of the Holstein-Friesian Association of America.

At the age of seven years and five months this cow produced 544.7 pounds milk containing 20.186 pounds butterfat equal to 25.23 pounds butter in seven days and in thirty days she produced 2360.4 pounds milk containing 78.060 pounds butterfat equal to 97.57 pounds butter. Her name is Pauline Ella Artis Hengerveld.

Princess Clothilde De Kolz Mary, age two years and four months, produced in seven days 405.9 pounds milk containing 14.019 pounds butterfat equal to 17.52 pounds butter and in thirty days she produced 1728.1 pounds milk containing 57.311 pounds butterfat equal to 46.63 pounds butter.

Testing for the advanced registry is one of the two chief agencies for improving the capacity of dairy cows. The other is the cow testing association. The latter aids the farmer-dairyman to size up his herd, cull out the undesirable animals and put his dairy on a paying basis. The former, testing of purebred cows for advanced registry, sorts out the most desirable cows and bulls for the improvement of the breed. Purebred bulls from cows holding advanced registry records are in demand for the further improvement of dairy herds in cow testing associations.

REWARD OFFERED FOR 'KING' BEN

State Will Pay Three Thousand Dollars For His Arrest

The state of Michigan last week added $3,000 to the Detroit Free Press award of $1,000 for the capture of the fugitive "King" Benjamin Purnell, of the House of David at Benton Harbor.

This announcement was made in the afternoon by Harry H. Jackson, newly appointed commissioner of the state department of safety, and it is expected to spur materially the nation-wide hunt in progress. Jackson said that he had just been advised over the telephone by Attorney General Andrew B. Dougherty that the state was ready to pay out $3,000 for information that results in the apprehension of the Ismetlie chief, whose whereabouts have been unknown since last January.

At the same time, Jackson declared that tips on where Purnell may be are coming into the possession of the state officials almost daily.

Hundreds of so-called tips have been followed up during the summer and the fall by the state officers, but none have proved valuable.

LECTURE COURSE FINE PROGRAM

FIVE NUMBERS PRESENT WIDE DIVERSITY.

Burns of the Mountain, Who Comes to Us on November 22, Is a Unique Character.

The dates for this year's lecture course are as follows: Burns of the Mountain, Thursday, November 22.

Mary Adel Hays Co., Wednesday, December 12.

Ada Ward, Thursday, January 10.

Davis, Magician, Tuesday, January 22.

Charlie Paddock, Wednesday, March 26.

The above is an unusually strong course and was chosen by the Board of Education after careful deliberation and study and patrons may be assured of full value for their money.

The city has been divided into districts and will be canvassed thoroughly so that the attention of every citizen will be called to these splendid numbers and it is hoped everyone able to do so will avail himself of these rare intellectual treats.

Burns of the Mountain is the first number. The following is an account of this unique character.

Everybody come.

"President James A. Burns of Oneida Institute, who is to lecture here on the evening of November 22nd at the Palace Theatre is a true mountaineer. He comes from that section where today rugged and plain honesty prevails. 'He is homely, handsome from severe struggles and battle-scarred from righteous fights,' said an admiring critic some time ago. 'He is a real colonel of true manhood. He speaks from an honest heart and an upright purpose. Mr. Burns, above all, is sincere. He is not a pretender—he practices what he preaches. His lecture refreshes one as does the pure cool breeze from the mountains.'

Burns is by all odds the most unique and interesting figure on the American platform today. His story is a real romance of the Southlands, if ever there was one.

'Up in the solid rock' of faith Burns founded and actually built a University which today is a thriving institution working wonders among the poor boys and girls of the illiterate backwoods regions of Kentucky. He had no money—but he had an ideal. And he had God-given courage and strength of character and a determination that would have moved mountains. For Burns, the building of Oneida was but an incident in his interesting life.

The ideal—well, Burns had watched the bloody feuds of the hillmen and something had whispered to him that education would stamp out this running sore which had for generations infested the hill sections of Kentucky. Through education he planted the seeds of Christian charity and brotherly love in their hearts—and he wiped out the feuds once and for all. His story of the long battle for success—but, wait until you hear it for Burns himself is coming to us soon."

HUNTSMEN NOW HIKING NORTH

BY TRAIN AND AUTO, THE NIMRODS ARE LEAVING

The Old Timers Are All On the Job And Some New Faces Appear—Good Luck, Boys!

This week sees the departure of the crew of huntsmen bold who annually visit the Upper Peninsula in search of the nimble deer. Much of the baggage and equipment has already been shipped some days ago and the various parties are quietly slipping out on every train north. Some are travelling by automobile.

The old gang who have been representing Charlevoix in deer country for many moons are on the job again with some few additions. Among those who have sworn to "bring home the bacon" a few may be named.

Homer Brady, Art Staley, Ralph Bacot, William Myers, and E. G. Hull will hunt near Naubinway, U. P. They will make the trip by automobile and leave Thursday.

Henry Block, Milton Block, Allen Ulrich and Percy Wooley will hunt on the upper waters of Black River, north of Naubinway. They leave Thursday by auto.

D. F. Meech will hunt with the old party at Camp Annanias, on the Tiquamenon River, north of Newberry.

Bert Staley, Vaughn Orvis and Elmer Ingalls will hunt in Ontonagon county, north of Lake Gogebic. They leave today.

"The One Buck Club," consisting of A. L. Fitch, Col. A. J. Hamilton, John McCann and A. J. Usher of this city, accompanied by Harold Bedford of Grand Rapids leave today by train for Lake Gogebic, Ontonagon county. They will be gone for two weeks.

Among various individuals who are going "on their own" into the north woods are A. C. Belding, who will hunt near Atlanta, N. A. Shores, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Walstead and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Brady. Fred Coon and wife leave Thursday by auto for Naubinway, accompanied by a friend.

Reports have it game in the U. P. is plentiful this year and it is likely that much venison will be seen on Charlevoix tables in a few weeks. Great eating too, but that will be poor satisfaction to the unfortunate stay-at-homes who cannot get away to stand at the "runway" with throbbing pulse and quickening breath and one finger on the trigger.

MISS SPIDEL MARRIES J. W. DAVIS

Daughter of W. O. Spidel Wed At High Noon

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. O. Spidel, near East Jordan, at high noon, Tuesday, October 30th, when their only daughter, Florence Emilyn, became the bride of J. W. Davis of Detroit. The couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. A. Ernest Geary of Traverse City.

The bride was attractively gowned in soft, white satin held over the shoulders and at the sides by ropes of pearls. She wore a bandeau of silver leaves. The matron of honor wore orchid crepe canton combined with silver lace, her head dress being of tulle. Mrs. Spidel, mother of the bride wore beaded black satin. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. C. Little, an elaborate five course dinner was served.

The happy couple left Wednesday morning for a trip through the Upper Peninsula, after which they will make their home in Detroit.

GAVE PETOSKEY A REAL BATTLE

OUR BOYS LOST, BUT MOST GAMELY.

Spirits of the Team Were Kept Up By Splendid Cooperation on Part of Citizens.

The hardest fought and most spectacular football game of the season was played on the home grounds Saturday morning between the local team and the Petoskey eleven.

The game was played before a record breaking crowd numbering over 600. The Petoskey team was accompanied by about 200 "rooters." Delegates from Harbor Springs, East Jordan, Boyne City, and Traverse City were also present.

Clean playing was in evidence from the beginning. The locals secured their touchdown of the game in the last few minutes of the play, while Petoskey managed to carry the pigskin over the line three times; once in second quarter and twice in the third quarter.

Jones, Cooper, Marshall and Burns started for the locals. Parrish was the outstanding player for Petoskey.

The thing of note, though, was not that the local team showed itself a fighting machine worthy the attention and respect of any northern team, but the thing that pleased most was the whole-hearted, enthusiastic support that the business men and townspeople gave the team on this occasion. Most of the business places of Charlevoix were closed during the game, and perhaps the largest crowd ever in attendance at a local game was present.

This support means a lot to the boys. It shows them that the home folk really can and want to see them win. The attendance at the Saturday game will do as much to inspire the boys to do their best as anything could possibly do.

Coachea Austin and Altenburg have worked hard to develop a fighting machine; the boys have worked hard and it is a means of satisfaction to see the support given in such a splendid manner.

There is another individual—not a man on the team and yet one who has been the biggest factor in advertising the game and bringing together the crowd—that individual is the Faculty Athletic Manager. The congenial and enterprising Cleveland Roe. Mr. Roe has worked hard at the thankless job of manager of athletics, and the crowd Saturday is a splendid tribute to his efforts.

A custom for years unobserved, was revived this year. Friday evening nearly two hundred students and townspeople assembled at the high school at about 7:30 and held a real old-fashioned "pop" meeting.

Speeches from the Mayor, Mr. Bergeon, president of the school board, Rollie L. Lewis, Robert Bridge, Merritt Miller, Ney Smith, Capt. Todd, F. E. Cartier, all the school men and others helped to deepen the growing good feeling between school patrons and school authorities.

It is hoped that other like meetings may be held preceding games, and even a better spirit engendered the growing spirit of good fellowship so strongly in evidence.

PLAN FOR THROWING ANIMAL

Necessary at Times to Have Cow or Bull on Ground to Perform Necessary Operations.

For performing surgical operations, dehorning, ringing or castrating, it is often necessary or desirable to throw a bull and hold him on the ground.

The accompanying sketch shows a very effective method to use in casting a cow or bull. It requires 35 or 40 feet of rope. With harness animals the first loop will need to be around the neck instead of the horns, as illustrated. The next step is a half hitch just back of the forelegs and another in front of the hind quarters. Pulling on the main rope to the rear and toward the side on which it is desired to have the animal lie will get results. Pregnant cows should not be so thrown. Once the animal is down turn its head back, nose up, with poll to the ground. A band hold on the side of upper lip will usually enable one man to hold the animal down, another man keeping taut the casting rope.—Dairy Farmer.

ECONOMICAL FEED FOR HERD

Most Important Item That Enters Into Cost of Milk Production—Analysis of Figures.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

How to feed his herd economically and profitably is an important thing for a dairyman to know. In all sections of the country where investigations have been carried on, the United States Department of Agriculture has found that feed is the most expensive item that enters into the cost of milk production; and intelligent feeding, in either summer or winter, offers the biggest opportunity to reduce costs.

The analysis of many figures by the department shows that in Vermont the winter costs of keeping a herd were made up of .631 per cent feed and bedding, 17.5 per cent labor and 19.4 per cent other costs. In summer, feed and bedding represented 41.6 per cent of the total expense, labor 26.7 per cent and other costs 31.7 per cent.

In the South the costs are distributed somewhat differently. Figures obtained in Louisiana show that in winter 56 per cent of the expense is for feed and bedding, 22.4 per cent for labor and 21.6 per cent other costs. The summer costs in that region do not differ from the winter costs so much as they do in the North. The figures for summer in Louisiana show that 50.5 per cent of the total cost of milk is for feed and bedding, 26.2 per cent for labor and 23.3 per cent for other costs.

Although it is advisable for a farmer to economize wherever he can wisely do so, these figures show that the dairyman who studies feeds and feeding has an excellent opportunity to increase the profits of his dairy herd.

SOY BEANS FOR DAIRY COWS

According to Tests at Iowa Station Plant Furnishes Most Palatable Protein Feed.

Soy beans as a feed for dairy cattle have shown their value in replacing oil meal in the ration, according to a recent experiment conducted by the Iowa agricultural experiment station. Cracked soy beans, it was found, made a palatable protein feed worth one-third more than the same amount of oilmeal.

Two years' experiments were conducted with the soy beans in replacing protein supplements, and the results show that dairy farmers can produce this supplement to advantage.

BALANCED RATION IS URGED

Corn Fodder Is Not Satisfactory for Dairy Cow Because It Is Lacking in Protein.

A cow may consume large quantities of feed, and still lack the essential elements for milk production. This is why the use of a balanced ration is both economical and satisfactory. Corn fodder, fed alone, for example, is not a satisfactory feed, because the ration lacks protein, and hasn't sufficient succulence to promote a satisfactory flow of milk.

Keep Utensils Clean.

Milking machine, pails and covers should be thoroughly washed and sterilized with steam after every milking.

Milking Preparations.

In preparing the cows for milking, the same care should be used as in milking by hand. It is necessary that the teats be very clean if a clean milk is to be obtained.

Increase Dairy Profits.

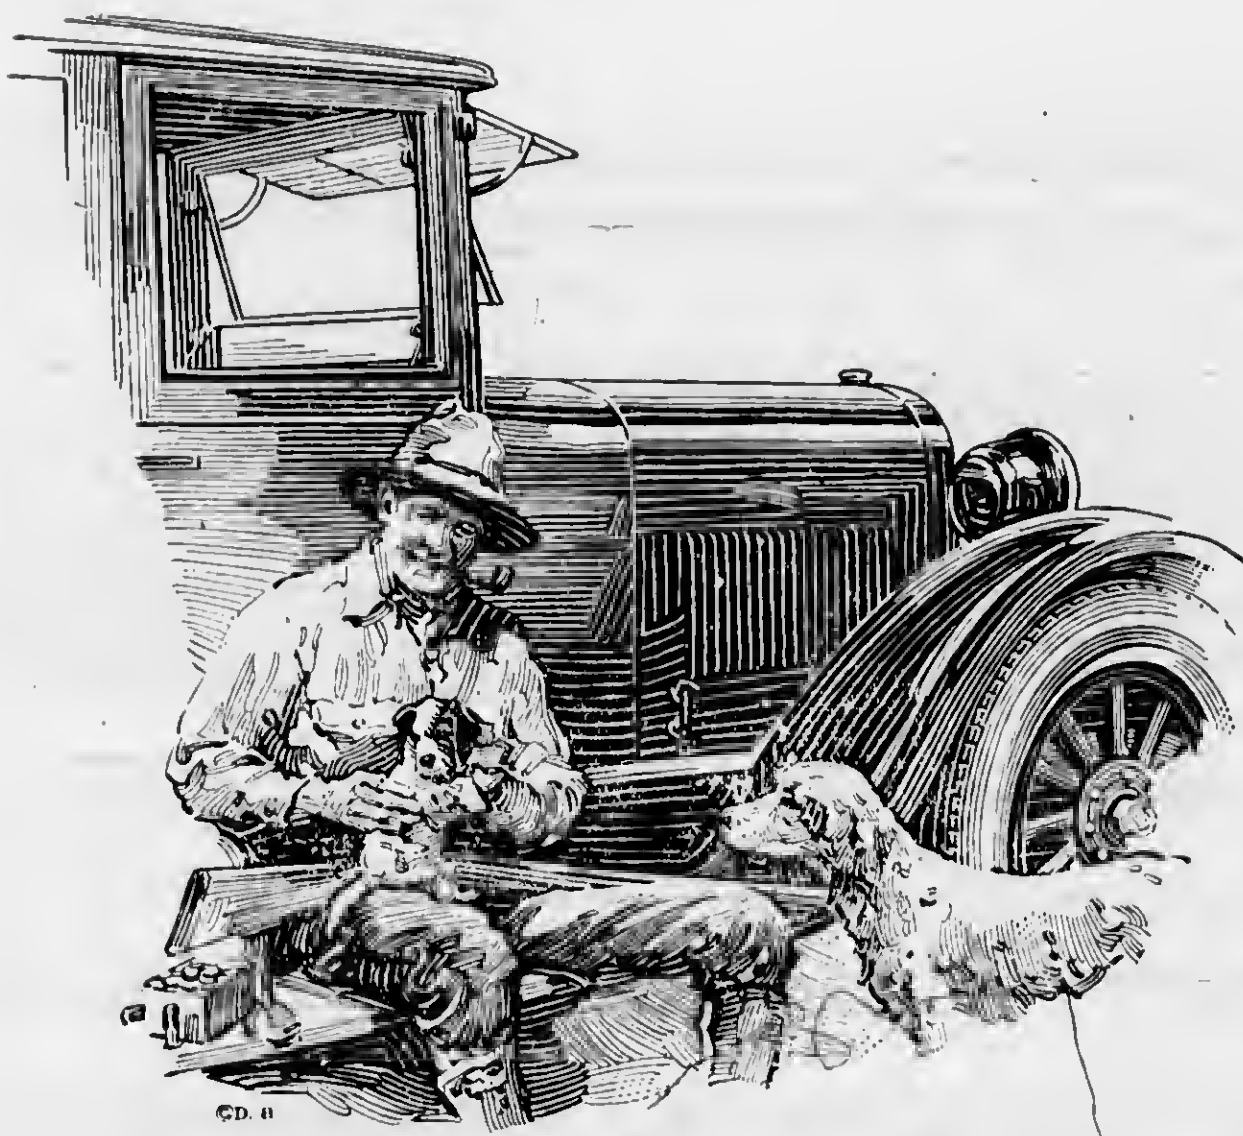

Systematic feeding of good cows will increase dairy profits.

ALBA WOMAN IS GIVEN WIDE PUBLICITY

Mrs. C. B. Tuttle of Tuttle House
Long Noted for the Good Food on Her Tables

Northern Michigan has long been noted for its pure air, good roads, wonderful climate, but now a story comes out in the state papers telling of the good things to eat provided in the hotels and boarding houses. No use talking, we have it over all sections in most anything you can think of. The story referred to is as follows, just as published in a recent issue of the Grand Rapids Herald:

"One of Alba's most successful business enterprises is run by a woman."

"She is Mrs. C. B. Tuttle and she owns Tuttle House, the only hotel in the city."

"Mrs. Tuttle's past life has been one chapter of struggle after another, and what makes her more of an outstanding character is the fact that her struggles have been much different than those usually encountered by a woman."

"This woman, now noted throughout the nearby country for the remarkable food that graces the tables of her hostelry, is a pioneer of Antrim county. Born in Charlotte, when that place consisted of three houses, she married early and came with her husband to Kalkaska, where the latter died."

"She came to Alba shortly after, when this territory was nothing but wilderness. She started a restaurant and bakery, and although she suffered many business losses, in a few years she was in possession of a hotel."

"But the hotel burned. The insurance was barely enough to pay for having the ashes of the old building hauled away, but she had lots of spirit left. A mere fire couldn't quench that."

"In a short time, a new hotel was standing on the site of the old. She was a good cook, the fame of her culinary masterpieces already having spread far and wide. Drummers, who made towns in Antrim county, went out of their way to place their feet under her table. And thus the new Tuttle house, with the reputation of the old for a foundation, began to prosper."

"Soon the enterprise was free from debt, but the proceeds from those famous buckwheat cakes, the ham and eggs, those delicious roasts, began to pile up. Mrs. Tuttle now is something of a financier. She owns a small farm outside the city limits where the produce for her board is raised. She owns resort property consisting mainly of cottages, which she rents during the summer. Besides this, she is said to contribute more to charity than any other person in Alba."

"Unlike most of her sex, she is not backward in revealing her age. She is 60 years and past, but she doesn't look it. How she manages to keep young after a life of such struggle is a mystery to her acquaintances."

"She is noted for her kindness and generosity. Frequently when some poor home is visited by sickness, she leaves the management of her hostelry to hired help and attends the stricken."

FUNERALS HAVE THE RIGHT OF WAY

Processions Have Right on all Streets and Highways.

According to motor vehicle laws compiled by Charles J. De Land, secretary of state for Michigan, motor vehicles forming funeral processions have right of way on all streets and highways in the state. The law follows:

"An act to give motor vehicles forming a funeral procession the right of way on the streets and highways of this state, to provide a penalty for the violation of this act and to repeal all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith."

Sec. 1. Motor vehicles forming a funeral procession when going to any place of burial shall have the right of way over all the other vehicles except fire apparatus, ambulances and police patrol vehicles, at any street or highway intersection within this state.

"Sec. 2. It shall be the duty of the undertaker having charge of such funeral procession to supply each motor vehicle forming a part thereof with a card not less than eight inches square which shall be white in color and upon which shall be printed, stamped, or stained a purple cross, the extremities of which shall extend to the end of each card. Each motor vehicle forming such funeral procession shall have displayed on the right hand side of the windshield thereof the card aforesaid in a secure manner. Any person passing through a funeral procession of motor vehicles designated as aforesaid with a vehicle of any kind shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not to exceed $25."

"Sec. 3. All acts or parts of acts conflicting with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed."

AT THE MOVIES

Milton Sills, leading man in "Behold My Wife," "The Faith Healer," "The Great Moment," and other notable screen productions, was chosen to play the part of Gordon Deane, a novelist, in "At the End of the World," the Paramount picture starring Betty Compson which comes to the Palace Theatre next Wednesday.

In addition to Mr. Sills, the cast is further augmented by Mitchell Lewis, who is recognized as one of the best interpreters of the French Canadian northwest character on the screen; Casson Ferguson, Spottiswoode Aitken, Joseph Kilgour, Goro Kino and others.

Said to be a most colorful photoplay and rare entertainment, from the standpoints of fine direction, skilled portrayal, artistic photography and beauty of investiture, Thomas Meighan's latest Paramount star vehicle, "Homeward Bound," will be on view at the Palace theatre for two days beginning Saturday next. Lila Lee, one of the screen's most popular leading women, plays opposite the star in this delightful sea-picture which is based on Peter B. Kync's story, "The Light to Leeward." The story deals with the love romance of a sailor and the daughter of a ship owner. The supporting cast is one of exceptional excellence and includes among others: Chas. Abbe, William T. Carlton, Hugh Cameron, Gus Weinberg, Maude Turner Gordon, Cyril Ring and Katherine Spencer. Ralph Ince directed.

Graustark—with its dramatic shadows and romantic high lights—kingdom of George Barr McCutcheon's vivid imaginings—comes to the Palace theatre screen in the Fox production, "Truxton King." John Gilbert is starred in this photodrama, which will be shown next Tuesday. Those who have read the book will be pleased to know that the story follows the plot and main details. Those who have not read the novel will probably want to get it after they have been regaled by the adventure, comedy and love interest that the film offers. There is a great deal of excitement in the vest pocket monarchy, more than enough for a solid evening's entertainment.

REGULARITY

Some folks have an idea that unless they can put away large sums of money at a time, saving is not worth while.

It is regularity of saving that counts.

The amount you deposit each pay is secondary to depositing something.

After you have forced yourself to save regularly for a few months, the idea will become a habit. Habits are easy—even in saving.

JAIL DRUNKEN DRIVERS

The Diamond Drill wants to lend its assistance to a campaign to banish from the county highways drunken drivers of automobiles. It is a movement in which every person in Iron county should be interested and a movement under the banner of which every citizen should enlist.

If the danger of driving while drunk was confined to the drunken driver there might be some excuse for passing by unnoticed these infractions of the law. But, it's not the drunken driver alone whose life and property is endangered. To the contrary the life of every man, woman and child on the road traveled by such drunken drivers is in jeopardy, not to mention the property endangered. Is there any excuse for anyone showing leniency to such drivers.

Time after time men have been brought before the justices of the peace in this county charged with driving an automobile while drunk. In almost every case the justice assesses a fine and allows the man to go if he can pay the fine; if not he goes to jail until some of his friends come to his rescue and pays his fine. The justices of the peace are the ones to remove this menace to life and property from the roads of Iron county. They can, if they will, send every drunken driver to jail. Will they do it or will they think only of the money consideration in the case? If the justices of the peace refuse to send drunken drivers to jail it's time that the people get wise to what is going on and make a change in their justices. — Crystal Falls Diamond Drill.

HUNTERS DROWNED IN CROOKED LAKE

Sank in 50 Feet of Water—Bodies Not Yet Recovered

A double tragedy occurred a week ago last Sunday morning at Crooked Lake, near Cincinnati Point just across the lake from Conway.

A party of four young men started out early to hunt ducks. Following the shore of the lake from Conway to Cincinnati Point they had brought down several ducks. Two of them, shot near the place where the tragedy happened, fell into the water. Hobart Park of Petoskey and Daniel Bonishing, an Indian of Cross Village, found a steel boat, which had been left on shore and set out after the ducks, leaving the other two men to continue their hunting. Of these, one went up over the hill and out of sight of the lake, leaving his companion to witness what was about to happen. This man says that as the boat approached the place where the ducks were floating it appeared to sink rapidly, either from leaks or being swamped by the high waves. He tried to locate another boat but failed and was forced to stand by, a helpless witness of the harrowing scene.

Bonishing, who was a good swimmer, had covered half the distance between the spot where the boat sank and the shore when he discovered that Park, cumbered with heavy clothing, was making but feeble headway in the rough water. He at once turned back to his companion's assistance but, after a short struggle, the two sank together, apparently too exhausted to continue the fight for life.

Searching parties soon arrived, but up until Saturday night had met with no success. The lake at this point is about fifty feet in depth and there is a thick growth of weeds on the bottom.

MR. FARMER, YOUR HELP IS REQUIRED

The Hospital Needs Spuds For Winter Consumption.

The Charlevoix Hospital wishes again, as in past years, to appeal to its good friend the farmer for "spuds". You cannot conduct a hospital or any other place where human beings congregate and eat without this humble but useful vegetable. So spuds is the word, right now.

So bring in your potatoes, please—in bushel lots, wagon loads or car loads (motor car, that is), because the hard-working and faithful nurses will need a lot of them to keep up their strength and vigor and the patients, fighting their brave fight for recovery and health will need a lot of them to build new, vigorous tissues and they will all rise up and call you blessed.

Month by month and year by year the hospital keeps quietly establishing its place in the community as our most useful institution. It has become so largely on account of the splendid support it has received from the public it serves and the untiring efforts of its management and staff. It is doing a wonderful work in Charlevoix and its service must not be allowed to flag for an instant because of our failure to support its hands. So, we know you will not forget and will respond generously to this appeal as you have done to similar requests in the past.

Have Firm Belief in Devils.

The natives of Fiji believe firmly in ghosts or devils, pointing in proof to huge indentations in the rocks resembling footprints. Some devils are good, they say, and some are bad. One native told me that the devil on his island was an old man with a white beard, a harmless or good devil, who came out at nights to get plantains. Probably the native had seen some old goat, hence the beard.—New York Tribune.

SNOW-FENCE IS SOME WRINKLE

County Now Using About Seventeen Hundred Feet

How many of us know what snow-fence is and how it is used? Most of our rural friends will smile when they read this question but we will wager that a good percentage of the townfolk will have to scratch their heads a while.

Charlevoix county now has about 140 twelve foot lengths of this fence in use throughout the county. At different points along the roads where snow drifts deeper than usual, these lengths of fence are set up. They are placed well back from the road in the fall, out in the farmer's field, usually to the north of an east and west road. The snow banks on the leeward side of this fence and it is best to get it far enough back from the road so that the drifting ends before the road is reached. One of the worst places is the cut at Burns's hill, which has been filled six feet deep in past years, before the fence was installed.

In the spring, these lengths of fence are piled up behind a convenient barn or some safe place where they can be readily distributed again in the fall. More fence is being built each year. Sometimes it is found practicable to cooperate with the property-owner near the trouble, some drift spot in the building of a permanent fence, the county furnishing the material. This gives the farmer a permanent boundary fence and relieves the county of any further anxiety about this particular spot. Of course, this can only be done where the property boundary is far enough from the road for the fence to offer adequate drift prevention.

HE KNEW HOW

There was an old geezer
And he had a lot of sense,
He started up a business
On a dollar and eighty cents.
The dollar for stock,
And the eighty for an ad,
Brought him three lovely dollars
In a day, by dad!
Well, he bought more goods
And a little more space,
And he played that system
With a smile on his face.
The customers flocked
To his two-by-four
And soon he had to hustle
For a regular store.
Up on the square
Where the people pass
He gobbled up a corner
That was all plate glass,
He fixed up the windows
With the best he had,
And told them all about it
In a half-page ad.
He soon had 'em coming
And he never, never quit,
And he wouldn't cut down
On his ad one bit.
And he's kept things humming
And everybody call him
The Merchant Prince.
Some say 'tis luck,
But that's all bunk—
Why, he was doing business
When times were punk.
People have to purchase
And the geezer was wise—
For he knew the way to get 'em
Was to advertise.

Surprised Her

A few of the many friends of Mrs. Julia Reynolds walked in and surprised her last Monday, at her home at 905 Bridge street, it being the occasion of her birthday. A good time was enjoyed playing cards and visiting and Mrs. Reynolds received some fine gifts. Earlier in the day, some friends from the country visited her, bringing with them a pot-luck dinner. She was also the recipient of a postal card shower and got a great many fine ones.

In Memoriam

In sad but loving memory of my dear wife and mother, who died one year ago:

We miss thee from our home,
Dear Mother,
We miss thee from thy place.
A shadow o'er our life is cast,
We miss the sunshine of thy face,
We miss thy kind and willing hand,
Thy fond and earnest care.
Our home is dark without thee,
We miss thee everywhere.
Mr. Lord and Children.

gard to the enforcement of the eighteenth amendment, Mr. Ford reiterated his statement of a month ago that he "would order out the army and navy if necessary," to see that the law was enforced.

"Let the drinkers once know," the story quotes the automobile manufacturers as saying, "the government is really determined that the law of the land shall be treated with the respect American law must have, even if it has to build a few additional wings to federal prisons, and this country will be come dry."

"Enforcement has been more thorough last month, it seems to me," he continued. "I give credit for that to the president. I'm for him so long as he insists on obedience of the dry law."

Showing of the Ford Motor company's index of its employees' prosperity now as compared with before prohibition is such, he said, that anyone with a single good eye can see the resulting profit from prohibition without poring over any table of figures.

Referring to the enforcement of the prohibition law, Mr. Ford said: "The president knows it is the right thing to do. He knows also the women of the nation are going to have a lot to say if he does not act. Not one woman in a 1,000—yes, not one in 5,000—want the old days back."

In asserting the government should let the drinkers know the law was going to be enforced, he said he would stake his fortune that this was the remedy for the present conditions.

"Look at Detroit's wetness," Mr. Ford said. "There's an army post here. The soldiers from Fort Wayne could wipe up the city quickly enough if the government but said the word. The psychology of the act would stop it. Anyone who is afraid to enforce the amendment is a political coward. I never drank, but I'm for prohibition because I know its definite benefits."

NATURE'S WARNING

Charlevoix People Must Recognize and Heed It

Kidney ills comes mysteriously. But nature generally warns you. Notice the kidney secretions. See of the color is unhealthy— If there are aetlings and sediment. Passages frequent, scanty, painful.

It's time to fear serious kidney trouble.

It's time to use Doan's Kidney Pills.

Doan's have done great work in Charlevoix. Ask your neighbor. Hubert Ackert, mason, 107 W. Garfield Ave., Charlevoix, says: "There was a constant ache in the small of my back and nights I couldn't get any sleep. My kidneys were sluggish in action and the secretions were scanty and burned in passage. I bought Doan's Kidney Pills at Metcalf's Drug Store, and they fixed me up in fine shape. I haven't had any trouble since Doan's cured me."

Price 60, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Ackert had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

APPLE-POTATO SHOW NOV. 20-23

HELD IN KLINGMAN BUILDING
IN GRAND RAPIDS.

Help Standardize, Advertise, Utilize
West Michigan's Two Famous Crops.

According to C. C. Wells, General Manager of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange, housewife visitors at the Apple-Potato show, to be held in the Klingman exhibition building in Grand Rapids, November 20th to 23rd, will have the opportunity to decide on the table quality of a large number of 150-pound exhibits of fancy table potatoes entered by various potato marketing associations. Mr. Wells also states that 10 voters in this contest will each be given free a full 150-pound bag of the prize-winning spuds, the choice to be decided by lot. The aim of this contest is merely to determine what size, color and grade in potatoes, as they appear in grocery stores and markets, appeals to the ultimate consumer as desirable characteristics.

This exhibit will consist of several Michigan standard varieties and will be shown in the "Chief Potato Key" branded sacks of the Michigan Potato Growers' Exchange.

Every woman who visits the show will have a vote on the table stock exhibits and the prizes will be awarded according to the decision of the voters.

This will be a real demonstration of the ability of the ultimate consumer to tell the good quality potato from a poor one. Cooking experts from the Agricultural college will cook some of the prize winners to verify the results of the judging, which, of necessity, must be on appearance alone.

More Summer Fattening of Cattle Is Suggested

More summer feeding of young cattle for market is suggested by W. H. Peters of the animal industry division, Minnesota College of Agriculture, who has been watching market quotations on grade-fed cattle and finds that they are higher now than at any time yet this year. Market reports for the last few years also show, he says, that invariably good grade-fed cattle, especially yearlings, have sold for high prices through August, September and October of each year. He believes there is a suggestion in this circumstance that should be used to advantage by Minnesota farmers.

Professor Peters does not overlook the objections raised to the fattening of cattle on grain through the summer months. There is, of course, the difficulty of securing suitable feeder cattle in the spring. Ordinarily cattle on feed do not make good gains through the hot weather and dry season; also, all available labor on the farm is needed for farm crops work through the summer season. But he believes it is possible to overcome these objections, and against them there is the great advantage of a high price for the finished product through the late summer and early fall months.

"Summer feeding," he says, "should perhaps be confined to yearlings or baby heifers, as it is the handy weight fat beef carcasses from the 1,000 to 1,200-pound steer that is in greatest demand through the summer and early fall. By starting in with a group of good beef calves in the fall when they are weaned and carrying them through the winter on alfalfa or clover hay and silage with a medium grain ration, not getting them on full feed until in April or May and then pushing them until sold in August or September, the fattening of such cattle can be accomplished economically. Many feeders of baby beef cattle would be money ahead had they carried cattle that were sold last May and June until now."

"By giving yearling cattle the run of a darkened, well-bedded shed during the daytime in summer, so as to protect them from the flies, and turning them out to a good green pasture at night, at the same time keeping them in a full feed of grain, they will make almost as good gains in winter. The labor of caring for them is also somewhat less and the usual higher price received for grade-fed cattle in late summer and early fall will more than make up the difference in the higher cost of labor and slower gains made."

Prejudice Against Heavy Lambs in Many Quarters

Of late years there has been a growing prejudice among consumers against heavy lambs. There is no doubt that the texture of meat of a large animal is coarser than that of a small one, but the difference is so slight that it would take a scientist to discover it.

The real trouble is that in certain quarters the word lamb has become rather elastic. It has been applied to sheep of all ages with the result that the consumer feels it safest to purchase the smallest specimens he can find and is usually willing to pay more for this kind.

In reality lambs are no exception to the general rule. Small animals of other classes are not usually preferred to large ones. There is no doubt that lamb properly grown up to 175 or 150 pounds weight is better food than the same lamb marketed at 90 or 100 pounds. At the latter weight he should be consumed without any waste.

Sometimes the heavier breeds are marketed in an unfinished condition for the purpose of keeping the weight within what is considered the margin of safety. This practice should be discouraged for the quality of meat produced must certainly be of a low class.

The way to overcome the difficulty with lambs of heavy breeds is to begin to feed them for market a couple of months younger than is necessary with the smaller breeds.

Question of Labor in Considering Fall Pigs

If fall pigs are being considered, the question of labor arises. They might perhaps require a board or two nailed over the cracks in the old hoghouse, or a little more hedging and a little more energy spent occasionally in seeing that their wants are properly supplied. But those items are well taken care of as labor at that time of the year, viz., late fall and winter, is forced by nature to take things more or less easy.

Manner of Controlling Principal Insect Pests

Hog lice, mange, mites and fleas are the principal insect pests of the hog. For lice and mange rubbing poats or oiled wallows will usually give relief. The fleas are often troublesome in breeding houses and open sheds in early spring. Clean out all bedding and spray with coal oil or stock dip. Repeat at intervals of a week until the pest is completely controlled.

Can't tell how an oyster makes his shell?
No; nor I, neither.

GOOD FOOD IN VARIETY

A simple, easy to prepare dessert is often hard to find in a hurry. Try this:

Amoralea.—Take one cupful of walnut meats, two cupfuls of dates, one tablespoonful of lemon juice and one-half cupful of whipped cream. Wipe the dates and remove the pits, cut into small pieces and combine with the walnut meats coarsely chopped. Add the lemon juice and arrange the mixture in sherbet cups topped with a spoonful of sweetened and flavored whipped cream.

Banana Whip.—Take six ripe bananas, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, one-half cupful of chopped walnut meats and one cupful of whipped cream. Press the bananas through a ricer, add the lemon juice, sugar and walnut meats chopped very fine. Chill thoroughly and serve in sherbet glasses garnished with a spoonful of cream. A teaspoonful of finely minced nut added to the bananas before chilling makes a nice flavor.

Tomato Canape.—Take a slice of a large tomato, slice half of a hard-boiled egg lengthwise and put it sliced side down on the tomato, pour over French dressing and sprinkle with finely chopped chives.

Sardines a la Tartare.—Skin and remove the bones from six sardines. Cut strips of bread the same size and shape as the fish and fry them in butter until golden brown. When cool arrange the sardines on the bread, coat them with tartare sauce and garnish with capers and bits of pimiento.

Head Lettuce With Roquefort Dressing.—Take one-fourth of a cupful of Roquefort cheese. Mix together one-half teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of pepper, one tablespoonful of vinegar and three tablespoonfuls of oil. Blend well and add the cheese. Pour over the head lettuce and serve at once.

A ruffle at the bottom of the kitchen apron is not merely a trimming. Its fullness makes it outstanding, thus preventing anything spilled from finding a landing place on the skirt.

CLUB-CAFE NEARING COMPLETION

OLDHAM'S ENTERPRISE SHOWS GREAT PROGRESS

Foundation In, Framework Up And Sheathed, Windows Set And Curbing And Walls Laid

Operations on the new club-cafe now in process of erection on the Oldham property, bordering the channel-edge have progressed to a point where one can obtain a pretty good idea of what the place is going to look like.

The curbing is in for the driveway as well as the cement retaining walls with the posts set for the ornamental lamps which will light the grounds. The framework of the building is complete, the sheathing on and the windows and door casings set in place.

When completed, cars will enter the grounds from Park avenue by a spacious driveway of black asphalt, curbed with white, flanked on the right by a concrete wall in which lamp posts are set at regular intervals and on the left by a sidewalk of pink concrete. This driveway half-circles the Oldham residence and opens onto Park avenue again at the other end. From the bend of the driveway broad steps of concrete ascend the slopes of a double terrace to the main entrance of the cafe. The right hand arm of the driveway is extended on past the building to end in an anchored concrete abutment on the bank's edge. This will effectively prevent unmanageable or too rapidly moving cars from going over into the channel. A second stairway leads from the main entrance to this driveway on the east side of the building and just beyond it is the entrance to the courtyard which is a space, 36x52, concreted, onto which the entrance to the ground floor of the building opens. This courtyard is roofed by the rear end of the main floor of the building and affords ample space for turning of cars. The grounds, which include the terraces and space between the driveways will be beautified with flower beds, shrubbery and hedges.

The entrance from the courtyard to the lower part of the building leads into a long hallway, running east and west and out of this hallway open the four private diningrooms that front the channel. These diningrooms open onto a spacious porch, overhanging the channel bank and afford a marvellous view of Lake Michigan and the Beach Hotel resort through French windows and doors of glass. West of the courtyard and across the hallway from the private diningrooms are located the ladies dressing room and toilet and like accommodations for the men.

A wide staircase leads from the west end of the hallway up to the main diningroom of the building. This big room will have seating capacity at the tables for 200 guests. Windows of exceptional size light the room on its east side and French.

GOOD TIME NOW TO PLANT A FEW EVERGREENS

Those evergreens that you have been planning for such a long time to set out around the house—why not plant them now instead of leaving them until the rush of spring work will again prevent your getting at it?

A few evergreens, even so few as a half dozen, will quite transform the appearance of your place, especially during the winter. To prepare the holes for, and to set out a half a dozen trees, is perhaps an hour's pleasant work—and the returns, even this first winter, will more than pay the slight trouble and the moderate expense involved. Don't let your home go without at least a few evergreens for another year!

You know, if you have ever traveled thru sections of the country where evergreens grow wild, that they will thrive under almost any conditions. Once established, they need no pampering or nursing, but will "dig for themselves," and without any assistance from the hand of man, will live for generations and will grow into beautiful trees, making the house around which they happen to be planted, known as a beautiful home for miles around.

COUNTY W. C. T. U. CONVENTION MEETS

At Boyne City, On Friday, November Sixteenth

The County W. C. T. U. will meet at Boyne City next Friday for afternoon and evening sessions.

The Union at East Jordan has recently been organized with a good membership. The Boyne City Union has doubled its membership and Charlevoix has one of the few unions in the state with a membership of over one hundred. The Boyne City union will serve a banquet to the convention at six o'clock. Any local members who can go are requested to communicate with Mrs. John Burns or Mrs. E. E. Cross as to the arrangements.

Operation Is Fatal

Miss Eleanor King, fifteen year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hugh King of Eveline Township died in the Petoskey Hospital at ten o'clock last Tuesday night from the effects of an operation for appendicitis, blood poisoning setting in. She was taken to the hospital last Sunday, the operation being performed that same night.

FIRST DEFEAT IN 18 YEARS

BOYNE SUFFERED AT OUR HANDS LAST SATURDAY

Game Was Hotly Contested From the Beginning—Cheboygan Comes Here Next Week

For the first time in eighteen years Charlevoix defeated Boyne City on her home grounds in Football.

The game was hotly contested from the beginning. Both teams showed a dogged determination to win and neither one stopped until the whistle blew.

Against a strong wind Hallett booted the pig skin across the goal in the second quarter and in the last few minutes of play Cunningham crossed the line for a touchdown.

Boyne was only dangerously close to the Charlevoix goal upon one occasion but, failing to make her downs, the ball was given to Charlevoix.

The boys play Cheboygan this coming Saturday on the home grounds as the closing game of the season. A hard game is expected as the boys from across the state have been putting up a good broad of football lately, last Saturday defeating East Jordan 39-0.

Our boys are in good shape—lots of fight and determined to play this last game to a finish. For about five of the boys it will be the last game they will play under the red and white as we lose through graduation that number, so in making their last fight for the school that has given them all it has to offer they are determined to double their efforts in an attempt to win.

Now, let's everybody turn out next Saturday and help the boys put her across with a whoop. Remember the time, 2:30 p. m., and bring along lots of pep and a pair of leather lungs if you think your own won't stand the strain. Let's have noise and lots of it. Nothing like a good snappy grandstand to put heart in a fighting football team and keep it there. Besides, the moral support of a big crowd of home folks who expect their home team to win and won't think of defeat is tremendous. Kind of mental telepathy about it, you know.

PIONEER WOMAN OF EVELINE TWP. DEAD

Mrs. Elizabeth Schaffer Passes At Eighty-Seven

Mrs. Elizabeth Schaffer died last Monday, November 12th, at the home of her son, Oliver Schaffer of Ironton. She was eighty-seven years and five months old at the time of her death, which was caused by old age and hardening of the arteries.

She leaves to mourn their loss a considerable family of children, among whom are Mrs. Charles Cork, of Barnard, Oliver Schaffer of Ironton, John of Chicago and Tony of Grand Rapids. The funeral was held today at Ironton, Rev. Father McMahon of St. James officiating. Interment was in the Catholic cemetery there.

NEXT WEEK EDUCATION'S WEEK

WILL BE OBSERVED ALL OVER THE COUNTRY

Locals Schools Will Hold Daily Program to Which the Public Are Invited

American Education Week (November 18th to 24th) is the one time in all the year when the entire nation is called upon to dedicate itself anew to the great task of universal education for democracy, to see and know the schools, to consider in a public way the big problem of education and to join in appreciation of its achievements.

The schools have a great opportunity to teach all the children the real meaning of education and the opportunities and responsibilities of educated men and women. They have a truly remarkable opportunity to teach every boy and girl his responsibility as a citizen and to help maintain an educational system which will perpetuate the best in the life and ideals of the republic.

The school has a program prepared for this week to which they invite the parents and patrons of the school. Remember the slogan for the week, which is "Visit the Schools Today." We want you to see how we are trying to meet our great responsibility. The program will be as follows: Sunday evening: Program at Congregational church.

Monday: Mr. R. Lewis will talk on the constitution before the H. S. assembly at 8:30 a. m.

Tuesday: Flag day—observed thru all the grades.

Wednesday: Evening program at High School. Lunch served by County Normal.

Thursday: Dr. McMillan talks to school at 8:30 a. m.

Friday: Illiteracy. Short talks. 8:30 a. m.

Slogan: "Visit the Schools Today."

The Courier certainly hopes, with Superintendent Hamilton, that the people of this community will cooperate heartily with the schools in making this a memorable and useful week. If there is anything that even remotely approaches a universal panacea for all our national ills it is education of the right sort. Law is a cripple without it. Morality, in its absence, is a feeble creature bred of Fear and Expediency. It opens the doors to Religion, Justice and Charity and is the handmaiden of Universal Peace, the sister of Progress. Education is the key to the treasures of the spirit, the interpreter of Art, Music and Literature and the chief patron of Science. On it depend the hopes of Capital and Labor, Church and State. It will be impossible without it. It is the deadliest foe of Superstition, Vice, Anarchy, Atheism and Filth.

With the horses of alien populations within our boundaries, Education assumes yearly an ever greater importance. It is absolutely the first thing to be done, the first step to take in making useful American citizens out of the hodge-podge of widely differing temperaments, customs, beliefs, and standards of living that are represented by our immigrant wards—for wards they are until we have converted them into integral parts of our social fabric. When they are educated, we may teach them religion, morals and the decencies of life. Until then it is an impossible task. Missionaries to savage and heathen peoples will support this statement. They know.

So let us not neglect education. It is not something that can be shoved off to the teachers and the preachers. We all have our part to play, whether in the home, in business or on the street. Our school system is as good as we, the public, make it, as good as we insist that it shall be. It cannot be too good.

SEEN BEARD'S NEW CRUISER?

THE "MARIE B." IS SURE SOME NIFTY BOAT

Staunch Little Craft Is a Thirty-Two Footer, Built After a William Deed Design

In a lakeside community there can always be found a certain percentage of citizens who are interested in things aquatic to the extent that they will read with interest even what might be termed technical details of a fine craft. There is an even larger proportion who can be interested in the personal and single-handed achievements of a fellow-townsmen when his creative skill has expressed itself in something of concrete value and especially so when his work has been performed under their personal observation.

It is with this assurance that we are endeavoring to describe to our readers the new 32 foot cruiser of Glenn E. Beard, which was launched on Labor Day but has not previously been mentioned in these columns. This boat, which Mr. Beard will call the "Marie B.", is the creation of his spare moments and leisure hours over a period of some two years. With the exception of some little assistance rendered in planning her up she is the work of his own hands. We think he deserves to be congratulated.

The "Marie B." is 32 feet in length overall and of 8-1-2 foot beam. She is of the enclosed bridge type (raised deck model), built from a design of William Deed, famous designer of small boats, which is now in use by the International Boat Building Corporation in the construction of their standardized thirty-two footers. She is powered by a 40 H. P. Oakland marine engine and will develop a speed of twelve miles per hour. Her gasoline capacity is seventy gallons. She carries a thirteen foot mast and a detachable spar that can be used to rig a jib sail in case of emergency.

This boat is sheathed with 7-8 oak and Georgia pine. She is decked with pine, canvas covered as is the pine matchboard canopy over the rear deck. She is housed for half her length forward, light being admitted to the cabin through a skylight hatch. This housing is of pine, stained a mahogany color and presents a fine appearance. The wheel mechanism and compass box is housed by a breast-high boxing of pine and the switch, clock, oil, gauge, etc., are set in the end of the deck house.

The engine is located amidships, where the cabin joins the rear deck and is set flush with the edge of the latter so as to allow space for the galley which you first enter through the cabin door. The latter is completely and handily equipped with sink, icebox and cupboards and is connected to a 20 gallon fresh water tank built into the port side of the galley. Next comes the spacious cabin with two built in berths and attachments for two hanging pipe berths, sleeping four people comfortably when required. In the extreme forward end of the bow a toilet is located. The cabin is lighted by two port holes on each side, in addition to the skylight.

Take it all in all, a tight little cruiser which is a credit to its owner and with which he and his family may take much enjoyment. Building it himself at odd times, he has avoided the always heavy item of labor expense and has the added satisfaction of knowing that it is the almost unaided result of his own personal labor and skill.

Traverse Theatre Opens

The Fitzpatrick Company, of Chicago, operators of a chain of Michigan, Illinois and Indiana theatres, will open their new house at Traverse City on Thanksgiving day, or before, so E. J. Miller, Traverse City manager has announced. The new building will replace the Lyric theatre destroyed by fire last spring.

E. Olach Dead

Emerich Olach, former resident of this city and Barnard died last Saturday morning, at Niles, Mich., where he has been ill for some time with tubercular trouble. Mr. Olach, who is the father of Mrs. Charles Hamilton of this city, now wintering in Florida, leaves a large family. The funeral will be held at Niles.

MACCABEES PUT ON A JOINT INSTALLATION

Lodges of Charlevoix, Central Lake and Ironton Take Part

The Lady Maccabees held a joint installation here Tuesday night for Central Lake, Ironton and Charlevoix lodges. Mrs. Janet Branch of St. Louis, Michigan, deputy great commander, was the installing officer.

A large crowd was in attendance and refreshments of ice cream and cake were served. Six little girls, dressed in white carrying baskets of flowers assisted the officers.

The new officers are as follows: Commander, Laura Webster, Past Commander, May Bugbee; Lieut. Commander, Lillian Hammond; Chaplain, Nellie Shearer; Finnee Keeper, Myrtle Mitchell; Record Keeper, Kate Black; Mistress-at-Arms, Lottie Nowland; Sergeant, Jessie McLean; Sentinel, Dell Nowland; Pianist, Alice Cebau; Picket, Julia Ackert; Banner Bearers, Myrtle Danvy, Lena Cram, Ann McCann; Deborah, Grace Geneit; Captain, Milida Higman; Color Bearers, Lydia Alcox, Lottie Coon, Laura Heise, Lillian Hull, Blanche Nowland.

FISH CATCHES ARE FINE ONES

BUT SEASON IS NOW RAPIDLY NEARING ITS END

Ninety-one Thousand Pounds Handled At One Local Station Last Week

The fisheries outlook in Charlevoix this fall is a very bright one, according to statements made by the management of the Booth and Beutel companies in a recent interview.

Every fisherman who has been operating out of the various stations between Leland and Charlevoix has been landing his full quota and some remarkable lifts have been reported. Fred Sendenberg, James J. Martin and Frank Left took nearly eight thousand pounds apiece out of the lake last week, while Charley Henderickson scored over seven thousand and Harold McCann seven thousand four hundred ninety.

On Thursday of last week, the Booth Fisheries Co. station here handled ninety-one thousand pounds of fish in one day's run. They have already shipped out three cars and expect to ship about eight more before the close of the season. These cars average between 20,000 lbs. and 35,000 lbs. apiece. Most of this production is distributed among the various Booth branches and a fair proportion goes to the jobbing trade all over the country.

Along towards the latter part of the week it was discovered that the fish had left the spawning beds and were out in deep water. This usually marks the beginning of the end of the big catches. From now on they will commence to dwindle off until about the end of the month. The trout are running fairly large this year. Over at the Robert Beutel, or as it is now called, the Charlevoix Fish Co. station the Courier representative saw three beauties weighing 21 lbs. apiece and another one hung in the cooler which tipped the scales at 28 lbs. Manager Eekinger states that fish of this size run about ten or twelve to a catch.

There are fourteen fish boats operating out of Charlevoix alone. Thirty-five boats put out from the Beavers, twelve out of Northport and five out of Leland.

In a general way, everything indicates a very successful season for all of the companies. The spawn are running freely at Manistique and the U. S. Bureau of Fisheries tug, Fulmer left yesterday for that point to commence caring for them.

It is a gratifying thing to note the steady growth of Charlevoix's most important industry. This growth, however, may only be maintained by common sense practices and cooperation between fishermen, fish companies and agents of the government fisheries bureau. If the spawn are carefully planted on the one hand and care is taken on the other not to injure or waste the resources of our waters, we may confidently look each year for a healthy expansion.

HOW MICHIGAN'S CROPS NOW RANK

SIGNIFICANT FIGURES SHOW OUR STANDING

Corn Brings Better Prices Than In "Belt" States—Average High For Five Year Period

As many have advocated, Michigan should plant a larger acreage of corn in the light of the records of the last few years. Only twice in the last 18 years has the average yield fallen below 30 bushels per acre. For the five year, 1918 to 1922, inclusive, the average has been 36.1 bushels as compared with 35.1 in Illinois, 42.1 in Iowa and 27.5 in Missouri. When account is taken of the higher prices that prevail in Michigan, the returns per acre exceed those in any of the big surplus producing states where corn is lauded as king. For the above five-year period, the average annual value of the crop per acre in Michigan was $35.98; in Illinois, $32.91; in Iowa, $33.60; and in Missouri, $27.65.

These figures place Michigan corn in a very favorable light, and the 1923 yield, as shown by the November report issued by L. Whitney Watkins, Commissioner of Agriculture and Verne H. Church Agricultural Statistician, is 35 bushels per acre, making the fifth good crop in succession. The total production is estimated at 59,010,000 bushels. Of this amount, 32 per cent has gone into silos leaving a net grain production of 40,127,000 bushels, of which it is estimated nine per cent was hogged down. The average yield of silage is 7.5 tons per acre. An inquiry concerning the amount of old corn carried over indicates that only 5.5 per cent of last year's crop still remained on farms on November 1.

Michigan ranks fourth in the production of buckwheat, the estimated crop being 352,000 bushels with an average yield of 14.2 bushels per acre. A little was frosted in some northern counties, but the greater part of the crop matured well and is of good quality. The production for the country as a whole is estimated at 14,511,000 bushels as compared with 15,050,000 last year.

As a potato state, Michigan holds third place with a prospective crop of 34,980,000 bushels. A very rapid growth took place after the fall rains and resulted in an average yield of 110 bushels per acre. The crop is unusually free from disease but many of the large potatoes are hal-low as a result of the rapid growth. The prospective yield in a number of other states has also increased since last report, and the total United

WHAT SHALL WE DO WHEN THIS WINTER HAS COME?

Long winter evenings afford wonderful opportunities for study, for the reading of those worthwhile books that we have promised ourselves to read as soon as the business demands of the strenuous summer months should let go their hold. The profound peace of a winter's night is unexcelled atmosphere for contemplation and mental growth. The very absence of social activities of stir and bustle in the city streets of which we are accustomed to complain is a distinct advantage, as it removes the myriad distractions that operate during the summer to keep us in a state of feverish excitement. Winter is an ideal time for visiting our friends from whom summer pleasures and business duties have separated us. The joys of a quiet evening at home may be alternated with the delights of social intercourse among congenial associates.

To those who must have action, to the young whose blood courses strongly in their veins and those of maturer years who keep young in body and spirit, winter is as rich in opportunity as summer. The setting and facilities for either individual or organized outdoor play are ours for the seeking. Buoyant health follows in the trail of the skii, the showahoe, the skate and the toboggan and the clean, cold invigorating air of the pine-clad north is a tonic calculated to add at least a few years to the life of the aged who cannot play, if they will get out on the porch once or twice a day to draw it into their lungs. It is far less deadly than the fumes of a coal stove.

UNDER DOME AT LANSING From the Farmer's Standpoint

The astounding news that Governor Alex. J. Groesbeck came out favoring a gas tax before the delegates to the State Good Roads Convention at M. A. C. recently has not only thrown the Capitol into an uproar, but has stirred up waves of popular attention and interest which have been felt in all parts of the state. This situation has demonstrated once more that the gas tax question is a very live issue in Michigan today and that the people are keenly aware of the reason why we do not have a state tax in force in Michigan today.

The eleventh hour change of heart appears to be an extremely belated reversal of executive sentiment. After all, there are but few politicians who do not eventually find out which way the wind of overwhelming popular sentiment is blowing and get in to line as gracefully as possible. It occurred only a few hours after the Governor and his Administrative Board had authorized the issuance of three million dollars worth of additional highway bonds, bringing the present total up to $35,000,000.

For Gas Tax-With Reservations
The Governor's advocacy of the gas tax idea could hardly be regarded as whole-hearted and unreserved. He is quoted as saying, "I am for the gasoline tax if we can make it an equitable tax and make it meet the needs of the situation."

It did the soul good to hear the Governor point out the inequalities of the present system of auto license fees. There were no "ifs and ands" about that part of his remarks. He said in part, "The present automobile license law is so full of inequalities that it may not be defended on any score. Whatever plan of road financing we adopt, let it be seen to that the present inequalities and injustices are eliminated."

In another of his statements the Governor said there is no decency in certain automobiles paying at the rate of 70 cents a hundred pounds for their license fee, while heavily loaded trucks pay only 30 cents. The Governor further urged that in whatever measure is passed, heavy freight trucks be made to pay an equitable tax.

Turned Down This Idea Once
It is interesting to recall that this program of a two cent gasoline tax, coupled with a nominal annual license fee, is identical with that which was sponsored by the Michigan State Farm Bureau during the recent legislative session and which was so bitterly opposed by the Governor at that time. At the very time when the Governor vetoed the Warner two cent gas tax bill, declaring that it would raise twice as much revenue as required, the Senate had under consideration the Johnson Bill to reduce the annual motor vehicle license tax to $2.00 and to provide a weight tax on commercial vehicles. If the gas tax, with its companion bill to reduce license fees, is desirable today, it is inconceivable that it could have been so very wrong last spring. Why the change in attitude? Col. Sidney D. Waldon, president of the Detroit Automobile Club, and the man who worked so strenuously against the gas tax when it was before the legislature announces that he does not favor any clever schemes to trade the rural law-makers into giving Wayne county their reapportionment requests in return for a gas tax.

The farmers probably would look at it quite differently. They would no doubt say that they have no desire to swallow the proposed reapportionment hook, even though the gas tax were used as the tempting bait. If the gas tax were included in the call for the special session of the legislature to meet next month, it is evident from past experience that it would go through both Houses with ease. Then probably the understanding would leak out of the executive office that unless a satisfactory reapportionment bill were duly passed, a second gasoline tax veto might be expected.

The present situation is as interesting as it was unexpected. Whether the gas tax is now being adopted as a life preserver or whether it is being thrown out as a bait, is as yet impossible to determine.

Beware Doubtful Seed
Considerable importations of foreign red clover seed, especially from Italy, will be placed on the American market for seeding in the spring of 1924, in the opinion of the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture.

In this connection it is desirable to call attention to some of the results of trials made by the department on foreign clover seed in cooperation with the several states. Results of this work show clearly that as a rule Italian seed is not desirable in the United States.

Tests were made in Minnesota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Iowa, New York, New Hampshire, Tennessee, Virginia and Maryland and everywhere the Italian seed showed more or less winter-killing or disease injury.

At the Department of Agriculture testing farm at Arlington, Va., all foreign lots suffered severely, some plots of which lost 90 per cent or more of the stand. On the same field some plots of United States origin suffered more or less, while others were not affected. In view of these facts it is evident that it would be good business for every Michigan farmer to demand seed that is guaranteed to be northern grown, hardy adapted to our conditions.

Here are the New Remington Game Loads

THE next time you go out hunting, stop at your dealer's and ask him for a box of Remington Game Loads for the particular kind of game you are after.

The name of the game is right on the box.

You'll note that the weight of the powder is not marked on the box.

It isn't shown because Remington Game Loads are not loaded to specified weight.

The box of shells you get is loaded to give a uniform velocity, pattern and penetration.

Remington Arms Company, Inc., New York City

Established 1816

Remington tests showed that powder varies batch by batch—even the same kind and weight. A given weight of the same kind of powder doesn't always give the same results. So in Game Loads Remington adjusts the amount of powder to give exactly the right shooting quality for the specific game. Powder varies—Remington Game Loads do not.

Take just one box of Remington Game Loads out and use them. Notice how they shoot in your gun.

And remember this: If you go back to the store next week or next month—or go to any store in a different town—and get another box of the same kind of Remington Game Load, the shells will perform exactly the same.

THE NEGRO DISPERSION

The negro migration northward was thought, a year or two ago, to be nearing its end. But it has not ended. The latest figures show that nearly 500,000 negroes left 15 southern states in the year ending September 1.

The losses of some states were tremendous. Georgia lost 120,000, Florida and Alabama each 90,000, Mississippi 82,000 and North and South Carolina each 25,000.

About one person out of 11 in this country is classed as a negro. More than 90 per cent of the negroes were born in the South. As late as 1910 five-sixths of them were living in the states where they were born. A few more years like the last would give the North and West several millions, and effectually break up the concentration of our colored population in the southern states.

The dispersion now in process is a remarkable one, unforeseen and bringing many changes. It may result, in another decade or two, in scattering the race pretty thoroughly throughout the country, making such negro problem as remains a national one in every sense.

PICKED RADIO AUDIENCES

Publicity experts have long been telling advertisers that the important thing in making an effective appeal is to "pick your audience." That is precisely what radio broadcasters do not do, but they reach such large numbers of people that an audience of any particular likes or dislikes may pick itself.

If one has purchased tickets to a concert in his own town, and the concert proves a disappointment, he cannot very well demand his money back and try a concert in another city. But if he is attending his concert by radio, and doesn't care for it, he may tune in on something quite different and many miles away.

Just now certain Chicago welfare agencies are broadcasting a statement of their work and problems. It looks pretty much like shooting an arrow into the air without knowing where it is going to hit. Yet among the millions of radio listeners undoubtedly there will be found an audience as interested in the discussion of welfare work as are the other audiences interested in jazz concerts, classical concerts, public lectures, weather and agricultural reports, bedtime stories, and so on. No one can tell beforehand what seeds of interest will be sown or what harvests of intelligent activity will be reaped later.

Perhaps in a different sense, after all, radio broadcasters may be said to pick their audiences. It is one of the new-inspiring features of this modern invention.

MEDICAL CARE FOR INDIANS

An aftermath of the recent American Indian convention in Chicago is the discussion in medical circles of the medical care and sanitary education of the Indians. So far, it seems, too little of such health work has been accomplished. Yet interested doctors have found themselves handicapped by lack of understanding and co-operation among the Indians. The latter are said not to follow the doctors' instructions either from lack of confidence in them or from sheer ignorance. It is naturally discouraging for a doctor to find his work getting nowhere simply because his patients won't do as he says.

Here again education is the prerequisite to real advancement. Until the Indian knows a little more of what the white man is driving at in his medical advice and practices, the white doctor of modern medical science can do little, even for individual patients, and nothing for communities of Indians.

TWO MILLION LAWS

Former Gov. Harding of Iowa, estimates that there are more than 2,000,000 laws and ordinances in effect in the United States. Among them are such as that passed in a Michigan town a few weeks ago prohibiting men and women from looking into each others' eyes when dancing in public, that of a southwestern state prohibiting the use of powder and rouge, that of Oklahoma making it a crime to teach evolution, that of Illinois which declares that the language in use here is not the English but the American language and must be so termed, and others of similar significance.

Mr. Harding believes law making is one of our worst national habits. It is. The most sensible suggestion we have heard from a member of the present Illinois legislature was one offered in just a few months ago, when he said he believed he would sponsor a movement to devote an entire session of the legislature to repealing existing laws instead of passing new ones.

This "land of liberty" probably is the most law-ridden country in the world. Fortunately, the human mind is so limited that it cannot comprehend or retain all the 2,000,000 laws, and some of them lapse into a condition of innocuous desuetude without any attendant scandal. But that is a slipshod way of doing things. We might better and more honestly include in every new enacting clause a provision that the law in question shall automatically cease to be effective after not more than twenty-five years. Then as lapses came about through passage of time we could reenact the good laws and would be rid of the foolish ones.

AT THE MOVIES

Never Too Old to Love.
At thirty-eight does woman's charm and hope for further love romance come to an end? See how this is handled in William de Mille's Paramount picturization of the stage play, "Only 38," which is due for showing at the Palace Theatre next Saturday and Sunday for a two day's run. Lois Wilson, May McAvoy, Elliott Dexter and George Fawcett are featured players. This is a story with intense human appeal, with a climax that is a real novelty.

M. E. Ladies Literary and Sewing Club will hold a rummage sale at Benj. Brown's building Friday and Saturday, November 16th and 17th. Adv. 46t1.

FALL and WINTER Egg-Production is the basis of poultry profits. Feed your flock carefully in the fall if you would profit from them during the cold winter months when eggs are most profitable.

A dry mash such as

Blatchford's "Fill-the-Basket" Egg Mash

is your only hope for winter eggs. Scratch grains alone will not stimulate winter egg-production. Blatchford's Egg Mash is a high-protein, low-fiber, palatable feed. Keep it before them at all times. Only one pound per day per ten hens needed. The most economical mash feed on the market when considered by results. It fills the egg basket. Insist on Blatchford's.

Blatchford's Egg Mash is manufactured by the Blatchford Calf Meal Company of Waukegan, Illinois. They have been in business for over 120 years making quality feeds. They invite you to write them for Handy Egg Record, poultry literature, or personal poultry advice. They want to know you. Write today.

 He had to stand a lot of chaffing,
 When cruel people started laughing.
 Then other things confused him so,
 As doe and dough and roe and row,
 And mail and male and sail and sale,
 And many more that turned him pale.
 Said he, "I left my wife and daughter,
 In other lands across the waughter,
 I wanted much to bring them here,
 But they will have to stay, I fere,
 And I must leave you." With a sigh
 He added, "Else I'll surely die."

 the Stover road recently vacated by Percy Edwards and family, who have gone to Boyne
 City for the winter.

Ed. Boss of Route No. 1, won the potato contest at the Campbell Boot Shop with the largest potato, weighing 3 lbs. and 6 oz.
 About 18 of these potatoes would make a bushel.

Harvey O'Brien is building a rustic gateway and low rustic fence on the north side of the little plot on the channel bank, across the road from the Lumber Company's office. This is to be covered with vines and by next fall will present a very attractive appearance.

Captain O. E. Wilbur and George Weaver of this city left Thursday for Mackinaw City, by automobile, to attend the funeral of Capt. William Robinson, former master of a F. M. Car ferry, who died suddenly of heart trouble in that city recently.

Twenty-five to thirty persons attended the K. C. banquet at St. Francis hall, Petoskey, on Sunday last. About 600 people were present, delegates from the Charlevoix,

Petoskey, Cheboygan, Boyne City, East Jordan
 and Onaway councils. Mrs. Peter McCafferty to Harlan McGhan and has left with her son, Stanley, by auto for Chicago, where they have bought a home. Stanley has a job on the elevated railroad there.

Theodore Erickson has sold his entire interest in the firm of Erickson & Olmstead to Miles Olmstead and William Supernow of this city. This includes the various patents held by Mr. Erickson on garage equipment of his invention. Mr. Erickson's plans for the future are not definite as yet.

Andy Dunsmore, sheriff of Antrim county, who was reported dead in last week's Courier, arrived in town Saturday, very much alive and on his way north to hunt. Maybe, however, we'd better let the notice of his death stand until after he gets through hunting. He might need it then. In the meantime, we apologize.

We hasten to apologize for error made in last week's account of the automobile accident in which Joseph Howard and Albert Smith figured. Mr. Smith, according to the city ordinance, had the right of way over Mr. Howard; he was not travelling at an excessive rate of speed and did not make the statement that his windshield was dirty. It was raining at the time of the accident, however.

IS THERE A MILE POST IN YOUR TOWN?

Every Convenience to a Traveler is Good Advertising

The Zero Milestone, located just behind the White House at Washington on Meridian of Longitude Zero dedicated to the Nation and accepted by President Harding, is the starting point for road measurement east, west, north, south of the Capital of the Nation.

It is forty miles to Baltimore. It is also forty-five miles to Baltimore, depending on the part of Baltimore to which one measures! It may be two hundred and fifty-three or two hundred and sixty-seven miles to New York, according as one measures to the Battery or somewhere up above Harlem!

Every town in America ought to have a milestone, to which road distances from other towns could be measured, and from which distances would be computed. If an error of one mile was made in estimating distance between town and town, across the continent, the motor traveler might easily be several hundred miles out of his calculation!

A town milestone costs little. It can easily be financed to the local civic or commercial club. Its placement and use will foster civic pride, encourage tourist travel, and be an everlasting convenience to all who use it. A little research will compute its exact distance from the Zero Milestone at Washington, still further adding to its interest.

From a commercial standpoint an official milestone would be of service in giving readers of advertisements of real estate, for example, definite information. A farm may be advertised as being six miles distant from Jonesville. With the adoption of an official milestone by Jonesville, the reader would know that the distance is six miles from a fixed point in Jonesville, which would be in the heart of the city.

Pointedly Speaking

Gifford would do a lot more to help along the cause of prohibition, if, instead of telling the federal government how it ought to do things, he would stick to his job of providing an object lesson in Pennsylvania.

When you get back to first principles, you find that Woodrow Wilson was the one person responsible for the rejection of the league of nations by the United States.

Perhaps Grover C. Bergdoll is thinking of coming back to America because the war area is becoming uncomfortably close and he is not certain about his exemption.

The news that a big wind has blown down a lot of banana trees in Panama creates a dire dread lest those two boys may have been unconscious prophets.

It is hard to tell whether Berlin hands out a compliment or a slur to the ex-crown prince when it says he can come home and be quiet.

LEGAL NOTICES

Mortgage Sale

Default having been made in the performance of the terms and conditions of a certain mortgage made by Joseph Berger and Olga Berger, his wife of Chicago, Illinois, to Charles Wallerstein of Chicago, Illinois, dated July 13, A. D. 1915, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Charlevoix County, Michigan on the 22nd day of July, A. D. 1915 in Liber 50 of Mortgages, page 147, on which mortgage there is claimed to be due at the date of this notice for principal and interest the sum of Eighty-nine and eighty-five one-hundredth dollars and an attorney fee of Twenty-five dollars provided for in said mortgage and no suit or proceedings at law having been instituted to recover the moneys secured by said mortgage, or any part thereof:

Notice is hereby given, that by virtue of the power of sale contained in said mortgage and the statute in such case made and provided, the undersigned, on the 19th day of January, A. D. 1924 at ten o'clock in the forenoon, at the East front door of the Court House in the City of Charlevoix, Michigan, that being the place where the Circuit Court for the County of Charlevoix is held, will sell at public auction to the highest bidder, the premises described in said mortgage, or so much thereof as shall be necessary to pay the amount due on said mortgage as aforesaid with interest at six per cent and all legal costs and said attorney fee. REGULARITY

Some folks have an idea that unless they can put away large sums of money at a time, saving is not worth while.

It is regularity of saving that counts.

The amount you deposit each pay is secondary to depositing something.

After you have forced yourself to save regularly for a few months, the idea will become a habit. Habits are easy—even in saving.

This bank located on the convenient corner will help you to save.

126,000 Miles of Cloth for Cement Sacks

To keep cement moving from the mills to the many building jobs always under way, cement manufacturers require an astonishing quantity of sacks.

This year the industry has considerably more than 225,000,000 sacks. These represent enough cotton cloth to make a skirt for every woman and girl in the United States—126,000 miles of 30-inch fabric. Even a moderate sized mill which ships say 1,000,000 barrels a year must have 2,000,000 or so sacks.

When a customer returns a sack he gets credit for it, if it is usable or repairable. The convenient returnable sack means that each plant has to have large departments where men and women sew, sort, clean and count sacks continuously. This work alone costs the industry nearly $1,250,000 a year.

And cement manufacturers keep increasing their sack inventories so that they can ship promptly. Last year they purchased a total of more than 100,000,000 new cotton sacks. For replacements alone over 50,000,000 were needed; for increased supplies over 30,000,000. In addition over 18,000,000 paper bags were used representing 7,000,000 pounds of paper.

This problem of containers causes a large and steadily growing investment by the portland cement industry.

NO. ANTRIM COW ASS'N. REPORTS

FIGURES SHOW DECIDED DECREASE THIS MONTH

Three Main Reasons Are Given For the Drop-Off, Which Is a Considerable One

The records for the month of October showed a decided decrease from the preceding month in many respects. This was due to several reasons, which I believe would be well to mention.

First many herds are turned out to pasture, the entire day on cold stormy days that are common for this season of the year. What happens; the food nutrients are lacking to begin with in the tough woody and frozen out remains of the once fresh green succulent pasturage and as a result the cows cannot possibly receive sufficient food nutrients to maintain milk production. Then the temperature of the cow's body must be very nearly the same winter and summer and if it is cold the cow must manufacture heat from her food to restore the body temperature. This is wasteful and expensive as the cow is a milk machine, not a furnace. Then again, being exposed to severe weather conditions tends to lower the condition and vitality of the animal—their hair tries to stand on end, they do not eat, but stand with back humped up and shiver a great share of the time. A good safe rule to follow is to keep your cows inside when you yourself are not comfortable without an overcoat on.

Second—Owing to the rush season of the year on farms the cow is neglected. She is not fed regularly, milked regularly, and cared for properly. She immediately proceeds to decrease in milk flow, in flesh, and in general condition and once down she very seldom ever comes back to her maximum milk production no matter how good the care. And if the cow does it will cost twice as much to get her there than it would have if she was fed properly all the time. Remember the cow is bringing in money for the entire year, does it pay to neglect her even in the busiest season and allow her to cease being a money-maker for the rest of the year?

Third—Then again the majority of cows, freshen in the spring and when cared for as has been mentioned above, they are nearly dry at this, or are dry and have to be fed all winter without being recompensed by a cream check. It is expensive to have a dry cow 3 or 4 months in the winter, when a man's time is devoted to chores and should be to the proper care of his stock. What better month to have cows fresh than in November?

The East Jordan Lumber Co. farm has the greatest number of cows on test, 26 head and H. Reiley's are next with 20, Henry Black and Garret VanderArk have purchased a pure bred Jersey yearling from the herd of Ernest Loeb, which will produce an improvement.

D. H. Brat has five new cows on test, purchased from the sale of John Brown, all Holsteins and one being a purebred. Peter Wieland bought a purebred Holstein heifer at the same time (daughter of the above cow). Henry Black purchased a purebred Jersey heifer from Meggison's herd near Charlevoix.

Peter Wieland has also a registered Holstein from Loeb's Farms, F. H. Hemstree's have a herd of nearly 20 cows and yearlings all registered Holsteins. Purchases like these make the farmers smile when the cream checks come home.

During the month of October 329 cows were on test of which 37 were dry. Twenty-eight members fed grain during the month, an increase of 11 over the month of September, 11 members are weighing milk every day.

There were 7 cows that have made over $30.00 for the first three months. Ernest Loeb has a purebred Jersey making $48.11 in this time, next comes Leonard Bush with a Holstein making $35.37 and George Drenth has a Holstein with $33.66.

Only two cows have produced over 129 lbs. in three months. Ernest Loeb is high with the same purebred Jersey producing 177.3 lbs. of fat and George Drenth is next with a Holstein making 120.3 lbs. of fat.

Ernest Loeb has the highest herd for the first three months each making a net profit of $7.76 per windows set close together, with glass doors opening onto a broad upper porch or balcony give the effect of a conservatory or sun parlor. The position of the building is such that it receives practically none of the hot afternoon sun-rays of the summer months, insuring a delightful coolness in the hottest weather, while at the same time it will be flooded with light. The ceiling of this main diningroom is eleven feet six inches above the floor. Paneling will be used for the walls and between the windows. The floor is of hardwood. At the north or channel end of the room will be located the stage where musical and other programs will be carried on during meal hours. A huge fireplace will be built into the west wall of the room which separates the latter from the long kitchen which flanks the diningroom on this side from the main stairway to the south end of the building.

Natural stone shingles of large size, unusual pattern and striking beauty will be used in the construction of the roof, which will be surmounted by a rectangular, canvas-covered deck. A big flag pole will be set in the center of this deck and smaller ones at its four corners, flying Old Glory and smaller decorative flags. At night the roof will be electrically lighted so as to display the flags.

Great care has been taken to make the building, which stands in a peculiarly exposed position strong enough to possess a wide margin of safety in the highest of gales, iron angles and extra bracing being used in the framework. Among the features of special note are the housing of all telephone and lighting wires in conduits and the bathhouse which will be located at the northwest corner of the building, affording easy access to the water's edge through the grounds of the coast guard station through which a right of way is assured to patrons of the cafe-club.

The heating plant goes in this week and every effort will be made to complete the interior decorations by May 1st next. The Charlevoix Abstract & Engineering Company has the contract for the masonry, drives, curbs and sidewalks while the lumber comes from the Charlevoix Lumber Company. Local labor is being employed on the job throughout. Frank Glassford has the contract for the building.

States' crop is now estimated at 416,722,000 bushels, or about 34,000,000 bushels less than the 1922 production. Reports from competing states received by telegraph are as follows: Maine, 33,480,000; New York, 39,406,000; Wisconsin, 26,112,000; Minnesota, 38,304,000; North Dakota, 12,284,000; Colorado, 13,440,000; Montana, 4,070,000; Idaho, 11,725,000; and California, 7,950,000 bushels.

Michigan also has an enviable record in the production of apples ranking third among the states this year. The crop averaged 77 per cent of a full one and the commercial production amounted to 2,118,000 barrels as against 1,699,000 barrels in 1922. The size of the fruit was below normal in the heavy-laden orchards, but very little scabs or other disease was prevalent. The Nation's crop is placed at 33,522,000 barrels as compared with 31,090,000 barrels in 1922. Washington leads with 9,075,000 barrels and New York is second in rank with 4,512,000 barrels. Other important apple states report as follows: Pennsylvania, 1,266,000; Virginia, 1,797,000; Colorado, 803,000; Idaho, 1,318,000; Oregon, 1,680,000; and California, 1,602,000 barrels.

A later inquiry on beans raises the average yield from 11.0 to 11.5 bushels per acre. This increases the Michigan production to 6,532,000 bushels, and probably a larger quantity of white beans than ever produced in any state in a single season, and more than grown in all other states combined this year. The average pick is eight per cent which leaves about 6,000,000 bushels of merchantable beans. The average price per bushel paid to growers on October 15, in the leading states is as follows: New York, $3.90; Michigan, $3.20; Wisconsin, $4.00; Colorado, $4.20; California, $4.15; Idaho, $3.65; New Mexico, $4.60; and for the United States, $3.73.

Another important crop in Michigan is clover seed in which the state usually ranks about fifth. This year the crop is estimated at 147,000 bushels as compared with 240,000 bushels in 1922. The early crop was light but the second cuttings filled well and produced the major portion of the seed this year.

Michigan also continues to maintain its reputation as a sugar beet state, ranking third in that product. The crop is estimated at 952,000 tons as compared with 593,000 tons last year. It is outranked by Colorado with 1,883,000 tons to its credit and by Utah with 978,000 tons. Other leading states reported as follows: California, 553,000; Idaho, 380,000; Nebraska, 571,000; Wisconsin, 138,000; Ohio, 387,000 tons. These figures will be revised later when the reports of beet sugar companies become available.

The final report on grapes shows a production of 72 per cent of a full crop. The quality is rated at 89 per cent as compared with a ten-year average of 87. The pear crop yielded better than expected and reached 60 per cent of a full crop. Michigan ranks third in the number of bearing grape vines and of bearing pear trees.

PROMINENT ATTORNEY DIES SUDDENLY

Clark E. Densmore Of Bellaire Has Heart Stroke

Clark E. Densmore, prosecuting attorney of Antrim county and member of the bar for some forty years, died very suddenly at his home in Bellaire, Sunday, November 4th last.

Though Mr. Densmore had not been in good health, he was able to attend to his business affairs and his condition had not been considered serious. At the time of his death he was sitting in a chair, reading a paper, his daughter Josephine being the only person in the room. She, noticing that her father was acting strangely, called for her mother who was upstairs but before Mrs. Densmore could reach him he had passed away. He was nearly sixty-four years of age.

Mr. Densmore was a pioneer resident of Antrim county, especially interested in agriculture and a Mason, prominent in Masonic matters not only in his own action but throughout the state. He is survived by the widow, one son, Ford Densmore, who is a city engineer of Flint, and five daughters.

The funeral was held Wednesday,

November 7th, from the home in Bellaire and under the auspices of the Masonic lodge. Members of the Masonic order were present from Charlevoix and other surrounding counties.

LECTURE COURSE TICKETS REDUCED

Price Cut To $2.00 With Refund Promised

At a recent meeting of the Board of Education the matter of this year's lecture Course was brought up and discussed again. The price of the tickets had been tentatively set at $2.50 for the entire Course and it was pointed out that since the Course is a non-profit proposition it is highly desirable to make the price low enough so that all may take advantage of the splendid attractions this year's lecture course, offers and for this reason the price has been reduced to $2 and those who have been solicited and who bought tickets for $2.50 will have the extra 50c returned to them as the names of those purchasing at $2.50 come to hand.

Burns of the Mountains, will be the first to appear, coming November 22nd, at the Palace Theatre. Remember the date. Come and hear this forceful and inspiring speaker.

RUNNING TIME TO FLORIDA REDUCED

Pennsylvania Road Announces For "The Southland"

Anticipating that the Tourist Travel to Florida this winter will exceed any previous season the Pennsylvania Railroad System announces a material reduction in the running time of "The Southland," its Chicago-Florida train. "The Southland" is popularly known as the daylight train through the scenic Blue Ridge and Cumberland mountains.

The sleeping cars now operating on this train between Chicago Indianapolis and Jacksonville will operate to Miami, beginning December 1st, a greatly added convenience for tourists traveling to the Florida east coast resorts. New through sleeping car lines have been established between Grand Rapids, Mich., Columbus, Ohio, and St. Petersburg, Fla. Florida hotels are preparing to accommodate a record breaking number of tourists during the forthcoming season.

Tuesday, November 20, is the last time that J. Leahy the Optometrist will visit Charlevoix this year. Adv. 46tl.

STOP-STREET IDEA GROWS IN MICHIGAN

Many Villages And Small Towns Are Using It Now

"Stop-streets" are multiplying in Michigan cities and villages. Not only in Detroit, but also in many smaller cities there are thoroughfares which vehicles can cross or enter only after they have first been brought to a complete stop.

Detroit's stop-street plan went into effect in midsummer. The city ordinance was made easy of observance by the Detroit Automobile Club's action in posting thousands of signs at the intersection where stops were designated.

Visiting motorists were quick to see the noteworthy concession to safety implied by an ordinance which so clearly defined right of way and avoided traffic jams. Progressive men carried the message home to other cities in the state. More stop-street ordinances resulted.

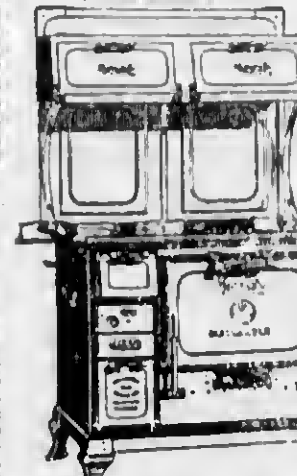

From the cities, the stop-street movement has spread to the villages, with the result that tourists now find at many a trunk line intersection the familiar legend of "Stop." In several villages, noted for the amount of thorough travel, a noteworthy reduction of collisions has already been attained by this means. Pedestrian travel has also been greatly safeguarded at such crossings.

William B. Bachman, of the Detroit Automobile Club, says: "I believe that we can logically foresee a time when every state trunk line will be made a stop-street for its entire length, not only within the cities and villages but in the country as well. With such a rule prevailing, travel will be safer for everyone, reasonable speeds can be increased, allowing more vehicles to use the important highways."

BOYNE TAKES RECENT DEFEAT WITH POOR GRACE

Article In Citizen Is Hardly Designed To Promote Friendly Rivalry

What's the matter Boyne City? Peeved because his team didn't win the football game with Charlevoix on November 10th. Naughty, naughty—shouldn't act that way. Get mamma to read you page one of the sportsman's primer, where it says, "A good sport is a game loser." Leave the sob-stuff alone. Boyne, old kid—it won't get you anywhere. "Vastly inferior team" eh? Well, we won't indulge in any mud-heaving stunts. We'll leave that to you. Just cast your eye over the following, though. This is what is called in newspaperdom and by other statistics hounds "the deadly parallel." Just how "deadly" it is we will let our readers decide. Just a few comparative scores; the winner's name leading in each case:

Charlevoix-Harbor Springs 6-0.
Boyne City-Harbor Springs, 7-2.
Charlevoix-East Jordan, 13-0.
Boyne City-East Jordan, 13-7.
Petoskey-Charlevoix, 18-6.
Petoskey-Boyne City, 40-7.
Traverse City-Charlevoix, 56-0.
(at Traverse)
Trav. City-Boyne City, 51-0.
(at Boyne City)

Look 'em over carefully, boys. See any "vast inferiority" here?

So Charlevoix has yearned for a victory these "many moons", eh? Turn back to the archives of 1908, friends and note that Charlevoix won two games with Boyne, one by a score of 22 to 5 and the other 17 to 6. Also, it runs in our mind that Charlevoix kept the bacon right here at home in 1909, although we don't remember the score.

Now, a week ago last Saturday, the Charlevoix players said some nice things about the Boyne team when they got back after the game. They said Boyne was game and she was clean. We're inclined to think that this is the case and that the sobbing was wholly confined to the "Citizen" and the citizens. If this is a fact, our heartfelt sympathy goes out to the Boyne team. They deserve better backing. We cannot believe that a real, honest-to-goodness football player would ever put his O. K. on that column that appeared in the Boyne Citizen for Monday, November 12, 1923, under the caption, "Boyne Loses Final Game."

If we really wanted to get down to personalities, we might mention a few things like Mangloss's backward throw with his eyes shut, several forward passes made by Boyne from her own 10 or 20 yard line in direct contravention to the rules which say "kick", and the pass on her own 30 yard line with only five or six yards to go—lost down. But these things are swallowed up in the general good work performed by the team as a whole.

We would, however, like to make one suggestion, and that is this: that the Boyne team get hold of the fellow who reported the game for the "Citizen" and treat him like they used to treat a player who appeared on the field in the days of white canvas pants and shin guards in a nice, shiny new suit. The clean dirt he would accumulate from the gridiron in this manner might possibly contain a few germs of true sportsmanship.

SHORTAGE OF SEED CORN IS PREDICTED

Tests Show State Crop Usually High In Moisture

Indications are that good seed corn will be scarce in Michigan next spring, according to Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the farm crops department at the Michigan Agricultural College. Seasonal conditions that have prevailed this fall are held responsible for the condition, brought about by high moisture content in the state crop.

"Ear corn throughout Michigan carries an unusually high percentage of moisture at the time it is harvested from the field this year," says Professor Cox in discussing the situation. "Samples tested run from 20 to 28 per cent of water. When placing corn in cribs, great care should be taken to provide proper ventilation. If cribs are large, specially ventilated fues should be provided, or the crib should be divided to leave an air space through the center—one or two feet wide.

"Special care should be taken to select and dry seed corn thoroughly, in view of the general situation. Farmers having high yielding fields of good varieties may find it profitable to save and handle for seed more than the usual amounts of seed stocks."

C. H. S. LOSES CHEBOYGAN GAME

SATURDAY'S SCRIMMAGE IS LAST OF SEASON

This Was a Hard Fought Struggle
Marked By Remarkable Fine
Playing

Here's the story of Saturday's final football game of the season, hot off the pen of "Jo Blo", anappy chronicler of the Chanticleer:

"Under the catapult line smashes of the speedy Myers and the open field running of McClintic, the clever Cheboygan quarter, Charlevoix went down to defeat in the last game in which this year's line-up will be together. The Cheboygan outfit had reached the peak of its strength, and was playing a brand of football seldom seen in high school circles. The Charlevoix griders had all of the old fight but somehow were unable to keep the ball, repeated fumbles losing them much valuable ground, and contributing a demoralizing element that boded no good. Cunningham of Charlevoix and McClintic of Cheboygan were the individual stars of the game. As an all-around offensive and defensive man McClintic is far above the much touted Parrish of Petoskey. This is by no means a discredit to the Petoskey lad. The work of Cunningham, local left end, was as near perfect as could be wished. His passing was exceptional, and his ability as an open field runner was revealed when he dashed for a ten yard gain after his attempt at a pass was frustrated. Cunningham will be a valuable man to the gridiron mentor next fall. Speedy, shifty on his feet, and brainy, this young comer will be a factor in placing C. H. S. on the football map next year, slim though the chances may seem at the present time.

Cheboygan scored her only touchdown in the first few minutes of play, sweeping the Red and White off its feet before it was aware what had happened. But from then 'till the final whistle the visitors were held, and not until the sensational end run of McClintic, which netted forty-five yards, did they come within scoring distance. A pretty drop-kick from the twenty yard line gave Cheboygan three more points. The game ended a minute later.

The fine work of Captain Todd, Jones and Cooper should be given special mention.

Mr. Altenburg is getting his basketball material from the old trunk in the H. S. basement, and practice will begin within a week. Hopes are high for a whiz of a team, as the same squad is back that did such fine work last winter.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

By the Governor

"For the Lord is good; His mercy everlasting; and His truth endureth to all generations." Let us "enter into his gates with Thanksgiving, and into his courts with praise; be thankful unto Him, and bless His name."

Pursuant to a custom which has endured through many generations and by direction of the President we have again been called upon to set aside one day of this glad and prosperous year for Thanksgiving. There is no day in all the year so wholly American as Thanksgiving day and there is no day in the year when greater opportunity is offered for reviving our patriotism and making manifest our love of country.

America, in this year about to end, has much for which to be thankful. In our sorrow over the loss of a great and good leader, the Almighty lifted up another great and good President to guide us. The sudden death of a great chieftain might be expected to cause disorder and political dissatisfaction. Our advance onward and upward under the direction of our new President has been without interruption or turmoil, proving once again that this is a nation guided by Providence. A sister nation suffered from a frightful calamity, through our bounteous prosperity we were able to relieve suffering and quell despair.

"For the Lord is good; His mercy everlasting"—so we have endeavored to display to the world that His ideal is our ideal and that we have mercy unbounded. Our destiny is service to humanity. Let us not be swerved from our purpose.

Our continued social peace and tranquility and our amazing prosperity, educational, agricultural and business development are due to the mercies of the Lord because we have always been thankful unto Him.

But because our crops have been good and our industrial conditions satisfactory, let us not forget the necessity of careful living, let us not spend our bounty in extravagance, let us never be wasteful of that which has been provided. Let us conserve so that no matter what the emergency, we will always be able to provide freely for those not so fortunate as ourselves.

In pursuance to our time honored custom and in accordance with the proclamation issued by the President of the United States and by virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor of Michigan, I hereby designate Thursday, November 29, 1923, as a day of Thanksgiving and Prayer.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this twelfth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and twenty-three, and of the Commonwealth the eighty-seventh.

By the Governor: ALEX. J. GROESBECK,
CHARLES J. DeLAND,
Secretary of State.

FORDS SMASH NEAR MARTIN'S CROSSING

Cars Were Badly Damaged But No
One Was Hurt

A week ago last Sunday night an accident occurred at John Martin's crossing on the Petoskey road which resulted in severe damage to two Ford touring cars, their occupants miraculously escaping without injury.

The two cars came together at nine o'clock in the evening. One of them, driven by Dan McSaub, local mail clerk, was proceeding west, Dan being on his way home from Bayshore where he had been visiting friends. The other, a car owned by A. J. Winnick, of R. F. D. No. 3 and driven by young Vosburgh, accompanied by two other fellows and three girls, was travelling towards Petoskey, on their way to take one of the girls to her home in that city.

Dan almost stopped his car on the east side of the crossing, running very slow with his front lights turned off and his spot light on and directed to the side of the road. Vosburgh came on, crossed the tracks and, miscalculating the amount of room he had to pass the other car, swerved to the left to avoid going into the ditch on his right, which he thought he was closer to than he really was. But he turned too far and the two cars came together with a crash.

Dan's front axle was broken as well as a couple of leaves in the front spring. The other car had a broken left front wheel and a badly crushed front end. Dan was able to get home under his own power but Vosburgh had to leave his car to be towed in later. The matter was amicably settled, each party agreeing to pay his own damages.

Slight Damage

Fire broke out in the two-story frame dwelling at 204 Mason Street, occupied by Mrs. Isaneau and family and others who have rooms there, at 2:40 o'clock, Tuesday afternoon. The fire department responded promptly and discovered the roof burning near a chimney, probably ignited by a spark. The chemical engine was brought into use and the blaze was soon out, little damage being done. A hole about four feet square was burned in the shingles.

DIED IN THE SOUTH AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Mrs. Fred Denny Was Mother of Mrs.
Roy Bowdish

Mrs. Fred Denny of New Orleans, La., died last Wednesday at 4:40 a. m. at her home in that city from the effects of a stroke of apoplexy. She was stricken with this fatal attack some four weeks ago and never regained consciousness. The funeral was held last Thursday at 3:00 p. m. in New Orleans.

Mrs. Denny was 61 years of age. She was the mother of Mrs. Roy Bowdish, formerly of this city, who, with her husband, was with Mrs. Denny at the time of the latter's death and during her illness. She was a loving wife and a faithful mother and will be sadly missed by her children and friends. She was never a resident of Charlevoix but has visited here several times.

ENTERTAINED IN HUSBAND'S HONOR

Mrs. Earl Preston Holds Bridge Party on Birthday

Mrs. Earl Preston, who was formerly Miss Lillian Emrey of this city, entertained with six tables of bridge last Wednesday evening at her farm home east of Petoskey, it being the occasion of Mr. Preston's birthday anniversary.

Yellow chrysanthemums were used for floral decoration and tally cards carried out the same idea. Following a luncheon late in the evening, dancing was enjoyed.

Those who attended from Charlevoix were: Hon. and Mrs. Roy L. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emrey, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton C. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Harley A. Ochs and Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller.

Mrs. Lewis and Mr. Cooper won the favors at bridge for high score and Mr. Ochs and Mrs. Charles Galtier of Petoskey for the low score.

SNEATHEN WILL COM- PETE AT G. R. SHOW

He And Gaylord Lad Sweepstake
Winners of Potato Laurels

Sweepstake winners at the International Potato show at Duluth, Minnesota, and at the Top o' Michigan Potato show at Gaylord will compete against each other as well as all tuber exhibitors at the Michigan Apple and Potato show in the Klingman building, November 20 to 22.

Lee Sneathen, of Horton Bay, winner of the sweepstake ribbon this year and two years ago at Duluth, has entered a sample of his tubers in the local show. He declares the potatoes are of better type and quality than those exhibited at Duluth.

Edward Domke, the 17-year-old Ojibwa boy, who won the sweepstake ribbon last week at Gaylord, will send a sample of his potatoes to the show. Ivan Saur, of Onaway, Presque Isle county agent, will bring the tubers with him when he comes to the show.

These two entries virtually make the local show a roundup exposition of four states and Canada. Sneathen's exhibit won over entries from Minnesota, Wisconsin, North Dakota and Michigan, as well as Canada, while Domke came out victor over the expert tuber growers in northeastern Michigan.

PLANNING NIGHT SCHOOL CLASSES

MAY BE MODELED ON THAT OF EAST JORDAN

Would Be a Fine Thing For Filling
In The Long Winter Evenings
With Profit

East Jordan's new night school, which opened on Monday evening, November 12th, has stimulated the discussion and consideration of a similar project for Charlevoix.

Superintendent Hamilton has been approached on the subject and has promised to lay the proposition before the board of education at an early date, provided a sufficient number of prospective students signify their intention to take the work.

From previous experience, it has been found that the work of a night school produces better results when the individuals taking this instruction are required to pay a nominal sum for their tuition. For one thing, the attendance is likely to be more regular, and on the other hand it is hardly fair to ask a busy teacher to add the burden of night classes to his or her already somewhat onerous duties without compensation in some degree.

A night school in a community such as Charlevoix offers splendid opportunities for the right sort of people. The long winter evenings may be turned to valuable account by means of organized and properly supervised study and recitation. Not alone is it a help to the young man or woman who wish to perfect themselves in some line of practical commercial work, but older persons whose early years of schooling were cut short by the necessities of supporting themselves or dependent relatives find in the night school an opportunity to redeem their lost time and advantages. Then again, there are many people of foreign birth who can, through the medium of a night school, supplement their faulty knowledge of the English tongue and obtain a working knowledge of American business methods.

The East Jordan night school is offering the following courses: Bookkeeping, Typewriting, Short-hand, Penmanship, Spelling, Correspondence, English. They are planning, provided the demand is great enough, to add to the above courses. Their plan contemplates two class periods of 45 minutes each, making an hour and a half every Monday and Wednesday evening. As they have it figured, no one can take all of these courses at once, but it will be possible to get in English and Bookkeeping and perhaps Typewriting or Correspondence, etc. That is, the course is arranged so that one of these classes would not recite every night. In that way, three courses could be taken. The East Jordan school board figures that the cost of this night school to the pupil will largely depend upon the number of people offering themselves to take the course. It will not, however, it is thought, exceed $10 or $12 for the entire course.

What the hours, plan of study, courses and expense of the Charlevoix school will be, if the board acts favorably upon the superintendent's suggestion, is of course, up to the board and will be announced later. If any of our readers desire to enroll as pupils, they should communicate their intention to the superintendent, Charles F. Hamilton, so that he as well as the school board will have an idea of how many to prepare for. At least ten people in this city have already agreed to attend.

POULTRY

FEED AND CARE FOR PULLETS

Most Common Mistake to Give Fowls Free Range and Compel Them to Hustle for Living.

When should an April pullet begin laying? Generally the statement is made that Leghorn pullets should begin when five to five and one-half months old; Rhode Island Reds and Wyandotte pullets take a month longer and Plymouth Rocks still another month.

An investigation made by Purdue university developed the fact that many flocks are not doing as well as they could if the young pullets were properly fed and cared for. They are often crowded in the coops at night for the little brood coop that is big enough in the spring is crowded by late fall and the chicks sweat.

The most common mistake is poor feeding. The pullets are allowed free range over the farm and compelled to gather most of their living. They may grow, but it is a slow growth. To hurry this growth, plenty of mash should be kept before them at all times. A very simple mash for the older pullets can be made by taking 50 pounds bran, 50 pounds shorts, and 30 pounds of high-grade tankage. This should be placed dry in a self-feeder, or trough, and the pullets induced to eat all they will of it. Some grain should be fed in addition, that the pullets may be in good flesh when ready to start laying.

SERVICEABLE BREEDING RACK

Useful Device When Bull Becomes Heavy Is Not Difficult to Build —Must Be Braced.

A bull that is a good individual and that has excellent breeding back of him should be kept in service at least until his daughters come to milk. If he transmits his breeding to his daughters he should be kept in service until he is no longer useful. To follow this plan it is necessary to exchange bulls with other breeders and in most cases it will be necessary to use a breeding rack after the bull becomes too heavy. It is too often the case that the breeding value of a good bull is not discovered until he is dead.

A very serviceable breeding rack can be made as follows: Take two planks 2 by 12 by 9 feet long and place them on a level foundation for the floor of the breeding rack. These planks should be placed one and one-half feet apart in the front part of the rack and two feet in the rear, inside measurements. Each side of the breeding rack has three posts made of the same material as the floor which are four feet high in front and one and one-half feet in the rear. The posts are nailed to the floor and a plank 2 by 12 by 9 feet long is nailed on the top of the posts. Two-inch strips are nailed across the top of the breeding rack at intervals of ten inches to prevent the bull from slipping.

The breeding rack must be well braced with 2 by 4's as indicated in the diagram. Four pieces 1 by 6 are nailed across the front end to prevent it from spreading. A 2 by 4 is nailed across the floor plank just back of the middle posts. A stanchion is placed in the front end of the breeding rack which is so constructed that it can be moved backward or forward.—The Prairie Farmer.

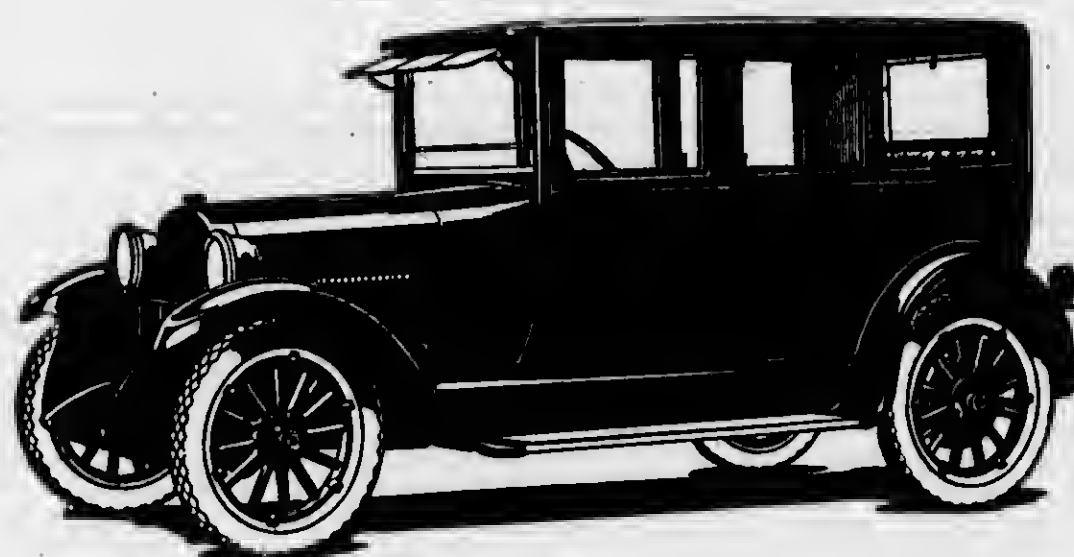

DODGE BROTHERS BUSINESS SEDAN

Recent improvements in the appearance and equipment of this Sedan adapt it, more perfectly than ever, to family as well as business use.

The body is swung lower to the road. A transmission lock, knob-grip steering wheel, a combination stop signal and tail lamp, and other details have been added. Important chassis improvements have been made.

Most important of all, perhaps, new spring equipment throughout has resulted in a degree of riding comfort which can only be characterized as revolutionary.

Chances of Longevity.

Dr. Eugene Lyman Fisk, diagnostician and author, says, "The 'average' person does not stand the best chance of living long. The man or woman who weighs 20 or 30 per cent below the average has the best chance for long life. It is safe to say the average individual reaches the ideal build at thirty. If he can keep near that build for the rest of his life, he increases his chances of longevity."

Remedy for Curl in Rugs.

The curling up of the edges of rugs is caused by the way in which they are woven. A remedy for this is to take two strips of very thin wool, each about three inches long, and sew on the underneath part of the rug at the corners. Let these remain for about a month, when the rugs will have conformed to the floor. Or rubber corner clips may be purchased in a furniture store.

Joy of the Work.

On the lower levels there is no adaptation; our selfish desires are at odds with nature, we are out for a good time and get no response; . . . but the keynote of the higher level is joy—the joy of the laborer who has found his work, of the lover who has seen his object, of the hero who has received his commission.—L. P. Jacks.

Meaning Clear.

Richard had been ill, and although better now, was still in bed and required constant nursing. Enameling Long Practiced.

The art of enameling is a very ancient one, some claiming it originated with the Sycilians, who are said to have introduced it into China. Extant evidence exists that the ancient Egyptians, Phoenicians and Assyrians used enamel coating in the decoration of jewelry.

WHAT IS OLDEST KNOWN ROAD MATERIAL

Asphalt Has Strong Claims as First Binder For Stone

Doubtless the oldest material for a road was wood, in the form of branches laid across muddy stretches of paths, much as the familiar "corduroy" road is still made to-day in backwoods districts.

But the oldest hard road material is stone or brick, and among the claimants for hoary age in considering the first forms of built highways, is asphalt. Some commentators of the Bible claim that the word "slime" in the quotation "slime had they for mortar" to build the Tower of Babel should be translated as "bitumen," which is asphalt.

However that may be, there is no doubt about the translation of an inscription found on a paving block in Babylon. It reads:

"Nebuchadnezzar, King of Babylon, who made Esagla and Ezida glorious, son of Nabopolassar, King of Babylon. The streets of Babylon, the procession street of Nabu and Marduk, my lords, which Nabopolassar, King of Babylon, the father who begot me, has made a road glistening with asphalt and burnt brick; I, the wise suppliant who fears their lordships, placed above the bitumen and burnt brick, a mighty superstructure of shining dust, made them strong within with bitumen and burnt bricks as a highly-sung road: Nabu and Marduk, when you traverse these streets in joy, may benefits for me rest upon your lips; life for distant days, and well-being for the body. Before you I will advance upon them. May I attain eternal age!"

Those who traverse smooth asphalt streets in cities are thus linked with an era of at least 500 years B. C. in the roads they use, although from ancient times until about 1855, asphalt, then to be obtained only from nature (it is now a product of petroleum manufacturing processes) was neglected as a road material.

W. C. T. U. NOTES

The county convention of the W. C. T. U. was held at Boyne City last Friday afternoon and evening in the M. E. church. Eleven delegates from the Charlevoix Union attended.

Mrs. T. J. Smith, county president presided.

Mrs. J. R. Furman of Boyne City led the devotionals.

Rev. George White of the Presbyterian church welcomed the convention to the city.

Roll call was responded to by all present with "Why I am a member."

Mrs. James White of Boyne City gave a very interesting paper on "Temperance and Peace." An encouraging note in this paper was that "Home Brew is growing less on account of the poison and filth in its contents. The Law and the Railroads

Railroad recovery in Michigan—the "Better Service" you hear about and enjoy—is being provided you despite the severe handicaps imposed by a multitude of special laws.

Such laws have established certain governmental bodies entirely separate and without co-ordination. These bodies fix our rates for carrying freight and passengers—pass judgment on all of our security issues and other financing—specify the working hours of our employees and the wages we must pay them—limit our profits, when there ARE profits, to a small and definite maximum—have full jurisdiction over our tax assessments—restrict rigidly our methods of competition—hedge about, with a multitude of restrictions, every department of our operations.

Michigan's 24 steam railroads honestly try to obey every one of these laws. We do not even ask for a lightening of this load. But we do maintain that this present burden should NOT be INCREASED.

We are furnishing you today the best transportation you have ever had. With conditions unchanged, we can see our way clear to still further improving our service.

Give us a square deal—an honest chance.

And let this Association know you consider this a reasonable request.

Mrs. Root of Boyne City gave the memorial service. Four members during the last year have departed this life; two from Boyne City Union and Mrs. Carr and Mrs. B. P. Wilkinson of Charlevoix.

Reports from the Unions in the county were very encouraging showing the W. C. T. U. members are awake to the conditions in our midst, and will unite in an effort to help inject into our county and state, constructive and cleansing influence which can never be undone, but will finally overcome for righteousness.

The Boyne City ladies served a fine six o'clock dinner, after which the evening session was led in devotionals by the president Mrs. T. J. Smith, Mrs. George White presiding at the piano to assist with the music.

Mrs. Elizabeth Niles of Mancelona, the district president gave a fine address on "Citizenship." A paper by Mrs. Brayton Saltonstall, "Our Local Courts," was read by Miss Anna Metcalf.

Mrs. Lelah Simmons gave the report of the state meeting which was held at Adrian.

Mrs. E. E. Cross gave a paper on "America is Dry" but politics are wet."

Rev. E. Miller of the Boyne City M. E. church gave a fine address on "Child Welfare."

The entire program was interspersed with readings and music which were thoroughly enjoyed.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows:

President, Mrs. Jennie Aleox, Charlevoix; Vice President, Mrs. Alice Joint, East Jordan; Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. Root, Boyne City; Recording Secretary, Mrs. E. E. Cross, Charlevoix; Treasurer, Mrs. T. J. Smith, Boyne City.

The next county convention will be held next May.

FAST CLIMBING

To many persons nothing yet achieved by the airplane gives so vivid a sense of power and freedom as the feat of Lieut. Williams of the U. S. Navy, who, on November 8, climbed 5,000 feet high in one minute. The best previous climbing record had been 2,000 vertical feet in one minute.

Imagine an elevator going up at the rate of 60 miles an hour! And the elevator, if it were able to attain that dizzy speed, would be held stiffly within bounds and rise only in a straight line. The airplane, while rising, is still as free as a bird, though incomparably more powerful and swift than any bird.

A strong mountain climber, with good legs, lungs and heart, taking advantage of a good trail, may walk up a mountain 5,000 feet high in an hour. An automobile, over a good road, may do it in half an hour. That is mere crawling.

It would take less than a minute for Lieut. Williams, at that rate, to fly from the base to the summit of Mount Marcy, the highest peak in the Adirondacks. In a minute and a half he could fly from Manitowish to the top of Pike's Peak. That is flying! That is "mastering the air."

WHY IS GRASS GREEN?

The General Motors Research Corporation is now trying to find the answer to the question, "Why is grass green?"

"It sounds like a foolish problem for a group of automobile research engineers to be tackling," says the president, "but it is the one about which we are most concerned. If we can discover why grass is green, we will find out what makes the grass grow. You know grass is trapped sunshine."

"People talk about farming so many acres of ground. They don't at all. They farm so many acres of sunshine. Practically everything we use, except our fuel, is raised. It is important, when our present fuel supplies are exhausted, that we know how to trap sunshine and lay it up for the periods when we want it, when there is no sunshine, just as we lay away food for the winter when it will not grow. That is why we are concerned over why grass is green."

It is surely an important question. Already the problem seems to have been partly solved by the discovery that plants can be raised by artificial light and heat, though not so well as by direct sunshine. Some day there may be found a complete substitute for the great life-giver of our world, to use in cold climates, or in another great ice age, or when the human race is millions of years older and the sun itself is dimmed by age.

While the scientists are trying to find out why grass is green, why not inquire also why green is the one color of which our eyes never tire? Also why the simple, natural colors of grass, water, sky and sun are universally loved? Why is it that we consider them beautiful? A satisfactory answer to that question might reveal much about the origin and development of the human race.

MIGRATORY CITIZENS

Travelers in the South Atlantic states are greatly impressed with the number of automobile tourists now on their way to Florida. There is a definite migratory movement of not less than 100,000 persons, who will pass the winter in Florida and return north in the spring.

It is mainly a movement of families. Large numbers of tourists have gone early, to put their children in the Florida schools at the beginning of the fall term. More remarkable still is the fact that the movement is not one of wealth. Many thousands of those migratory citizens are mechanics and farmers in moderate circumstances, with just enough means to enable them to spend the winter in a congenial climate, doing perhaps a little work while there to help meet expenses.

The same thing is happening, perhaps on a smaller scale, in southern California. Who can tell to what proportions this winter migration will grow in the future, with the improvement of automobile and airplane transportation? And there will doubtless be a counter summer migration to the north on the part of southern residents who have not yet formed that habit. A large part of our population some day may be as migratory as the birds.

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

10:30 a. m. White Cross Sunday. Our church has mobilized the public thought in this field of hospital service. We are taking care of the greatest work of Michigan by the funds obtained in White Cross membership. The text, "I am among you as he that serveth" is the motto. Today the Methodist church has thirty-one hospitals. (Increase of eleven in one year) thirty-three homes for the aged. Forty-five homes for children. The Bronson Methodist hospital located in Kalamazoo became our property in May 1920. Since then 5,784 patients have received hospital care. $40,000 worth of red-bed work has been given. People of twenty-one creeds and no creed are among those assisted. Come and hear the address on hospitals and become a member of the White Cross.

SCIENTISTS PROBABLY CAUSES

Health Dept. Finds Lack Of Iodine Chief Reason

Lack of iodine is the primary cause of simple goiter, if experiments now carried on at the state laboratories of the Michigan Department of Health are any criterion. To prove this beyond question as well as ascertain any other related facts, is the object of the work. Goiter at one time was thought to be a communicable disease because it is so regionally located. The misleading conclusion is explained by the fact that epidemic-like, goiter follows the lack-of-iodine phenomenon which is geographically marked throughout the world.

MOTORISTS NOW PAY TEN TAXES

DETROIT AUTO CLUB CLAIMS GAS TAX UNJUST

Present Rates in Michigan Out of All Proportion With Other Prop- erty

Many of our readers, in all likelihood, are comparatively unfamiliar with the stand taken by the Detroit Automobile Club and its supporters in opposition to the gasoline road tax vetoed by the governor at the last prior session of the legislature. As it is always well to hear both sides of any question before forming one's own opinion, we are re-producing herewith a communication from the Detroit Automobile Club which we have recently received and which sets forth their position with great clearness.

"Automobile taxation in Michigan should be measured according to the vehicle property owned, and the ability of the motorist to pay and not by the maximum possible road building program that the various state, county and township officers may agree upon.

Such is, in effect, the stand which the Detroit Automobile Club consistently maintains toward automobile taxation. Recent resolutions of the Club's directorate plainly indicate that this attitude will be aggressively continued in the event of any attempt to impose unjust, inequitable and excessive taxes at the coming special session of the state legislature.

Ten Taxes Now

Information recently furnished the Club from the office of the Secretary of State places the total automotive tax collected up to November 1, 1923 at $10,262,615.63. This sum is the result not only of the registration tax, but also includes the revenues resulting from the nine other methods by which the state penalizes its owners of motor vehicles.

Michigan's assessed valuation (other than automobiles) is $5,000,000,000. This five billion dollars' worth of property contributed in state taxes $16,000,000. Motor vehicles, having a value on November 1st of $198,950,400, had contributed to the state in license fees and other taxes $10,262,615.63. In other words our motor vehicles, worth 4 per cent as much as the assessed value of all other property in the state, paid 60 per cent as much tax to the state.

It is worthy of note that the motorists who have contributed the $10,262,615.63, are also, in large part, the property owners from whom the state takes the $16,000,000. Virtually all property owners also own cars. This is especially true of the farmer who is the largest automobile owner in Michigan.

Spenders Are Busy

To add a 2c gasoline tax, to yield $7,000,000 to this already staggering total, so that the motor vehicle burden this year would have been over $17,000,000, was the ambition of the strong highway lobby at Lansing at the last prior session of the legislature. The effort failed only through Governor Groesbeck's veto. That a similar effort may be made at the coming special session is already threatened by the activity of the office holders and money spenders, who are far more interested in the creation of a great jackpot or pork barrel, than in equity and justice in taxation, or in a sanely projected highway construction program.

"Our present law produced $8,385,000 in 1922," declares the Club's president, Sidney D. Waldon, "and we estimated that it would produce $10,000,000 this year, and practically $12,000,000 in 1924. By equalizing the burden as between the light weight, low value vehicle and the high priced car, a substantial increase in the total revenue can be obtained with justice to all, and with no added governmental machinery, or one cent of additional expense in collection. A gasoline tax in 'any amount is unnecessary, unjust, inefficient and wasteful. To fight such pernicious legislation, 'he asserts,' and to lead in securing from Michigan's lawmakers a square deal for the state's motorists, is the plain responsibility of our organization."

Use Hygrade gas filled electric light globes. Everybody is talking about how long they last. Any kind you want. Charlevoix Hardware & Electric Co.—Adv. 5-11.

Men are of two classes—those who do their best work today and forget about it, and those who promise to do their best work tomorrow and worry about it.

TESTS DETECT REMADE MILK

Necessary That Some Method Be Devised That Natural Product Be Distinguished.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

The increased use of remade milk and cream—that is, milk and cream made from powdered or condensed milk and sweet-cream butter—has made necessary some method by which they may be distinguished from the natural products. Such a test has been devised by chemists of the United States Department of Agriculture, and it is now possible to detect as little as 10 per cent of remade milk in a mixture with natural pasteurized milk. If milk powder has been used in making the mixture, the amount that can be detected will depend on the degree of heat used in its manufacture.

The test for both milk and cream is based upon the color produced when the washed curd made from them is dissolved in sodium hydroxide. When this curd solution has stood for several hours a characteristic yellow color develops in the samples taken from remade milk and cream or mixtures containing them; samples of the natural products or only slight mixtures do not show it.

Remade milk and cream are wholesome foods if made properly from good natural milk, but should be sold for what they are, and this test makes it possible for food officials to determine whether or not the consumer is being deceived.

per cent, for one reason or another, had failed to succeed with improved stock. This fact, taken into consideration with the foregoing data, points to a 99 per cent probability that pure bred and other improved live stock will aid greatly in solving economic feeding problems. Details of the department's recent study of feeding questions may be obtained from the bureau of animal industry, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

HELP WANTED IN CHARLEVOIX

And Furnished By the Help of Charlevoix People.

Those who suffer with kidney backache, urinary ills or any little kidney or bladder disorder, want kidney help. Who can better advise than some Charlevoix resident, who has also suffered, but has had relief. Charlevoix people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Here's one case and there are many others.

L. H. Wheeler, retired engineer, 807 Bridge St., says: "My kidneys were weak and I had to get up three or four times during the night to pass the secretions, which contained sediment. I heard of Doan's Kidney Pills and a few boxes, which I bought at Metcalf's Drug Store, cured me up in great shape. Doan's are a good kidney remedy and I am glad to recommend them."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mr. Wheeler had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Losing Team In Ellsworth Hunt Tries To Palm Off a Groundhog For a Raccoon

The team captained by F. Donaldson won the honors from B. J. Beuker's team in the annual game supper held on Monday of last week. The score being 700 to 575.

The game was prepared and cooked by Mrs. Albert Parsons and was enjoyed by nearly one hundred and fifty guests. The supper was one of the finest ever served in the Blue Hall.

Lawrence Isman as toast-master proved to be an unqualified success in spite of it being his maiden effort along this line and the music by the Misses Mork, Elzinga and Ruis with talks by Messrs Lawrence, W. P. Smith, Erickson, Bearss, Meggison and Dunsmore were thoroughly enjoyed.

The "only fly in the ointment" occurred when the losing team which felt themselves slipping endeavored to ring in a small ground hog disguised as a raccoon. This was allowed by Mr. Donaldson, after a conference with several of his Lieutenants and as a result the losers were credited with one hundred points more than they would have normally received. Except for the extreme lead in points held by the Rexal team when this animal was turned in members of the National Geographic Society would no doubt have been called on to settle the argument.

It was decided at the supper to hold a community meeting at the Blue Hall on December 15th. The date later being changed to Friday, December 14th, and Supt. of Schools, Ernest Erickson was appointed chairman.

Proteins and Minerals

Necessary in Hog Feed

Considering the whole problem of economical, successful and satisfactory pork production with a minimum chance of loss from disease when one studies the problem a little, it is easy to see that the things necessary are a program that provides as cheaply as possible plenty of proteins and minerals in the ration. And in getting them cheaply by the use of growing crops, we have gone a long way in satisfying the sanitary requirements by eliminating chances of loss from some of the contagious diseases and parasites of the overcrowded hog lot.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Kill a scrub bull Monday and on Tuesday you'll be better off.

If you are planning on raising some good pigs and getting into the business, it is none too early to plan now for your next year's pig crop.

Exercise for the gilts and especially the old sows is necessary if large litters of strong, healthy pigs are to be expected.

Every progressive farmer should raise pure bred live stock, and every progressive breeder needs records for keeping track of his herd.

It is best to have more than one pasture for sheep, alternating each year. In this way troubles from parasites are reduced to a minimum.

What good are horns for domestic cattle? Except for purposes of defense on the range where coyotes and bears still do some damage, horns are a nuisance and a needless expense.

INFORMATION HARD TO GAIN

Statistics Concerning Roads of Different States in Some Cases Not Easily Obtained.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

With the annual expenditure for roads and streets in the United States approaching the billion-dollar mark, more accurate information and better means for obtaining it seem necessary, says the bureau of public roads of the United States Department of Agriculture. One thing very much needed is the concentration of all sorts of information and statistics concerning the roads of the various states in the state highway departments.

Engineers of the department are now gathering complete information regarding the road mileage and expenditures in the United States. In many of the states much of the information desired is easily obtainable from the state highway department. In the case of Iowa the figures were obtained almost immediately. In other cases it has been necessary to send out numerous questionnaires and sometimes the information has been obtained only after personal visits. In one state 1,800 questionnaires had to be sent out to bring in the needed figures, and in some it has been found that practically no records have been kept. For some of the counties in New Mexico questionnaires had to be translated into Spanish before the road officials could understand them.

GOOD THINGS FOR EVERYBODY

This is the time of year when we enjoy green corn. On the cob, stewed in milk, scalloped, or fried, it is always a welcome dish.

Tomatoes Stuffed With Green Corn.—Cut out a slice from the stem-end of tomatoes and scoop out the centers, cut off the tops of the kernels of fresh gathered corn and scrape out the kernels, leaving the hulls on the cob. Sprinkle a little salt inside the tomatoes, mix butter and seasonings with the corn, fill the tomatoes, cover with the slice removed and bake in a moderate oven until the tomato is soft.

Sauagundi of Vegetables.—Take tender corn cut from the cob—enough to fill two cups—add to this a pint of thin slices of okra pods; remove the seeds and white lining from two sweet green peppers and chop fine; add two chopped white onions. Remove the pod from four good-sized tomatoes, cut into quarters and mix with the vegetables. Cook until barely soft in water to barely cover, one cupful of chopped celery and onion mixed. When both are tender add to the other vegetables and cook twenty minutes. Season with two teaspoonfuls of salt and cook for an hour or two in a fireless cooker.

Cream Prune Pie.—Put through a sieve a cupful of stewed prunes; add a cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of cornstarch, a third of a cupful of sugar, the yolks of two eggs, well beaten, and pour into a pie plate lined with pastry. Add the well-beaten whites and bake until firm. The whites may be reserved for a meringue if desired.

Lima beans, cooked until tender and seasoned with butter and cream with seasoning, are delicious. A few hills of these beans will supply a small family with plenty for the fall.

Pineapple Compote.—Take one pineapple to five bananas. Slice the pineapple and cook in a heavy syrup until tender. Cool and lay in a glass dish, cover with sliced bananas, sprinkled with grated nutmeg, and repeat. Serve with whipped cream and cake.

Canned tongue and spinach should be heated in the can before opening.

PACKING HIVES KEEPS IN HEAT

BEEES DO NOT HIBERNATE LIKE THE WASP

Little Honey Producers Need Help
To Keep Them Warm in Wintertime

Bees need help in cold weather. Unlike some butterflies and wasps, the little honey producers do not hibernate in winter, striving instead to maintain the temperature in the hive at a comparatively warm level. It has been found that the temperature is kept at exactly 57 degrees, if the bees can accomplish it. Heat is generated through muscular activity and the digestion of honey, the bees clustering in a hollow ball to resist cold.

Beekkeepers have found that aid in the form of packing for the hives, or removal to a sheltered cellar, makes it much easier for the bees to resist cold and results in better chance for them to live through the winter and in stronger colonies in the spring.

"The beekeeper who plans to pack his bees outside should first make sure that they have approximately 40 pounds of stores," says R. H. Kelly, of the entomology department at the Michigan Agricultural College. "If this amount is not present, they must be fed sirup made by boiling equal weights of sugar and water, to which is added a very small amount of weak acid, for ten or twenty minutes. The sirup is given the bees in the evening, thus lessening the danger of robbing."

"When the bees have sufficient stores, they can be packed in wooden packing cases, made from dry-goods boxes or specially prepared matched lumber, large enough to allow four inches of packing on the bottom, six inches on the sides, and one foot on the top of the hive. It is economical in packing the bees in pairs or in fours to save lumber for the packing cases. The bees can also be packed in a case made of tar paper."

"Colonies to be wintered in the cellar are moved inside about Thanksgiving time, on the first cold night after the last warm spell in November. A bee cellar must be dark, dry, and separated from the rest of the cellar to prevent vibration and noise from affecting the bees. It should be ventilated just enough to prevent moisture from collecting on the walls, and the ideal temperature is 42 degrees. The less the bees are disturbed in the cellar in the winter the better."

RARE REAR-END COLLISION ON STATE ST.

Flying Cars Turn Turtle After Ramming Another

A peculiar accident occurred last Friday night on State street. A Ford roadster, belonging to P. W. Winder of the Hotel Charlevoix and parked in front of Charles Hyres's residence on State street, was struck by a Ford touring car driven by Clarence Fultenburger, who lives a couple of miles outside of Phelps.

Fultenburger and a companion were hurrying south on State street with only a spot light to pick up the road ahead of them. Fultenburger claimed that this light flickered. Anyhow, in some way they got over on the wrong side of the road and struck Winder's car in the rear, knocking it ahead fully a hundred feet into the garden on the Hyres place, although the brakes on it were set. Fultenburger's car slowed in the road after the shock and turned turtle, pinning the two boys between the crushed top of the touring car and its body. Winder and George Beeman who were in the house nearby, witnessed the collision and ran out to extricate the victims from their wreckage. Neither Fultenbur-ger nor his associate were even scratched. Winder was able to get the former's name and the number of his car but before he could take the matter up further with him the two gentlemen had disappeared, leaving their wrecked bus to be picked up and towed to the Northern Garage the next morning.

The rear end of Winder's car was completely done up, the differential housing, wheels and tires suffering particularly. The roadster was a new one having been driven only four months since its purchase. The other car was a complete wreck.

AT THE MOVIES

Written by "Mr. X," a new William Fox special—"Who Are My Parents?" will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday, November 27 and 28. The nature of the story is clearly indicated by its title. Today, when tales of infidelity are so common upon the stage, the clean, wholesome atmosphere of this picture will come as a welcome relief. The American public has always declared itself in favor of heart stories that show a due respect for the sanctity of the home.

"Who Are My Parents?" is filled with genuine heart interest. Directed by J. Searle Dawley, it has been given the advantage of every resource of the Fox organization and has many beautiful exterior and interior scenes.

The cast is made up of such well-known actors as Roger Lytton, Florence Billings, Ernest Hilliard, Robert Agnew, Adelaide Prince, Niles Welch and Marie Reichardt.

Fancy Jack Holt conducting a school for burglars! In "A Gentleman of Leisure," a Paramount picture which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Saturday and Sunday, December 1 and 2. Mr. Holt plays the role of a wealthy young man who discovers a burglar entering his apartments and captures him. Believing he can use the thief to good purpose, he pretends he is also a crook, and convinces his captive that the latter is a "third-rater" and could well afford to take some lessons in technique.

The love of a wealthy youth for a poverty stricken maiden is depicted in "Kindred of the Dust," an Associated First National attraction produced by Raoul A. Walsh from the famous novel by Peter B. Kyne, which is coming to the Palace Theatre on November 29.

Miriam Cooper, the leading woman, plays the part of "Nan of the Sawdust Pile," while Ralph Graves takes the role of Donald McKaye, son of Hector McKaye, the owner of an extensive saw mill on Puget Sound, and who is known far and wide as "The Laird."

The "sawdust" pile was the common name for new land along the sound, which had been made by the accumulation of sawdust and other refuse from the mill. Nan and her father made their home in a disreputable shack in "The Pile," and they were about to be evicted through the treachery of an employee of the saw mill when Donald interfered.

It was his first meeting with Nan, and he immediately fell in love with her, but before they found real happiness their romance was threatened several times with disruption.

How's This?

Arthur Hamlin of this city received a sack of apples, Tuesday, grown on a tree which his mother, the late Mrs. Rose Hamlin, planted 51 years ago on the farm known as the Lige O'Brien place on the Norwood road which in 1868 was the property of Mr. Hamlin's father, L. C. Hamlin. So Mr. Hamlin now enjoys fruit from tree which had grown from the seeds of a sweet apple sown within his own lifetime.

Six Hundred Sixty Thousand Gallons Leave The Lake Each Day Of The Year

Perhaps some of our readers have noticed in their Sunday jaunts out to the south point, or at other places along our lake shores the distance from the sand beach to the water line and perhaps have in mind some landmark which they have noted as seemingly farther back from the water's edge than they have ever realized that it was before. Even the casual observer must be struck in his journey around the bay by the remarkable amount of dry flats between the sand and the first line of ripples. Or perhaps they tried a dive or two off the springboard on the government pier last summer and noted that it seemed to be more difficult matter than in former seasons to keep off the bottom. And perhaps they have wondered just why the waters of Lake Michigan were steadily lowering from month to month and year to year.

That they are subsiding is a fact that may be substantiated by a glance at the government depth scale, which is located on a pile under the north end of the swing bridge and which one may see by leaning out over the rail on the lake side of the bridge. Just a flat piece of board bearing the numbers 2 and 3, spaced a foot apart and graduated in tenths of a foot. The 1 and the 0 have been effaced by the action of the water. But the thing to note is that the surface of the water misses the bottom end of the board by several inches. Not so much to look at but it tells a story of a bare-faced steal on a gigantic scale that hardly has a parallel anywhere.

The city of Chicago, Ill., between the years 1892 and 1900, caused to be constructed what is known as the Chicago Sanitary District Drainage canal for the purpose of disposing of the city's sewage. This canal joins the south branch of the Chicago River with the Desplaines River and so with the Illinois and Mississippi canal and is 28.5 miles in length, of which 15 miles were cut through rock. It is 22 feet deep and has a minimum width of 164 feet. The canal or sewer is flushed with water from Lake Michigan and its water, are pure within a flow of 150 miles. Its capacity is 600,000 cubic feet per minute, sufficient entirely to renew the Chicago River daily. The canal has also made possible the development of enormous hydraulic power for the use of the city.

Now what does all this mean? Simply this—that every day a quantity of water leaves Lake Michigan equivalent to a river 45 miles long, 50 feet deep and 100 feet wide, or, to put it in other words, more than the combined flow of all the rivers of Michigan, Wisconsin, Indiana and Illinois can replace in a day. So

OLD PROBS IS PROBABLY AN ANCIENT BIRD

In connection with the modern system of weather forecasting, it is interesting to know its origin and history. Scientific weather forecasts depend upon the rapid collection of the reports of meteorological observations taken at places scattered over a wide expanse of territory. This process was not, of course, possible before the invention of the electric telegraph says the United States department of agriculture.

The earliest experiments in forecasting with the aid of telegraphic reports were probably those of Prof. Joseph Henry, of the Smithsonian Institution, made in 1849. The first national forecasting service, however, was established in France in 1855, and was the result of an episode of the Crimean war. In November, 1854, a severe storm did much damage to the French and British warships in the Black Sea. The French astronomer, Le Verrier, director of the Observatory of Paris, made a study of this storm and came to the conclusion that, with the aid of telegraphic reports, its eastward progress across Europe might have been predicted so that the disaster to the ships could have been averted. This idea led to the foundation of the French meteorological service.

tremendous is its effect upon the vast waters of the Great Lakes that the current through the straits of Mackinac, which in the memory of man has flowed to the east from Lake Michigan into Huron, is now flowing with equal strength west or in the opposite direction. Even the channel of the St. Clair river near Detroit which is 300 feet wide and 22 feet deep is not sufficient to counter-balance this terrific drainage of Lake Michigan through the Chicago canal, although in like manner it contributes to the general lowering of its waters.

We might, however, forgive Chicago for threatening us with the complete transformation of our shores and the lessening of the depth of our harbors and channels if their high-handed pilfering of the waters of the greatest inland lake chain in the world were solely for the purpose of securing the health and comfort of millions of people through proper sanitation (and there is a doubt that the canal accomplishes its purpose even in this point). But, just listen to this.

BOOSTER MEET- ING FRIDAY EVE.

U. S. C. OF C. REPRESENTATIVE TO SPEAK.

Will Give Us Benefit of Wide Experience in Community Development.

Do you want to see the empty houses filled?

Do you want to see the streets built up?

Do you want the shores of beautiful Pine Lake built up?

Do you want to sell your place for something like what it cost you?

Do you want to have some help in paying taxes?

Do you want your business to grow?

Do you want to see Charlevoix grow and prosper?

If you do, be sure and attend the county booster meeting at the court house next Friday evening, November 30th, at 7:30 o'clock.

S. B. Murray of Chicago, field representative of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce is to be the principal speaker. He knows what the other fellows are doing and what we must do to get the business. In short, he knows his work from A to Z, not only as regards Michigan and Charlevoix, but the country at large. He deals in facts and figures but is not averse to using a funny skit now and then to emphasize his points. His talk is sure to be interesting, entertaining and instructive. Don't miss it.

Mr. Murray spoke at Boyne City last Friday night and has been engaged to make a tour of this northern region in the interests of its progress and a wider cooperation with those forces and organizations that are endeavoring to make the most of Michigan's great natural advantages as a resort state.

The meeting at Boyne City last Friday night was well attended, ten people going from Charlevoix to hear Mr. Murray. During the course of this meeting, $1,000.00 was raised for resort advertising purposes in the Western Michigan resort belt.

Two things stand out as essentially needful if our resort business is to continue in unabated vigor and show a steady yearly growth. We must make the most of our natural advantages, clean up our shores, provide facilities for summer amusement and endeavor to extend the resort season as has been attempted in towns to the north of us with considerable success this fall, adjust ourselves to the new trend of the resort business which is fast changing from a permanent residence basis to a transient tourist business AND we must put Charlevoix on the map by continuous, consistent and adequate advertising. Come to the meeting next Friday night and find out from a real expert how this may best be done.

TAUGHT MANY VITAL LESSONS

SECOND POTATO AND APPLE
SHOW A SUCCESS

Quality and Quantity of Entries Surpass That of Last Year's Exhibit

Bigger and better in every way was the second Apple and Potato show held at Grand Rapids, November 20-23. There was a marked increase in both quality and quantity of exhibits over the show of a year ago. In every way the displays and programs were well arranged to benefit the farmers and city people who flocked in to see them.

Ninety of the State's leading apple growers vied with each other for prize awards on their apples, exhibited on plates and trays and in bushel barrel, ten bushel and fifty bushel lots. In this latter feature the show this year marked a new and very wholesome departure in the character of fruit shows, for in the past only plates and small containers have been used. The idea of the show this year was not only to prove that Michigan can produce a few apples of marked perfection, but to demonstrate as well that we can produce fruit of high quality and uniformity in commercial quantities and pack it fairly so that the consumer will not be disappointed.

The potato show demonstrated what can be done in a few years to standardize and improve the quality of one of our leading agricultural products. No one would envy the judge his job when they looked over the rows and rows of uniform Rural Russet potatoes which have been developed and standardized through the activities of the organized potato producers of Michigan.

It is interesting to notice in this connection that the exhibits of the boys' and girls' clubs were of nearly as high quality as those produced by the adult farmers. This may be taken as an indication that the work of potato improvement will be carried out still further by those progressive young farmers.

Not only was the Apple and Potato Show aimed to help the producers of these products, but it was organized and carried out with the idea of being of direct benefit to the city consumers as well, by showing them how to utilize apples and potatoes most economically.

A valuable recipe book has been prepared and was distributed to the visiting housewives, showing them how to use apples and potatoes to the best advantage. One booth taught the lesson that "Quality and Flavor Vary," while another exhibited the various varieties of apples best suited for summer, fall, winter and spring use, with suggestions as to when and in what quantities to purchase the fruit. An adjoining booth told the various virtues best adapted for baking, pies, sauce, jelly and raw consumption.

The State Farm Bureau had a booth illustrating its type of organization, showing some of the products handled, telling of the many services rendered to the members and giving some idea of the volume of business handled by the five affiliated commodity exchanges.

MEAN THIEF SPOILS SNEATHEN'S CHANCES

Steals Potatoes From His Exhibit at Grand Rapids Show

Lee Sneathen of Charlevoix, R.
F. D. 3, one of the competitors at the recent Apple and Potato show held at Grand Rapids on November 20 to 23, failed to come out winner on account of a very dirty trick, played upon him while at the exhibit.

According to the Grand Rapids Press, Mr. Sneathen, who won the sweepstakes at the international potato show at Duluth, Minn. and had a fair chance to carry off first honors at the Grand Rapids show, was cheated of his laurels by the meanness of some unknown party who pilfered three of his Russet beauties from his beautiful peck exhibit of Russet rurals and he was forced to make substitutions. This practically put him out of the running for first money and a chance at the sweepstakes, but, even with this handicap, he came in a close second.

BEAVERS LAYING IN WINTER FOOD

ARE SHIPPING SUPPLIES FROM PETOSKEY

Must Get Them In Before Cold Weather—Islands May Have Their Own Physician

Residents of Beaver Island are laying in their supply of winter provisions. Large shipments of groceries, meats, utensils and furniture have left the Petoskey wharf, consigned by the Petoskey Grocery Company and other Petoskey concerns to the storeroom at St. James. From here they will be distributed to the inhabitants of the neighboring islands, who are expected to make trips to St.
James this week for their quota of the supplies. Ice, cold and rough seas will soon make it almost impossible for the people on the small islands to make trips away from home and they plan to have plenty of food and warm clothing on hand for the winter before that time comes.
It is planned to avoid, if possible, a repetition of the nerve wracking and costly situation which developed last April when a company of loggers on Fox Island off Leland failed to calculate properly on the amount of food needed and came near starving to death. The Beaver Island residents have never figured quite so close on their supplies and have always laid in a sufficient quantity to carry them through.

Through the efforts of the Roman Catholic bishop, Kelley, of Grand Rapids, who appealed to the government, Dr. R. M. Olin, state health commissioner, made an inspection trip to the Beavers last Friday to determine the need of medical attention on the island during the winter months when the little community is shut off from outside aid.

Efforts are now being made to secure a physician for the winter season on the island and a member of the state department staff may be sent to the island before navigation closes to care for the sick until next spring when daily boat service is resumed.

The Courier is glad to see that something is at last going to be done about this very pressing matter. Its readers will remember an editorial of some months ago in which provision of regular medical attendance for the Beaver Islanders during the winter months was strongly urged as a duty on the part of this county to which the Beavers belong and of which they are an integral part. It has remained, however, for an outsider to accomplish through state aid what we should have done ourselves long since. Funny how far we have departed from the political ideals of our fathers in this respect.
If we keep on, the government will have to wash, dress us and clean our fingernails.

HAMILTON DINES THE H. S. FOOTBALL TEAM

Coaches, Yell-Masters And Manager
Were Also Present

The home of superintendent of schools, Charles H. Hamilton was the scene of a delightful social event last Wednesday evening when at 6:00 o'clock a sumptuous chicken dinner was served to the members of the football squad, the coaches, the yell masters and the athletic manager.

The dining room was beautifully decorated in red and white crepe paper and chrysanthemums. The toastmaster of the evening was Harold Hallett. Those who responded to toasts were McMullin, Austin,
Todd, Hamilton, Roe, Swartout, Blakeslee, Jensen, Alexander, Cooper, Boursseau, Oberlin, Dagwell, Glasgow and Altenburg. Mr. Sterling favored the group by singing an old Scotch song, "Half Past Ten".
Immediately following the toasts,
Leonard Burns was elected captain for our next year's team.

DIED AFTER ILLNESS OF THREE MONTHS

Mrs. Ruth Coker Formerly Lived in and Near East Jordan

Mrs. Ruth Coker of Detroit, passed away Sunday morning, November 18, in a hospital after an illness of three months.

Mrs. Coker will be remembered by her Charlevoix and East Jordan friends as Ruth Hyatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hyatt of Detroit, and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guliek Jensen of Rock Elm, near East Jordan.

She was born in East Jordan, December 1, 1902, and spent nearly half her life in that vicinity. She was united in marriage to Leonard Coker of Franklin, Kentucky, February 24, 1923. Relatives left to mourn her loss are a husband, father and mother, brother Earl and two sisters, Helen and Mary, all of Detroit.

Funeral services were held Tuesday, November 20, from the home of her parents at 3584 Lakepoint avenue, at 2:00 p. m. Rev. Arthur Gringel of the Lutheran church officiating. Interment at Forest Lawn cemetery.

FIRST BATCH OF LICENSES HERE

SALES WILL BEGIN EARLY IN DECEMBER

No Changes Have Been Made In Procedure Or Charges For 1924 Auto Tax

County Clerk, Charles H. Emrey, reports that the first installment 1924 auto licenses has been received, and that sales will commence early in December.

No confusing changes have been made in affidavits, applications or other blanks and the same charges will be applied for the year 1924 that were in vogue for the year 1923.
The prospective one-half year rate, that was expected to be come effective March 1st, did not pass the Legislature, so that the one-half year rate will not be effective until September 1st which is the same date that the one-half year rate became effective in 1923.

No license plate will be issued until the certificate of title has been presented to the County Clerk for comparison, as all the sub agents must certify to the State office that the title has been examined by them and the number of the title transmitted from the certificate of title to the application by the clerks.

All trucks must be weighed each year and the way bill attached and become a part of the application for license plates before the agent shall have a right to issue plates for them.

Motor Cycle licenses, trailer licenses, operators, and Chauffeurs' licenses must be obtained from the office of the Secretary of State.
However, we have a supply of blanks for such licenses and would be glad to furnish them to applicants.

A special call of the legislature having just been made, it is possible that a Gas Tax Law will be enacted this year and, should such a tax be effective for 1924, it would undoubtedly change the blanks and methods of issuing plates. This does not seem probable at this time because of the enormous amount of money expended by the State for printed supplies.

The 1924 plates are larger than those of last year and the color scheme is black letters on mustard.

POMONA GRANGE FAVORS GAS TAX

HAS ENDORSED RESOLUTION TO THAT EFFECT.

Meeting With Peninsula Last Thursday Was an Enjoyable Affair
—Officers Elected.

The following account of the recent joint meeting of Pomona and Peninsula granges has been submitted to us by the secretary of the Pomona grange:

Pomona Grange No. 40 met with Peninsula grange, Thursday, November 15, and the following officers were elected for a two year term:

Master, E. E. Stroud of Maple
Grove.

Overseer, T. S. Barber of Deer
Lake.

Lecturer, Sidney Lumley of Deer
Lake.

Steward, Platt Webster of Maple
Grove.

Asst. Steward, Walter McElroy of Marion Center.

Chaplain, Mrs. J. E. Secord of Rock Elm.

Treasurer, J. Saunders of Ironton.

Secretary, Olive Webster of Maple
Grove.

Gate Keeper, Dan Swanson of Rock Elm.

Ceres, Mrs. J. Saunders of Ironton.

Pomona, Mrs. John Heller of Peninsula.

Flora, Anna Stroud of Maple
Grove.

L. S., Grave McElroy of Marion Center.

Past Master J. E. Chew and Bro.
John Knudsen installed the officers.

It was a very interesting meeting and a number of live subjects were discussed.

The next Pomona meeting and officers conference will be held at Deer
Lake Grange, Saturday, December 8.
Sister Dora Stockman and Bro. Klefer will be there. Every grange should be well represented.

The grange voted to send word to our senator and representative we were in favor of the gas tax. A resolution was adopted as follows:
"Resolved, That we, as members of Charlevoix County Pomona Grange, instruct our secretary to extend to Emmet County Pomona and the Petoskey Chamber of Commerce any assistance we may be able to render in connection with entertaining the 1924 State Grange."

Peninsula Grange served a fine dinner and supper to about 60 members. Olive Webster, Secretary.

DEDICATED TO THE FRIVOLOUS FLIVVERBOOB

Some day, unless you mind the rules when driving in the crowds, you'll meet the fate of reckless fools who fill untimely shrouds. There is more peril every day about the thriving mart and every gent who drives a dray should know the rules by heart. And knowing them he should abide by all those rules decreed, and thus he may safely ride for seven years or three. Each day the deadly peril grows, new drivers loom in view, to show how little they may know of steering vans that choo.
And babes and sucklings may be seen, the steering wheel in hand, while worried peelers wot and ween such infants should be canned. The frenzied female speeds her boat and zigzags everywhere, and gets the everlasting goat of those who don't beware. And he who'd live a seemly while must watch for such as these, for drivers who are full of guile, for those whose heads are cheese. It is not proper to depend upon the other guy or to remote surroundings lend an absent dreamy eye. Oh, vigilant must be the man, his brain and vision clear, who hopes to tool a chugging van in safety for a year.
One instant's carelessness may cost a collarbone or leg, so read the rules by scribes embossed and follow them. I beg.—Walt Mason.

AT THE MOVIES

Against a rural background of rare beauty and charm, the new Fox offering, "The Village Blacksmith" unfolding a fascinating drama thru which runs a romantic thread happily knotted in the end, will be shown at the Palace Theatre next Tuesday and Wednesday.

There is a train wreck in this picture that is thrilling in its realism. Furthermore, occurring as it does at a crucial moment in the story development, the suspense is increased to the breathless point.

Here is a picture for young and old alike, picturing in lovely scenes and intensive action a story strictly American.

Fancy Jack Holt conducting a school for burglars! In "A Gentleman of Leisure," a Paramount picture which will be shown at the Palace Theatre Saturday and Sunday, December 1 and 2, Mr. Holt plays the role of a wealthy young man who discovers a burglar entering his apartments and captures him. Believing he can use the thief to good purpose, he pretends he is also a crook, and convinces his captive that the latter is a "third-rater" and could well afford to take some lessons in technique.

Vigorous, Healthy Hogs

May Withstand Cholera

Hog cholera is a germ disease like typhoid fever and unless the germs are present on the farm it is utterly impossible for hogs to take it from feeding stuffs of any kind, for if the germ is not there there can be no cholera, and even though it may be present hogs in vigorous health may escape it, but if for any reason they become weakened they are practically sure to take it.

NATIONAL HIGHWAYS

A good road begins to wear out from the first instant it is used. It needs constant attention and repair. Little breaks in the road, if repaired now, mean a great saving, whereas, if they are left they become large breaks, which mean an enormous expense in the future.

Most road officials are competent, and want to repair the road. A few are indifferent, once the road is built. But no official is either neglectful or indifferent to the great force of public opinion.

Boys and girls who travel over the new good road, can help. Watch the road. Lookout for the bad places. Keep your eyes open for the spot where the surface has "raveled" or worn off, showing the basic rock beneath. Look out for the uneven ridge, the "waving" which sometimes occurs in oiled roads. As soon as you see any such spot, note carefully exactly where it is, so that you can describe the location accurately on paper. Then write a letter to the road official who has charge of that stretch of road and tell him about it. You may think that a State road official will not pay any attention to your letter. If he is the right kind of a road official—and most of them are such—he will not only pay attention to it, but write and thank you for your good citizenship. Our road officials are normally hard working intelligent men, who want to repair the road and keep it in condition.

If he is glad to get your letter, he will repair the road at once. If he happens not to be the right kind of a man, if he isn't competent, write to him again.

Get John and George and Jack and Alice and Gertrude and Mary to write to him. If he still doesn't pay any attention to it, come to this newspaper ask for the Editor and tell him about the raveled place. Tell him that you have written the road official—tell him how many times, and the names of all your companions who also wrote. A good newspaper editor has use for such news. He will write the road official himself, and if that individual still doesn't do his duty, this newspaper will publish the facts of the raveled place and that the road official was repeatedly told of it. The way that road official will then make speed on repairing that raveled place will be funny.

Farmer Can Construct Practical Road Drag

Every farmer should have a road drag. There is no excuse for not having one when it can be had with so little cost. Good road drags may be purchased or made at home.

On almost any farm some old plank can be found. Get two pieces of plank, one if you can find it; 3 inches thick if it can be had; if not, 2 inches thick will be all right; 8 or 10 inches wide and 6 or 7 feet long. Three-inch plank is best as it is much heavier and will stand more heavy usage. You will also need two pieces of 2 by 5 or 3 by 4 preferably. If it can be had, 3 feet long. Some good tough wood is best.

Make these like illustration B. Bore five one-half inch holes in each as illustrated; one to be about 6 inches from the end, with a second one 3 inches or 2 inches from that inward, according to the thickness of your two large pieces of plank. At the other end bore one hole about 3 to 4 inches from the end, this hole to be used to hold clevis pin for the hitch. Bore another hole 6 inches from this end of the piece, and a third hole 2 or 3 inches inward from the second, according to the thickness of the large pieces of plank used.

In each of the large pieces of plank make two holes as in illustration A, one at each end 2 1/2 inches from top edge of the plank. One hole should be 10 inches from the end, the other 10 inches from the end; make these holes so your two 3-foot pieces will slip into them easily. You will also need eight old bolts, one-half inch in diameter and 6 or 7 inches long, these to go into holes in the 3-foot pieces.

Put together as in illustration C, having one plank with long end at one end, and other piece with short end at same end; slip in the 3-foot cross-pieces, drive bolts in front and behind the large piece through all the holes but the two for the clevis, having the end of each cross-piece containing the three holes toward front. Get two clevises and put in the remaining holes.

It will require about one-half day's time to make this drag, and cost you nothing for material if you can find the plank and old bolts on the farm. But even if you must purchase these it is well worth having if you only need to use it on driveway and lanes. However, there are thousands of miles of roads that would be improved wonderfully if the farmers along those roads spent but a few hours occasionally in pulling a drag over them.

You can give your road drag longer life by nailing a piece of apple iron on the lower front edge of the plank as shown in illustration A. Nail a few boards across the top to stand on while using the drag. These can be nailed on the upright planks, from front to back plank, or can be nailed on the cross-pieces, lengthwise. Either place will be all right. You can then ride on it and help to hold it down when extra weight is needed.

Uniform Sign Is Urged by the Highway Bureau

Standardize danger signs along American roadways. Makes them alike from coast to coast.

So urges the bureau of public roads, United States Department of Agriculture. The recommendation is made for the consideration of highway officials, automobile organizations, municipal officials and other persons interested in safe driving.

By standardization of all highway danger signs the department believes automobile accidents may be lessened. Deaths from automobile accidents have nearly doubled since 1915, and the rapid increase of such accidents, the department believes, can be appreciably checked by the adoption of standard danger signs, easily read and distinctive, along American highways.

A tourist at the present time will see almost as many kinds of signs as there are states he visits. Also, in some cases, the style of sign changes in going from one county to another. The subject is under consideration by a committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials.

Delay of Many States in Road Building Seen

"Due to failure on the part of many of the states to develop a road-building program, there is at present a total of $107,192,795 of federal and highway funds in unobligated balances, says the National Motorists' association, in deploring a condition which results from the various states being far in the rear on their highway construction programs. Added to this is another fund of $65,000,000 recently made available.

Cat Was Taking Music Lesson.
One morning while down in the basement I heard someone playing the piano. Knowing my daughter had left for school, I did not know what to think of it. It sounded like someone was trying to play that did not know how. I went upstairs to investigate, and on arriving I found the cat jumping around on the keys.—Chicago Journal.

Tapioca From Poison Root.
Few people who enjoy tapioca pudding realize that they are eating a product of the poisonous cassava root. In its natural state this root is extremely bitter and harmful because of the hydrocyanic acid that it contains, but when heated it becomes palatable and its poisonous qualities are readily dissipated.—Popular Science Monthly.

The Century Plant.
The report that a century plant blooms only once in a hundred years is probably due to the impatience of some of its admirers. In some parts of South America where it grows wild it blooms once in eight years, but when it has been transplanted into greenhouses under artificial conditions its blooming date is much prolonged.

Marble in Washington Monument.
All the marble in the facing of the walls of the Washington monument came from Beaver Dam Quarry, Baltimore county, Maryland. The slight difference in the color is due to the fact that work was interrupted for over twenty years and exposure to the elements had affected the marble slightly.

Beginning of Y. M. C. A.
The Young Men's Christian association was founded in England by George Williams, a London dry goods merchant, in 1844. On the occasion of its jubilee its originator was knighted. The Y. M. C. A. was founded in 1855. In two places simultaneously. In 1877 the two branches united.

Did Seem Peculiar.
"Say," said the suspicious Mrs. Hayrix, "Jim Peabody, cashier of the bank, was down today and bought Deacon Brown's fast colt for $100." "Huh!" exclaimed Farmer Hayrix, "that's just the amount I put in his darned old bank yesterday. It's mighty peculiar—mighty so."

METHODIST EPISCOPAL CHURCH

This is Thanksgiving Week

"Do you say you have nothing to be thankful for? There is not a person who could not find some blessing if he were to look for the same. Do you say that your life has been full of misfortunes and hardships without blessings? Stop and think. A pastor one time announced a Thanksgiving prayer meeting and the subject was: 'What have I to be thankful for?' An invalid lady sent in this message: 'Although I am not able to walk, I am thankful that I can sit up most of the time.' Why is it that you often find crippled people happy and kind? It is because they have had time to think."

"The Bible is like a melodious steeple set with thanksgiving chimes. The variations of the tune are many, the spirit, the tune itself, is one. Harken to the music of these scriptural bells! They ring out gloriously and they ring out unceasingly as well. To whom shall our Thanksgiving be offered? Unto God, our heavenly Father. Through whom shall it be made? Why, through our Lord Jesus Christ. What are the reasons for thanksgiving? Well, all our gifts are from God—our temporal benefits, our daily providences, our unfailing guidance, our immortal hopes."

THE DEER SUPPLY

Hunters returning from the woods report a great scarcity of deer and few are successful in killing a buck. Game wardens for this district also declare that there are few deer left in the woods and unless further measures of conservation are adopted the animal will be practically extinct within two or three years.

Admitting that deer cannot be found as easily this year because of the lack of snow there seems to be no argument on the question that the supply is steadily becoming less. If we wish to preserve this sport in the Upper Peninsula it is obvious that something must be done to stop the kill.

A closed season for two or three years appears to be the best method of restocking deer in the Upper Peninsula and again providing a supply for the hunter's rifle. The one buck law might prove successful were it not for the automobile which permits hunters both to headlight promiscuously and to kill fawns and does and escape before caught by the wardens. In Maine the one buck law put into effect at the end of a closed season has been very successful but it became operative long before the general use of automobiles in hunting.

As a matter of fact, the automobile is being used so much by hunters that it seems wherever a deer track is found the tread of a tire is alongside of it. In one instance in Dickinson county motorists forded a stream with a car that a farmer nearby refused to cross with a horse. A few bridges blown up and some trees felled across the "bull trail" roads that are now used would aid effectively in making the automobile a minor factor, as part of the hunting equipment.

Hunters can have their choice. They can continue as now and prowling about the woods for days without seeing a deer, or they can have a closed season and within two or three years out with fair chances of getting a buck.

The state conservation department might forget its argument with James Oliver Curwood for a while and pay some attention to the deer situation. The one buck law is a fizzle as far as conservation goes. At the end of a closed season it ought to be successful. True sportsmen will be willing to forego the pleasure of deer hunting for a time to reap the greater reward of having a few deer to shoot at when the season is opened again. The question is one that ought to relieve the consideration of all sportsmen's associations. Menominee Herald-Leader.

A magazine writer has investigated the matter and learned that football was being played as much as 200 years ago. However, teams that oppose Michigan are said to be gradually living up the idea that they can win by using the original players.

A young fellow from Battle Creek who was selling postal cards bearing his photograph at 25 cents each was put under arrest. We don't see why the sale of an ordinary Battle Creek man's photograph isn't legitimate, if buyers are told that they look at it at their own risk.

A Three Rivers factory has taken a room in the local hotel, remodeled it, and furnished it with a bath for the accommodation of their Chicago visitors. A local expert, it should be explained, will be constantly in attendance to tell these Chicago visitors what the bath is for.

A Lansing hunter who has just returned from Roscommon county says he let his beard grow while there, and was once arrested on the suspicion that he was King Ben. Before this chase is over, they may arrest the moon on suspicion, as there will undoubtedly be whiskers on it.

An Open Winter.

Signs of an open winter—we'd say so. At least, it has been so far as witness the wild roses blooming back of the Lumber Company's mill, samples of which with buds ready to open and some already opened were brought to the Courier office last week by Mrs. Cassie Hart, who picked them. Later in the week we had the privilege of seeing a clipping from a rambler bush growing in Ed O'Neill's yard on Dixon avenue with flowers in full blossom. Who knows anything to match this?

Fire Loss Visualized.

It has been graphically calculated that the timber destroyed annually in the United States by preventable fires is the equivalent of enough lumber to build five-room bungalows 50 feet high on both sides of a street reaching from New York to Chicago.

Women Denied Solace of Prayer.

In some parts of the world the women are not even allowed to pray. Certain Hindu congregations deny their women this privilege, and among the Almus of Japan women can pray only in very rare cases as the deputies of their husbands.

Tattooed Owners' Names on Dogs.

New York has a man engaged in what he says is painful occupation, who appears in the city directory as a tattooer of dogs. Inquiry reveals the fact that many owners of dogs have their names tattooed on the dog's skin.

Origin of Crests.

The Carhuns are credited as being the originators of crests. Richard I of England wore a crest on his helmet like a plume of feathers. In the fifteenth century the crest was described as a figure on a coronet.

Ancient Gas Attacks.

Gas attacks as a means of overcoming an enemy are recorded as far back as 189 B. C., when Jews were filled with feathers which were set alight, the smoke being blown with bellows into the faces of the foe.

Balloons.

The little whistling balloons being sold on the streets or given away with purchases of candy give two great thrills to the young folks—once when they expand grandly and once when they burst.

Bert Beaudoin met with a peculiar accident a couple of days ago. He was walking down Bridge street hill and when nearly opposite one of the stone piers above the Sinclair oil station someone called to him and he turned his head only to meet the projecting concrete edge of the pier head full in the mouth. Bert owned a pretty respectable set of ivories before this happened, but concrete is harder than dental enamel and two of them caved in and a third broke off under the impact necessitating an expensive and painful trip to the dentist. A piece of real hard luck, we'd call it.

What About Your Auction Bills?

THE VIOLIN'S SECRET

By Mildred Farmer

The town of Lincoln was all excited. Grandpa Black had died. Nobody knew of his death until a week after his funeral, when his next door neighbor heard his grandson telling his chum that his grandfather had died.

Many years ago he had been Charlevoix's richest merchant, but what ever became of his fortune, no one knew.

When he died he left a will, but in it nothing was said of the fortune he was supposed to have. His house and lots and other invaluable trinkets were given to strangers. The only thing he left his grandson, Bob, was an old master's violin, that to one who knew the value of it, could not be bought for any amount of money. Of course Bob was disappointed when he saw that was all he would get, but then he loved music and his teachers said that he would be a great violinist some day.

Bob lived at a town called Peetok about eighteen miles from Lincoln. One day he took his violin and went to a small woods where he played piece after piece with no other accompaniment, but nature's flock of wild birds. He was so wrapped up in his music that he did not notice a slim, dark haired girl gazing contentedly at him from behind a large maple tree. Marion Goodrich, for that was the girl's name, also loved music, but she didn't have a violin nor any money with which to buy one. She and her widowed mother lived just over the hill from where Bob lived, and every time she had the opportunity, she listened to the sweet music of the violin, unbeknown to the player.

One rainy day, she was coming home from the store with her arms piled high with bundles. As she went to cross the street, she stepped in a mud puddle, slipped and fell down. Packages flew this way and that way. Just as she was going to pick herself up, some one stepped in back of her and set her on her feet again, and then began to pick up the scattered bundles. When he turned around Marion was quite surprised to find that it was the musician, Bob, as yet unknown to the world.

He said, "Miss Goodrich, if you will allow me, I will carry your packages home or you might have another accident."

Marion said, "I would be more than obliged if you would, but please won't you call me Marion instead of Miss Goodrich?"

Bob said he would, and he thought that he liked Marion pretty well.

When they got home, Marion asked him to come in and sit down by the fire, but he said that he had to go home but he would come over in the evening.

"And won't you please bring your violin with you?" Marion asked.

Bob said, "Yes," and went home.

That evening he played and played to the delight of both Marion and her mother Mrs. Goodrich.

Thought of the time when she played with the same happiness as Bob, for she had once been a talented player but now her hands were crippled, and if she did have a violin, she could not play.

Marion had inherited this same longing for music, although she had never played any musical instrument in her life.

When Bob layed down his violin he saw her hungry eyes follow it and he said, "Do you know how to play?"

Marion said "No."

Then Bob told her, "If you would like to learn I will teach you and you can practice on my violin."

So that night, Marion took her first violin lesson. They continued all through the summer and all through the winter, until she knew as much about music as Bob himself, for she was a very quick, and willing pupil.

One cold winter night, they were sitting by the fireplace Mrs. Goodrich had excused herself and gone to bed. Marion was dreaming that some day, she would be a great musician too.

The violin lay beside Bob and he picked it up and played some soft love songs on it. The last one he played was "Love's Old Sweet Song." That was the first time he had ever played it. When he got to about the middle of it, his violin began to squeak, something which it had never done before. Then he began to slowly push out. By this time Bob had stopped playing. He found that the end of the violin was a drawer. He pulled it out and saw a number of papers. The first one, in the pile, had red letters written across the top which said, "Read this." Bob opened it up and this is what he read.

My dear grandson Bob,

When you read this letter you will be thinking of something else besides music. This violin would not open unless the right song was played, and if you ever read this letter you will be playing that song to some one dear to you. Maybe your mother or maybe a sweetheart.

That's all for that. People, I suppose wonder where all of my wealth went to. It is not lost, but hidden away until you can make good use of it. You will find among these papers, bonds which run up to hte millions. Use them well for to isn't every grandson that has a fortune left to him.

If you ever read this letter, I will not be on this earth, so you will have to thank the dead for what you have received.

From Your Grandad.

Both Marion and Bob were so surprised at what had happened, that they didn't know what to do, but when they did come to their senses, Marion found herself in Bob's arms, and he asked her to be his wife.

There was much rejoicing when announcement was made that they were going to be married, for everyone liked them very well.

The violin, which had now revealed it's secret, never played again but it was always kept and treasured, highly.

Burglars entered the meat market, drug store and Thurston's store at Central Lake on Sunday night and secured upwards of four hundred dollars in cash and valuables. At last report two local young men at Central Lake had been picked up, but what the result has been has not yet been learned.

MILES DISTRICT

Alfred Bancroft is on the sick list. A large crowd attended the sale of Mrs. Lillie Beckman last Monday.

THE extremely fair prices asked for Goodyear tires year in and year out are shown in the chart above. Goodyear tires are selling today for 45% less than in 1920; 39% less than in 1914. Despite this, their quality was never so high as now. This is a good time to buy Goodyears.

As Goodyear Service Station Dealers we sell and recommend the new Goodyear tires with the beveled All-Weather Tread and back them up with standard Goodyear Service.

DEATH CALLS A PIONEER RESIDENT

Wm. J. Cole a Resident of Ellsworth Over 40 Years

William James Cole was born in Groton City, N. Y., July 11th, 1866 and died at his home in Ellsworth on Tuesday, November 20, 1923, aged 57 years, four months and nine days. He came to Michigan in 1882 and settled at Ellsworth and has made his home at or near this place up until the time of his death.

He was married to Miss Jennie Sedgman of East Jordan in 1906, and she together with two brothers and two sisters, as well as one half-brother and two-half sisters are left to mourn.

Mr. Cole during the more than forty years of his residence here, had proved himself to be a good friend, a good neighbor and a good citizen and those who knew him best will miss him most.

He spent upward of twenty years in the employ of the Elk Cement & Lime Co. and their successors, the Petoskey Portland Cement Co., being manager of their shale works south of town until ill health forced him to retire about three years ago.

Among the relatives who were on hand to pay their last respects to the dead were a brother, John Cole of Ellsworth, and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie Nolan of Courtland, N. Y., and Mrs. Pippin of McLain, N. Y. A brother, George Cole of McLain, N. Y., was unable to be present.

Funeral services in charge of Rev. L. W. Sturk were conducted from the Holiness church on Friday, November 23rd, and the remains were carried to their last resting place at the local cemetery. The relatives have the deepest sympathy of the entire community.

Card of Thanks

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their kindness during the illness and death of our beloved husband and brother, also for the beautiful flowers and especially Rev. Sturk for his comforting words at this sad hour.

Mrs. Jennie Cole,
Mrs. Jennie Nolan,
Mrs. Jennie Peppin,
John Cole and wife.

AN IMPERISHABLE GIFT

When you make a Christmas gift of a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion you think of course, of the first great thrill that comes when those first holiday issues are opened and read. But you are giving more than that. You are giving the assurance of fifty-two more thrills before the capacities of the gift are exhausted. You can't do that with any gift that is made for immediate consumption, like candy or fruit. Today it is here; tomorrow it is but a memory. But The Companion is imperishable. Its last issue, a year from now, will be as appetizing as the first on this coming Christmas day. You cannot put your money to better use or advantage in Christmas giving than in a subscription to The Youth's Companion.

The 52 issues of 1924 will be crowded with serial stories, short stories, editorials, poetry, facts and fun. Subscribe now and receive:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues in 1924.
2. All the remaining issues of 1923.
3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1924. All for $2.50.
4. Or include McCall's Magazine, monthly authority on fashions. Both publications, only $3.00.

TAKE RIGHT CARE OF CREAM

During Hot Weather It Should Receive More Attention—Cool Soon as Possible.

During hot weather cream must receive better care on the average farm. As soon after separating as possible, cool the cream by setting the can in cold water. Never mix the fresh warm cream with the cream from previous separation until cooled as low as possible. Do not keep cream too long at the farm. Send it to the creamery or take it to the cream station at least twice a week, and three times a week when the weather gets hot. Poor, stale cream will not make good butter. If the creamery cannot make good butter the average price of cream will be lower than if good butter can be made.

Bacteria Furnish Nitrogen.
Sweet clover, like most legumes, depends largely for its nitrogen on the work of bacteria that live in nodules on the roots of the plant. While it is not always necessary to inoculate the soil with this bacteria it is always advisable.

Tomato Wilt Carried.
Tomato wilt is carried in the plants and the disease is very often scattered by this means; therefore care should be taken where plants come from.

Why is it that we so seldom think of house management as a business? Until we do so, and judge ourselves and it according to ordinary business standards, it is doubtful if we obtain a great degree of efficiency.—Hazel Kewley.

SOME DIFFERENT SOUPS

A good flavored soup is an all-time year reasonable dish and even in hot weather a fruit soup is enjoyed.

Combination Soup.—Soak one-half cupful of rice in four cupfuls of water until the grains swell. Put over the heat, adding two cupfuls of diced raw potatoes, one grated onion, one and one-half cupfuls of celery chopped. Simmer gently until nearly done, then add three cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter, one and one-half teaspoonfuls of salt, a teaspoonful of minced parsley, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Cook until well seasoned.

Red Beet Soup.—Wipe three pounds of the skin of beet and cut the beet part into cubes. Place in a soup kettle together with three quarts of boiling water, three onions sliced thin, one teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of whole allspice, one-half cupful of vinegar, one-half cupful of sugar, six medium-sized beets and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of pepper. Boil the beets for a few minutes, then skin them and grate. Add to the soup and cook for two and one-half hours, adding more water as necessary. Strain and serve hot with boiled potatoes.

Pimento Cheese Soup.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one tablespoonful of cornstarch and cook together until smooth then add two and one-half cupfuls of milk gradually and heat to the boiling point. Add one-half pound of American cheese cut into small pieces, stir until it is melted, then add one-fourth of a cupful of chopped pimentos, salt, celery, onion salt, cayenne pepper to taste. Serve with strips of crisp, buttered toast piled log cabin fashion on a plate.

Sweet Potato Soup.—Take two cupfuls of baked sweet potato, mash, put through a ricer, add a quart of hot milk and put in a double boiler. Brown two tablespoonfuls of flour, add two tablespoonfuls of butter, and when smooth add the milk; season to taste and serve with a dash of cinnamon.

FARM STOCK

Ranchmen View Results at Idaho Sheep Station

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Stockmen from various parts of the Northwest recently spent a day at the United States sheep experimental station, Dubois, Idaho, where animal husbandmen of the Department of Agriculture demonstrated the results of much of the work which has been carried on there for several years. There were 75 visitors, including representatives of several state experimental stations and several men from the department at Washington, Montana, Idaho, Utah, Colorado and Wyoming were represented.

At this station the department has been working for a number of years on sheep-breeding problems, range management and winter maintenance. A part of the field day, which was held May 29, was taken up by a shearing demonstration in which ranchers had an opportunity to observe the yield and quality of fleeces from the various lots of sheep. About 750 animals were sheared that day, and during the season 2,300 fleeces were taken off. Most of the sheep being raised there are Rambouillet and cross-bred, fine-wool crossed types such as Corriedale and Columbia, the latter a type developed by the department.

This Rambouillet at this government ranch are an American type developed particularly for this region where feed is comparatively sparse. They differ from the old type in being larger and smoother and freer from wool on the face. Detailed records are kept on the wool and nutrition produced by all the different types, the feed and grazing, labor and the financial returns.

The Corriedales have been found to produce an excellent quality of wool and the Columbia yield heavier fleeces and their lambs are heavier. A cross of these two crossed types is being tried out and so far has been very successful both as a wool and mutton producer.

The field day visitors were taken in automobiles over the range to show them the results of protecting the range where 17,000 acres has been inclosed by a fence for three years. This has been found an effective way for building up a good stand of grass, as the feed inside the fence was much better than that just outside as a result of protection against roaming stock. The department also has demonstrated the value of assuring a water supply by the drilling of wells and the construction of reservoirs. It has been found to pay to haul water as much as three miles during very dry weather, the cost being about one-fourth cent a head daily during these periods. The water required daily per ewe is between two-thirds and three-fourths of a gallon.

At the winter headquarters, where there is a stockade for 2,500 ewes, snowfall slugs have been fed along with alfalfa hay with great success. The feed of this feed has been about four tons to the acre. Other feeds being tried there are alfalfa, sweet clover, peas, oats and peas, different rates of seedling being used.

Farrowing Troubles Can

Be Eliminated by Feeds

Often a brood sow is injured or killed. If she kills or starves her young, it is sometimes the fault of the caretaker.

She should be fed sparingly for the first few days after farrowing, increasing gradually, so that the milk will not be produced faster than the pigs can take it. By injudicious feeding, the milk glands are unduly stimulated, and if the milk is not consumed, will cause irritation and inflammation. The suffering mother will not allow the pigs nourishment, thus starving them, or in her pain, she may sometimes kill them. Correct feeding will eliminate nine-tenths of the troubles at farrowing.

LIVE STOCK NOTES

Working the stallion is a good method of giving him exercise. Allowing young pigs plenty of sunshine is a big item in raising them successfully.

Calves, pigs and lambs that make their owners the most profit are sired by pure bred sires.

To toughen horses' shoulders after the winter's rest, bathe them with salt water daily for a week.

If there is plenty of feed, especially skim milk, and the pigs are strong and robust, they may be weaned at eight weeks.

The fundamental principle in feeding weaned pigs is to keep them with keen appetites. Feed just as much as they will clean up readily.

Let the hogs have free access to the minerals in self-feeders. Add one part tankage at first and the hogs will learn more quickly to eat the minerals.

Are You Using this Free Service?

It comes with every sack of cement. It has been made possible through the Portland Cement Association by the eighty-six cement manufacturers who are its members.

They realized that important research and educational work was necessary to give people the best information on how to use cement. They also realized that this could be done better by unified effort than by any individual company alone.

As a result, you may have for the asking the benefit of this Association's long and exhaustive studies on how best to use cement for the most satisfactory results in concrete construction.

Whatever use you plan to make of cement—whether you are building a concrete hog house or concrete dairy barn, a stretch of concrete walk or a concrete road, a silo or a skyscraper, a home, workshop or a factory—you needn't guess. You can know.

If you want information about the usefulness of concrete under certain conditions, how to mix or place it to get the greatest value out of every sack of cement—you can get it by writing any one of our 28 offices listed below.

Supplying dependable information without charge by booklet, by letter or by personal conference when necessary, is the work of this Association. Millions of helpful booklets, covering a multitude of uses of concrete, are distributed annually to people who know they needn't guess—who know they can get the facts from us.

One of our new booklets, "Concrete in Home Sanitation," will surprise you with the number of easy ways in which concrete can be used to make the home healthier and happier. Address our nearest district office for your free copy.

Prest-O-Lite Storage Battery

Best Battery for Winter Use

COLD weather driving makes heavier demands upon any storage battery. Engines are stiff—oil is sluggish—gasoline vaporizes slowly—lights burn longer—and the severe cold tends to cause battery deterioration. Only a battery of maximum power and vitality can meet these demands.

The Prest-O-Lite Storage Battery has proven in the toughest of cold weather tests, to be by far the best battery for winter use.

Why be satisfied with anything short of the best? There's a Prest-O-Lite for every car.

PIONEER FARMER OF BARNARD PASSES ON

Hiram Potter Will Be Sadly Missed
By His Community

Hiram Potter, well-known and highly respected resident of Barnard, died at his farm in that district Thursday night, November 15th, after a long and severe illness. The funeral took place on Monday, November 19th, services being held at the home at eleven o'clock and from the South Barnard church at twelve o'clock; interment following in the Moore cemetery, near Atwood, in the heart of the Holland settlement where Mr. Potter first made his home on coming to this country over thirty years ago. The services were conducted by Rev. Schroeder of the Holland settlement.

Mr. Potter, who was born in the Netherlands many years ago first located in the Holland settlement, some eighteen miles south of this city. From there he moved to Atwood, where he resided for about three years, finally coming to Barnard and moving onto the farm one quarter mile off the State road which has been the home of himself and wife for the past twenty-five years.

Besides his widow, Mr. Potter leaves four sons, three daughters and twenty-nine grandchildren. Two sons—Jacob and Aaron died some fifteen years ago. Another son, Harry, was killed in action in the late war overseas. The surviving sons are John, Hiram, Ed and Dick, all of Barnard and the daughters, Mrs. Frank Brock and Mrs. Albert Klooster of Barnard and Mrs. George Hamilton, of Detroit.

Mr. Potter was a member of the Dutch Reform church. He was a fine old gentleman, greatly loved and respected by all who knew him and will be sadly missed in the community in which he lived and in whose activities he participated for so many years.

CANAL IS LOWERING LAKE MICHIGAN

on the Desplains River and Illinois and Michigan Canal. It is about 33 miles southwest of Chicago and four miles north-northeast of Joliet. Lockport has a dam across the Chicago Drainage canal and a power plant which develops 40,000 horsepower from a forty foot fall of its waters (our Lake Michigan waters, that is). This plant, located between Joliet and Lockport, supplies Lockport with cheap power and has made it a manufacturing rather than a commercial city.

Now, do you begin to see it, friends, and why the states adjacent to the depleted waters are about to sue the city of Chicago through the United States Supreme Court to force it to take steps to curtail the amount of water they are yearly robbing from Lakes Michigan, Huron and Superior? Quite an interesting situation, isn't it?

STATE CAR FERRY PAYS FOR ITSELF

Financial Statement Reveals Gratifying Figures

The wisdom of the action by the state legislature providing an auto ferry across the Straits of Mackinac from Mackinac City to St. Ignace is eloquently demonstrated in the report compiled by Chief Accountant C. A. Parker.

The report shows total receipts of $26,949 since the ferry started the first of August.

It is shown by the compilation that the total operating expenses were $15,807.59 and the cost of the steamer Ariel, boats and lands at Mackinac City and St. Ignace $50,000.

The value of this transportation system for motor vehicles across the straits is proven by this enterprise, and the surplus of operating expenses is a substantial sum toward wiping out the original investment.

Approximately 10,000 motor vehicles were carried by the ferry.

It has been clearly demonstrated that the single boat operated this season has been inadequate to the demands of the traffic and the results justify the purchase of two steel steamers from the government by the Administrative board, as announced a short time ago.

THEIR RACE IS TO FINISH IN A COURT

Would-be Barney Oldfields Finally Come to Grief.

Many complaints have reached the ears of the sheriff and chief of police during the past few weeks that two Ford cars, drivers unknown, have been using the south side streets as speedways and lately that Bridge street at night had been the scene of their death-and-law-defying contests.

Last Monday night the officers decided to lay in wait for these gentlemen and rope them in. So at about nine p. m. the sheriff and the chief of police parked their car at about the middle of the midway, half way between the express office and Herman's drug store and watched. Sure enough, in a few minutes along came the charioters at a dizzy clip, heading south. Sheriff Novak "stepped on her" himself at about that time and whizzed up the hill in a "stern" chase which ended in front of the Catholic church.

The would-be Barney-Oldfields answered to the names of Albert Clark and Kenneth Troutman, both of this city. At last reports they were to have their hearing some time today, depending on the sheriff's return from Boyne Falls, where he was called on business shortly after the arrest was made.

The boys admitted that each was loath to let the other precede him as long as his engine would turn over a little faster and the gas held out. Now they can race to see which will say first, "Good morning, judge."

PIONEER NORWOOD SETTLER PASSES

Mrs. Juliet Pearl Dead at the Age of Seventy-three.

Mrs. Juliet Pearl, mother of H. C. Pearl and grandmother of Thaddeus Pearl of this city, passed away at the Charlevoix hospital last Sunday, November 25th, at the advanced age of 78. She had been an invalid for the past five or six years and about five months ago she had the misfortune to break her hip which necessitated her immediate removal to the hospital which she never left.

Mrs. Pearl was born in New York state, August 30, 1844, and came to Michigan with her husband, the late William F. Pearl, over 50 years ago, settling in Norwood where Mr. Pearl was employed for a number of years by the Nash Lumber company. They were among the first of the families to locate there. Since the death of her husband, which occurred some seven years ago, she had made her home with her son in this city.

She was the mother of five children, three of whom, two sons and a daughter are deceased. Her surviving children are H. C. Pearl of Charlevoix and Charles Pearl of Chicago. The funeral was held Tuesday from the M. E. church at Norwood, of which she was a faithful member during her residence in that village. Rev. H. R. E. Quant conducted the services. The remains were interred in the Norwood cemetery.

WOLVES AND COYOTES NOW ON THE INCREASE

Fires in Adjacent States Have Driven Them Into U. P.

Forest fires the past year in Minnesota and Wisconsin are responsible for a considerable increase in the number of wolves and coyotes infesting the Upper Peninsula, say recently returned hunters. They are ravaging the north country of its deer and bid fair to roll up a bigger toll of destruction than the hunters. Three coyotes were shot in one township while both wolves and coyotes are reported in packs in many places.

This is a serious condition, aggravated by the fact that there is now no bounty to induce woodsmen and settlers to kill them off.

Those present were the chairman, Dr. W. W. Mitchell, R. C. Korth, Robert Bridge, A. F. Bridge, B. A. Herman, Martin Block, F. E. Cartier, J. L. Crane, Dr. R. B. Armstrong, Leo Powers, F. J. Fessenden, F. V. Tyler, W. S. Richardson, Meyer A. Levinson and Ira Adams.

Following an excellent meal, Dr. Mitchell introduced the speaker, who commenced his talk by making it plain that what he wanted was an expression from the business men and property owners of Charlevoix as to just what amount they were willing to contribute as the city's share of the $3,750.00 quota levied upon the county at the last state meeting of the bureau's representatives and delegates from the Western Michigan group of counties, held at Grand Rapids last October. Mr. Murray stressed the fact that while Michigan's entire quota for this year is $100,000.00, both Wisconsin and Minnesota last year appropriated $400,000.00 apiece, while several other states passed the half-million mark. Even in the face of this fact figures of the Bureau show that the tourists spent over $400,000.00 in Western Michigan last year. What could be done if we should come up to the high-water mark of appropriation set by states like Colorado and California he left to the imagination.

His comparative figures on the relation of the transient tourist traffic to the number of people staying at hotels and cottages were illuminating and rather surprising to those of us who have come to believe that the travelling camper outnumbered the stationary resorter four to one. From the replies to 700, or 10 per cent of the 7,000 questionnaires sent out to addresses on the records of the Bureau last year, the following developed:

Of the 700 replies, picked at random, 80 per cent stated that they had visited Michigan while the remaining 20 per cent signified their intention of coming the next year. The average number in each party was found to be four; the average length of stay, 23 days; the average cost per day per person, $7.00. The hotel guests numbered 65 per cent of the total number, the cottagers 19.5 per cent and the camping tourists, who are popularly supposed hereabouts to be in the majority, numbered only 15.5 per cent of the whole. The results for 10 per cent of the replies received being a fair proportion on which to base investigations, it does not look as though we would have to raze our cottages and hotels and dot the land with tourist camps for a long while yet, although we cannot altogether ignore the claims of the transient.

In summing up his remarks, Mr. Murray advocated for Charlevoix: First, a properly organized Chamber of Commerce, affiliated with the national organization; second, a trained and well-salaried secretary to devote his entire time to boosting the resort business of Charlevoix and its environs. To accomplish this, he averred, a charge of three per cent on the total volume of business done would not be too great, and would bring back results an hundred-fold. The resort business, he claimed, should be regarded in the light of a stabilized industry, the same as a shoe or an automobile factory. We would not hesitate, he said, to spend $7,500.00 a year to keep an industry with an annual payroll of $250,000 in the city. We should look upon our resort business in the same light.

BRIDGE AND DANCING WERE MUCH ENJOYED

Eight Local Couples Entertained At Potosky Homes

Mr. and Mrs. Leon Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Wells of Potosky entertained a number of their Charlevoix friends on Friday evening of last week. Eight couples from here and six from Potosky were present. Those from Charlevoix were Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Levinson, Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miller, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. Clinton G. Cooper, Mr. and Mrs. Harley Ochs, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Emrey.

The forepart of the evening was spent in bridge playing at the Miller residence, after which a delightful lunch was served and the guests adjourned to the Wells home next door where dancing was enjoyed.

PLANS HERE FOR HOSPITAL ANNEX

WORK TO BE RESUMED AT ONCE IF WEATHER PERMITS.

Foundations All in—Plans Call for Many Needed Improvements in Design.

The foundations for the new addition to the Charlevoix Hospital are now completed and further operations which have been temporarily suspended pending the arrival of the plans from the architect will shortly be resumed, as the plans were received by the board on Monday of this week.

These plans, drawn by the architect, Earl H. Mead of Harbor Springs, call for a building of irregular shape about 40 feet by 30 feet, including three stories, all floors being connected with the main building by a hall or passageway 30 feet long.

In the basement of the new annex will be located the boiler room and heating plant for the entire building, the coal bunkers, tool room and laundry, and one large room devoted to the physiotherapy department, where the electrical bath and treatments will be administered.

On the main, or first floor, the approved plans call for a staff dining room, a kitchen for the hospital, two bedrooms and baths for help, a commodious storeroom and an elevator shaft.

On the second, or top floor, will be located a ward dormitory, a private bedroom for special cases, the maternity ward where all obstetrical cases will receive attention, a nursery and baths.

The annex will be finished to correspond in exterior design to the main building to which it is attached. A fine double staircase leading from the main to the second floor will be an attractive feature of the interior construction. A special ventilating system is to be installed that will remove all odors and smoke from the kitchen and basement and prevent their spreading to other parts of the building.

The new addition will not only provide special facilities for which there has long been a pressing need in the work of the hospital, but will at the same time leave considerably more ward capacity in the main building, besides insuring greater quiet to the patients through the removal of the maternity departments, the nursery, the boiler room and the kitchen—all producers of noise—from the detached portion of the building.

The foundation work was done by George Lusk, under the supervision of W. E. Parmelee who, up to the present time, has had general oversight of the work, no contract having as yet been let to anyone. Now that the plans are here, if the weather holds good, work will be resumed at once so as to have the completed annex ready for use before another season comes upon us.

School Officers
The biennial meeting of school officers of Charlevoix county will be held at the Princess Theatre in Boyne City, Monday, December 10th, beginning at 8:00 a. m., standard time. All school officers are urged to be present. Their expenses are to be paid from the district funds.

BEAVERS ARE TO HAVE PHYSICIAN

STATE COMMISSIONER OLIN HAS ACTED IN THE MATTER

Island Group Long Served at Great Hazard From This City and Potosky

Long delayed action in the matter of a permanent resident physician for the Beaver group of islands has finally been taken. Dr. R. M. Olin, state commissioner of health, has formally recommended to the state administrative board that such a health officer be appointed and his recommendation was accepted by that body. All that now remains are the details of the plan and the selection of a suitable appointee.

There are approximately 1,200 people on the twelve islands that comprise the Beaver group—Big and Little Beaver, Garden, Hog, Whiskey, Trout and Gull, the three Hat Islands and the two Squaw islands. For many years, these islands have been at the mercy and convenience of the mainland as regards to medical service, as they have always in the matter of food and other supplies. Difficult and dangerous trips have been made to the islands at regular intervals and in cases of emergency by local physicians and last year government airplanes were pressed into service for this purpose, the shifting flocks and poor landing facilities making the several attempts extremely hazardous.

On several occasions the matter of supplying a resident physician for the island has been taken up by the board of supervisors of Charlevoix county, of which the Beaver group is a part, but for one reason or another nothing has ever come of such proposals. It remained for last year's critical experiences to emphasize the great need of locating a medical practitioner on the islands to remain there year around and care for their considerable population in the way that they are entitled to be cared for. The frequent absence of one of our local doctors for days at a time in weather so stormy that a return trip was impracticable created a situation that was dangerous for us as it was inadequate and expensive for the islanders.

Medical attendance has long since passed the stage where it can be considered solely with reference to the person requiring it at the moment, if indeed it could ever be so regarded. It has become as much a matter of public policy and protection as general and efficient enforcement of the laws of the land. Preventive medicine has been coming to the fore in the last few years and the necessity for eliminating and controlling epidemics of contagious disease, the modern supervision over public sanitation and the health of children in the schools has taken the physician out of the class of the butcher, the baker and the candlestick maker to whom we apply at will when we have need of their goods and ignore when we have not, and placed him with the sheriff, the judge and the prosecuting attorney who may have private business relations with the citizens but never relinquish their official character as custodians of the public welfare during their continuance in office.

JACKIE WANTS TO WIN THIS CONTEST

Let's Help Him Folks—He is a Real Hero.

Little Jackie Amick, one of the heroes in the Detroit News Home contest, is a grandson of Mrs. C. S. Morrison of Boyne City.

It will be remembered that Jackie jumped from a pier into the lake last summer and saved a little two-year-old girl from drowning. Jackie is only nine years old himself and is making a fight for the Detroit News Home award, offered for bravery.

Jackie lived with his grandmother, Mrs. Morrison (Mrs. Agnes Jarvis), in Charlevoix for five years and is well known here. Any votes given him by friends will be greatly appreciated.

The Indies' Literary and Sewing Club of the M. E. Church will hold their annual fancy goods bazaar at the Charlevoix Hdw. Co.'s store, Saturday, December 8.—Adv. 481t.

Notice: Welch's Feed Barn on Mason near Bridge will open Saturday for the winter months. Pete Scott, Proprietor.—Adv. 481t.

U. P. EDITOR SAYS MOUTHFUL

REVEALS ASTONISHING STATE OF AFFAIRS

Haas Railroads Body Pouch and Covers Situation As it Actually Exists

Under the caption "What Michigan Needs," the Keweenaw Miner jolts the upper peninsula railroads and reveals a situation rather unusual. We note what he says regarding the price of apples shipped from New York. That's nothing. Apples in Ontonagon county are sold at the rate of eight cents per pound and other commodities about the same. Potatoes (probably shipped from Wisconsin,) bring $1.75 per bushel. Crossing the straits at Mackinaw by auto about breaks the average driver. The article only touches the situation as it exists. The Miner says:

"Several cars of apples have been spotted near the depots of the railroads in upper Michigan within the last month. Every one of these cars have been loaded with New York apples, and sold to our people cheaper than fruit raised within the confines of our own state could be. Rather an anomalous condition of affairs, isn't it? Yes, and costly, too, to all the people of Michigan. Must be some reason for it. There are at least two, and perhaps more. One of the reasons is that the railway men of lower Michigan have forgotten—if they ever knew—that there is an empire north of the straits, the people of which section have been taught to believe that they inhabited part of Michigan. Then the rail systems up here, which connect with the lower Michigan ones, don't seem to care a Tinker's dam for the welfare of this section, preferring to kowtow to their Canadian owners. Don't believe it, eh? Just look at the old tariffs for ferrying autos across the straits, tariffs made by the owners of the car ferry, the rail men we speak of. Good Lord man, if you had to make many trips across that short stretch, you'd pay more in transportation than your auto originally cost you. And what these railway geeseers did to us then, they do not every opportunity.
